The Satan´s Journey .
La jornada de Satán (La journée de Satán) © Pierre Lérmite .

DREAM...

Behold, Satan, who they destroy themself fools, not knowing why.
They instill hatred, daring and cunning...
Are not you happy, tell me?
Yes...
but...

Look at them, Satan, with what pride and arrogance-righteous, wise...
You gave them pride. You sure...
Are not you happy, say?
Yes...
but...

Look at how they stack their wealth and how they rob and exploit.
You gave them the greed for money...
Are not you happy, say?
Yes...
but...

Envy devours, lust
and they have been brutalized gluttony; are disturbed by the sense of anger;
modesty laziness being robbed...
Is not it follow the path
you wanted to continue, say?
Are not you happy, say?
Yes...
but...

Satan, you're the big winner!
You're wrong. I'm always the big beat.
Who is the winner?
Do not you know?
Love!

Manuel Barhey. (Songs of Life).
Editions of the "Revue Internationale" (Brussels).

INTRODUCTION

For centuries men believed that the vastness of the sky was empty. Until a day savants invented the first telescope. So warned, shocked, that this empty sky was full of great stars, with which our earth does not mean anything but a miserable particle of dust lost in space.

Wake and his curiosity, but not satisfied, honed his instrument and focused at infinity.

His astonishment turned into a sort of fright and dizziness. The new telescope revealed, in fact, that the stars were so numerous as grains of sand on the shores of the sea. And, after those innumerable worlds, there are certainly others that the human eye, even the most powerful armed with crystals, I could not see into the depths of the Infinite.

And all this was not a figment of the imagination superexcitada. The men had tangible proof of the truth revealed through his telescope. The photographic plate of the sky was white, so many worlds turned to her in the Milky Way, and the perceptible part of the sky.

So in the remaining ...

But the universe of stars, disconcerting, is not only a material universe, which is nothing compared to the multitude of beings, good or bad, that populate the mystery of the Unseen.

Among the poor human creature and God there is a whole multitude of the spirits ... crowd that the human brain can not enumerate.

Multitudes evidently opposed.

In encuéntranse Scripture, everywhere, evidence of the existence of good angels.

But they are also evidence of the existence of fallen angels, demons. And in this book is to treat them precisely, their presence among us of his stubbornness hurt us and their infernal skill.

You need to know, first of all, the existence of our enemy to guard it, to outrun or fight.

Like the Church, by the mouth of his priests, he spewed every day, at the end of all Masses celebrated in the world, every Christian should know that your adversary the devil prowls around him constantly, watching eagerly the opportunity to seize him, convict him, and that it should resist with all the energy of faith.

This book is written to remind everyone of this serious truth, life or death.

Since our appearance on earth, we have a very strong opponent, very clever, who follows us step by step, disguised in a thousand ways, stirring occasionally to kill the soul, taking advantage of everything to make us sin.

That is, until the very moment of that last fight which is our agony.

And stubborn to the end, when they can not make us sin, fulfills the slogan of torment, to make die between despair and terror that awaits us.

The fallen angel is stronger than us.

Meet our eastern border. Watch our life. Not know what sins ever committed. But he also knows, and even more certainty, that every day we are willing to commit.

If God does not limit its evil aggressive crush us, as the millstone crushes the grain, as he had dreamed of crushing the apostle Peter, if Christ had not come between him and the first Pope of the Church.

Because, really comforting-before the might of the devil, Jesus Christ the Saviour rises with all its infinite thanks redección to protect us in the harsh and hellish combat.

***

The prodigious tactic of Satan is disguise.
He does not exist.
He's a legend for people naive.
A story to scare small children.
The men of the world, scientists are especially disdainful shrug when, by chance, they speak of the devil.
The worst is that there are a number of Christians who think, as people of the world, that Satan is only a fiction, an invention of fearful devotees.
I attended the production of a film concerning the Sister Therese. In that tape, there would be a visible intervention of Satan. And to embody, had chosen a first-class actor.
Then, after a lively discussion, finally agreed to delete those scenes, for fear of public reaction, which - oh, contradiction! - So I gladly accepted the intervention of Mephistopheles in Faust, the most popular of operas .

***

Is not there a devil?
Did you not read the Bible, where he was appointed everywhere? Not even the Gospel? You forget that Jesus constantly had expelled demons lodged in the body or the soul of the sick ...
...That even with Jesus Christ, has been tempted, in his own person, Satan, tempted three times, and that such temptations are staggered in a logical order, in ascending levels ... gluttony, vanity, pride supreme.
Every year, you yourself read these temptations of Satan in the Gospel that is specifically devoted to them.
Let us now derive the conclusion: the disciple is not above the Master.
You also have your demon, demons, especially if you are "someone" if you represent for him a special opponent.

***

What Satan does not exist? You read the Lives of the Saints recognized by the Church.
Listen, in private, the story of certain missionaries in countries that still have no contact with the Christian faith and where Satan reigns as master.
What Satan does not exist?
Go and ask the Holy Curé of Ars, who has struggled all his life with the trickster, as he called it.
What Satan does not exist?
Look for yourself. If you are sincere, you will notice how often he has pushed, by both shoulders, to guilty acts. Joseph de Maistre wrote: "I knew no other consciousness than that of an honest man, my own. At times, it was awful!"

***

In a form and in an environment that I reconstituted, after much reading hagiographic, which approximates the Christian objectivity significantly more than the form, so pagan, of Dante, I have presented facts before it, all your starting point in the throbbing reality of life.

He could cite many more, even more marked, tested by me in my long life as a priest in Paris, and especially, in the exercise of my ministry as priest of Montmartre.
More thorough testing although the existence of angels and constant bloody offensive in our life, I considered that these events include chapters banned, because Satan would take probecho of them.
Hence it would be, above all, that the "best" would be adverse for good.

***

But as it is, this book will still provide the Christian soul a real comfort, because if the battle is tough and relentless, if the gates of Hell are terrible for us poor human beings, Christ is stronger than Satan and all his demons.
And, if there is evil angels there too, and in greater numbers, and pious faithful angels in the service of our souls, angels, backed in God is stronger than the damned. If each of us has to ruin him, a personal devil, also has his beloved guardian angel.
That is why what the voice that rises above the din of the great battle is just a word of hope. It is a word of certainty: Confidete ... Have confidence, I have overcome the world.
Armed with this Winner's grace, we too will cross the battlefield, perhaps numerous times and hurt badly, but even so, victorious, and reconocidísimos to Him who never abandons the Christian faith has retained its power and its love.

PART I

I

THE CALL OF SATAN
MAJOR EVENTS AHEAD

THE HOPE OF SATAN
HOW TO HURT THE INACCESSIBLE?
LOVE AND HATE FACE TO FACE
LUCIFER'S PLAN

Chapter I

THE HOPE OF SATAN

Above the villages and towns...
Above the valleys and mountains...
On the cliffs and the sea...

Through the giant worlds that revolve in the solitude of the celestial spaces...
In the ocean of the Invisible...
Satan suffers from inexorable boredom...
Magnificent for his angelic nature, he, the closer to God... he, Lucifer, the light bearer, has become the Prince of Darkness.
His kingdom is the night...
His soul is full of bitterness at the thought of that Good Being who is all Being; and which he believed accurately touched his non existent boundaries...
He, the most beautiful of creatures, had dreamed of surpassing, to dethrone the Creator.
And yet, looking so perfect, so bright that the glare of the suns, compared with its light, was nothing but a rude shadow, this magnificence had exalted to the vertigo.
It was proud, he had become the pride same, personified.
And this pride, embodied in it and never satisfied had unleashed his a foolish rebellion against Him who is all Life, all beauty, all Love.
And it had become the eternal beat. Because noneone can never be equal to God.
What further exacerbates the suffering of Lucifer is that, apart from the appalling contrast between what was and what it is, apart from the humiliation of his immense pride, his whole being is like immersed in a hatred as impotent and inextingible first term against the God who is still his God, and who formerly has served as such.
The hatred is sad.
Lucifer hates with all his being.
He hates the angels who remained faithful.
He hates the archangel Michael, his personal adversary, who, in a terrible grief, has knocked down.
Hate, finally and above all, to this miserable creature, this earth worm called man, which was one of the causes of their rebellion.
A pebble can break down a giant.
And as a drop of water is precious to those who die of thirst, the misery of man is the only consolation of the fever that devours it.
And that is why Lucifer is sad, feeling himself empty of all love.
It is the wanderer, who has no homeland, which has lost everything because he lose God.
There is exist only an exit to him, a new rebellion, better prepared than the first, for to enable him to break his chains, forcing the door of paradise lost... and settle there instead of God.
Oh, that day!
Victory Day of the Hate over the Love...
The Evil crushing the Good.
Satan expelling to God.
Given this thought, Lucifer is shaken.
And with a terrible voice his evokes it in advance, preparing for tomorrow, that is, the mobilization of all of the Hell, for a massive attack:
...To me, all the cursed archangels!...
...To me, demons of all kinds and of all ranks!...
...Let´s gonna all be united in the same eagerness for to take over the Heaven Go launch ourself with a frantic ardor, in a last battle, in which we have nothing to lose, because we have lost everything.
...Let´s gonna open widely the gates of Hell, and that all prisoners be grouped with me!...
The enemy is God!

The piece that we hunt, the man!...
The way to achieve it? All the media... As long as we get it!
To me!... To me!...
And in deep resonances, his lone voice is lost in the void:
To me!... To me!...

Chapter II

HOW TO HURT THE INACCESSIBLE?

And Satan embarks on its march again, in the blackness.
Where does he walk? Does not know.
Same as devoured by fever, whose arms cleaved the void...
As well as the guilty, that to justify his crime, and reinvoke and reinvokes relentlessly, with his restless spirit, the motives that prompted him to act...
And Satan, tortured by his obsession, he says, recounts and summarizes their grievances.
He feel the need, constantly renewed, to justify to himself the revolt that caused the misfortune.
This rebellion had begun, at the bottom of the millennia, when God, who could remain infinitely happy in the splendor of a populous sky of Angels, Archangels, Cherubims, Powers and heavenly spirits, announced that his infinite love, in its expansion diffuser , would overflow the borders of the Paradise to create, under all of us, a new being, which would be, in turn, spirit and matter... body and soul... a free creature, who would love him with all the merit of a freedom unknown in the sky.
God wanted that creature will be happy... Place it in a new paradise, and this paradise, among the giant planets, would this speck of dust called Earth.
Yes, God had said this, and if he had said, it was determined to do so.
And Satan talks to himself:
...An idea like this was so unexpected, so useless, so inferior, that promoted the immediate rebellion against a host of angels against a God that left to be God, since, solemnly announced foolish things.
I stood at the head of the movement...
And my rebellion dragged legions of angels as I thought.
The divine position, then, to occupy.
And he had to occupy myself, since I was Lucifer, the light bearer, the first after God.
Were engaged then a formidable battle in the heavenly places... San Miguel, next... I, on the other.
I was defeated, precipitated to the bottom of hell.
And here is the first phase of the rebellion, phase I keep, and keep, an eternal obsession.
But falling into the abyss, I had sworn revenge me!
Revenge on who? Ay!... Not God, for I have found for my desperation, that I can not hurt him directly.
...In this gigantic struggle, was revealed to me how I did not knew about him.
It is the ineffable, the Inaccessible.

And no matters, I want to get hurt and catch up, despite all... I want him!

I will strike him in this cursed man, this baby, an amalgam of matter and spirit, who loves likes a senile father loves for his last child.

I will kill your Adam! Yes, I will kill you!

And I did, before mine, a solemn oath.

I wanted to take care, I just, of doing so.

...I then entered the Garden of Eden and how a overlapping skill! I saw there a man and a woman who had, in fact, looked very happy, surrounded by a prodigious nature.

I have watched, studied. I researched what was their weak point.

And I said: If I can take over the woman, I will take possession of the man, poor man, that camouflaged iron rod!

I have taken over the woman ... and most easily, by pride. I have heard, I have flattered, I have discovered false perspestivas have dazzled.

But I know that God has forbidden to eat from this fruit... Why? I asked, intrigued.

Because if you eat from it, would be "divine", or equal to God... You're beautiful, Eva ... But what beauty would be yours, if your human form will be on the aura of divinity?

And this woman, who knew nothing, I have fascinated.

She had believed.

And finally, given the irreparable step of taking the fruit and eat it.

And that was the fall... And do not fall alone. Because after you eat of that fruit, Adam were infused the desire to do what she did.

And both succumbed.

The disappointment of God was immense.

So much love was put into the creation of these two beings... And demanded so little to assert its sovereignty.

They were expelled from the Paradise, of this paradise which God himself had prepared so carefully for their beloved.

I had destroyed the work of the Creator.

I had lost the first battle.

But the winner of the second, I was. Me!...

Chapter III

LOVE AND HATE FACE TO FACE

At this point, Lucifer is reconcentrated, folding lips bitterly:

I was the winner.

Yes, but had not counted on this intimate and mysterious force that is strange and they call Love

The foolishness of God has had mercy on those two beings, so grievously fallen, condemned, they and their descendants, to a miserable life, forced to earn his bread by the sweat of his brow, exposed to disease, pain, the death...

He decided to rescue them from the mire of sin and from the blood and poured.

He wanted to save them, yet!

Why them? What about me, right?

Satan grinds his teeth and repeat the question: Yes... Why them and not me?

Would it have been necessary for me, Lucifer, humbled me, that begs forgiveness...

And that, ever!, ever!

...Since everything is paid for with suffering, and God can not suffer, his son became a man. All love is unspeakable that lies behind this mystery! God, in this thing that became material, low, corruptible, that they call flesh.

Every time I understand less.

And thank you for this marvelous lowering to his nature, men have persecuted, mocked...

Lucifer was a sardonic grin.

That strikes me as not of men. I know them, and appreciate his miserable value. When they say that man is a wolf to man, they insulted the wolfs, because if they are hungry, they kills for to eat.

...And despite the ferocity of man, the Word was not discouraged. Loved him even more... He said disconcerting words... beat truly in them a crazy love: I have loved you more than a mother love her child... Even if a mother can come back from their son, I do not ever forget you.. I did not just crush the cane creek...

Finally, after having lavished unqualified for the good of his people, having full of miracles and healings, that people crucified him wildly, shouting "His blood be on us and on our children!

And yet this has not been sufficient to warm the love of Christ. He wanted to stay among these monsters, and become their food.

It's nonsense! And if there was a stronger word than folly, I will say it.

It's frantic, incomprehensible!...

But it has happened.

And the consequence is that is that I have lost the third fight.

But God is tenacious, Lucifer wants to be like him so much

...I do not feel like a coward. I have come to have in my power to men, therefore, I can go get it. And through him I will smite his Creator.

My hatred has become the reason of my existence.

What would I do, if I will not hate!

I hate so much as God loves.

Prepare tomorrow's offense, therefore.

It will be awful!

I go around of the humanity to divide, to keep out thinking about his destination. I dream to materialize it fully, mechanized, rot... And even with propel-and that's my final goal-, to the removal itself, to be annihilated in a monstrous suicide that no one has ever had any idea and that will be the history of tomorrow.

At one time, I did Cain kill Abel...

Over the centuries, have raised some nations against each other. All these are nothing more than child's play!

Today, taught by experience, I have sucesfully divided the earth into two enemies. He armed each of these blocks in a hellish. The war that I foresee as prepare the total, which is the last of the earth.

It is therefore necessary for me to win.

Among men, there will be no winners or losers. Only survivors, some crazed cores on land in flames, thanks to a higher science fueled for my hatred.

That battle is my battle. I will decide the date and time. On the other hand the Book of Revelation predicted it.

God loved man...
But I remove the man...
And kill the man by man, but to destroy the flesh. Do they call me the the imitator monkey of God? It will be tragic to the last drop of blood.
And to prepare for this fight, I will do a count of my strength, like a magazine, in part, pending to the great Night.
I have, therefore, above all, a journey of mine, a true journey of Satan.
Summarizing the reports of my subordinate subjects, multiplying the result of the individual acts may, I can in advance, make an idea of what will be the final battle, in which God, overcome at last, leave the earth to its sorry fate.
Oh, that day!...
The Prince of Darkness transformed into the Prince of world, launched the assault to the sky!
At that time, the jaws of Lucifer grind to impulses of the desire.
So arrogant, dismissive, authoritarian, Satan whistled through the space for to call his owns...
This time I will not be talking to himself.
I´m going to give his orders.
And faith in Lucifer, these orders will be fulfilled!...

Chapter IV

LUCIFER'S PLAN

That was scary.
From all corners of the Invisible came, sinister, the whole army of evil.
Angels, Archangels, Seraphims, Cherubims, Powers, Thrones, Infernal spirits, everything that had once belonged to the court of God and glory, now cursed, had become the court of Satan.
There they stood, stripped of their ideal beauty, but her intelligence intact...
They had rebelled against God... Today, they had become slaves of Satan.
Quiet, attentive to the voice of command, awaiting orders, as servants wait for instructions from his master.
And the master speaks...
He speaks, her voice shaking with anger.
Externalizes the projects he just does, and his words are like sculpted iron:
...We are on the verge of colossal events, in which the land will perish odious and men who live there, because of our catastrophe.
Also she will live terrible hours.
...Until here, in a fragmentary way, we tried to destroy the love causing civil and national wars. I started doing that Cain killed Abel.
And after that, the work continued.
...Some days, very frequently, from the history have been done a beautiful job. We have seen battlefields turned into human cemeteries, where countless corpses desperately raised his arms to an indifferent and hermetic sky.

Today the war is going to be universal. What is at stake is the world's destruction.

On the one hand, all the civilized Christians with God.

On the other hand, I, you, commanding hordes of bloodthirsty, destruction and lust.

And in this cataclysm without precedent, you will have to reserve to me the lion's share.

What a show!

Lucifer's face lights up with infernal joy. His eyes shine brightly wild.

His fingers hooked open as if it were to strangle the humanity.

Lucifer evokes hundreds of millions of yellow skinned men, Chinese, Mongols, Russians, rushing, with the anger in his hearts, flickering against the building of modern civilization, against all that remember or represents the efforts of the generations to Truth and Beauty, palaces, castles, museums, churches, charities, cathedrals, all these splendours crushed under the bombs, which revealed the secret hell.

...All the wretched of the earth, poisoned, corroded by bacteria, becoming slaves to the orders of the prince of this world, and that Prince will be me.

All that humanity that survives this then has his paradise, that is, his hell, as I have found the mine.

...And free of the man, will we will jump, finally, the assault to the sky!

This is currently being prepared in secret arsenals and in the mystery of the laboratories.

The wise piled mountains and mountains of bombs.

But the naive think that it will be never used.

To continue believing it.

I, on the fateful hour, I will find the man who, with resolved gesture, light the fuse and apply it to the magazine in the world!

Then will come, indeed, the final struggle, the mournful death knell of all mankind!

Where is the love, stupid love, in this unspeakable annihilation?

Where is then your famous victory, hated God?

Hate is the owner and master of the battlefield, the master of all.

And the Hate...I am!

And on the ruins of your world, destroyed by those who wanted them to save at all cost, I will proclaim the triumph of my revenge.

Lucifer, the convicted, he will have defeated Christ the Savior!

Lucifer... Me!...

II

THE STAFF OF SATAN COME TO HIS CALL

SUPERB
AVARICE
LUST
ENVY
GLUTTONY
WRATH
SLOTH

Chapter V

SUPERB

This fiery speech, a wounded cry was heard in the midst of a fearful silence.

Trembling, quivering, the demons have heard the Archangel. Obviously, because quite often heard such prophecies of disaster.

But today the threat materializes. It seems well founded. It relies on new facts, and a total change of the behavior of mankind.

In contrast, under them, the earth sleeps... land, with its cities, villages, palaces, convents, churches. Sleep in the reassuring arms of the night.

But, at intervals shown tonight pierced by spotlights violent complaints of late night parties, dances, cabarets, amusement centers.

And Satan smiles, watching them.

Because over there is his vanguard, his accomplices, more particularly in charge of disorders, corrupt, dissolve the dynamism of youth.

Called his captains, who constitute the staff of evil. He calls them by name, hard voice that does not support any reply: Pride, Avarice, Lust, Envy, Gluttony, Wrath and Sloth.

They also are famous chiefs, having for title glory in disorganization immense ruins of the world.

Pride, called first, is presented.

Tall, strong, straight, heels together, pride in his eyes.

Lucifer watches, with pleased view:

-I salute you, in you I recognise my image. You are the firstborn of my soldiers. At the dawn of the world was with you how I tempted the woman. And with his fall, I won my first battle...

Then you have continued. Your work is great rivalries of nations. What prevents you do not also work on an individual basis...

...Many disagreements have arisen between the families! Many friendships have broken! ...You are the one that triggers the vertigo in the soul of the conquerors. They could be the benefactors of their peoples, and have become their executioners...

Ah ... Superb... What future destruction have now in you! After so many wars unleashed in the course of centuries, have made them to run rivers of tears and blood, are you, O Pride!, who will be chair next to me in the colossal catastrophe that lies ahead.

...The ruins of Babylon, Carthage, Byzantium, Korea, were nothing compared with the monstrous reality of tomorrow.

Deeply shaken Lucifer close to the Pride in his arms:

-You are my beloved daughter in whom I place my more expensive hope...

Pride, then, stands more:

-Lucifer, count me in!

And, solemnly, with wings spread, is aligned in the back of the room, awaiting the moment to descend on Earth, where the agitators of the people receive their inspirations from her mysterious secret meetings.

Chapter VI

AVARICE

Lucifer muttered, as if to himself: "We condemned, cursed pleasures thus enjoyed that taste beforehand. Which set of ruins will prepare the Pride!"

He then called the Avarice.

Gaunt, yellow, thin lips, eyes half hidden behind a bulging lids, Avarice is presented.

She is also watched, pleased by Satan:

Oh, Avarice!, My dear daughter, as Pride, possess immense power in the ruin of souls. Your sister can register wins in its list of original sin, a primary cause of all evil on earth. You have something better in your active, and more right to my gratitude. Because you are the one who did that miserable Judas sold Christ for thirty pieces of silver. Indeed, it was very expensive!

And on Earth I have not met greater feat...

...I do not feel envious of you. However, you did that they make adoration on Me. And you had the cynical coquetry to make adoration to you in the form of a golden calf. It must be that men are stupid and disgusting. Could have chosen a noble animal, lion, horse, eagle... No, it is preferred the calf!

...And so it goes...

...What a magnificent kingdom have, oh, Avarice!... Because the interest governs the world more than Love.

The money continues to lack of odor. To have more every day, men are ready for anything.

...Many times I have seen them discussing in mourning, the first night of certain inheritances, when the body of the pseudo well-loved had not cooled yet, willing to come to blows because one must be, apparently, more favored than the other!

If the dog defends his bone is a lamb compared to the miser who defends his money and refuse the crumbs to his neighbor, though he was dying, in his own eyes, from misery and hunger.

...So, still, Avarice, supplying safes, filling their pockets and drying the hearts...

Say, repeated those beings who live a day and move an hour, they never have enough for their needs and pleasures, to be taken every precaution imaginable to get enough, be wary especially of Providence, which speaks, oh irony, of the daily bread.

What they want to be sure, above all, bread and sweets of all life.

...That treasure, as well as they can. And one day, be mine, dying on piles of gold and bank notes, with great joy of his relatives and friends, not even a responsible mass for the repose of their souls.

But I will take care of those souls, rather than yours, I get them dry, I will dry them further.

...Yes, Avarice, count on you. You are a wonderful provider of my hell!

Then, sketching in his thin lips a dry smile, Avarice comes to stand beside Pride.

Chapter VII

LUST

Makeup, covered with rouge, shaded eyes, painted red lips and nails... beautiful, but with an artificial beauty, hellish and disturbing, Lust is presented.

Satan then receives her with open arms and close over to what was his heart.

Oh, Lust, how I love you! You are tender and powerful, insinuating, irresistible! You are my direct revenge against God. Because you are the living proof, tangible, that he deceived awkwardly. You embody the triumph of flesh over the spirit. Of the believed Angel that God had created, make everyday a beast, and often be more wicked than the beasts.

...You are the humiliation of the strongest. Possess the talent that cracks the strongest wills, as the fire melted the wax. Tormenting the spirits who would expel you and get them with irresistible sweetness. You have been stronger than Samson, stronger than the holy King David, whom you have thrown into the arms of Bathsheba, inducing also to assassinate her husband, oh, irony of the gifts of God!, you have trampled to Solomon, he had received from God the gift of Wisdom, and you transformed it into an incredible test of your absolute power... I laugh sometimes thinking in their hundreds of wives! You, too, you may have fun with it, really....

...Lust, if I browse the history of men, everywhere amazed the effects of your terrible power. Many households have ruined! How many fallacies and murders did commit you! Many beautiful young souls, love of the ideal, have faded! You have unleashed terrible wars and fabulous heresies. You have reduced to nothing, and buried in the mud, to kings and emperors...

...You are everywhere, in the bottom of the noblest beds. You have tormented the Apostle Paul, the colossus of Christianity.

...To go away of you, you have to Jeromo to wallow among the thorns. You did mourn Monica. And yet yesterday, you were the first who possessed the soul of Charles de Foucauld.

...Thanks to you, the man created in God's image, has become a caricature.

Yes, glory to you!...

...Oh, Lust!, Could continue... continue. Universal because it is your power.

Acquire all forms. You slip sometimes like a siren, sometimes like a snake.

You are on newspaper ads, in the theater, in the "cinema", dancing in the street corners. Stalking the first emotions of pure love to be diverted to the soul and down to the exclusive service of carnal passion.

...Do you have a wonderful memory! Relaunch the old, which were judged escapes of your empire, and on the very threshold of eternity, they are trying to make sin yet.

...Lust, you are my great hope, my dear daughter.

And Lust, happy and naughty, resumed your position between Pride and Avarice, both jealous of the homage of Satan to his sister, whom they despise, no matter how devilish they are...

Chapter VIII

ENVY

And now is the Envy that arises.
Satan holds out his hand, but more coldly:
Oh, Envy, if possible, do not be jealous! You too, like your sisters, you are a good worker, and you can be proud of your work.
...You are who, with the Pride, made to be committed on earth the first fratricide..., Cain killed Abel because he was more pleasing to God.
...After that coup, you made man and woman, spies of the good of the others. You have turned them into vials of acid and vinegar. They see and what they possess, but only what others possess.
Then the suggestion is raised, the sneak attack, the stroke of slander, in the back, sometimes more cruel than the stab face to face.
...How many lives have you poisoned! Many such have destroyed! Many love links turned into hell!...
...You are also everywhere in the house of the rich and the wretched, in factories and offices.
You are the best steel rust.
As the old Harpies, all your drool stains.
...Are feared to such an extent, that Christ has consecrated to unmask you, a whole page of his Gospel.
...More yet, even still powerful enough to confront the brother against brother, the poor against who are possessing wealth.
...The class struggle is your domain.
Oh, Envy!, count on you to close on the land, all the way to reconciliation and love.
Persuade everyone that it is more wretched than his neighbor.
Never forget... my motto: Divide to reign!
Envy did, then, a gesture of satisfaction.
And slowly, he went away, heading to the Pride, Greed and Lust.
But she threw a look so sallow and false, that the three demonic spirits instinctively turned away, as one moves away from a cold snake, hour of all sympathy and dangerous for everyone.

Chapter IX

GLUTTONY

The Gluttony go below...
Heavy, fat, fickle gaze, something self-conscious about having to align their fat pink alongside such masters.
But Satan reassures her:
Oh, Gluttony!, leaves that look so stunned and humiliated. I do not disrespect your power and empire. You also were with Pride to entice Eve to try the forbidden fruit. You are a veteran of the great days. Have had on earth, hopelessly drunk, the old Noah and you have given him to the ridicule of their children. Under your inspiration, the fiery Esau sold to Jacob for a mess of pottage, his birthright, that is, the whole future of posterity.
...Day after day, you have conquered the world, dragging at your service all that requires daily and voracious hunger of humans, everything you eat, all that is drunk. What a formidable army is yours! All restaurants, taverns, cabarets, bars... All this is your kingdom. You never cease to cause disease and exacerbate passions. Lust and you really are twins and you work together. So that I love with the same love.

...It should, oh, Gluttony!, Who every day bring you more in the bosom of the family, which mixtifiques culinary science and fake it to season all the food that advocate strong, untamed meat, hunting, venison dishes that encourage drinking.

...Because in the termination of those great feast is when the man with a heavyand hazy head, brutalized by intoxication, is inclined to commit acts more foolish, the stupid bets. Remember that at the end of such a feast of Herod, for dessert, he beheaded John the Baptist, and offered the bloody head of him, on a silver tray, to the little Salome?

Here is a great victory that points to hes credits!

...Encouraged, then, for these successes every day, working with ardent zeal, fostering the decline of humanity. Thank to you, man dies, is killed. Dig your grave with your fork. Help him in this beautiful work. Tempts him in the morning... especially at night. Fat him like a pig. Pregnant his muscles. Congested his brain. It is your mission. Then, when the soil is ready, Lust, your sister will do the rest and will consummate the complete victory of the body on a soul drowned, wiped...

Ambushed behind the greasy and bulky eyelids, Gluttony's eyes glow and blink with a sweet joy.

And her full lips mutter:

Thank you, Lucifer! For love of you, and more than ever, I will try, poison, congesting and killing men.

And women too!

...That's the hardest part. They are afraid of getting fat. But anyway, even so I will, indirectly ...

And Gluttony, extremely pleased, looking towards the earth, the part of Paris, the swivel belt cities where people have fun...

Come with me! -Lust yells-.

And Gluttony, smiling, hugging closely to her twin sister.

Chapter X

WRATH

Satan then calls the Wrath.

It comes as a gust of wind, spiky hair, looked terrible, fists clenched, his mouth full of rebellion and blasphemy.

Lucifer welcomes her quite strongly. Lucifer is known that in a hurry to get rid of it.

And with a faltering voice:

I recognize you, oh, Wrath!, You are the angel of the storm, quick decisions, caps. Your mission is to launch your breath on all incidents, even the most insignificant, and turn it into a drama. A spark can cause a huge explosion.

You are the spark.

Every conflict festers.

Aggravates disagreements.

Create an atmosphere of unease.

Make your victim is no longer master of his nerves and of itself...

...You can get it. Because in those moments, the man throws words and then can not collect them...
Drives men to desperate revolutions...
Make arises what is not repirable. That is the blessed hour when man kills a man kills, his wife, kill their children, commits suicide.
Hastily, Lucifer says:
Yes, what a beautiful job in perspective, if you know cause disasters, and get them the most!
...Your work is not long lasting.
...You are the strong hurricane, but also, above all, to the nervous, exhausted, desperated.
Work it.
...I will take care of the rest.
What can you do? I have already said, you can do all. Do not stop here. Go Down, they await to you!
Wrath, then grinds his teeth.
And shouts:
Why have you brought me, because you do not let me the time to talk? I could not utter a single sentence. And yet, had not only a few things to tell you.
Will stay for another time!
Naturally! Always hit, I am always for "again". Ah, Ah, if I were the slug Gluttony or the Lust, then you will not say me, "Go!" But I am more than the Wrath... Thunders from hell!
And the Wrath was gone, closing the door furiously behind her, with great dismay of a group of small inferior demons listening behind her.

Chapter XI

LAZINESS

She comes at last, the turn of the Sloth.
Back in his seat, not in a hurry.
Solid, ruddy, rises painfully.
Advance, shuffle.
And as a gelatin drips thickly stutters:
Satan, what service I can do in yours?
Lucifer, quiet, responds slowly:
I look at you with respect, because you are the grandmother, the mother of all vices, and even some more.
Thank you, Lucifer, for encourage my weakness.
Your weakness! If the fiery David had not become lazy, given to leisure. It would have been at the forefront of their armies, if he had continued fighting, would not have committed their heinous crimes. Is laziness, first, what has become an adulterer and a murderer.
...Oh, Sloth, do not despise your paper! Hell is populated every day with all those lazy ones who do not know what they were born, because they have never done anything. Continues to gain weight to these useless, ankylosis by money, luxury and pleasure.
...Sing softly, during the dream of his life, the modern airs:

Ah, how sweet it is to do nothing when everything is shaken around us...
Or better yet:

Living at the expense of the Nation is the most delicious and coveted...

...I do not recommend you get tired of working as little as possible and ask to be paid more. When a people reaches that mindset is already mine.
...To achieve it not neglect anything.
...Stop by planting schools and boredom among teachers and between the little boys. Infuse them the passion for detective novels, the hobby to go through the streets, stand on them. Everything except the books!
...Penetrates the workshops and offices...
...When work becomes the "suckling pig" and that the slogan for the entire world, should be snoring.
...But above all, not for you.
...Sloth, do not be lazy never!
Sloth heavily smile listening to this play on words of the master.
And bowed his head in sign of acquiescence.
Then, shuffled back to his place, and dropped into the chair -the better- yielding and groans under its tremendous weight...

III

LOWER INFERNAL ARMY GRADES MOBILIZE HIS MISSION IN THE BATTLE WILL BE IMPORTANT

MY LITTLE ANGELS
SLOGAN: TO CAMOUFLAGE!
CHRIST... ONE OF THE TWO!

Chapter XII

MY LITTLE ANGELS

Lucifer sees the seven deadly sins, lined up respectfully before him.
Including Wrath, that after the crisis, has returned to the row.
You are my staff, and I count on you for the great battle that I have spoken that is, at the same time, our revenge against God and the conquest of lost paradise.
I own but too other forces that also interest me and I expect a lot.
So, as if you could view hidden under leaves or in hollow trees, millions of insects, fierce devastating crops, Satan points the finger to legions of angels of latter category, fallen angels who followed the great leaders in their deflection. There remain, fearful, huddled against each other humbly. Have been ordered to attend this infernal concentration.
And they have come all. The gnomes, elves, floggers spirits, goblins, the noisy, the amulets... All the Invisible mosquitoes, responsible for harassing, tired, exasperate men.

Lucifer looks on with hard eyes, of course, but interested nonetheless.
My little angels, says in a voice that would sounds paternal, do not believe I do not know your worth. In many cases, the hornet is stronger than the tiger, stronger than the angry, roaring lion.
The most robust men are at the mercy of the smallest microbes, which in a few hours are responsible for sending them to eternity.
Senior leaders... have to fulfill its mission with respect to a plan.
You..., little angels, you have yours. It is universal, continuous, formidable. But you must exercise it, especially in the individual.
You are... the infantry on the battlefield. You have to turn you into the atmosphere of men... Arise, demons of the details and small things. But the little things that prepare large.
Over the centuries, all men have warned your presence, and I have baptized you with all kinds of names.
What do you care?... shrug shoulders... The result is what matters.
You have to distort... all the cards. Hide things to the eagerly hands looking for... The writer does not find the letter he want to answer, or the address, the book you need. The housewife will lose your keys, the grandfather, his glasses, the commentator lose your documents, the servant will break the dishes. I could go on... continue... But you are intelligent beings, evil and weavers.
You understand me... I am sure of it!
The little angels bowed his head and flapped in signal of enthusiastic agreement.
Satan can count on them. They are his line troops, absolutely faithful to his cause.
Lucifer over, smiling:
I am sure of yours. You are my little ones, my favorites, my comfort. I will reward them!

Chapter XIII

SLOGAN: TO CAMOUFLAGE!

Lucifer is then directed the whole army of archangels, seraphims, cherubims, thrones, powers, infernal spirits, little angels, and with a thunder voice summarizes their slogans:
May each of you gain awareness of their responsibilities. We prepare the ultimate battle foretold in the Revelation. My stunning victory there is prophesied by the same Christ. Oh, I know that then adds that this victory is ephemeral! But that statement is precisely the point we have to figure out between two us.
That battle will be... total. Prepare it in his details.
...I invite you therefore to a rehearsal, a show of force.
That day will be... my day, the day of Satan, herald of the great twilight, our last hope, our escape from darkness to light.
Behold now, my last recommendation, the most important of all.
Attention, increase good ear!
...A camouflage army is not a defeated army in advance. Here, from the highest to the smallest, all them should have to camouflage. And human stupidity, will help in a way unlikely.

For men, we do not exist. Do you hear it? We do not exist.
This colossal mistake, lodged in human brains, it must take root in them more and more.
The man, brutalized by their pride, shrugs when you say our name.
...Is unprecedented, but it is.
...However, these fools, when they look beneath them, prove that there is a whole hierarchy of beings, in all branches and kingdoms. There are noble animals, noble trees, precious stones.
...This is true in the underworld.
And yet... many, among the most intelligent men, affecting the belief that there is no hierarchy in the highest. They behave as if his miserable body, consisting of a particle of injected spirit into gross matter, was the supreme goal of beings and things.
For them, the Invisible is empty.
Do not feel intimidated therefore. Adopt all shapes, clothed with all the deceptions. Help people to grow up in its stupidity.
Impulse them to ridiculous you... to fear with scary stories for children.
For them... you are the devil with horns and tails, furry devil, the devil dragging chains, the ghost of the white sheet that scary at night to the kids, but it does burst of laughter at the brainy people, who believe only in what they see in their eyes, they touch with their hands and they can photograph shoot.
Nothing else exists.
And the rest... is our great army, our superior intelligence, angelic, and our hatred of man, our hatred to this God who made the mistake of creating all those puppets and die needlessly for them.
My journey therefore will begin. Not the miserable earthy twenty-four hours day, but the astral journey, that of the angels, I get to determine the duration.
...All you will have to give me a report of your activities. All will have to do this, all those who have received the ten talents, as well as those who received only a modest penny. All must give up all, and accurate accounts.
I will summarize immediately... your victories and your defeats, and bring out the consequence.
See that this result... is triumphant. I know reward or punish.
...Now, depart all, full of faith in me, to your place of combat in the hateful land, that land next to his terrible fate already.
I laugh... when I see these idiots toiling to rebuild their homes and churches...
Wait a little...!
Is not it true, my large and small demons, a terrible day again going to wipe all that, and definitely?
Unfurl an active hatred, conqueror, victorious.
Gather in your network... to those abominable souls. Bring them to me to grieve, to humiliate the God who loves them. And help me to fill with quivering victims, all my Hell.
I never shall bring enough to appease the hunger that grips me and thirst which consumes me...
I have a hurry to have them in my power, trampling, torture, drink their tears, hear and gnash their teeth... And throw all that horror in the face of God!...
-Take it!- There you have, your well beloved!...
...I said.
...Go!
...Satan, watches you!

Chapter XIV

CHRIST... ONE OF THE TWO!

Great excitement was produced in the Unseen.

Excited and trembling, the little angels marched early, and tumbling more and better, down to the world.

They were then archangels, seraphim, powers, infernal spirits who, with open wings, rushed towards the earth, miserable dust particles floating in the infinite immensity.

Each had his plan and his idea.

What weight would have, in their expert hands, those miserable and proud men and, who have eyes and not see... intelligences, and do not understand... and, brutalized by their materialism, they are poisoned with the venom of all his enhanced passions!

Following the departure of the militia of hell, the silence was restored.

And the silence was absolute, without echo, without limit.

Lucifer, oppressed, immersed in his immeasurable boredom, suddenly broke the silence.

And with a voice of thunder, which rolls through space, screams, howls:

-I suffer like hell!-

Then suddenly, tends his fist at the Empyrean, where the immeasurable and quiet glow stars, and roars:

I can not win... is on its way! Christ, one of the two!

PART TWO

NEWS OF THE BATTLE
ALL IS WELL, OH, LUCIFER!
ENTHUSIASTIC STAFF REPORT

SUPERB
AVARICE
LUST
ENVY
GLUTTONY
WRATH
LAZZINES

Chapter XV

SUPERB

Eager to know the vicissitudes of the battle, Lucifer does not expect to finish the astral day.

And before it reaches its half, the Pride is ordered to give news of the struggle for the destruction of souls.

Obedient as a servant, came to report:

I did not expect, oh, Lucifer!, Calling me so soon. Do not give your troops time to overcome.

About words, what is your activity?

I have already done a good job. Is uncountable multitude of peacocks and commoners who took daily parade before their peers. Angels For us, it is still something interesting to see how men are caught with so little, a compliment, a newspaper article, a piece of ribbon in his buttonhole. And so are these deadly fish, as they caught their fish in the river.

...It is a daily pleasure to savor in the shade, that need not be like "everybody," one of the bunch, the desire to "pretend". And it's funny to see a man, a woman, giving tone, making others listen to them, saying eloquent profanity. A politician, when he returned home, sometimes laughing all the nonsense that has solemnly told to his attentive and enthusiastic constituents.

Lucifer brutally interrupts:

Spare me such details. All this is fodder worthy of you and me. I have a hunger for something more substantial.

And I am going to serve immediately. I looked for a man to become a leader in every sense of the word. A man strong enough to polarize around him thinkers aiming at the crowds, in an atmosphere of mystical evolution. A man to undertake your designs, and courageous enough to trigger a global catastrophe that you aspire with all your strength.

Ah, here is something that starts to get interested, exclaimed Lucifer.

Yes, repeat the Pride, I searched among humans who represent the superman, unscrupulous, pitiless, always willing to let rivers of tears to lead to universal domination, a boss for whom nothing would exist apart from his will, nor the brain of the intelligents, nor the hearts of mothers, nor patriotism, nor the future of younger generations, or the beauty of beings and things, nothing but himself and his obsession , which is yours, mine, which I have suggested, I have taught and fiercely feed it in an atmosphere of suspicion and accusations.

Have you found that man?

I think so. I have examined many and have rejected the inept, vacuous, with deceptive appearance of strength. They possessed the iron will that tramples all over to reach the end.

So, that...?

Is able to take charge of a global movement with fiery minions, apostles, martyrs up in all countries... Yes, I think half the world can throw against the other half, until the extermination of all peoples. It will be as you have explained, the universe destroying himself and escaping of the love of Christ, since Christ did not exist.

My dream!... And you say, oh, Superb!, You have not done anything? But if you are gorgeous!

Oh, Lucifer!, The thing is not more than begun, and I deal in the accumulation of cautions.

Thus, as the old man is fatally, I think of that could take his place, if mine were to die before the great twilight.

To finish: carefully watch this business.
I am watching!, I give this man escort, control him, hold him and exalt his arrogance saying that it is almost a demigod, which is unique in the history of mankind, that no conqueror has ever provided so many millions of men, ready to rise in both hemispheres and die for their cause.
And if perhaps some wretched murder him?
Oh, I think about it! We protect, therefore, against all attacks. He lives at home, behind a curtain of iron. no one can enter or leave without being checked thoroughly. Do not let it be displayed to the public. I live in an immense solitude, amid a nation of slaves.
And agrees that isolation?
Yes, because you get drunk every day, with a cold that makes men drunk impervious to any influence other than mine.
It was several times on the verge of setting fire to the world. And then has retreated, or rather, we who backed out after noticing that it was not yet time. But not always recede.
...On the other hand, if he wanted to go back, he could not. Because such potential unleashed in the world, that if his people noticing that they hesitated or just stabilized, the reaction would be so brutal, devour him, and absorbs a straw ozena. That was yesterday, the whole history of Hitler and Mussolini. They were not up to the tremendous developments that had arisen.
Lucifer listens... listen...
And when pride is over -and with what tone of satisfaction!- The summary of his work, she says, slowly, weighing his words:
I congratulate you for having so cleverly manipulated the levers of the world...
...Yes, you are right.
Let the angels... the battle of the vanities and female gossip.
...You are born for higher business.
...With us, the world today is in turmoil everywhere.
...Continue to act on the heads, over which they have, or think they have in their hands the destiny of peoples.
...Throw in all your strength, dangerous slopes, which lead to disasters.
...The crowds will follow like sheep to follow that lead to the slaughter. And do not stop any scruple.
...Pride, I congratulate you. Well I deserve hell and you are grateful.
Lucifer then tends his rough hand.
And with a cold resolution of Pride shakes, exclaiming:
This time, the future is ours!

Chapter XVI

AVARICE

After Pride, Avarice is coming forward. She, too, disgusted, muttering:
As my sister Pride, I was not expecting to be called as soon...
I do what I do I judge. And I repeat what I said to Pride: I have hunger and thirst to know how is the battle from the beginning of the offensive. You must understand.

No doubt. But oh, Lucifer!, That is like if you ask the farmer who casts his grain in the field, with both hands, how many heads will reap later. That depends on many things... I sow with full hands the passion for money, as I have commanded. That passion is rooted everywhere. I have good hopes for the harvest will soon blossom. I have found, for example, that a number of people have done in recent times, fantastic benefits. Once, a family needed a lifetime to construction of an honest and modest fortune. Today, after three years or four years, people retire either to buy a fund that important, or to enjoy a comfortable leisurely and golden life.
...I can name names in support of what I say.
...Over the aristocracy, the bourgeoisie, it is not just a memory, and works. What goes up, which is high, which enjoys all pre-eminence, is the business world, the world of money.
...Money!... As much as possible!... Such is the universal slogan. And do not have the decency to hide it. Everywhere we read in the newspaper advertisements. "What it takes to be happy? A bit of gold..."
...When you arrive at a hotel, the manager will value you, your family, your luggage, your car. It is calculated in advance the money they represent and what may be offered to you.
Lucifer raises his head:
-All that lacks innovation. Money has always been the open Sesame...
-Yes, Lucifer. But now that greed for money is exasperated by the campaign that I do and my constant pressure on the minds of men. I suggested them...
-Can you show some characteristic facts very recent?
-Acts, oh, Lucifer?... A lots! I can cite as many as you want.
-Tell me one to comfort my hope in the degradation of humanity.
Here is one that dates back to yesterday. Out of a grand hotel an old officer, covered in scars and decorations. He had come to a provincial town, because of the death of a partner, and occupied a tiny attic room under the roof. He is out of that hotel between the outstretched hands of the servants, eager for tips.
...The unfortunate given what has been, not much! And it has gone in the middle of an icy silence, on foot, dragging his suitcase and took a third seat on the train, without having eaten.
-Bah! I do not see anything extraordinary about it.
-A lot of hurry, oh, Lucifer! Wait a little; here is the contrast.
That same night, an actress, of the most scandalous reputation, leaving the hotel, after a few hot representations in the theater raised in the city. The servants are at the door, lining up, but this time, with smiling face. Because they have their hands full of bills. And when the actress gets into her car -it has a grand-car-, driven by a wealthy friend, the hotel manager on behalf of all the servants, offers a superb bouquet, many of whose flowers were white.
...Needless to say, I was the one from the Invisible that had inspired this poetic idea to the hotel manager.
That is not what I want. I want something that is not the expression of the power of money over to pleasure. That is not new, and not greed. What interests me is pure greed, money for the money... gold for gold...
-Well, Lucifer! You will be served. because I can tell the true story of an old man that today must already be in your domains. Because he died before yesterday, leaving an enormous fortune, accumulated day after day.

...Until almost died of hardship and hunger. No living today to have to live on later... Let me emphasize to you, Oh, Lucifer!, The greed of this man is my doing, and you have to record it on my records. Every night he counted and recounted his fortune. I urged him to buy gold, because paper is never more than paper, and several times in history has produced unfortunate bankruptcies. While gold has always stopped suddenly, without any infidelity against those who have had the good sense to believe in its unfailing power.

...I have advised to him that accumulate all the precautions, to put their treasures in many corners, carefully concealing the whole world what he owned. So wearing bad outfits patched with pieces. Miserably fed. He was hiding everywhere, behind pictures, under the pavement, in the old shoes, in bottles hidden under piles of coal.

...All the scoring with hieroglyphic signs not to betray, and above all, to not forget.

...Plus, despite everything, he forgot it.

Wasting time who came to speak of pious works, funds for worship, construction of churches, summer camps.

That was, for him, absolutely chinese. He had a very particular and strong way to put on the door to every good Sister that he report to ask for alms. Moreover, she said about it to each other and no nun risked twice.

I had suggested a quaint motto, heard from the lips of an old farmer. I kept repeating it, for him it was the same evidence: If I do not think about me, who think...? That truth has presided his experience throughout all his life.

-Well, had he already dead? Lucifer asks, impatiently.

-Undead, and more than dead. Yesterday morning he was found frozen in his bed, had died several days earlier. But fiercely lived alone, no one has bothered him.

-So what he should be in my domain?

-Have I told you. Is safe. Because nobody would have thought for a moment to call a priest.

-Was he buried in a christian way? I am used to such sarcasm.

-Yes.

-Free.

-Not at all. Imagine, oh, Lucifer!, That his old caretaker, devoted to something, has refused, as she said, letting it the buried like a dog.

-Why meddle with that this good woman?

-Oh!, do not be suspicious: his soul can not fail to miss. What could the holy water over the corpse of an old stubborn?

-No one ever knows what can happen. I distrust all. How much money has left?

-Millions who may not be found only after several centuries, are so hidden... However, under his pillow he had a leather little pocket full of Louis gold pieces... He slept with them lovingly caressing as if they were his only friends, the only ones who could truly trust.

...Picturesque detail: He was an gravedigger who found the little pocket while pulling the old sheet that had the corpse. Of course, he had not say anything. All this is what saved to him..

-Very good!

-But just around the cemetery, has gone to the tavern to celebrate the find. And he has drunk so that it was necessary to put him in a taxi to take him home.

...And when he have awakened, had found nothing.

One of his comrades, skilful and sagacious, had taken the "cat".

-Superb! Exclaimed Lucifer. Avarice, you has made me laugh.
-I could go until tomorrow telling stories like that.
-That is enough. Continues to instill the minds of your greedy currency. It is short, nervous, expresses well what to say to these men to take out the heart...
...More than what I expect of you, above all, is the creation of a social conscience in which, increasingly, money is everything. For this purpose, acts in high places and in the press.
...Your facts are often entertaining, exhilarating, but not more than that trifles incidents to the popular newspapers.
Try feeding a general ambition...
Rotting heads... The rest will come by itself.
Do you understand?
The heads... The propertied classes... Close them the heart...
-Yes, Lucifer. I will try. Now I understand you... Heads rot...
-Call now the service angel, and say him to introduce the

Chapter XVII

LUST

But Lust arrived.
It is idle to call it.
It comes naturally authoritarian, provocative, confident in its suggestive, violent, dizzying boldness.
Beautiful woman, for that matter. Dressed, or more accurately, naked, in Greek, as Briseis. Made up with excess. With bracelets on the wrists and feet. Scented with a peculiar perfume, persistent and pervasive.
Advances to Lucifer, and it seems, yet he, as if hypnotized.
Around her, the little devils romp and snort of pleasure and admiration. "What perfume comes with she!..."
-Did you get a good hunting?, asks Satan.
-I always pan well, and pieces of every kind and condition. I have the lad, the milliner, princes and emperors. But this year manhunt is of exceptional abundance. So, having learned that he was restless, I left the earth for a while to come to infuse peace of mind.
-Where doy ou work now on earth?
-What questions do you ask to me, oh, Lucifer! I work everywhere, because everywhere I offer in my power dams. However, I must admit that at this time are the beaches that help me in my work. I am there like in my own house. Maneuver at my leisure, people come to me, and I can make all the propaganda.
-Tell me a little issue of the mechanism.
-You will understand immediately. It is as plain as two and two make four. Before, I worked at the edge of the sea, but without appreciable result. There was a decent garment that blocked my path... Today, even the most demure, would not dare to put on old clothes.
-Perfectly!...
-I managed to completely remove the old suit... some of the men, but especially for women and young women. Today, almost nudity is the rule. Indeed, I can not see what they could to remove from the fabric of his diminished pseudo-dresses.
-Very good! Very well... Lucifer whispers.

-You can imagine the rest!... They bathe together, dried together, they tend together on the sand, or rather, under the tent.

-Perfectly! Lucifer repeats.

-But my hunt continues after bathing. The city makes things very well. There is casino, orchestra, play, "movie"... night parties. I suggested the idea of bringing to some very steamy artists from Paris, to stoke the fire and on. All progress, therefore, successfully. And it may be said on this issue that there is lack of manpower to collect the harvest. Must be sent to me several well experienced angels.

And the priest of the country leaves it at that?

He is shy, old man, without strength to cope with the rising tide. Instigated by some venerable ladies, whose past is not exempt from history perhaps, that priest has been launched to counterattack, but with holy water or rose water. Been able to register some success, however, as my troops were gone, really, a bit far...

-What do you mean? I am eager to know details...

-Imagine, Lucifer, so as not to get back into the hotel to get dressed, some girls and their mothers had devised the respectable attend mass in swimsuits.

-More and better! Lucifer exclaims.

-No, because the clergy had protested then, and the parishioners have closed over them. In this, the best would have been the opposite of what is right, if I may so express it. But such excess had irritated me and I wanted to get revenge.

-I am curious to know how.

-Wait a minute. To give more prominence to the races, I had suggested to the chairman of the commission to request the Ministry celebrations come a shortstop. He has been in effect. And all the beach has dispensed a exceptional welcome. The sailors were allowed to go ashore, for equipment.

-I guess those good boys do not get bored...

-Oh, certainly not!... These ladies work, work... One of them, great temperament, had hand so boatswain in a small, pretty boy, unhappy that he determined to desert.

...And I had!...

...Unfortunately, his comrades have organized counteroffensive. He has been caught and tied like a sausage, and have thrown on a dinghy, which returned it to the shortstop.

-What a mistake! Lucifer roared.

-If I had seen the face of the woman whose claws had just started the dam... I was in it to excite his anger even more. Attached to the stockade, angry and contemptuous, it seemed as if she will split to the sailors. I believed for a moment, which would throw into the water. But it has calmed down, and returned to the island to take other feats.

-It is interesting what you say. Because youth is the future.

Upon hearing thi,s Lust is exalted:

-How right you are! Youth is the future, is the easy terrain on which I like so much toil. Every night I lead a small group to Montmartre.

Lucifer raises his head:

-What Montmartre? Be careful. There is a dangerous neighbor.

-Oh, be quiet! The drive to the cabaret... and Montparnasse, and other more hidden still. First, are there them together; then secretly... Some have to return alone. So I am quiet. To those I have the security to dominate.

...Until I can add that the young also fall into my circle of work.

-Explain...
-Yesterday, for example, in a "good" family, so to speak, I suggested to the parents, through a newspaper, the idea of going to see a movie, inspired by me, which has been much talk in the world and so hard that you yourself will be shocked...
Lucifer then smiled, baring his yellow teeth.
-Were there? He asked.
-Well, yes there were. But that is not all! His four children entrusted to the care of the cook, have explored the room and found accidentally open a library in which the father had hidden memories of a stormy youth... And for more than one hour tasted text and illustrations, all you can expect. There were two boys and two girls. They have tarnished the memory for a lifetime. Never forget what your eyes have read and seen during this time of hell.
...Then, have again placed very well in its place. And when the parents have returned about six o'clock, they found all very applied, doing homework on vacation.
-Have the children been good? Asks the mother to the cooker.
-So good that even I heard, answered that woman-, who had also taken advantage of the absence of his sir, very wicked, who, long ago, I had put in his way.
And the enchanted mother give cakes to the whole band, and not the cooker was forgotten.
...You see, Lucifer, who I lost no time. I could go on... continue...
-I congratulate you for taking care of youth. But do not forget the upper classes. Intellectuals, especially interest me. Cease not to tell your sisters. Do you understand the reason?
-I should think I understand!
-As much as I do not understand the evil that can make a huge woman, cunning and evil, when embedded in a circle of select people. It is like the worm in the beautiful fruit. How many good men have destroyed their future, and caused irreparable harm to a neighbor because of a woman! Remember, O Lust!, The Trojan War, Henry VIII, Luther, and even Robert the Pious...
...The first woman has lost the human race. Christ has tried to save him. Try to find another woman to miss with another apple...
-Will be sought.
-That woman, oh, Lust! exist. But it is in shadow, and it should stay. The worm does not let others see him. He be satisfied to gnaw on the fruit, and rotting. I repeat to you that it is the upper class which mainly interests me.
...When we have to shepherd the flock is owned.
...When a woman is a possession, also the man takes over. Well know of everyone who thinks. That is why what in the day that follows major disasters, the historian says: Seek women.
Satan then plunges in his memories...
Think of the distant past with evident delight.
-I have arranged the woman from the beginning of the world! That was my most beautiful coup. According to Revelation, it appears that in the ultimate battle, I have still before me a woman, a remarkable woman! ... I expect!
I took over the former. I hope to also take over the latter.
And before that triumphant evocation of the future, Lucifer laughed loud it shook the hell.

Chapter XVIII

ENVY

With the same spontaneity that Lust, though inferior in beauty, Envy arrives, throwing suspicious glances right and left, with a sullen fold in the corner of his mouth dry.

Immediately, and with loquacity, took the word. we see that has anything bad to urgent say, a story that will place high in the spirit of his master, and promote a flattering wave of jealousy by their beloved colleagues of Hell.

-What you have to tell? Satan says. Now I rejoice in advance...

-A strong and wonderful thing, oh, Lucifer! Encouraged, strengthened by the words you had to address the other day, I tried to show me worthy of the expectations put on me. And I decided to bring one piece worthy of you, a game room fit for a king.

What is it? -Lucifer says-, listening with great attention.

-As Pride, I will not speak about the currents dishes, trifles that accumulate daily. The big bosses do not deal with small things. Cities, villages, especially, factories, government, families and everything else seething with envy and jealousy. All that grows in the minds of men like the grass on the roads.

...Everyone... yes, everyone... with his bone between his teeths, over time the bone roe stalking his neighbor. Of all these incidents of the bunch, not even intend to do a summary to your majesty.

-I hope the bit select and exquisite.

-Between the rare families, really happy that I found on earth, I stumbled upon one that was more than happy, it was happiness itself, the old paradise.

The father, honest and respectable, director of a major management... the wife, lovely, spiritual, mother of a lovely young ladies, sometimes had time, despite heavy household chores to help her husband, who adored her. All Christians, pious. All the family went to church. They prayed together. They belonged to all parish works. In short, the ideal marriage, that you yourself would have directed the aim in particular.

-Is this the piece told of a king?

-Precisely. I thought that if I bring you all that family, as the hunting dog brings his master has found the prey, you would be pleased with me. I bring you this dam today. I have gotten, oh, not without difficulty, making this an ideal family branch of hell!

-By what means?

-Each one works with its own supplies. And I thought about the environment that I would be worth me, the embodiment of envy and jealousy, to divide the family, where there reigned nothing but love, and destroy it.

-Indeed, what was there to tempt a great lady like you.

-I have managed very skillfully. I suggested to the husband, who is goodness itself, which would be a good thing to be determined to introduce his sister at home to help his wife, exhausted by housework and childcare. Besides, the presence of his sister would allow the wife to work more intensively on the job every evening he brought to the home from the office.

-Yes, I think that the tactic was working.

-And especially since I knew very well to the sister, having already served of her. To reserve her for special cases. She had everything to achieve my goal: intelligence, jealousy, authoritarian spirit, viper tongue. Under a mask of apparent softness concealed a formidable power division.

...At first, I was about to fail. Women have antennas, and we must not forget it. The wife sensed the malignancy of her sister. Piled objections over objections. But I was there to support the claim of the husband, whom she loved. And for not opposing him, not to cause annoyance, she gave in to his misfortune.

Bravo! -Exclaimed Lucifer-, I guess the rest.

-The sister is installed, then, in a room on the floor, a strategic room.

...At first, all goes well, well...

Of course, that is what always happens, -say Lucifer-.

-Yes, but gradually emerge based on discussion about anything, or not come to mind. The sister criticizes the diet of the husband, whose stomach must be monitored. Criticizes the method that the wife continues to educate their daughters. The wife is retrograde, too soft. He does not know the new methods.

...She says it on the table. But mostly behind the wife, when alone with his brother. Then raging in his criticism, the benefit, -she says- of her brother, whom she loves in an intelligent way. The husband defends his wife. But it lacks the strength to escape from the influence of his sister, who is under my own influence.

...stumbling, I suggest her biting phrases: "You love your wife, okay, is your right and your duty, and not for me to attempt to break the union. But just because you love, you are blind to it. That is fatal. For the love creates beauty in what you love and truth in what you think.

...But I'm not in love, I see clearly, and I consider it my duty to tell you that in your marriage, there are many things to be changed. You earn money, but she spends even more. And if you knew how!... And then girls. You are educating these against the "common sense".

The wife feels, guess these secrets criticisms. Her husband is always very loving, no doubt. But times have misgivings that she has never heard from his lips since the beginning of their marriage.

...And everything is going to worsen. The husband, a good person, wants peace and wants to reconcile the irreconcilable, ie, to square the circle, make them understand it two women dislike each other. Poor man! Put all media. About one tries to defend the cause of the other.

...Labour lost!

...Give it up, but without admitting that a man, intelligent as he, with serious responsibilities on their shoulders, can be at the mercy of those complaints among women.

After reflecting well, thinks he has found the solution. And he takes refuge in silence.

But then other suffering torments him.

Oh, those foods that should be a break for him now are odious to him, those dinners, in which nobody talks about, because every word is an explosive that set fire to all the powders.

...The unfortunate need, however, their tranquility, their brain, to meet their business and earn bread for his family. But no one thinks of such a need, nor his sister selfish, spiteful, unstoppable, even his wife, too painful for to be silent, and whose character is sour now every day.

-Who would tell me all this that drowns me, crucify me if I told you not to you?

The sister says as much to his brother:
-You are who made me come here. I was calm where I was. So you are the one responsible for the knife war that makes me your wife... Defend me!
...Weary, resigned, despite his resolution of silence and indifference, still listening to the miserable complaints of one and the other. As soon as he impetuously is designated arbitrator. As soon as she is bitterly criticized. Each censured his weakness, his lack of will, and is not intended that he is only a reed, a flimsy blade. And each accuses his rival takes you where she want as a earring in the nose, busted nose.
And angry, make a gesture to him appropriate to the insolent phrase.
After the day, not even the husband rest restful than sleep provides. At night, his wife, saturated with resentment, crying, sobbing on his bed, where sometimes attacks her with nervous breakdowns.
And in the morning, just rising, the husband hears again to start the same litany of complaints and tantrums.
Examines all possible solutions. And, everywhere, is cornered.
Doing that leaves her sister, whom he brought from the provinces? What a storm at home and among his relatives!
Does sending his wife to calm among his people? First, will object. And then, what to do with the daughters, who witnessed all the scenes, and take positions, sometimes even for his aunt, who secretly fills pampering?
Consequently, there is nothing to do.
The war has taken root there, fatal, relentless, total war every day, all night, and during anything.
...And I, from the shade, oh, Lucifer!, Never stopped to throw oil, oil over all fires. I made the daughters, neighbors, merchants, repetition, aggravated, the complaints from the one and the ther.
...Like I said, oh, Lucifer!, The paradise of love has become an inferno of hate, where two women, facing fiercely, have only one desire: to insult, injury, exterminate.
...Then happened what I had expected and much desired. One day the poor husband, exasperated, exhausted nerves, no longer able to resist, in a moment of madness, driven by me, jumped out the window, half of the meal, from the third floor.
-Is he killed? Lucifer happily exclaims.
-Not at all. The window was not high enough.
-What a pity!
-Only two broken legs and ribs.
And then came the wild scene, public, to the neighbors, who came in terror, the scene between two women. One accused the other of having driven her husband to commit that act of desperation.
...And I enlarged the disaster.
...The disaster was complete.
...After two painful operations, the husband, neurasthenic, become a human rag, has been forced to resign as director. The formidable costs of the clinic have devoured everything he had managed to save.
...The mother has had to qualify for a miserable occupation: take a walk to the children of one of the heads of her husband, leaving behind his own.
And the sister? -Lucifer examine-.
-Sister?. Oh!, Has emerged triumphant. Foreseeing the catastrophe, had economies. And I have it in reserve for future exploits.

...Was I right, oh, Lucifer! to tell you I brought a delicacy?
Satan holds out his arms.
-Come, Oh, Envy! I give you the hug that is given to good servers. Now go back to the earth, and tries to do something better.
And casting a look of challenge to his peers, the envy go out there, proud and trembling, to the search for new victims.

Chapter XIX

GLUTTONY

With his big eyes on the gelatinous face, streaked red lines, licking, with lips that seemed to bribe remains of some candy that he had been left between the teeth, Gluttony enters.
She also, like Lust, is accompanied by boisterous angels, snacks on the lookout that the great lady throws them in passing.
Lucifer receive to she with a smile:
-And you, are you satisfied with the beginning of the day?
-First of all, I, Lucifer, I have a strong stomach and, therefore, a good character. And dealing only with people who have the same ideals that I, whose morning and evening prayers are like this: "Belly mine, rejoice, all I earn is for you".
Lucifer protest.
That is a rip. The apostle Paul said, and in a rather more aggressive, before you.
That Paul said in another time. But I'm seeing every day. Work in all social classes, people, bourgeois aristocracy. Everywhere I find the passion for table wine, alcohol. Oh¡, to varying degrees, no doubt, and under various aspects.
...But the appetizer, which is universal, breaks down barriers and prejudices enough.
Spare me your philosophical considerations. For me, there are only recent and interesting facts.
-Then, Lucifer, prepare a very big paper, because I have many facts to present to you.
-Do not forget that some people are waiting at the door. Two or three facts are enough for me. But they must be characteristic.
-Well, you must to know, first of all, I have increased tenfold the number of taverns, bars and cabarets. Currently there are everywhere, with enthusiastic and loyal clients.
-That starts to like.
-I am not talking only of the suburbs of large cities, and famous neighborhoods like Montmartre and Montparnasse. My tentacles extend to the smaller villages. I could cite a specific region, regarded with hatred by people who, as they say, think well. The priest was a zealous priest of charities. Everyone went to church, followed the chanting procesions.
...I installed there, unnoticed, a sale to an individual at the height of the circumstances, and the accurate bottles. Little by little, men, farmers have acquire the habits to go there. After, the children have followed the example of parents, two or three times a day. And I assure you, Oh, Lucifer!, there is not sold holy water, and slops, but authentic absinthe famous snacks. Now, I have qualified and inveterate drunkards. At the cabaret, not only drinking, but about politics and religion. The priest, before protected and revered, is there on the spot. It is the scapegoat for everyone. Imagine: has been about to come to blows! The retrograde not want to be guided, and he has planted to us a formidable project.

-What?

-Never guess not! This unfortunate priest conceived the idea of putting him in front of a parishioner cabaret of the Third Order. Because, shrewd as he is, knows that providing the cabaret, has the country.

-Oh, hell! It was not as silly as it seemed!

-Yes, but I stepped on the field. And I knew some precedents that bothered me. For example, in a region is a Capuchin who is responsible for the cabaret. And in the evening, when they play the Angelus, the Capuchin takes a big hit with his mug of beer. Then all stand and sing the Angelus. It is great, unbelievable in the twentieth century. But it is.

-I suppose you have made a serious opposition.

-Very serious! I assure you I sweated my thing. The boy was in charge at your pleasure! But indirectly, I have mastered the cabaret, with the deputy.

-What about today?

-Tranquility is the norm. But I watch the issue. And everything is going well. I rejoice to see my drunks on Sunday afternoon, on the road, rolling each over other, to keep out from falling, and yelling stupid songs. The contrast is really funny! The sun sets between gold and purple, the birds sing on the edge of their nests, the flowers exhale their last fragances, nature sleeps, beautiful and magnificent calm. Where is the man?

...Where is it? For where I have thrown in the gutter, sleeping it off with his nose in the mud.

And that is my work!

-Well, well! Exclaimed Lucifer. Continues, but dispenses of the poetry. I realize you still living in memories of yesteryear. You have not yet become a pure demon, full demon. And besides, I am expecting something cheerful. In the table, among the men say things quite strong.

Well, I will tell you one with a lot of fun. I had hunted for an interesting bartender that was going to die. I said, beforehand, that this man belonged to you. He had stolen all his life, selling mystified wine and leaving the cups served to fill to the multitude of his morons customers...

...With that and everything else, the account was going to give identic. And behold, his cooker, an old peasant woman, seeing that he will die, took it into his head to call a priest.

-Why is mixed in this mixture the good woman?

-The poor man could not defend himself now, and her cooker will truly awe inspiring. Then comes a small vicar of the four quarters, young, shy, very pious and begins to tell all kinds of pious admonitions to that old unbeliever, who did not understand anything.

...Thrilled, nevertheless, would not fall foul with that priest. Call the maid and told me to get an old bottle of wine, one covered in dust and cobwebs over the years.

...She did so enthusiastically. And she filled a glass for the little abbot. For a residue of their habit, the dying wanted to drink, but with his cup of chamomile, as the doctor had forbidden all alcohol to this veteran bottles friend, who are dying of a congestion.

-But anyway, I do not see where you are going to go, exclaimed

Lucifer, who is impatient.
Going to it. As he left, that rascal Abbe conceived the idea of making the dying kiss the crucifix.
...When you lean toward him, the old innkeeper, seized with sudden emotion, takes him by the collar and yell, with desperate voice: "To think that I have in the warehouse over a thousand bottles like that, and I am going to die without drunk all of them!..."
He died, in fact, a few hours after that act of perfect constriction.
-Does he belong to me, then? Lucifer asks.
-Probably.
-Why probably?
-Because that devil abbot priesthas been there. And with these priests never know...
Lucifer frowns:
-That is not at all a good job. You should have prevented the priest go.
-But the cook was there.
-But is that a cook can mean something in front of a real demon?
-Yes, it means. Remember that was a cooker who dominated Peter the first Pope. And besides, I have not mentioned this fact alone but with a view to distract. Thus should not forget that my action men is eternal. Three quarters live only to eat, drink and sleep. It is amazing the number of glasses of alcohol absorbed, night and day, in a city like Paris, and to exorbitant prices. The village man drinks at the tavern. The good society people drink in luxury cafes, but also, and very often in their own home. Mentioning a person could very worthy, died of congestion. Everyone believed him as sober as a camel. Well, after his death, found in a closet, which he alone held the key, a battalion of bottles of alcohol. Secretly drank every night before bed.
...That is all my work... Not only on the drunken kingdom of the suburbs, but also on the dinners, I am helpful cheerleader of the nights. Seeing a guest in evening dress, a certain female in evening dress, I remember the tension, congestion is imminent, and I say, "Here is one... a one, to my beloved master Lucifer!"
-I admit it. You too, you, above all, you are the devil of sudden death. If you will to distinguish you, I will put a fork in your arms.
-I think is most indicated a bottle or a cup. He destroyed many homes, destroyed the future of many people, brutalized many brains with my alcohol...
-Continuous, then!... Fosters newspaper ads. Varies titles. Multiply the formulas that conceal the poison behind enormous letters. And pours until overflow, drunkenness that saturates the skulls, the bodies and conviction roe souls. Come to hug me and returns to earth. And that the humanity may be thirsty, always thirsty, drink and come in my cool house, Hell!
Gluttony takes between her swollen fingers the back of her skirt, bows. And very decent leaves, surrounded by boisterous angels, shouting their wishes and admiration.
But she muttered:
-I have the impression that the Master did not appreciate my truly value. And yet, what would Lust, if she did not have me before for to prepare the ground?

Chapter XX

WRATH

The next! -Lucifer shouts to the service archangel-.
Useless order. Because yet, brutally, with spiky hair, bright eyes, mouth foaming, Wrath has violated access.
-Already furious notes Lucifer.
-Yes; I am angry, always angry!...
-Why?
For me the persistent injustice that is committed with me. I am called after Lust after Envy, after that Gluttony that did not stop to ponder their deeds. Indeed, it would seem that these are the only demons that do something.
-Let your sisters quiet. Jealousy between demons are ugly default. It is you who it is about right now. What have you done since the beginning of our day of trial?
-What have I done? As I have done what the black... I continued doing what I did before.
-Specify.
-I am the angel of blasphemy, lying fist, the angel of the injuries, the angel of the irreparable words, the angel of the challenge and the suicide, I have broken the glass and the pieces are thrown on the heads of people.
Lucifer grimaced:
-Not much!...
-Naturally, poor thing! About me, whatever it is, will always be a small thing... But this little thing has to be done, nonetheless.
-I prefer you to smash households, instead of glasses.
-Households? Does not ignore that. But with me, always in a hurry. With me, will suffice. You not grant to me time to talk. However, I go around the halls of the hospitals, causing patients to damn against the nurses and doctors... Against feed and against everything! I make them blaspheme, which burst into expressions so known like these: "What have I done to God to make me suffer like this?" And I suggest a package, "God? What nonsense¡ Not worth it to show him the fist! God does not exist..." Then comes the total desperation, the sick patients implore the application of an injectable, which will send them to nothing...
-That is, my domains.
-Yes, your hell, then hell on earth. You should see how they go round and round in their beds, such as broken worms. And I pour acid on that. Emphasize the stupidity of life; and I gather for them the consequences. I explain that it is a crime to bring children into the world to live so cruel existence.
-Very good! Insists that.
-Among the poor, mainly, exaggerate everything. Yesterday, a husband, a great drunkard, moreover, -you can tell this to the Gluttony: she will feel very proud of it-, had sustained a tragic argument with his wife, as tragic as it decided to end the situation once and for ever.
-Is it suicide?
-Oh, much better than that. He has decided the immediate separation. From the Invisible, I have taken full advantage of that. I have inspired all sorts of crazy, and easily assimilated. For now, decreed that her mother has no right to live within 200 Kilometers of him: "Conscious, implores his wife, it can be 150..." "I have said will be 200 and it will be 200. If you put less distance, do not answer for anything!"

...Then everyone, will take half of everything, because I am, yes, for justice and equality.

...Said and done...

...The husband gets the saw to cut the table into two halves, the cabinet, in half, the chairs, half each, the bed in two halves...

...And I still inciting, instigating, to encourage that drunkard to the highest degree of stupidity. I also would like that he will cut his three children in half.

Ay¡, an idiot neighbor, attracted by the screams of the terrified women, stirring up the other neighbors. Calls to the agents that lead, not without difficulty, the madman to a hospital cell, where it continues still. Recognizes Lucifer, I have been ready to give a good blow...

-Yes, okay. There is no denying that you do something. But I repeat what I have already told to your sisters, you work mainly among the people. I would like to see you enter the homes of businessmen, politicians, in the newsroom, especially to inspire inflammatory articles. You do not frequent enough the world of the writers, of the leading thinkers. The people are not interested to us. Is a flock that will always go with who command them.

-No doubt, Lucifer responds-. But I think my performance difficult and complicated for the educated class. It is a long development work, which requires endless discussions. And I do not like to discuss. I prefer to strike immediately..

...I am the angel of the minute, the second in wich one kills or is killed. If I let my victim time to reflect, is beyond me. The people obey to the impression. The intellectual, to the idea. It is much harder to turn down a thinker, his head down and feet up...

No doubt! -Lucifer responds-. But let me at least, to see how you try. And it is also possible. Apparently, you believe that Wrath is just an explosion of shouts and precursor gestures of the punch. I must remind you that there are other types of Wrath: anger cold, delayed anger, more terrible than the others. There is anger, unforgiving vengeance, grief.

-The duel is over. They have ruined the work. It has become a ridiculous thing.

-You have still many resources if you are smart.

-Yes, I know. I do what I can. Thus, to show who also worked with the top, I have directed the aim to a great doctor sick with cancer in the throat.

-That is more interesting to me that your besotted drunk.

-That doctor was precisely the grip of cold anger, rage silent, hidden. He was furious when he saw that he had to stop, to leave their experiments and their clients... and that the harm was already done... Nor was he satisfied with his colleagues, who were to take advantage of their inactivity to hoard their sick. He, silent. But everything was boiling inside. I continued that process, as I was sure that one day will burst the storm...

-And what else?

-He was applied morphine. I was inspired to him the idea of to shot with his own hand. And accidentally left a tube of cyanide at his fingertips. When escalated their attacks, the temptation was terrible. He has long resisted because of his wife and children, who loved...

And, at last, one night, the nurse, who slept, did not respond when he press the doorbell. And suffering atrociously, has undertaken the rage, despair. I have taken advantage of it to compel him to use the cyanide.

-And did it?

-Yes, after having hesitated for half an hour, but after that time, I finally managed to take him the bit.

In these circumstances, -Lucifer sentence-, I grant you, despite all, a good grade for that client. I will give it because you belongs to a select class.

Wrath grind your teeth, and roughly repeats the phrase:

-Ah, "yet"! You throw me a good note, as a lamb bone thrown to a dog... Obviously, if I had his face painted like Lust or the prominent belly of Gluttony, would be entitled to other accomplishments.

...These ladies are lucky! They can work at home and squishy dough well...

...And they are warmly welcomed, and shake hands, and they are embraced!...

...While I, the poor parent, I have to wait, to be content with crumbs. And yet, my work is a hundred times more difficult!

...If instead of a great doctor, I would have brought a tasty morsel, you Lucifer, would have been more friendly.

...Ah, thunder and lightning!...

...If you crave justice, Hell is not where to look!...

Satan smiles

-It is indeed unfortunate that I do not have a mirror at my disposal. You would scare to see how ugly you wear when you ride in anger.

-And you...? Maybe you think you are beautiful, with your teeth yellow, your hooked nose, your eyes round like lottery balls, and goat skin...?

And the Wrath went away, furious, closing the doors with shock, trampling the archangel of service, and through, like a projectile, the group of small demons, that shrink the buttocks, terrified...

Chapter XXI

LAZINESS

The archangel of service calls to the seventh member of the staff: Laziness.

He called once... twice. No one answers. The third time, shouting, with whistling voice:

-Laziness-, Lucifer awaits you...

Since no one responds, the archangel enters the vast waiting room, teeming, pressing against each other, hundreds of subdemons. The archangel finally found Laziness, asleep and snoring, mouth open, ensconced in an armchair... Best of all, naturally!

The archangel energy shakes awake.

-Sorry! Excuse me!... The Master is calling you.

-Finally...? Does he decide...? For it has taken time! And he called me the last, when I should be the first, because Laziness is the mother of all vices. But I am convinced, like Wrath, that even in Hell virtue is not rewarded.

The archangel, prudent, replies:
I can not do anything in a matter. All your complaints to Lucifer.
For the attention that he cares to me... Listen you, who are young, help me get out of this chair, where I am embedded for hours.
The archangel, then, is propped up, and with an energetic movement, aided by small goodwill subdemons, stands up to heavy Laziness.
The feet of this lady has enough burden to bear. Because Laziness is always tired, overwhelmed, fatigue, and collapsed on itself...
No walks, crawls. And is needed all the energy of Satan and the fire of Hell, for to throw she into the battle.
Found she, at last in front of his Master, very unhappy, because she does not like to wait...
-How is -he shouts hoarsely- that in the power of the full combat of the Other, do not manifest livelier, more spirited, more energetic? Sleep and snore when your sisters are fighting!...
-Oh, not so fast, Lucifer!- Laziness responds, with a languid voice. You forget that I am lazyness. The others, your favorites, moves a lot, talk a blue streak, scream, they are given importance to themselves, gesticulate, hands at. A few moments ago, I heard shouting to Wrath. Why? I do not ride ever in anger... I am the same sweetness. I act on my own weight. It inspires me dislike the concern of "you see me?" and all other extravagances. The good does not make noise, noise does not do well, I do not make noise, sleep...
...So I start to protest against Lust. That scheming has claimed to have entered the holy King David in his list of game. I think that is intolerable for a very simple reason: no lust had taken over from David if I ever I had not taken possession of it first. I make of him, first, a lazy, vague, and because of that, Lust got him to fall. Without me, Bethsabée had lost time, she would not even have the money to pay her soaps and perfumes.
-Bah! Lucifer interrupts, that belongs to the ancient history. I want to know is what you have done since the beginning of current operations.
-I have done so many things, oh, Lucifer!, I ask leave to sit beforehand because I am tired from all that I have to tell.
-All I ask you, as the others, some recent events and features.
-For now, I have lulled many young people, which I have been something like the opium of the will. The parents, for to provide instruction, do not omit sacrifice. But they just do not care about, and thinks only in fun.
...Since you ask a characteristic fact, I can quote you for a medical student who does not attend their classes, yawn on the books, and does not enjoy more than going to listen to the cabarets of Montparnasse filthy stupidities, and trying to compose other more. You will advance, the unfortunate diagnoses, the nharmful prescriptions that he will imagine, and the patients who kindly kill, assuring them that he will save their lives. And when they come to fetch him at night, you can imagine the reception he will dispense who would wake up!
-That is right!
-Recognizes, Lucifer, I am not screaming. I do not promote riots and outbursts. I did not raise my two fists threatening, such as Wrath.. I sleep sweetly to the individual. When he goes carousing, he does not wake up for only to start again. And I assure you that this method is of surprising results... and that I have so many examples of types.
...But I have many others in all the soccial classes.

-I do not cease to say that the upper classes are the main interest to me.

-Well, I can tell that I frequent a lot of company who call themselves Catholics... and I know to discourage them. I reveal them the indifference, the futility of effort, and I instilled the famous phrase: Nothing to do!

-Perfectly! I love an idea that embodies as an etching in a slogan, a motto.

-And when all must be done, they say there is nothing to do, in fact. And it is a pleasure for me to rock them... see them as they sleep sweetly, with absolutely quiet conscience... they are going to angling... They are witty and humorous. I could quote you great parishes from that point of view, parishes in which no more need to step to rouse the faithful to bugle...Well, not even that! The parishioners sleep. And as in a regiment, the slogan is obeyed, and that slogan is, snoring!

Very well, -Lucifer interrupts-, which has started to pay attention. But, what about the priest of these people? Have you convinced that there is nothing to do?

-I tried to do, but without result. I have seen arrive one, full of ardent faith and dangerous initiatives...

-So what?

Being unable to take over him directly, because he resist to sleep, I get it through others. I surround him, little by little, of people who would help, but only serve to discourage him. He feels only in the exercise of its work, and can not do anything useful because no one comes to the aid him. It is not good that man should be alone. To me, this truth applies to the priest...

Lucifer seems increasingly satisfied:

-Really you are not as dumb as I believe.

-Thanks! I do what I can. I have no more than one string in my bow, but it is good for all the necessities and all the social classes. I fall asleep to men, I make them to detest his work, his "pit", as they say, elegantly. His motto is do as little as possible and demand more payment. When the calendar appears, I immediately seek the "bridges", ie, the days that will not work. In many offices, there are overstaffed. And when an employee wants, nevertheless, work, your itching is accused of zeal, which spoils the work. The dream of dreams is to do well sitting in a car and devour miles.

...In the lee of progress, increasingly try to suppress the effort. It exaggerates the use of telephone, elevator, car, of the machine. There are no men for to till the land. No yet to think. The newspaper, the "cinema" think for men. I could go on, but I am tired, very tired...

-A bit of encouragement!...

-I finish telling you, that I fall asleep to the rich who think only of themselves, in their fortunes, their pleasures, or even suspect that the vast responsibility is commensurate with its immense possibilities...

...Men have intelligence and yet do not understand that intelligence is not only to be applied to material progress. Death is lurking at all, and behave as if they were to remain forever on earth. I have lulled them so that they no longer have force for to raise his head above his pleasures.

...So just look down...

...You are Lucifer, his great chief, his god! And I will do all it can to remain so forever and every day!

So be it, -Lucifer says almost cheerfully-. I realize that your laziness is not idle. Make sleep more and more. Never not sleep enough. We need to get that for them religion is not nothing but a historical memory, a certain old announcing the fall of the tree, the fall of the Cross...

...Yes, Laziness, numb on all Christians, make of their churches deserted as these rocks are inert, reminiscent of ancient times, on which yields the ocean, alive and exciting, the foam of the dismissive waves.

Lucifer, stops as if that recall was already before him, a triumphant reality.

-Come, Laziness... Hey, a little encouragement! Let me help you get up from your chair. Sleep to others, but you do not sleep...

And the burning lips of Satan sank quietly into the gelatinous cheeks of Laziness.

-Lucifer... You will burn me!

-That proves that I do not have numb...

PART THREE

THE SUBDEMONS ARE DISTINGUISHED

A YOUNG DEMON THAT WILL GO FAR
THE DEMON OF RELIGIOUS VOCATION
THE DEMON OF DESPAIR
THE DEMON OF MARRIAGE
THE BROKEN POTS DEMON
THE MUNDANE DEMON
THE DEMON "AD QUID...?"
THE INFERNAL HURRICANE

Chapter XXII

A YOUNG DEMON THAT WILL GO FAR

Was promoted at the door a big fuss, when, shuffling slowly, heavily, Laziness went away.

All the large cohort of subdemons, angels, little angels, launched in the first cries and screams of outrage that did not quite Laziness proclaim his own praises.

In the case of Laziness, would have been less talkative.

Then they stirred up a frenzy, not wanting to wait any longer... Everyone was passing over the other because each had something special to tell to the Master.

They too, they mostly had entered the fray, with all the ardor characteristic of wicked boys.

No need to call them!

Doing efforts with the arms and with open wings, the archangel of service fails to contain all those youngsters of Hell. Everyone yells: "Me!, Me!"

He had to call in the aid of other archangels and organize a service order. In this interregnum, a small subdemon, smarter than others, managed to slip in and out the first under the legs of his guardian. Seeing him appear, despite the barrier of the archangels and their comrades, Lucifer began to laugh, with his hideous laugh.

-You, you will come, young man, because it is not what you lack courage. Do you have many things to tell?

The little angel cocky firmly, and looking at Satan face to face:

-No, I have no too much things to tell you. I have only one, but yummy, I mean great!

-I hear you little, but be brief!

-I think you wll be pleased with this boy of yours. In my sector, there is a pious village. Every year people go in procession to an old Calvary, a cruise wrought iron, dating from the depths of the centuries of ignorance and superstition.

That calvary, filled with moss and rust, irritated me. And one day, thinking of you, and in you always think, I set him down as the goal of your journey...

-Very well, dear. I can see that you do not eat with the back of the spoon...

-Yes, but that was not as easy and comfortable as I had thought. Ah, the time ago clericals chose either strategic sites! Cross that had stood at the intersection of three roads, the most popular. It was like a perpetual preaching; and in spite of mine, I saw a handful of bigards that took off his hats when passing in front of that cross. No, it could not last.

...I searched in this retrograde country, to someone whom I could lean on. I have studied, weighed the bad heads of the village, whose temple was the bar. Finally, I found three, well prepared, which, so to speak, I managed to incarnate.

...I have said them: you are men of fists. And let yourself be sent by an elderly priest, a kind of fossil that ignores all the great modern evolution. Not known to science, auto, motorcycle, aircraft, have replaced the crass ignorance of ancient times, is therefore a disgrace to the people, the support that old dingy Christ, symbol of the Inquisition and of oppression of conscience. Do you think that is fun for young people not being able to step on the road without seeing that Christ hung on a cross? Ah, if there be a beautiful old statue of Bacchus or Venus, or a rogue faun, that really would be happy, and suggestive, and interesting!

-Surely, if..., said the three boys, while they emptied his pitcher of red wine.

-So if you are men that I suppose, must be removed that cross, knock it down. And I add that you will give pleasure to many people I know and that irritates the challenge issued in this country, day and night, to the joy of living, Progress and modern Science.

...And one evening, taking the ritual snack bar, a council of war was against the Crucified. One would simply sawn at the base. But I, Oh Lucifer!, I thought it would be more spectacular, more eloquent for that future generations simply tear it down.

...And besides, it would be faster, easier, quieter. The saw is noisy, while starting a cross ruinous, built centuries ago among old stones gnawed, is much more comfortable. Within minutes, two good strings, would throw to the ground and bury the cross under the mud in the gutter next.

We shook hands... And so it was decided.

A very dark night, my three wild men arrived with two well ropes.

Made sure that there was nobody on the road. Then, quickly, the two ropes passed under the arms of the cross and then threw the three as strong as they could.

...But again, that was much harder than that I could expect. Yes, it worked only in ancient times.

Above all, I did not want to discourage them. I awakened his self pride and I have suggested them to return another night, but provided with a pick to pull out the stubborn stone pedestal.

And they came back, with a liter of wine each in the stomach. I saw how they worked. They worked quickly and well. A pickaxe blow apart the stones... Then, with the strings pulled with all his might. I stood there in the Unseen. Encouraged them as much as I could. Sweated profusely. I paid them a drink of red tip and a glass of absinthe.

...Revived, made one last effort and one felt that the Christ hesitated, at last, on its base.

Hey, a little more!... It is yours!

In fact, they did with him.

With a formidable crunch, the Crucifix was taken from all the stones that still held him and collapsed on the grass of the slope.

-Bravo! -exclaimed Lucifer-, beating his claws.

-And they have dragged it to the mud of the gutter, where it will become moldy, to disappear... No more, no more decisively.

Lucifer pulled the hair of the beard, and asks:

-And in the village, what reaction has occurred?

-Not as big as I feared. The priest, naturally, has stirred up, like us, if we fell into the holy water. And he has launched an incendiary sermon, which has not been more than a straw fire. Some good women have whined and murmured of the modern generation. Men, as a pretext for doing nothing, have claimed that they were vagabonds, thugs, beggars, those who had perpetrated the deed. Then came the local fair, the verbena, the cattle market. Finally, hardly talk about it.

Would have to do the same in all villages -Lucifer cries-. You are a brave little devil. Come to hug you.

And very merry, the subdemon get the hug and the kiss of the Master. Then does a somersault in the noses of their comrades, which show a fist because he also has been talking too long. And jumping out of there, in the search for a new prank to perform.

Chapter XXIII

THE DEMON OF THE RELIGIOUS VOCATION

Another demon glides, treacherously, among his comrades, and appears to Lucifer.

He has not the slightest resemblance to the fiery young devil has preceded it.

This seems like pious. It looks sweet, humble, gentle. Speak calmly, as reflectively:

-I do not know, oh, Lucifer!, So loud that my comrade has told you.

My manners are other very different, and I think quietly, I have more and better than what he has done with so much noise.

-Leave your comrade in peace. And tell me what you have done on behalf of my big day...

-I will be as short as possible. But after listening to me think I should tell you what I mean.

Here it is: I have searched so long on this day will give particular astral pleasure. He longed to bring something none of my other comrades offer you. After much hesitation, my choice has fallen into a charming young man who believing himself called by Christ, had thought and decided to enter the Grand Seminary and become a priest.

-Oh!, here is one thing that really interested me -exclaimed Lucifer, with singular attention-. What did you do?

-I tried to get hold of him directly.

-What do you mean?

-I have managed myself to supply him a friend, under whose skin I have established as at my own home.

...Under my inspiration, that friend had the firm intention to close the youth access to the seminar. In the meantime, has made the traditional objections, has provided books, has criticized the priests, who are not what vain people imagine. Then dragged him to secular and scientific centers, where the religious vocation is considered as an indication of weakness of mind, a kind of neurasthenia entrusted to the care of psychiatrists...

-Very good!

-Yes, but this idea of vocation was so ingrained in his spirit, the youth has resisted. And I realized that it was necessary to find an retreat area to undertake an assault that would be decisive. I came back to grab my agent, who was almost discouraged, and I have suggested a medium that has almost always successful.

-That way is to put a couple in their way.

-Yes, my dear devil, you are right. Remember how I have succeeded in the ex-Garden of Eden, making a woman intervened in my plot.

-Yes, Master, I remember it very well. I am not as strong as you, but I also hoped to succeed.

...Both my friend and I have chosen her. And there were many who kicked, eager to break free from their enforced celibacy...

...Ours was young, friendly, a blonde with blue eyes... smart, very eager to marry.

-Although you are not more than a little devil, you are reasoning with real success.

-I would add, Oh Lucifer!, That this lady had, instinctively, what is called the sense of practical behavior. She did not scared our budding seminarian. While she managed to meet him in a field as it were absolutely peaceful, calm, social work and the like, in the church, she did not stand far from him, had care for their parents, provided services. Was introduced gradually in the family, without ulterior motive of any kind, apparently. So sweet and melancholic as one might wish, dressed with elegance and simplicity, staying within the limits observed by people of good education.

Better and better! -Lucifer whispers-, looking up.

So, one day, when the environment was well prepared and willing the victim for sacrifice, I managed so that the two were completely alone, as if by accident. She then suddenly began to mourn.

-But what happens? What is wrong with you? Exclaimed the poor innocent, scared.

-Oh, nothing! I should not have come here. I felt so strong...

More and more excited, the future seminarian rinsed her eyes with his own handkerchief. And as she swayed, holding to she in his arm, comforting, a little dazed. For what consolate her?...

-I want to know what can cause you much suffering, he murmurs beside her, in an anguished voice.

-Do not ask me!

-But, why not?

-I can not tell! No I can confess!... I fear that after not want to see me again...

-I beg you!...

-You want it?

-Oh, what if I want?, With all my soul!...

-Do not resent me?

-No.

-Do you promise?, Do you swear it?

-Promised.

Do you swear? -She insists-.

The novice hesitates before this last word. And finally, he decide:

-Yes, I swear...

-Well, I love you! And the pain makes me crazy to think you wants to abandon, dressing gown, to enter the seminary...

The young man then contemplates the beautiful girl who weeps over her shoulder. See her blue eyes wet with tears, and whispers:

-That is not accomplished yet...

-She recovers immediately, subject her hair, wipes her tears and supporting both hands on the shoulders of the young and looking good in the face, looking in his eyes:

-Oh, thanks for the hope you give me!...

...Hope has become reality, since they were married yesterday.

The priest is dismayed; the families, splited, the daughters of Mary, jealous...

...Here is the delicacy that I bring to you...

...Recognizes that this, your joung demon has not worked very badly...

Bravo! -Lucifer exclaims-. I am delighted of you. You are what could be called a "one hundred percent" diplomatic. I will use you to higher missions...

...Think about this: a priest unless for Christ! All damage to me that could have become from that seminarian!...
Avoid all the hurt that could make me that seminarian!...

...It is amazing! And from that moment on, you ascend to archangel.

The pious countenance of that elusive demon is illuminated with a sweet smile.

And at the sight of so happy that comrade, the other demons jealous and angry, show him the fist, shouting:

-Intriguing! Hypocrite! Clerical! Hu!... Hu!...

Chapter XXIV

THE DEMON OF DESPAIR

Let him enter! Order Lucifer to the archangel.

The devil that is coming is also different at all to others. The dark look, dressed entirely in black, walking slowly. Produces a sinister impression.

Be brief, -says Lucifer-, with little pleasure, seeing him coming.

-Iam short, but continuous.

-What do you say with that?

-That I am the specialist in the weak, the scrupulous, the sick. There superabundance of that sort, and more every day.

-Do you exploit the anguish?

-And the dying despair.

-Congratulations!

-Precisely, Lucifer, my area has no limits. Work in hospitals, in garrets, in convents and also too often in the world. Undermines the ground of conscience and search the archive of the families.

...I say to the scrupulous: That sin...? Do not confess!... You have forgot a capital circumstance that alters the species and greatly increases malice. It should be you coming back to see your confessor, who beg him to listen to you again. Although no other reason than to appease charity and your conscience, just as restless.

...And how this new step will not lead to any result, I prompted to the scrupulous to confess again with another confessor. For the conscientious, after multiple consultations, always revert to their own opinion: "If my confessor knew me as I know, I would not so easily given absolution". And it continues to grow, like a snowball to infinity.

...As for the well off, who have bright red blood in the veins, I try to make them doubt the legitimacy of his fortune, the honesty of certain significant benefits realized, secretly, in the detriment of the poors.

...But all my preferences are concentrated on the dying. These barely resist me. Already physically weakened, so are their souls. Do with them, more or less what I want.

Try me take advantage of it, -says Lucifer-, because in these times of transition from one life to another is when you can grab mass of souls.

-This is precisely the ideal aspiration of my demon life. Sometimes I managed well to avoid being called to the priest or arrives too late... dying and then die as the beasts die.

...Sometimes, instilled in the fear of dying a horrible death. "Dying, he suggests, becomes reality all what is abominable in the total annihilation. You have here all that is necessary to continue your happy life. You will need to abandon everything! Do you understand it? All..., your room, your house full of memories that you have so lovingly groomed and ready. Will have to leave your fortune, your life. Your eyes will be closed, you mouth dry, your heart will stop beating, and become an inert thing, horrible, rotten, which has no name in any language and should be buried, hidden away, away from the eyes of those who are still alive".

...And do not be weak to grab onto some hope. Do not make any illusions. What you suffer is hopeless. Your relatives, your doctor, your nurse will cheat, are playing a comedy when you talked about your potential cure. Cancer is not cured. And what you have is a cancer. You will witness your own decay, at the expense of much suffering! ...

...And to get what? A place that you like so many others, inside four boards.

...And that will be your end.

...That is the exact truth.

...This is what awaits you.

...This is what you are told no, and you need to know.
...Remember that there is no more deceived creature than a sick.
...And, then, the world continue to live.
...Sifting through the drawers of your furnitures, read your personal letters, tore the photographs.
...But above all, your assets will be distributed.
...And maybe even you, yourself, you that are lying on your back and can not do anything but look, impatience surprised you in the eyes of your heirs, and a precursor of the dissensions greed of tomorrow.
...And if you belong to those who have been loved with selfless love, only for you, your suffering will be greater in the eyes bathed in sincere tears, with the arms that you tend to shake a inmminent corpse... And for a front face that begins to freeze, be deposited desperate kisses that can not restore the heat.
...Yes; poor dying, while picking your rags, accommodate on your sheets: it is needed to leave.
...And to go where?
...What a mystery!
...To nothing... maybe!
...And that is the best hope, joy and end of absence in this precarious world, where everything is anxiety and pain.
Or, if you have a weakness, disgrace to believe in the Hereafter, poor wretch, you will appear before a terrible God...
...The God of justice and anger...
...The God of the Dies irae....
...The God who is going to push yourself fully aware of everything, even useless words ...
...The God who is missing until his angels...
...Therefore, miserable sinner, what will become of you?
...In what abyss you are going to hide yourself?
After having repeatedly said this, because repetition is the strongest of the figures, I got gruesome deaths, despairing farewells of life, with blasphemies...
Dead belonging to you, Lucifer...
And I, that I am not, however, nothing but a miserable subdemon, I bring you all this, all these agonies, these outstretched fists, those eyes full of incomprehension and horror, to the glory and service of yours.
Thanks -Satan answered-; stuffing continues unabated, every day, herds of desperate in my hell. And in this definitive transit and tragic, tear out all you could tear from Christ.
Lucifer is satisfied of you!

Chapter XXV

THE DEMON OF MARRIAGE

Came after a very roguish little devil, malicious eyes, nose, nosy, meddling in all the pots. His comrades called him "the love" because his specialty was the engagements, weddings and especially divorces.
Lucifer, looking at him, smiles, because he knew beforehand that his ministry of perdition was quite picturesque.
-Miserable! What spells have you committed today?

-Oh, Lucifer! Since this is your day, I wanted to, like many of my comrades, definitely bring something fresh and new, instead of bring things from the pile, old marriages and other ridiculous things. So I bring you today, in a single dish, a nice young couple married yesterday.

-Flatterer! Do you want to flatter me?

-Yes... I am delighted to provide you a pleasure. For today I wanted, I have studied. This is a young student, worship, sentimental, dreamy... In short: everything you need to cut his neck. It is smart, but very stupid. I am sure you understand what I mean, and that these two words can go together very well...

Lucifer approves with a nod:

-Yes, almost always in love...

-That was very naive at the age traditionally is disturbed in the soul, need for affection, tenderness, caress and love.

-That is precisely your jurisdiction.

-I then examined the problem, and I said to myself: "Well boy, you are mature enough to commit the inevitable blunder. Need Love? Well, wait a minute. I will give you love, and tons!..."

I put then in wait, and I assure you I was very good in that my element. Why I like this game very much. I have reviewed many young people. And I have settled on one that physically is really pretty, a brunette, tanned complexion, eyes, wizards, and responds to the name of Nefralbina.

-And where have unearthed that name?

-Her father is a pharmacist, and somewhat vain. He wanted to choose a name of their profession. Nefralbina has, moreover, nothing in his person the beauty of the devil. And pardon the expression...

-Thanks!

-But the fund owns. Other than that, can not do absolutely nothing, not even a stew, or a buttonhole. A fortiori, it does not know what running a home. In short: a zero.

I have managed to link these two destinations in the way of life. And I have launched a high voltage current. I attended the usual preliminaries. They have looked at the bottom of the eyes, hands have been caught, have written incendiary letters. And the bride has received precious gifts. The whole ritual of perfect love! And you can imagine that I know well all their pages.

...First class wedding, newspaper advertisements, invitation cards in luxury card stock.

...Despising the parish clergy, daily bread, were to seek out a priest, about a family friend. And they have delivered a splendid double talk. Well I noticed he did not know a word about this marriage or the annulment of the beloved Nefralbina. Naturally, I took part in the ceremony. I have embodied in a page of honor, with eyes closed, I have tasted all the sentences silently in the background of what you call my heart. These are the modest unlucky of my craft, the joy, the joy of your little subdemon...

The well-paid choirmaster has been exceeded.

I have heard for the hundredth time, the March of the Priests of Alceste, the aria from Bach, the Ave Maria of Gounod, Our Father of Busser.

In the output of the church, under a beautiful sun, amid the curious and the dressmakers, eager to see the last fashions of women, was an apotheosis.

Of course, the photographers were there and tripping, here and there...

And in particular groups, among which I circulated to form an opinion on the case, all the guests, friends and acquaintances, they exclaimed in chorus: "What a beautiful couple so full! What household, firm and affectionate, they will start ! Cause joy to see a marriage so lovely! is a blooming spring!..."

Yes, but I was there!...

-Rogue crafty! -Lucifer exclaims, laughing-: you do not respect anything!

-But if is for you Satan, you know well that, so I decided to hunt...

...Moreover, even though I had left my benevolent influence, that marriage was so completely idiotic that it had broken its own... the wedding of carp and rabbit.

-That is what will have happened.

-Yes, Lucifer, and very quickly.

-After a year?

-Long before. After three months the discussions kicked off...

...From the racks, I have thrown oil on the fire.

...Discussions then ensued... more serious.

...They said another rude phrases, vexatious.

...With horror, he, a student of a great school, already charged with heavy responsibilities, he realized that he had married with a mannequin, and that regardless of the issues affecting the clothing, lunches and "cinema" can not exist between him and his wife, intelligent conversation.

...It iss a heavy burden, an iron ball, which leads under their feet, and to atone for his blunder, that he must to drag all his life, day and night.

...And, finally, one morning, in an obvious truth that, tired, had failed to silence, her little and adored Nefralbina pick, of a jump, a garment hanger, leaving to him with one eye swollen belly and rips to the beloved.

When that day comes gasping to his office and his colleagues are concerned to see him so pitiful state, he says he suffered a terrible fall of the bicycle.

...Not so!

It was his half sweet that she had downloaded on his irritated nerves.

...And now, Lucifer, you can imagine the rest, separation, family against family, lawsuit, divorce, and everything else.

-Is there nigún child?

-Yes, and not Do you Understand?

-Perfectly!

-If this amuses you, I can quote you other cases, very picturesque too...

No, your dear Nefralbina is enough for my happiness. You are a charm -Lucifer growled-. When I will want to get married, I tell you to choose my woman...

-Always at your service, dear sir, answered the demon, very pleased with the smile of his master and to have caused a certain effect on the hardened heart of his boss...

Chapter XXVI

THE BROKEN POTS DEMON

The devil "in love" is obscured by who is coming immediately after it. Lucifer seems, indeed, more funny.

It is a cherub that other fallen angels, more wicked than him, dragged in his rebellion.

It is cute, curly hair, with the malicious look of a little monkey, always on the lookout for the occasion to any wrongdoing.

Lucifer takes pleasure. Because these subdemonios distracting the ego of his immense boredom.

-Come, little man, how many have been victims of your pranks?

-Not all that I wanted to... But in the spirit of change and because of your journey, I plan to bring an appetizer that I hope you like it.

-Let the dish.

-Oh, you will not be used to eating it every day. Imagine that now I working in the house of the archpriest.

-What an idea! And what bad company!

-But if it is for you, to vary your menu. Remember that men on earth, they say: "The change of feed, glad the ass". I wanted to rejoice myself.

-I appreciate the comparison. You observe a complete lack of respect for your superior.

-In any case, I assure you it is very interesting to work on the house of those "gentlemen priests."

-Strongly agree.

-Ah! See? Can you move your nose! You will love listening me.

...I am, as I say, in the house of a venerable archpriest. I walk through the sanctuary. I am naturally very good with the cook, an old servant, devout lost, with an old character.

...Thanks to a banana peel, put in a good place, I had to fall her back with all her foots high, when she had carefully, mercifully, a pile of old dishes, that she had finished to dry as a preparation for the next day in wich the Bishop would eat in the sanctuary.

...As a good job, you can believe it was real! The multiplication of the dishes!

...Faced with this disaster, the archpriest was furious not because he is a saint. But he do not missed the urge to do it. However, this was just a small beginning, as it were an appetizer.

...I have spent whole days in the office of the archpriest, where there are comfortable armchairs. I liked a lot to stir the papers. He had been preparing a sermon and could not find the pages again. Insidiously, I had made that slide under your chair. I concealed his pen, his breviary. I have hidden the glasses, the scarf, his book of accounts.

...You had to hear him say, with a indignantly voice again himself: "But where is my pen? If I had it to my scope few moments ago. I have not moved from here. And I do not find it!

...I understand it! I had hidden it in the triangle formed by the back of an open Bible.

...To make matters worse finish, has sought another who had no ink. He had to fill it. But his fingers trembling with age, have left the ink from spreading everywhere.

...Then, seized with impatience and always angry to himself: "This is the old age! No longer good for anything. And when Bishop comes, I will present my resignation".

...Then he put to work again, however. But I did not leave him too much time alone. As soon as came a beggar, or two, well trained, driven by me. As sooner was a stream of air, the fuming stove. And when, for to recover the lost time, worked for the night, after dinner, her elderly sister came to complain loudly because the price of electricity, and because he, working well, will sleep poorly at night.

...When reciting his breviary, I turned his brain into a public square, through which they passed and repassed the most unexpected ideas. To the extent that sometimes believed that holy man who had jumped the "Hours", and argued with himself to decide whether to start or not.

And during Mass -Lucifer interrupts-, I hope you will not forget him.

-As to that, I do what I can. But I have to save an obstacle, a severe guard of the angels of the other side. However, a few days ago I managed to break the cruets. Indeed, that is my specialty, both at once, and with them, the glass dish on the slabs of the sacristy.

-In short: you are primarily a "breaking pots".

-Yes, my dear master, responds the demon with sobriety. Breaking dishes, pots, that is something!

Paternally, Lucifer replies:

-Yes; the little things promote the larger ones. A pebble in the shoe breaks down the most beautiful excursion.

-So, Lucifer, I press my pious maneuver. This morning I turned to grab my archpriest and he have to lose his keys.

-Very well, persevere in this way. With the little skill you have, you will make him to lose the head one day.

...I have begun to do! My reached my triumph the day in which, alone, the Bishop came. Everyone was in place. The cook, side to the stove. And the archpriest had not slept.

...One day I was unleashed.

...I started in the kitchen. I tried that good woman incurs in distractions, and the milk has been spilled over the pan. And she essentially needs it for the sauces, pies and all the rest.

...The fire has not finish to ignited well. The butcher was late. A vicar, myopic and rather clumsy, had crushed with his spiked shoes, the tail of the cat, the mime of Miss, sister of archpriest. The cat has launched horribly scerams, and escaped, breaking, when fleeing, a bottle of oil. And there had been to looking at him, and comfort in the garden.

...Then, I went to church. I have introduced the confusion into the sacristy. The choir boys did not come. Appeared the censer, but not the incense, and there was dispute to decide who would carry the cross, the candlesticks, the edges of the cassock of the Bishop.

...I ended up by completely disrupt to Mr. archpriest. He had memorized his speech to the Bishop. The speech was very beautiful and touching. But in the half of it, I have managed to fail his memory. He wanted to consult its pages hastily, but I had misplaced it in the sacristy.

...Then the poor man was dry, that is, began to profusely sweat. The parishioners were wondering what would happen. Indeed, if I had not been your demon, I would have pity. But I had ventured so much so that I could not stop now. I wanted to take my audacity to play a trick to the Bishop, taking off his ring. But I failed. In the afternoon, I got to rush the patience of the staff: the Swiss guard, especially, was so deranged as if he were, instead of one, thirty six thousand men.

Lucifer laughed, rubbing his hands:

-One day I will get it-, maybe.
-Well, that day I will give you promotion.
The little devil makes the caper ritual, and leave, excited to join his comrades, who increasingly are impatients and for not to vary, they tend, angry theirs claws.

Chapter XXVII

THE MUNDANE DEMON

Tall and erect, fine, elegant, perfumed like a woman, wearing the livery proud of her master, the demon of the World is coming forward.
When he saw him, Lucifer laughs.
The devil feels, apparently, very hurt by it.
-But if it is to serve you, Satan, so I have seen so... With this costume I can introduce myself in all the solemnities of the earth, every evening, all dancing, all displays of the people of the world. remember I am, with the Pride, the angel who hate your enemy, Christ.
And with a finger that looks like a fingernail painted red, the angel shows its currency, interspersed, as a challenge, between his curly hair: Vae world... There the world!...
Lucifer gets serious:
-I do not underinestimate your power. But with all these worldly trappings I always have fun. Do not get mad... Now I hear you.
The angel warns that it may be something extended, but will certainly be interesting. With evident pleasure, not omit any detail, as an artist who had carved a beautiful ivory and liked to be noted all their delicate beauty.
-Lucifer, in this day of preparation, I wanted to bring, as all my great comrades, a morsel indeed fit for a king.
-What do you call this real bite?
The angel is reconcentrated, and finally, he mentions the name of a lady well known in the international society, a lady who frequents, throughout the year, the most famous recreational spots.
-Is she dead that lady?
Dead is her body and her soul is also dead; or so I hope. I suggested it to myself at all costs. For a long time I spent with all perseverance to the task of stun her, thought to prevent to think...
Lucifer interrupts:
-Yes, indeed, you have managed to carry out your purposes, I think essential to tell from this moment that you have become a very deserving of my gratitude.
The devil makes a spectacular worldly reverence, and continues:
-I was under observation the lady for such a long time ago, during a lavish festivals, where a circle of admirers formed around her. Very pretty, More flirtatious even than beautiful, and very rich... He Spent fabulous sums in the homes of the most famous designers in the luxury salons and beauty institutes.
..She was invited to all the brightest meetings, ate in the best restaurants, and this last detail was my hope. Soon, very soon, I had a hunch that this hope was beginning to be realized.
...One evening, out of the car, after a picnic, my dear friend suffered a vertigo.

...She said nothing to anyone. But secretly, went to see a doctor, high priest of the profession, he took the tension away.

...He was 27.

That is too much, lady, you skirts an abyss in which you could suddenly fall.

The doctor prescribed a severe regime, forbidding night exits, meat, wine, spirits, all that was the joy of her life.

...A little scared, promised to the doctor to obey him in everything, to be content with a vegetable broth, every night, every dinner...

For about fifteen days, was fulfilling its promise.

But I was there... and with some of her friends more or less reckless and ignorant of the danger.

That week was an international dance and costumes, and all her friends wanted to attend.

The temptation is violent. She hesitates. Her friends are surprised at this, incite here to be sure to attend this event, of which speak all the newspapers... And besides, it is once. Now did penance enough to qualify as insignificant afford expansion.

She yields at last, and completely.

...They meet to decide what dress is to carry each. Because you have to avoid overlap and duplication.

...My dear friend of naive shepherdess dress, all white tulle and pink belt. Then comes the choice of tulle, the test, the opinion of the director of the fashion house, choice of satin slippers, consultation at the Barber home. Buqles will be deleted to make them old peasant braids, very smooth... ! This is not easy!... It will require at least three sessions... What red lips... and nails ...? And the problem of the large pastoral hat, and the arch, adorned with a pink ribbon, and everything else!

...I was there in the Unseen, to suggest ideas to dress up this doll in the most suggestive mode. I thought about dancing, especially of the lunch! Because I knew she was greedy, and I was aware that the few deprivation that she had been imposed to herself, would have become more greedy then. This, considering the tension, she was a hope. I rightly assumed that that tension would rise in a ruthless and dangerous way.

...My client, otherwise, completely obsessed with such dizzying detail, there was not already thinking of her regime, but only in his headdress and her party.

Abbreviate,-says Lucifer-, impatient; a host of demons kicking at the door.

The mundane demon, imperturbable inadvertently omitting a single detail of what he has to tell:

-Well, she attended to that dance. Dramatic entrance... My client was for shure the most beautiful. Cute white dress; hair with braids, who descended on her shoulders, low cut as much as could be desired. All the shepherds watching, admiring, caring, surrounding the beautiful shepherdess. The orchestral prelude... The dance begins about midnight... Sweeping waltz... Ambigú well stocked... The party is in full swing. Journalists, photographers are there to illustrate the article about to bewritten.

Suddenly, there was a commotion and people crowded in a corner of the room.

What is that? -asked a gentleman-, adjusting his monocle.

-Oh, nothing! Is the Countes N... , probably too oppressed, who has had a syncope.

And the dance continues. The couples spend and spin happily.
In fact, the Countess has just relocated to a separate lounge. She is lying as dead on a couch.
...Above all, it is highly recommended to some who know, do not say anything, not to disturb the joy of all dancers to the beat, sometimes languid and sometimes devilish orchestra.
...But, nevertheless, has telephoned the doctor. Which finally arrives, rubbing sleepy eyes.
...It is two in the morning.
...Although the door is closed, the echoes of dance are coming from there.
...With the cuffs rolled up, the doctor just made the patient a formidable bleeding.
...What a show!... The blood runs over that white tulle dress that can not undo it, for more elegance, was sewn on the same Countess, in person.
...They are in that drawing room the owner of the room and two elderly ladies who, peering behind the curtains, they have seen everything... and contemplate the picture with frightened eyes.
...Because the gracious shepherdess, the brilliant dancer, has become in few moments in a dying breathless.
...And behold, an old lady -oh, what thoughts of wring her neck!- Murmured, clasping her hands: Will probably have to call the priest?
...The doctor then turns around and under my inspiration, says:
-A priest? If you want to... But will not do much, the patient is already unconscious.
-Would be to add, "aided by the sacraments of the Church".
Bah! -Whispers the doctor-; yet that does not add, anyway. It does not hurt anyone.
...No, nobody... not even me, who was there, my dear Lucifer, in a corner of the room, laughing behind everyones back.
...My prey, my magnificent prey... She was in my hands; I had done it.
About three o'clock in the morning, it was over. I offer you, then, oh, beloved boss!, an interesting soul, which will produce more sensation in your Inferno that brought by several of my dear colleagues, who dream in supplant me.
No, no one can impersonate the mundane Angel. He achieves its success too easily.
Precisely, that is my domain. I know what I know.
...Again I must go, I have there other souls under my supervision... The holidays provide many souls at this time. The harvest is plentiful, would send reinforcement to me, but damn well trained, who know the life and yawn not dreaming.
It is true what you say -responds Lucifer-, suddenly thoughtful. Reflect on what you ask me. In the meantime, continues to work well. Your report has been long, but I was interested.
The mundane angel greeted politely. And with the wings wide open, amid an infernal uproar, again he descend on earth, where happy humans are stunned unconsciously, as the blowflies in the golden dust of the sun and continue his round between two massacres.

Chapter XXVIII

THE DEMON "AD QUID...?"

And here comes another subdemon.

From the first moment you get the impression that it is a special being, characterized by the bones of his person, long neck, with a kind of lift, which is its prominent walnut, swivel head... The large eyes come to aggravate more that disturbing face, eyes that emerge, like as a frog.

Seeing him, one would think I was seeing an interrogation point.

And, indeed, is a interrogation. Cold face, hermetic, offensive.

Lucifer, tired with the previous reports, examines him with hard eyes, under his fire eyebrows. He feels that he will give a heavy "tin" to him.

So, are you? -He says-, sounding arrogant.

-Do you recognize me?

-Yes. You are the Ad quid... Curious name! Who do you put it?

-Well, my dear brethren, of course.

-What you do today?

-What other people. With one difference: that what I do, nobody sees. Do not bring snacks chosen, as these ladies and gentlemen, the high demons. My career is not the brightest. But I think despite all mean something to your august eyes...

-So what I want. But you start everything without ever finish anything. I like the demons of effective action.

-And without all, I can introduce facts that would show how wrong you are with your poor Ad quid. Obviously, I do not work for hunting pieces. I prepare the bait, insinuating, breaking the initiatives, undermine the good intentions, I speak for the donations given to pious works, weeding wills. I teach the best certain phrases that eventually produce its effect. I say to them, for example: Ad quid?, namely: Why? That is my motto too. And I know you like slogans. From it comes my name. And with his help, I do many things that your authoritarian demon lords could not ever reach.

-I am stunned by all these phrases. Cite a concrete fact, and then after you can leave here.

-Thank you for your kindness to a poor devil.

...Well, here is the concrete fact that your majesty want: a wealthy banker was obsessed with the idea of building a dwelling for a hundred families in a suburb. And he was about to commit a considerable amount in this nonsense, that would have an entire people in the hands of priests.

-Have you created then the obstacle?

-Yes; and with my Ad quid.

...I have said repeatedly, in private: "What a mistake! Lost much money!..." And as he protested, then I have cited the example of a tenement, sacked in a few years by the workers themselves. A beautiful building, with all the modern comfort... But these gentlemen workers had been imposed certain restrictions, for the general good. Have been offended. Presumed to be attentive to the dignity of workers. And then there was a very important point, for which they themselves did not come to agree. Some wanted a large room and several small... Others demanded otherwise, ie: no big piece, but more small pieces...

...Several demanded that they be granted the right to have in the yard, chickens and rabbits drawers... Increasing number rejected the central heating. And quickly formed a sindicate: divisions, intrigue, refusals to pay the rent couta...

...But they even will go beyond... They steal the copper faucets, unscrew the light bulbs, elevators are abused and also used to go down. Families with many children demand special treatment, wanting to be more favored than the others. Women take action on the matter. That was the hell, scandals at home, jealous, anonymous letters, arguments, processes.

The age of that benefactor was completely poisoned.

...Summary: After hear all the facts I quoted to him, and that I had greatly exaggerated, the banker keeps his money for an investment destination much more secular.

-Perfectly! I recognize that this is something tangible.

-Wait Lucifer, You have asked for a fact... I will quote you another.

-Not too long!...

-You will never have patience with me, and you should thank me for what I will tell you now.

...I set my aim on a great writer, great in power, because it is still an unknown writer. But it has everything to become a formidable...! Take two years ago working on a book that will cause sensation, the authenticity of the Gospels.

Lucifer is startled.

-Oh, be quiet! I set myself the task, as a holocaust to your astral day, to discourage the writer. He was working day and night, burning with enthusiasm. By gathering new documents. In short: not very good health, much fatigued. But he was sustained and encouraged by the thought of the immense good that his book will provide all those who think and seek the truth, especially to Protestants who dream with a return to Christianity.

-More reason to completely close the passage.

-That is exactly what I am on track to do. The other night -it was two in the night- still working, despite of the protests of his wife. I felt him nervous, depressed. Then I have estimated that the environment was favorable to me. Then I approached him and I whispered in his ear: "Ad Quid?... why all that work? First, they are not going to understand you. They will no follow you... That is too strong for most minds and, above all, is not "commercial". You are going to make useless and outdated a lot of books written on the same subject. The authors and publishers will turn into yours enemies.

...In conclusion: We found that no publisher would risk their money in publishing a book of four hundred pages, which must necessarily be very expensive.

...Do not forget that the paper reaches high prices, salaries are high. In short, your book, however beautiful it may be, will not be sold... You have eyes to see and ears to hear... Even if you are intellectual, you have both feet on the ground. Convince yourself that the people, the vast majority, reserve his money, now, to spend on travel, motorcycles, cars, petrol, radio receivers, "movies"...

...As for those distant and speculative issues, beaten a hundred times, the authenticity of the Gospels! Those not interested at all! So instead of fatigue your brain translating Hebrew and burn your eyes, go to bed... That will be much wiser!

-I admit that this procedure is quite clever.

-I have quoted famous examples: the Waqner, which at one period of his life, he had no money to buy bread for his family. Mozart suffered quite the same anguish,

...But I insisted in the particularity of the special case of Gounod, which, despite his genius, he had found not a single French publisher wanted to print his famous Faust. And He had to go to London, where, at last, one, carrying all the risk, was decided to publish his work.

...And today, when one wants to get a full house at the opera, there are only put on posters Faust. But on hearing this, Lucifer is concerned and makes violent signs denials:

-Woe! Do not see that you destroy the full benefit of your suggestion... How?... Are you going to quote the unfortunate beginning of Gounod and his splendid ultimate triumph! ... Quote to Wagner and Mozart, who were in the same case?... But if there is no matter to encourage all the clerical initiatives... The road is rough, but the finishing position is wonderful. For a moment I thought of you as smart. But you ended by becoming a goldfish tail. Despite your great eyes, you are short sighted...

Deeply upset, Ad Quid replies:

-You forget, Lucifer, in Faust, the great role are represented by you. You can not see Faust without Mephisto...

-But, poor devil of four coins, if there is no comparison. You forget that I am -and how!- In all the Gospels. I am who, solemnly, tempted Christ three times. I am the one who challenges Christ. I, whom he expelled from the body of the sick, that I had embodied. Do you try to prevent the appearance of this book with arguments that clearly turn against you! That is crazy! Today you offer it to me as a gift, a wonderful pineapple...

Suddenly, Ad Quid rebels:

-When it comes to irons, I have not ever committed such a monumental like yours!... For to get what? We could be so perfectly happy staying in the sky... While today we suffer slavery and hell...

-Shut up! You are insulting. You are an evil demon, a renegade, with the addition of imbecility!

Beside himself, the subdemon jumps over the Master, with the claws open.

But the service Archangel intervenes, grabs him by the throat and throws him brutally to the outside, shouting: Quid Ad...?

What...? You know well that you are bound forever!...

And while the unfortunate subdemon are going stumbling and rolls down over the hard iron stairs, the sound echoes ironically repeats: Ad Quid!... Ad Quid!... For what¡... For what¡...

Chapter XXIX

THE INFERNAL HURRICANE

And came the storm, the hurricane!...

Lucifer, nervous and fatigued, completely infuriated.

Swollen with pride and accustomed to all the adulation of their slaves, could not endure the insolence of that subdemonio, which has had the courage to see things differently from the way he sees them.

Call the archangel of service:

-Are they still spend many demons?

-Do many ...? There are a bunch! They are impatient... Kicking. And you will not put an end, Lucifer, if you want to listen to everyone. Have flocked through the gates. And if they were not made of iron, iron of the Hell... and if reinforcements had not arrived at all of beating wings, I would have spilled over to harass you with the story of his exploits and his vindications.

Lucifer, then wields a terrible whip, made of bundles of fire, and without stopping, entering the vast waiting room.

The show is terrific.

All demons are there, huddled against each other, screaming, fighting, crawling, screaming. Intersect discussions raging above their heads.

Failing to do so before Lucifer, shout their misdeeds struggling, hoping, despite the din, Satan would notice them.

I -cry the Human respect, should have gone first, because I have all the men caught by the throat. And not only the mob, but also the most illustrious men who have not dared to set foot in the church because of me... Did I hear right?... Everyone! And for more than a century!...

-That is not true! Now, go back. There are currently more men than women in the churches.

-What could I say to you, then? Exclaimed the demon of Ingratitude. I condemn, just for myself, more souls than any that are here. Christ healed ten lepers... Not one has come to thank him. It is a good ratio. I currently do it a lot better.

-Exaggerate!...

-Well, judge for yourselves. Every day, all the men sit around the table. And they do it two or three times. Look at those who believe in giving thanks for the bread they eat, for the wine they drink. Look at those who pray the Benedicte, which make at least the sign of the Cross. At other times our ancestors drew with his knife the sign of the cross on the loaf before to start cutting. The modern, ever!... And that, for my sake, because the demon of Ingratitude. So those are ungrateful are mine.

But his colleague, the Human respect, not transinge with that statement. And he replies, angrily:

-Recounts the Christians now that three times a day in the city and fields, hear the touch of the Angelus and pray not ever. Why? Well, fear, social respect. Ingratitude is not about anything that ... Those are mine, and even more numerous than yours!

Face to face with his fist stretched, convulsive mouth, horrible to see, the two demons start to fight.

They are not the only. Because you can see there, to the demon of Speed, which, standing, whistling voice shouts:

-What about me? Do not you have me in mind for me? I wanted also, oh, Lucifer!, that I had corresponded turn to you, to list the multitude of them that I killed all the ways of the death.

...How often I have bewitched the guiding father! I drive him crazy, speeds up looking neither a village nor a landscape, nothing but the stupid road that extends to infinity before him ...

80..., 90..., 10..., 120 to now. Infuses him the madness of speed.

Bring in your car his entire family. And do not think about it.

...The mother shakes, fixes his eyes on the gear indicator.

...The children are asleep, peaceful.

Not so fast, my friend! -Pleaded the wife-.

He, very vain, laughs... He is the man! He, who is not afraid of anything.

And suddenly, a tire explodes... A formidable jolt... ... collision against a tree, the car turns, the gasoline get fire... the family, burned... destroyed.

...Every day I offer you this, oh Lucifer!, In the ways of the world, the ways of the dead!

...Oh, but that is not all! When organizing a competition for cars or airplanes, I work on a large scale. I promote explosions in the air... or penetrate into the crowd like a fireball, causing carnage among the spectators, men, women and children.

...Recognizes, Lucifer, that for a subdemon, it is, nevertheless, a good job everyday, and that is worth even listening and thank me.

Frantic hurray echoes... And in vindication to vindication, the fire spread through the room, whose floor is shaking.

All the little demons take part in the uproar, shouting, complaining, yelling, swearing more than ever.

Do not stop crying and join neither the demon of Couture, with satanic colors, black and ocher, not even the devil of the Foam.

The Foam, especially, is heard above all others, because of the stridency of their shouting. Remember that his sectors are constituted by all the, did you seen me?, land exhibitionists abound in nightclubs, lounges, and before the crowds. And when you squeeze like a sponge, the confusing sentences of its manifestations, there is nothing that means something... foam! Want to make a presentation on its activities and begins to round off a great line. But the crowd shouts: HU!..., Hu!...

And is here and behold, much stronger than him, a formidable subdemon rises. It is with a singularly repulsive appearance. Old chin, pointed; huge belly and hooked fingers.

And I, claims with a voice of thunder, I am the king of the World, above all of yours! And that world, I have it absolutely in my power.

...I am the demon of Selfishness. In one way or another, all men are selfish. The Love itself is but disguised selfishness. So I say, oh Lucifer!, Rather than others, to expose my countless exploits, and that I remembered to you the universal extension of my potential.

And that devil wants to continue his speech... But it can no longer be understood. It is a deafening roar, a terrible battle between those shouting that, fiercely, they want to emerge over the arched backs and made visible to the disdainful looks of the terrible Master.

Me!... Me!...

Standing, with folded arms and a whip in the hand, Lucifer, the Light bearer of old, provides, in contempt, all that screaming and angry mob, which is from him.

Yet!...

Yes, and yet!... Despite its immense fall, almost all still have some flashes of his former angelic beauty.

Just as some children of family, steeped in vice and dishonor, retain, despite everything, inside their body and soul, the indelible traces of ancestral dignity, those damn, those demons, still bear distant traces of the beauty of wich were covered when they left the hands of God.

But now, delivered to the service of Satan, relentlessly pursuing the misery of men, there to watch them closely to discover in his gestures and his features some of the nobility of its origin.

For a few moments, Lucifer looks them, with eyes that throw lightning.

Then, suddenly deciding:

-Go away from here, all of you...

...You have done well...

...And I hope I can count on you when, very soon, sounds the big Night, announcing the end of time and our return, as victors, to the regained Paradise, which we shall have expelled God.

My day is announced glorious!
My motto continues to be categorically:
...Go on, each in its sector, sending souls. And by all means possible.
Souls! Souls! This is what I want... And with a terrible anxiety!
Hell is huge!...
Never shall send enough.
...I said.
...Go away!
Some voices were raised to claim, "Long live our beloved Lucifer! Live Satan!..."
But others began to growl in protest. Then came the Archangels.
And without hesitations, harshly, brutally, in front of the eyes of the Master, expelled the demon crowd and threw them on earth, where men continue arming to the huge massacre, which will indicate the end of beings and the things of this world...

PART FOUR

I

GOD'S RESPONSE

I am Who is...
Satan is the embodiment of Pride and Falsehood.
My divine son has beaten him.
You will conquer you too!...

Chapter XXX

I AM WHO IS...

In the calm and exquisite beauty of heaven, God, the Lord has called his Angels, Archangels, Cherubim, Seraphim, Thrones, Powers, celestial Spirits and all the Saints who have fought and defeated shone on earth.
Poignant spectacle, beyond description. The eyes of the man have not seen, ears have not heard, his heart did not understand what God has reserved for the elected.
Because they are so beautiful and privileged souls with intelligence, will, and even with blood, fought to safeguard the kingdom of God in themselves and among other...
Atmosphere of love and serenity.
Assembly only under the sign of the Definitive.
God seats between the Immaculate Virgin, on his right, and San Miguel, glorious and bright, on your left.
Speak then, amid the attentive silence of the whole heavenly court:
-I have met to have you familiar with a new fact that many of you, listening to the things of the earth, probably already know.

...Some time ago, the Damned held a sinister council of war, for which called all the angels, who by his misfortune, followed him in his rebellion
...And that call, why?
...Because he hopes the next annihilation of the earth, now divided into two colossalblocks, which have terrible means for mutual destruction.
He wait that if this latest catastrophe is triggered, the whole work of redemption from my Divine Son will be no purpose, since the Earth will no longer exist.
The Damned has resolved to prepare the universal cataclysm. And in fact, want to "train" to his legions, to snatch, for Hell, as much as possible.
And to know their chances of victory, wanted to deploy a Day itself, of Satan, a major day in Which appraise the destructive value of their Armies.
...That day trial has begun. All the demons in all categories compete in jealously to obey his Master and to throw to his feet as many souls as possible and especially those that are the cream of humanity.
...But I, who watch over the grass and the bird flying over the fields, veil even more for the fate of souls redeemed so painfully with the blood of my Son.
...I try, the answer to the gesture of hatred of Satan and break his senseless attack. That is why the extraordinary meeting today.
...I wanted to give the alert to your love, that leaning on me, teach, again, to the Damned that Love is stronger than Hate.
...Because I am Who is.
...I am Almighty.
...I am that discourages the fury of the waves and he knows also paralyze the machinations of the demons.
...The world, of course, will end one day, as just all human things.
...As for the decisions about the end of time, things are incumbent on Me and only Me.
...A trifle is sufficient for me to destroy.
...Satan puffed up with the aim to pinpoint a specific time for the end of the world.
...Satan is the prince of falsehood. He knows nothing of these things to come, because I, the Almighty, I am and I am still the Supreme Judge of the day and the hour.
...In front of their armies of slaves, he affects that know.
...But when came to the earth my divine Son, Satan has ignored all. And when he started to sense, when attempting to realize, remember who has dared to tempt Christ three times to see if, indeed, was the Son of God, the promised Savior to men.
...Lucifer and his cursed will, therefore, to intensify its offensive against the poor human creatures, and to ensure that they will fall into sin to populate his Inferno. But remember always that I am here to put limits on his power of temptation.
...I say, as to the ocean: "You do not go further".
...As for the second causes, if I trust them to the will of men, is to stimulate their zeal and respect their freedom, which is the reason of their merit.
...What I ask, therefore, is you to defend the souls, particularly in this offensive period, to prevent them from falling, or if they fall, seek that they repair largely the damage of the succeeded demons perpetrate.

...Have like me, and with me a boundless pity for men.
...Yes, poor human beings. I sympathize with them and love them. Many here in the sky at one time lived his earthly life and keep the memory of that land so aptly named Valley of Tears, and the countless dangers that beset the people of the Militant Church.
...Let them remember that my pity accompanies to them to his last breath.
...I do not put your foot on the still smoldering wick.
...I do not end of crushing the broken reed.
...I would have forgiven Judas, who sold Christ, if he had not lost the hope in my infinite love.
...I have forgiven, perhaps, even the Lucifer himself, if his immeasurable Pride would not have prevented humble themselves before me and submit.
...My beloved, I am sure that all understand me, that share my thought, which will defend with all your zeal and all your strength, those for whom Christ wanted to embody physically, suffer and die.
...Go, then, to his aid! I warn you as your will is rising and strengthens in front of the sacrilegious enemy , who dares to hope for an impossible victory over the Almighty God.
And reject him to their eternal Hell...
...I was also pleased to hear what you have done in these days of battle, to quench my thirst for forgiveness and health.
...In advance, my heart beats aside your heart.
...I bless you all!
Then, moved by one impulse, all angels, all the saints rose to acclaim God.
Hands tend...
A burning flame of apostolic shines in all the eyes.
And with one voice, which echoed strong impact on the entire sky, sings:
Christus vincit... Christus regnat... Christus imperat... Christ has conquered!... Christ reigns!... Christ commands!...
He has conquered Satan...
We with Him, we won...
We will help those still struggling on the earth to beat him too!...
Gloria in excelsis Deo!...

THE HEAVENLY COUNTER OFFENSIVE

THE TOUGHT BATTLE OF THE GUARDIAN ANGEL
THE CALVARY RISEN AGAIN
BLESSED ARE THE PURE OF HEART!
THE ANGEL OF DEATH
THE ANGEL OF LITTLE LAZY
THE ANGEL OF CONSOLATION
THE ANGEL OF DEATH

Chapter XXXI

THE TOUGHT BATTLE OF THE GUARDIAN ANGEL

With wings spread and his whole being overwhelmed by intense emotion, the Guardian Angel of children rise up to prostrate before the throne of Christ.

-What is it, my dear angel, you get so shaky to me?

-Sir, since you invited me to do, I come to tell you that I have fought one of the toughest fights of my life of guardian angel.

...And I just fight it in a quite unexpected way. Because the child entrusted to me, was attacked suddenly by a special demon, roaring, and with an extraordinary ardor.

...If I had been defeated in this battle, I would never have dared to present myself again in front of you.

-Tell me then your battle and your victory...

-I know, from the earliest times, how much you love children. There have also to be attacked in many different ways in their innocence and ignorance.

-I have always stated my love for children. Heaven is for those who resemble them.

-Me too, oh, Christ!, I love children. You have trusted to me one. His name is John Wolf, in memory of the name of your beloved Apostle and of a great apostle of the Gauls. I, therefore, his guardian angel.

...Fine, delicate, compassionate, sensitive, very sensitive, it gives me no concern. During his vacations, was invited to the country, by the family of one of his companions. As a resident of the city, marched forth with the joy of a Parisian who can finally breathe freely... He liked the farm work, helped stack hay, harvesting. He loved animals, flowers, trees, the immense sky, where he expected to go later.

And then one night, after the family dinner around the lamp, began to play checkers, a game rather innocent, in which John Wolf easily defeated the lady of the house, not trained in that game.

As usual. she asked for a rematch. Was defeated a second time... and another one later.

At that time, Mrs. tired, spreading his hands on the table, she said, half smiling and half disgusted:

-Oh, this impish little boy, he always win me!...

Too excited for his three victories, John Wolf took the hand that lay before him, and with a very sharp impulse, but in the end, child momentum, hit her the fingers.

You are viewing the scene: the lady cries, almost unwell. The husband goes, scolds John Wolf. He was kindly, and he behaves like a beast.

Well, -says Christ-; then I see nothing serious...

There is, however, where the drama begins. The child is overwhelmed by what he just heard. It is true what was said. When must have been a tricky opponent, courteous, has behaved like a beast, as an individual coarse, uneducated. And for whom? For a mother who had welcomed him so kindly, treating him like his son.

...In this tender spirit, impressionable, all these little things take on extraordinary proportions.

-Why?

-Because his demon was there, exciting all, increasing things, trying to get the most out of the despair of this poor helpless child. The Damned found a chance for to cause a drama, and what drama!

...In the garden there was a deep well. The devil suggests to the child repair his fault and punish himself, will throw himself into it.

...If, that infamous had the cruelty to encourage the child to make that awful decision... And was so very nearly.

...Gritting his teeth, terrified, but resolute, John Wolf went to the well. But, warned by the Holy Spirit, I had come to his aid.

And there, face to face, between the Satan angel and you, Oh, Christ!, Escaped a horrible fight in the shadows, fighting during which I felt faint, because the demon was one of the first seraphim of yesteryear.

So I threw a desperate cry invoking San Miguel, a cry that came to his ears. For as lightning, the great archangel came, with open wings, from the depths of heaven.

The Damned was so attached to his prey, still resisted, not wanting to escape in any way. He was the roaring tiger, refusing to leave the victim gripped in his powerful claws. But despite all, a bloody seraph could not hope to win the battle against the winner of his master Lucifer. And foaming at the mouth, swearing, drunken

Chapter XXXII

THE CALVARY RISEN AGAIN

No sooner has left the Guardian Angel, as a cherub stands in front of the throne of God.

Your sweet face appears as illuminated by the reflection of a great inner joy.

-Deeply excited emotions because the story of a Guardian Angel. But I see in advance that you too, oh, my cherub!, bring to me good news...

-Very good, oh, Christ! Has long yearned for it, because it represents compensation for an abominable sacrilege.

-I hear you.

-Anything, Lord, you know. The fact caused me great shame. This sacrilege, perpetrated by young men in a region whose responsibility falls to me, made me completely desolate, and wanted at all costs to bring you the repair of iniquity. This was, for me, a fixed idea.

...Such repair, Ah!, I could not see by any place. It seemed that the region, indignant at first, slept in a indifference who desperate me.

-The cloud passes, the sky remains, my dear Angel.

-Today the cloud has passed. And it is a bit of heaven that I bring.

-Talk me, so, all those details.

-I was looking for, oh, Christ!, Without finding, the medium to lift back the felled down Calvary.

...Some ladies had talked about a subscription. The priest also. But there is no parish bulletin, it was like the hunter who goes hunting without a gun. And no solution was reached.

...I hear people discouraging words. "The people are not rich". There is no Calvary! After all, without calvary "we can live."

...But no longer alive.

...Every time I passed by the place where you were once honored, that emnpty pierced my heart. And all reminded me of the sacrilege.

...And finally, at the very moment that I was about to lose the hope, I saw an old peasant, followed by his sturdy son, walked through the night, loaded each with its heavy bag.

...Whenever we look at the people passing by night. And more I, because precisely was at night when toppled your Calvary.

...Where were those men, at three in the morning? I have noticed that several nights repassed with the same charge and returned to his home when was beginning to dawn. I wanted to learn well what work those mysterious peasants undertook.

...I followed them. I left after the old man, who made him gasp overwhelming the heavy burden. His son followed him, even more loaded.

...I saw with amazement that they stopped next to the pit, where it lay, in the mud, the old Cross. They deposited their loads and turned their march towards the next village.

...One day, I understood it all.

...What they had every night, hidden, was cement and sand to embed the Cross between the rough stones that had fallen on the grass, all desunited.

...And one night, those two men came to the one in the morning with a flashlight. Obviously, they had not slept.

...The weather was wet and cold.

...I had wanted to become visible to them, and help.

...But such a manifestation is forbidden to me, I have inserted in their souls. First, I have admired those souls, for the simplicity of their quiet faith and deep. Then I have infused new energy and enthusiasm stoked. I was with them when preparing the cement. When, leaning on the base of Calvary, the heavy stones gathered and prepared the hole.

Then lowered into the hole, and clawing their hands with the thorns and brambles, sought and found the Cross, buried in the mud. Carefully cleaned. And with all reverence, kneeling on the grass and kissed.

In reaching this the Angel stops a moment excited.

-Pardon me, Sir, but I lived then one of the most beautiful hours of my angelic life.

...After satisfies the tenderness of his piety, carried the old Cross to the prepared hole and fixed with care and precision. I noticed how their wills were striving to make it more solidly entrenched than before.

...Was striking six o'clock in the church clock when they finished their work.

The sun rose on the horizon, illuminating the sky and the treetops. Then, little by little, its rays also came to kiss the Cross.

In warm kiss, it seemed that the old brass shuddered and revived the few gold particles that were in it. Those few former gold particles that had resisted all were glowing more, little by little. And on the merits, even somber, of the low plants, the Cross was highlighted as invested with new youth.

With their cap in hand, the farmer and his son remained standing a few moments, as in thanksgiving to Christ. And the old man murmured: "O Crux ave, spes unica... Oh, Cross, I salute you, you are our only hope!"

-That, oh, Christ!, Was breathtaking. The sacrilege had been great. But the repair with the good, was much more beautiful than was awful wickedness, evil.

The excitement comes the common people, when hear about that the old

Calvary had become to rise, was extraordinary.
Who raised it?
And when?
How?
And above all, who had paid?
Soon it was to have spoken of a miracle.
The priest, the following Sunday, he let his heart expanded from the pulpit. He expressed appreciation to the misterious Christians that had erased the shameful stain which oppressed the conscience of all those who had hidden in his heart the love of Christ and respect for the piety of their ancestors.
At the end, decided to hold a solemn procession of reparation.
All the people attended the procession, perhaps up to the three miserable, authors of the sacrilege.
Also was there the Damn.
I could feel his breath went mad over the bowed heads of the crowd.
...I have looked face to face, and I too have cried: "O Crux ave..."
Made himself a pause in the dialogue between Christ and the Angel.
Thanks! -He said at last the Savior-. Listening to you, I have lived with you very poignant moments. Be convinced. Do not to discouragement ever.
...Love is always the winner of Hate.
...And God, who is Love, says the last word.

Chapter XXXIII

BLESSED ARE THE PURE OF HEART!

This angel was so white it seemed transparent. Very simply, came to Christ, and said:
-I come directly from a forest land. I come as the vanguard of my brothers, and I think I bring you, Lord, something excelent, and those young people who love both.
-I love them, in effect, because they are the harvest of the future.
-I want to tell you about and citing them with all my heart, a characteristic fact, which I have witnessed. Let me first that I describe to you the place of action.
...We are in the woods, on a beautiful summer afternoon. Three hikers, twenty, a college student, decided to go to the field for a few days to shake, the autumn wind, dust and fumes of the city.
Have raised their tent at the foot of an old oak, and cheerfully, have been cooked a healthy meal, even austere.
...Their food is over.
...And now smoke a cigarette before going to lie on their mats.
...Above them, the birds singing their evening prayer.
...And some are forest dwellers come out, of curiosity, to see these human beings who do not know and do not make over them any shotgun shoot.
...Obliged, in Paris and the School, to be strictly punctual, chat quietly place them in the silence of nature and under the great trees that surround them.
...And everyone talks about the next future it hopes will be reserved.

...The first explains, my father has a large export business. It has a strong desire that I meet with him to help and succeed. That is also the desire of my mother and the whole family. I gather that that is really the way that Providence has appointed to me.

...I intend to follow accordingly. And when my position is secure, look for, without haste, the girl of my dreams, that is, having the same religious faith, living in the same social environment and I think I could love...

...Will found, in my time, a beautiful home, like my parents. And have children, who will educate on the same principles. My path is thus well defined, straight, classic. I do not feel any desire to find something else.

-In efect- answered the second, you are probably going to look like those happy people who have no history.

-May God hear you!

-For me-, continues the second, that life would be too easy. I feel sense of adventure. Africa tempting me. I read with envy and excitement, the life of Laperrine, of Lyautey and of Charles of Faucauld. I love the sun drenched countries. I have good friends in Dakar. Last year I was in Kairouan, Biskra, El-Kantara, Touggourt. I know from colleagues at the Polytechnic, which Sudan is not very populated yet... and that there can be vacancies. I will try my luck, to inform me. I dream of a lifetime, interesting, active. One can obviously be ruined; but also to undertake great things... Be what God wants!

...And you? , He concluded, addressing the third partner.

-First, well off your cigarette, before tossing it on the dry grass. In the forest, I have always concerned to the fire.

And when the cigarette was well off, the third mate took his time the word:

-I have the project of entering the Grand Seminary and become a priest. As my colleague, I have no intention or desire to be noon when two in the afternoon. I have checked on several occasions the need, quite rightly, of priests. And it is so unfortunate situation of a country without priests! With this in mind I have assaulted the idea of simply offer myself to God for be working in the salvation of souls.

Retail then the questions:

-That is fine!... We admire you...

-No; Do not admire me. I follow my path as you the yours. So all is well.

-Yet!... Did you miss gears without anything?, Without feeling the abandonment, the separation, the sacrifice?

The abandonment...? No. I have begun to see the world. And indeed, live that life, amid the hypocrisies and falsehoods, is something that does not seduce me. As for my family, I have to complain about. For the son who becomes priest is the one that belongs to the traditional home, the home of their elders, and often in a more profound and calm the child marries. There is no happier mother as the mother of a priest.

But in the end, you sacrifice human love women.

-Yes, you are right. I do not deny the sacrifice. And separation, renunciation, perhaps is there. I have, as you are a human heart. I also like to have a home. But I accept that sacrifice, because it is the foundation of every noble determination. Nothing great is done in this world without having some initial pain, and sometimes along the way. The flower needs the dew. Christ gave his blood for souls. I will give what He asks me...

There was a silence during which no more was heard the noise of leaves, rubbing in the wind of the night.

-What if we should go to bed? Said one. Do not forget that tomorrow we rise with the sun.

The three went to his tent. His little country store, nice and strong, well anchored. It was an occasion. They had bought it to an American family returning to their country. And lovingly care about it.

The fabric was green, rather thick; did not let even a drop of rain. Fine steel hooks fastened to the ground. It had two windows, and harmonizes well with the forest surrounding it with its vegetation and tall trees.

-And if we say a prayer together? Asks the future seminarian.

-Conform. You begin it.

-Oh! -Just a Pater and an Ave-.

-Or more if you want...

-All right. Many things can happen no more than a simple look or a handshake...

And behold, when they are going to make the sign of the cross, the canvas which serves as door rises sharply, and three stylish girls, dressed in clear, short skirts, burst into the shop, laughing...

The young people look at each other, amazed.

-We are your neighbors who are politely say "good night"... And to surprise you for assault!

-Do our neighbors?

-Yes, yes, your neighbors... How often you do not know...?

-No.

-What a shame! So the more reason to explain. We announce, then, that there are about thirty young people who have been camping there, very close to you, a few hundred meters. We expected to receive your visit. And it have shown your kindness. But about nine o'clock, when we have seen that no one came, we thought it would not know that you were so close to a lovely youngs... And, very simply, we come to tell you.

And as young people do not respond, they continued making their thoughts, one after another:

-They are installed correctly!, Your house is very happy!

-I would stay here. And you, Valentina?

-Me too.

-I bored so well there, in our camp...

-You should offer hospitality for a night -exclaimed a tall brunette-, with her arms in the air, red nails and flowers in her hair.

-Ah, yes that would be great! You will accompany to us around at midnight, through the forest, lit by the moon. How poetic! What do you think about it, Claudine?

-Yes, it would be great! The director will lie. Indeed, this afternoon she complained of his famous headache. And I have seen how she swallowed a seal.

So...? -Asks the brunette-, looking to the young people who consult with each other at the bottom of the enclosure.

And behold, Valentina out the details:

-Yes, you are so "lucky"!... The forest... A beautiful store... three pretty girls, who come spontaneously to distract you for a while... What more do you want?

-Do you surrender the besieged? -Claudine asks-, laughing.
-Yes, Miss, the besieged surrendered. And until give you the square -responds dryly the guy of the colonies.
Without another word, the three girls come and go into the woods to find a woodcutters hut, where they will spend the night, away from possible temptations and too modern Eves, who surely would have dreamed of a night less virtuous.
What fools! -Exclaims the despairing brown-.
Yes, -answered Valentina-. Hazelnuts always play that has no teeth to go!
And I, -finish the Angel- ended I thought that those young people were well worthy of a special greeting, since only through effective tactic in such cases, that is, by fleeing, had eluded the net spread by the Damn tonight.
...Moreover, the Damn has prowled angrily through the forest, until dawn, hoping that if he had lost the first battle, could possibly win the second...
...But he has not won anything. My beautiful youth, with his quiet courage, have been worthy of you.
I thank you, -says Christ-, to them and to you too. I know that you have not abandoned them, and begged to the Virgin, particularly protective of the purity. Tell them I am proud of them and that my blessing will accompany them throughout their lives.
...Blessed are the pure in heart, because they shall see God...

Chapter XXXIV

THE ANGEL OF FAITH

The Angel of Faith presents:
-He answers, oh, Christ!, to your unique calling, I bring you an exceptional soul. Of a great sage of the earth.
...The soul comes to Thee from far away, and after very trying days. It is, for me, a new proof of your power of attraction over all the beings that are looking for you, and do not seek you in advance if you have not already found them.
-With that you evoke to me the history of many souls.
-So is the soul of my great sage.
-Born of a family fully atheistic, materialistic, in the era of religious persecution. Educated without catechism, no contact with a priest, for this student the religion was zero. As the exteriors practices survives always to the collapse of the dogmas, the Catholicism of then was nothing than the final sediments of a caduque superstition. And there was not to feel it. Because humanity could not remain long in the lactancy.
...The science, moreover, was to replace everything.
-Yes; I know the phrase...
Then passed a few years. There was a resonant article about the failure of the Science. And that article hit, a big impact in the civilized and scientific world.
...Our young became a doctor. Very young and spirited, thought at first that everything was going to understand.
That belief immediately weakened. And, little by little, he was immersed in the universal mystery of beings and things.

...Dreamed of the beauty of a flower of the fields, to the secret force of a grain of wheat, with the power of these infinitely small elements that constitute the foundation of the worlds.
...Dreamed of, especially when he raised his eyes to those thousands of millions of wonderful stars launched to the regular and dizzying speeds, compared with which the earth is but a tiny speck of dust.
...The idea of Infinity soon imposed on his spirit of a mature man.
...And the Infinite is God.
...How many times was absorbed in the wonder of the human body, in the innocence of the eyes of his child, which seemed even completely bathed in the blue of beyond!
...The further? I had no notion of it.
...Everywhere, the mystery... And overwhelming mystery for all noble spirit that comes to look and reflect fairly.
...Thus it was that came, like Pasteur, through the unquestioned idea of the Infinite, to the certainty of the existence of God.
But what God? -Christ interrupts-.
-Precisely! The answer to that second question was as distressing as the first. Because a God, vague, impersonal, is equivalent to the negation of God, especially at the time of dizziness and the great temptations of life. It is like a straw in the flood...
...Such was, then, the second step of the way of our doctor. Then seeing no other path before him, endorsed the ancient prayer, too vague:

Faedatus, in HUNE mundum mei!
Vixie Anxius ...
Egrediar Turbatus
Cause causarum, miserere mei!

Spotted, I have entered in life...
I have lived here in anxiety...
I will go out in anguish from here...
Cause of sentences, have pity on me!...

-So him already sensed the original sin?
-Yes, Lord; he was approaching to Thee. However, remain long in that state. Because, as one writer said: "Doubt is a soft pillow for a head well formed."
-Amateur phrase, and unfortunate phrase.
-And he was tempted to sleep on that phrase. Sometimes, however, added: "If I knew where is the road to Damascus, I will go to walk about it..."
Is not walking -Christ answer- as is found the inestimable gift of faith.
-That is why what you have allowed a terrible ordeal to save that soul... This sage has lost his only son, of twenty years, which in turn was his disciple, and who died within few days. The father had placed all their hopes in him. He had confided the secret of many discoveries. That son was his reason for being, living and working...
"I want -told to his son-, that who later you will feel proud of your father!"
...And now that father was there, alive, before the corpse of his son, and do not understand yet!
...The inevitable question stood helpless before his mind. Question that was not speculative, but tragic and personal:

...Where is now the mysterious soul looking for those eyes, who spoke by that mouth, wich thought with that brain?

...And there, to that bed, where, stiff and cold, lay the body of his son, the sage meditated, and that meditation led him to the Christianity.

...Any questions, -he thought-, should have an answer.

Also... the death, death, above all!...

...Nothingness? Absurd response amid the universal order of things, found everywhere in nature.

...The other answer? It can not be found but in the different religions prevailing in the world.

...But if you compare these religions to one another, the supremacy of Christianity is such that, without any discussion, is the most beautiful religion, which, for a thinker, is closer to the ideal that one form of the divine life and of the subsequent to death.

...And if it is the most beautiful, it is the true. Because God will not choose a inferior religion to manifest to his creatures.

...And if the Catholic religion is true, she calls me; she does not let me to ignore her, that I do not obey the authority of her truth. Because that truth is the of God. Does it had their mysteries? But the mystery is found everywhere in nature; with much more reason in religion.

With absolute loyalty, that sage asked for baptism, communion. And his faith has found the strength to continue living, and working all the time God wanted.

...Today I bring you a soul.

...And I venture to ask you to join with that of his child, which is not responsible for the religious vacuum in wich he was educated in his youth.

Enter, Lord, in your light and your love. Christ then, repeats the words of his Gospel: "There will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety and nine just persons who need not do it."

...Angel of Faith, I appreciate how you drive in that way to me a soul selected!... Your apostolate continues near all those who think and want. The light has to reach their souls!

...With all my soul, I bless you...

Chapter XXXV

THE ANGEL OF SMALL LAZY

Thinking quickly, not taking time away from the high cherubim, is coming a shy guardian angel, also very happy, apparently, he wanted to tell briefly the story of a boy who had been entrusted. And his modest opinion, was sure to please Christ, as he loves so much to youth.

In efect, the Savior smiles watching this guardian angel, so attuned to its mission.

-Tell me about your little protected.

-Not a bad guy, and I love him very much. But the demon of Laziness, had already numb him, haunted, from his early years. He did not want to do absolutely nothing and was down to any effort. Every job disgusted him. Ah, how well subject securely fastened his victim the chubby Sloth!

...His ideal? For now, stay in bed as long as possible. Then, already up, do nothing with his ten fingers. Above all, no lessons, no homework, and imagine the excuses for not going to class.

...He was only ready for one thing, to loitering, to fantasize, without displaying any activity. In summary, the despair of his parents and mine.

-Do not despair ever!...

-No doubt, Lord; yet even so, I thought, and with a great shame of mine, that it was wrong to asist with the arms crossed , that I was the guardian angel of that small. And that it was wrong to assist with the arms crossed the annihilation of his will and his future. Then, boosted, supported by your grace, Oh Christ!, I decided to pull out to that child, at all costs, from the claws of the oppressive Laziness, and throw him to the life of action, that claims our daily activity.

-And you get it?

-I think so. I took advantage of a day when the Lazinnes was busy elsewhere doing a trick of her;, and I have made the poor child reasoning, be touched deeply, and changed his course.

-And how did you do?

-Oh, very simply, but still burning!...

-I have suggested him, in his heart, a series of compelling questions to which wasforced to respond and had to induce him to understand the shameful situation in which he had plunged his laziness.

...That day, as well as the above, moreover, was still in bed at nine o'clock.

And I have asked him:

-Is it you who made this bed?

He looks at me, astonished, and he responds: "No".

-And these sheets? And this rug? And this room? And this house?

...Precisely, that day it rained in torrents.

...After, brought to him the breakfast to that little gentleman...

-And this coffee? This milk? This bowl? Is it you who made them? And this warm bun? And this fresh butter? This sugar...?

...After having breakfast slowly, very slowly, because that fatigue, the child is dressed.

-This fabric, are you who has woven it?

-No.

...At that time, the maid opened the window.

...Trees appear.

-Are you one who planted them? What about the driveway? And the sidewalks? And the cars?

And I continued following him, step by step, through the entire day, asking the same question about all things being served.

...Took the train with his parents for hiking. I whispered him:

-Is it you who has built the stations, manufactured the locomotives, rail cars, the tracks? Are you extracted the coal?

...Finally, exasperated, the boy shouted:

-Where do you want to go with all these questions that fatigue me?

-Only one thing: to understand that from morning till night you are not seeing anything but the work of others. And that is shameful, abominable, unworthy of a human being to say: "All the universe works for me, for my life, for my comfort. The soldiers are killed in the border so that I remain french. And I do not nothing, absolutely nothing, not for my parents, or society. I am a complete nullity, a parasite. I wonder why did I born, since it contributes nothing to the life of anyone. I cause annoyance and with all reason to all those who have some heart and a few drops of red blood in the veins..."

-And I added:

-I am your guardian angel. But if you do not react, I will leave to your plight, and go to take care of a child less lazy and more interesting than you...

-So what? Christ asks.

-Well, suddenly, with the help of grace, the child has understood. It has started to mourn, and begged me that I pitied him, and that would make every possible effort to be somebody and do something useful.

...Naturally, the Laziness, furious, has counterattacked. But the boy and I have prayed, we have faced and pushing on both shoulders, we have launched, as undesirable, out of the house.

-What now?

-Now, Sir, all is well. The child has taken a liking to work and try to catch up the lost time.

...I have ended, oh, Christ! Am I am perhaps too large? But I had an immense interest to bring you this good new. Immediately return to my post. I have so much fear that the Sloth, thrown out the door, to re-enter through the window!

Christ makes his angel a sign of benevolence.

-I appreciate you saved one of these little ones. They are the heart of my heart. But continues to monitor your protected. Because only remains what is being defended.

And the angel, completely happy with the words of the Savior, go out of there heavenly singing the ballad of the Guardian Angels:

Our Lord has sent me
very clever little boy...
Lindo, which mature cherry,
with a soul of angel, pure.
Our Lord has sent me
very smart little boy.

And, passing, the angels clapped from heaven, to which Christ collected of the earth in his tender years, those who are left bathed in the tears of their mothers, and they are like rosebuds in the great Paradise of God our Lord...

Chapter XXXVI

THE ANGEL OF CONSOLATION

The Angel of Consolation comes after the guardian angel.

It is a beautiful angel, beautiful among the most beautiful. Everything about him is kindness and mercy. He has seen many physical and spiritual miseries in this valley of tears, he has no more no more than a gesture of mercy.

Christ smiles when see him, because he recognized himself in him.

-Beautiful angel, tell me what you come today?

-I come to tell you what I know best: that the poor men are born with an original defect so large that they are besieged in heart and soul by enemies so smart and numerous that really there is anyone wich venture to judge them. Or is forced make them imbued with mercy and compassion.

-It was on the cross where I expressed my last thoughts. Do you remember the Calvary? All they shout, with angry voice: "Crucify him!" And remember my reply: "Forgive him, oh, my Father!", because they do not know what they do". But I especially like your ministry about the men, I would like, therefore, that you will told me the main details:

-I go Into the families, in all families, in palaces, the same as in the cabins, in the hospitals of the poors and in the clinics of the rich. Because suffering is everywhere. Then I tell them that they are not alone, that you are there beside them, as part of the vast family of sufferers. And that family is mostly yours, because Thou has said: "Blessed are all they that mourn, because for they shall be comforted..."

-And you, my angel, you represent me besides them.

-I do, Lord, all that I can. When those who suffer have faith, everything is easy. They understand that suffering is universal law of this world, unless a grain of wheat must be milled to make bread, that if the vine has to be crushed to make wine, the human soul has to accept suffering to atone for his sins , and ennoble, with pure gold, the rough metal of his life... Yes; How many times I have checked! It is in the bed of pain where the finger usually touch the awesome power of transfiguration of the Faith.

-No doubt; but when your patient does not have faith...

-In that case, Lord, then my ministry is quite difficult and delicate. Because then I can not support myself in the power of the consolation that represents the Christian hope.

Upon hearing this, the angel encourages in a particular way:

-I give you one example. I just attended a poor artist who will die soon, and he knows it. He suffers from several causes: cancer, that gnaws him, for his family indifferent, interested, to which are responsible him

...Very smart, knows what hinders that annoying. Read with impatience in the eyes of those around him, in the softly talks to the nurse: "For how long we still?"

-I could not kill me, indeed, -he tells me-. First, I would no longer up to it, or value.

...Suffers also with the abandonment of his friends. At the time of his successes, there were many people around him, he was much flattered. It was the fashionable painter. Newspapers cited his name, asked for photographs of their works. Today, in the worldly horizon other stars have risen. He is poor and they have forgotten:

-I am alone, completely alone. Horrible!, has whispered to me many times.

-What have you responded?

-I have answered that it was wrong and offensive to think that. Because God is there close to him, and he never leaves any creature that suffers and prays.

-God?... I do not see...

And he pronounced these name as anyone who listen the distant echo of a name heard in the past.

Then, I insisted:

-Yes, God is besides you. He is who send me to you. He is who speaks through my lips. Oh, it is certainly cruel the indifference of those who loved! Ay¡, that is the life, the sad human life. But if you have God, you have everything. And perhaps God allows your insulation to deposit your hope completely in Him, and only in Him, who never lets us down.

...And I continued talking to him, because I felt that my words were coming slowly in his mind.

One night I went even further. I have been asked this question:

-If knowing everything we now know of life, their vanities and their ingratitude, God will propose to restart your life from scratch, would you accept?

The old artist board then their emaciated hands, and with an air of horror and shout: "Oh, not again!"

-Since you reject the past, bravely accepts the future. Get ready to cross the short tunnel that separates the shadow of light, the miserable housing, the final mansion...

-And I add: One is always more blessed than any other. Think that there are other more wretched, more abandoned than you.

And also, you are an artist, that is priest of Beauty. You have had hours of supreme joy, which the profanes have ever met.

...This gift, which God has granted to you, of to understand the Beauty, will hold you in the last hour with the thought that you are going to Him who is all beauty, to the God who created light, which has covered the sweetness morning and evening splendor, which has spread on the sad earth, the constellated night of the sky, which has carved, painted and perfumed flowers. the death takes you into a landscape of indescribable magnificence. And are the angelic faces that you are able to contemplate.

...Death is the butterfly that leaves on the edge of the ditch that surrounded the larva, to dive into the blue, into the empyrean!...

Near the bedside of that dying man, I have been enthusiastically.

...And indeed, I had the impression that my dying understood me; and that from the depths of his spirit, his sentence is up to You, the prayer of the humble artist who is directed to the supreme artist.

-Believe,, my beautiful Angel, which I did disappoint the hope born in the soul of this poor dying.

-Thank you Lord! And since you have wished you to discover a piece of the horizon, let me tell you my secret, such as suffering, without limits.

...Dismissal of having visited the dying, I go to all those who lost a loved one, and comment them your blessings.

...I remember that the Christian hope is bursting with immortality, that death is merely a "goodbye" that the Christian should not mourn his own, like those unfortunates who have no faith...

...God will gather within an ultimate happiness to those who love each other and were separated.

...And while waiting for that moment to see them again, Christians can return to find their dead in the prayer, in the religious cult celebrated for the repose of their souls. The contact between the living and the dead is never broken.

...And on the last day of living, the dead were not forgotten, not forgotten either, in turn. Attend the meeting of the soul that moves, trembling, amid the immense mystery of Eternity.

...Behold, Lord what I say in various forms. It is always hope, hope, yet!, What I try to make it flourish on the human path.

-On your beautiful way! -says Christ-, as final, watching his special Angel with love. I will never reproach that you were too good, because I will always be more than you. Now, go on. Suffering calls you.

Chapter XXXVII

THE ANGEL OF DEATH

High, solemn, full of melancholy eyes, the Angel of Death appears in front of God. And timidly, his lips murmuring as a lament that repeats itself:

-I come, Lord, because it must come. But there are anxieties, pains, which mainly I bring. I will never get used to the terrible mission that you have ordered, the Death!

-I understand you, Angel. You have not ever experienced the ordeal of death. I have been through it. And I rushed her abominable bitterness.

-Every day I see around me that death and in circumstances vary, but all horrible and full of mystery. I see a children die in the arms of their mother.

-These, are transformed in the act in your brothers in the blue paradise .

-I see young people dying on the threshold of life, when it smiled a brighter future.

-The gardener also cuts even flowers that are just buds, and are the most precious. The pagans themselves yet said: "to Him whom the gods love, die young".

-I have seen the death of parents, vigorous, in his youth.

-The men also cut down selected trees, and is for beautiful purposes. I myself have died thirty-three years... And what a death!

-I have seen the death of elderly...

-That is very normal. It is like go to sleep then, after the rough day. They extend their tired arms in brace of the sleep of death, that brings calm and prepare them for the beautiful resurrection of the clear morning.

-Sir, considering it from the sky you have all the answers. But let me tell you how painful back and bathed in tears is my mission on earth. I, immortal Angel, I see nothing but death, and I see it in all its aspects.

-And some there that must to be beautiful. Recognize that sometimes you have nevertheless, touching consolations.

-Oh, I do not deny it. Last night, for example, here is the letter found under the pillow of one of your choosen. It is quite wrinkled, because this ill , who suffered a lot, he read every day.

-I would like to hear you-read:

The angel then read:

My God, I know that in this world everything has to have an end: the oak and the reed, the insect and man.

I, created by You with better clay, I accept, therefore, death.

I accept the suffering that precedes it, limiting my activities, the humiliating slavery imposed on me.

I accept the decline of this body, of which I was once so proud.

I accept it as expiation of my pride and my faults, as the purification necessary for admission to the Hall of Light and of Peace.

A profound hope in me will continue to flourish with the blackness of the grave. I think that my Redeemer liveth.

He has conquered death. I will beat it too.
But to address this ultimate battle, I implore your powerful grace.
Because I am nothing but misery and sin.
And you are All.
God and my Lord, have mercy on me!

-Behold, Oh my Angel!, the comforting expression of a beautiful soul.
-No doubt, Sir; but souls like that are rare, can be counted.
-The Apostle Paul wrote: "I get tired of living. Avid I see the end, the breakdown of my body, and come to Christ".
-Yes, but how many others are indifferent, frivolous...!
..."I have no more than a pleasure, said an old sinner to his doctor, my remorse!"
-A real disturbing pleasure.
-Many patients die without any spiritual reaction. Others, exasperated by suffering, call to the death, not as the apostle Paul, but as the end of their troubles, as a leap into nothingness. Some people try to get it, although they fear it.
..."It is not death that scares me, said a famous writer, but to die".
I understand that fear. And however...!
For most death is unexplained human catastrophe. She is the one that causes the most terrible questions, arising from the depths of anguished souls and come to me, begging an answer. Why the pain? Why death?
...That painter, lover of Beauty, who becomes blind.
...That musician, attacked of deafness.
...That sick without hope, gnawed to the marrow by cancer.
...This new mother who dies giving life to a being. What a abominable contradiction!
...The miner, smothered in downhole.
...The sailor on the sea floor.
...The fallen soldier, maimed, on the battlefield.
...Again I say, Sir, I can not get used to seeing all those sorrows, those desolations, these horrors.
-My beloved Angel. Your pain is my pain. Me too, on the earth, I passed it. And my Holy Mother, and my Apostles. And with them, all who have lived in this valley of tears.
-But, why Lord, why?
-Angel, you are evoking the immense mystery.
-Lift up to me, Lord, the veil a little. If I understood better, would be stronger.
-Here is waht I can tell you, suffering is the price of any redemption of oneself and others, the price of all enrichment of the soul, the price of an eternity of rest and joy.
...Suffering is this "not what" that misfortune refinement that adds to the virtue.
...This truth is really terrible and cruel. But the reality is also evident that all men that should look brave face to face.
...The world itself, so frivolous and vain, is forced to unfold before her. And one of his writers have been able to say with precision, to pay homage:

Does the man? An apprentice; the pain, his teacher,
And no one knows until they have suffered.

...Under the arch of triumph of the earth, is the miserable, but glorious plunder of the unknown soldier that honor men, and not the richest banker, full of gold.

...The earth is the test.
...Death, the transit.
...The eternity, the arrival to the definitive.
...And that is the reason that the Church, boldy called to the birthday the day of death: God natalis.
...There is no discussion possible about that truth. Imposed from the original sin. That is why I have launched to the humanity this statement puzzling:
Blessed are those who suffer!
...Yes, they, against all the human appearances, are the blessed. They, and not others.
The angel then, bows in front of Christ which has risen to give a greater solemnity to his answer.
-What a mystery, Oh Lord, too for an angel!
-For the man, the mystery is everywhere. The Pain and Death shall have a full response later, when the poor intelligence of the human creature is capable of dealing with this unspeakable thing that is the love of God.
...And that is what the Cursed has not wanted to admit. He has refused to bow to the forced consequences of that love. He would not accept that me, Son of God became man to rescue the man, because I loved him.
...What to console you, Angel of Death, is that far more often than you think you are the also the Angel of Life.
-I do not understand, Lord.
-Even if you are an angel, there are many things that you do not know. You know now that God lavishes the dying man with extraordinary gifts. Among the apparent death and real death, there is sometimes a time when the dying person sees. It is like the man oemerging ut of a cave see, suddenly, the sun bright. Then, the feeling of his faults shed, perhaps, on him like a liberating clarity, which can instantly cause a perfect act of contrition.
...So, the other day, an unhappy, exasperated by complaints from women and driven by the Damned, jumped from a third floor to the streets to kill himself. But during the few seconds it took his fall, he shouted: "My God, have mercy on me..."
And God has had mercy on him.
...Another example: certain industrial, practiced not completely absorbed by their business, drive your car at high speed. However, when passing a church, dedicated to my Holy Mother, look at the image of the Virgin on the front door. Then, by a residue of a habit inherited from their elders, up to his lips a prayer from another time, a simple invocation, almost childlike...
...A few seconds later, his car suffered a brutal collision with another. And died in the act.
...Well; his prayer, the simple prayer of a child, I repeat, addressed to my mother, passed before the tribunal of God.
Have you saved his soul? -Asks the angel-.
-Has not been lost.
Another example more, -Christ says-:
...A bartender who lived only for their old bottles and had never thought that there was God and that he had a soul. That man, in his agony, had recived such a grace, that he has been dead avidly kissing the crucifix.
...And that worldly woman, wounded by the death in full swing...
In saying this, Christ is concentrated:

-I hate the world, which is hypocrisy and deceit. However, this woman has done some good. He has suffered with the death of his parents, for whom she was a good daughter. She sometimes entered in the church to pray to the Blessed Virgin. She assisted his old country priest. It has provided some money for charity, when they came to ask for help.

...All that has been considered. God does not forget even a glass of water, even in the midst of a multitude of sins. And so this woman has admitted to the expiation.

...No one knows whether one is worthy of love or hate. Because no one knows the strength of the temptations suffered or the quality of grace dispensed.

...Your role, Angel of Death, is to soften the pain of transit, tirelessly reminding the infinite goodness of God to those who have lived in his love. Remember the strong woman of Sacred Scripture, who, after having nobly lived between her husband and children, laugh at the same face of death that comes in front of she: in die Ribedit brand novísimo.

She sensed in advance the unspeakable happiness of heaven, the joy of living for ever among the selected souls, and to landscapes whose beauty can not imagine the man...

...But we must also preach the Hope... proclaim the forgiveness of sins. Certainly, these are tributaries of my justice, but above all, of my love. Remember the good thief. Hope is, by definition, such as Faith, a virtue of the earth. In heaven no longer exists, since it is in possession of its object. Therefore bring that hope to shine in the darkest night, in the most frightening desperation, until the last instant of the last minute of life. Dum Spiro Spero. While I breathe, I will wait...

...I knew all that, oh, Christ! But for me, how much force has to hear it from your lips! I am just an angel who has suffered, and I should not die. That maybe my apology before your eyes for the words of discouragement that perhaps may have offended you.

-My beloved angel. Piety, the anguished question, not offend me. I remember too the poor human wreck that I became, under the weight of pain, in the Garden of Olives.

...It was there in a sweat of blood, and helpless, I cried out to heaven: "Father, if this is possible, apart from this cup from me!"

...And I added further: "Father, why have you forsaken me?"

...So then, I also... I, your God, I trembled in front of the Death!

My Father has not stopped loving me.

...And I do not ever stop loving to the tormented wich rise their desperated hands on the night of his agony.

...Come with me, Angel of Death. After, bring all that are going to die this kiss that I bring to you, this kiss of my unfailing love.

Very excited, the Angel receives, on his forehead, the kiss of Christ.

Then, recovered now, back down towards the dying on earth, to all who are on the edge of the Death.

Give them all, Lord, the eternal rest!...

CONCLUSION

FINAL ASSEMBLY OF HEAVEN
FINAL ASSEMBLY OF HELL

In heaven, "Magnificat!..."
In Inferno: Huge disappointment...

Chapter XXXVIII

FINAL ASSEMBLY OF HEAVEN

And was held in the sky, an immense, indescribable assembly, something like an anticipation of the final judgment of the earth..

The few angels who came first to the throne of Christ were only the vanguard of the inmense army of heaven.

And when the innumerable angels in heaven had spoken, repeated and widespread in the Invisible the Christ slogan, calling to all christian souls an extraordinary effort to fight against the army of the Damned, there was a great movement, enthusiastic for all things wich are beautiful good and pure, a universal effort to repair the ruins heaped up by Satan, and to guide to the maximun all life, individual and social, to the entire religious ideal.

Without knowing exact account of the profound reason of these sudden burning, souls are led. Abandoned, are delivered to that impulse, as these large seabirds that with the open wings allowed to be carried by the rushing streams whose providential origin they ignored.

In the churches, the priests, animated by an intense heat, speak to the crowds, with special accent of youth and faith. A missionary atmosphere extends everywhere.

And the congregation listen and follow the guiding words.

The work of the youth and charities penetrate deeper into the lives of the working masses.

All countries are crossed by explorers, hikers, holiday camps and pilgrimages, especially in the shrines of the Blessed Virgin.

At the time that the Technique and Mechanics reach its peak for the pride of men, was forced to take a bridge over the Gave and expand the territory of Lourdes, where crowded the masses of all social classes.

And there, in Fatima, a new sanctuary was open to the mercy of the world, and their flashes were multiplied every day.

Even the patients who could not go to these shrines to implore healing, resign themselves to a better understanding now suffering, and offer it for the remission of their sins, for the health of their brethren, and joining the suffering of Christ.

The public awareness that every day sank a little deeper, slowing his descent and recover, little by little, his categorical imperative to imposing to everyone the sense of individual and social responsibility.

Tired, fed up of exact sciences and of numbers, the new generation feel the nostalgia of mysticism, the thirst of simplicity, desire for solitude, silence and contemplation.

The "movies" have ceased to interest; their images, fictitious and violent, have exhausted until the popular imagination.

The "new" no longer exists.
The hour has come to the return of the eternal traditions.
Congregations redouble their zeal and fervor. Despite the brutal reaction of the savage persecutions caused by Hell Missions everywhere open new grooves in the unexplored field of the Family Father, grooves for which still runs, often, the blood of the martyrs.
Not only are evangelized countries inhabited by colored races, but in turn give them some priests and religious to the Church.
Thousands of lepers are cared for in their respective countries by Sisters, angels of the extreme love of Christ, among which are the most beautiful names, according to the world.
Undoubtedly, the battle still goes on, because always be deliver battle on earth. But Love is stronger than anything, stronger than Death and Hate, they fight with hope in theirs hearts, because the final victory is drawn clearly, despite the desperate fury of Satan and all of his satellites.
Christ told to his apostles: "Preach the Gospel to the ends of the earth".
More than ever, because of the extraordinary effort that has been asked, the Church applies to the obedience. And now there are missionaries in the polar ices and at the bottom of the most heated deserts of the equatorial countries.
And all these efforts, these absolute will to respond to the call of Christ, are those who now serve to confirm theirs faithful.
They come from all around the horizon. And as in the Apocalypse of St. John, they are so numerous that no one could count them.
Up from the lips of those immense multitudes prayer of love, a huge prayer of love, an irresistible prayer, in honor of God, Christ, and his Holy Mother.
No doubt there were countless wounded. They bears the marks of the rough battle that had sustained during the earth. At times that they had been dragged in blood and mud for the Damned. Shakes, but not defeated!... Because, stubbornly, they had risen again and again until the very moment that death had taken, still struggling, always struggling, waiting till in his agony:
De profundis clamavi ad te Domine!...
And today, aware of the totality and seriousness of the perils that they had encountered, feeling how was passing in his face the fierce gusts of the abyss where the reign of the Damn, they were not the last to enthusiastically proclaim its recognition, its gratitude to those who ,
in the Unseen, they had plucked, and very often point, of the clutches of Satan.
Certainly his thanksgiving prayer was particularly poignant. More over it, and even closer to Christ, ascended a prayer of those who passed through the earth as if his soul had no body, pure white lilies flowers, blooming in the midst of all the human rot of the human passions.
And those praises were raised in the Empyrean as an infinitely delicate perfume, above all the others.
But when at the plenary meeting of the christian forces of the world, appeared Christ victorious, and his Holy Mother, blessed among all the women, an indescribable Magnificat, which reverberated like a thunder of love over the militant church, suffering and triumphant, and whose powerful echo made to tremble the tightly closed doors of Hell:
My soul magnifies the Lord, wich has wrought in me so much. He, the Almighty, has felled the Prouds... He had lifted the meekness of those who have loved him. Magnificat!... Magnificat!...

Chapter XXXIX

FINAL ASSEMBLY OF HELL

At the same time, in the black and deep abyss, lair of the Damn, celebrate the general meeting of Satan.

It is the end of his journey, which should bring you a tangible proof of his strength, and the hope of victory, when sound the hour, so next to the general conflagación. The great sinister hour in which are divided the two blocks of the world, thrown themselves, armed until the improbable, one against the another.

All the demons come, slowly, proudly, very pleased of the evil that they have perpetrated upon the earth, each claiming, in loudly voice have corrupted more souls than others...

Pride, Avarice, Lust, Envy, Gluttony, Wrath and Sloth, solemny are located in the front row. It is the staff of Satan, and believes it deserves to occupy the top spot in this official manifestation of the infernal omnipotence.

Behind them, without keep an order, come the demons, subdemons, so proud and pleased with themselves as the archangels, the Human Respect, The Ingratitude, the Worldly Devil and all the others worldly shout their misdeeds, listing the souls that fell into theirs personal traps and to which have dragged to Hell.

They form over there a dense mass of grunts, screams, howls. Each used their elbows to pass the another, to throw on the backs of theirs neighbors and get it fixed in the great Master, whose appearance immediately impressive and expected.

Of those infernal troops ascend a heavy emanation, unbearable, composed of all the corruptions of the earth, of all the rooten souls that just act that army of demons.

Each one, estimating that his personal victory should promote the overall victory, eagerly awaiting the appearance of the Boss, who will proclaim the official result of the extraordinary offensive of his famous journey.

And also has to give the rewards we all believe they have earned. The subdemons are convinced that receive the appointment of demons and devils are waiting for their promotions to Archangels, Cherubim, Thrones and Powers. Without any modesty, everyone and their titles spewed by throwing into the circulation.

-I have won more souls than all of you! Shouts the demon of Human Respect.

-Not as many as me! Replies the Skepticism.

And the Worldly Devil, always so Slick, curled and perfumed, contemptuously rise above his shoulder over those vulgar and uneducated hordes.

Lucifer take long to appear. If punctuality is the politeness of kings, is not that of Mr. Satan. So the room begins to fill with rumors. Because many of those cunning devils have appointments in cabarets, "movies" and other terrestrial facilities. Appointments that do not want to miss. Because over there is much more than fun in Hell, full of weeping and gnashing of teeth.

At last!...
The hight doors were opened, in pairs, a chain noise resounds on the stone floor.
-Knee in land- claim the two Archangels of service.
Obey them... or they do not obey... So they mock in some corners, where they meet the strong heads, the recalcitrant.
Lucifer, moreover, does not pay any attention to them.
Seems to be that the Master is not happy -whispers the Pride in the ear of Envy-.
In fact, Lucifer, usually neither friendly nor affordable seems to be, that evening, of execrable humor. Dry face, sullen, concentrated, green eyes, throwing lightning around the room. And in the mouth, those yellow teeth squeak between his grim lips.
-Silence!- Shouts with sahrp and loud voice.
All are silent.
Speak up!...
Then, dropping heavily every word, as the hammer falls on the steel...
Lucifer says:
I am going to inform you of the outcome of the journey.
And ironically Satan adds:
Of my journey!...
...I have expected that you provide it magnificent. Because every one of you assured to me that he had worked wonders and obtained a decisive and resonant victory.
...Should I be able to say, therefore, accumulating superb feats, that victory was complete.
...Well ...Not so! It is the defeat and utter defeat.
Consternation in part of the assembly.
Lucifer continues:
-Here, as on earth, there are intelligent and stupid.
...The intelligent, those who can see and foresee, those, they have lied me, absurdly exaggerating the effects of a particular success.
...The fools have deceived themselves.
Moreover, Christ has regained almost all those souls wich you have pretended delivered to me.
...The adventure of the good thief, saved at the last moment, repeated in thousands of cases. I know that the Purgatory is full of souls that should have been belongs hundred times and that you have left to escape them of me. You know well, however, that a soul is not really mine but when is in my kingdom
...While afloat in the intermediate regions wich separates the apparent death of the real death, I will never be a completely certain that I possess it. Christ and his Mother have many means to act, to inspire a dying repentance, that make them to escapes of me, quite rightly, of my claws so held out to him.
...That you know well.
...Do not be puffed up, therefore, of unfortunately finished exploits. And do not sell the skin of a Christian before he are really spread out on the tiles of my Hell.
...I repeat: some have lied, and they have lied to me the Price of falsehood! Can you believe for a moment that I would be deceived by her vanity and exaggeration?
...The others have left coiling.
...And I, who at the beginning of the day, I already foresaw the dawn of the Victorie, I had to change of tone, quickly and shamefully.

...You are, for various reasons, the responsible for the overwhelming defeat.

...So then, I will throw all of them...

...Get out of here!... The ones to the earth, the souls of the wretched than you seem to you. The others, the useless, to your den, where there is no light, no peace, no hope...

...The illusion vanished... You are no longer more than a condemned, and forever!

Lucifer ends in a tone of bitterness mixed with anger:

-I have here, therefore, a disappointment which is in addition to many others!... If you had been less arrogant, if you had relied less on yourself, you should have arrived. Because never were so favorable the circumstances to us.

Less proud! -says-, laughing in a corner, a small subdemon, little respectful. And Him?

-Yes, go away from here. Devour each to each other. For what you do, you shall be always enough.

Then a dull roar, which is increased, a roar of surprise, disappointment and rage, rising from the mouths of all of those infernal mass, so much so that one would have thought for a moment that all those demons were going to pounce on their Master, and exterminate him.

But Lucifer, the great fallen Archangel, it seemed to them so fierce, so terribly strong, once again bowed his head and accepted the outrage, like dogs under the whip of his master.

Moreover, the great staff, after some hesitation, gives the example of submission and scape.

Pride, always haughty, with the head erected, go out by a side...

Envy, more yellow than ever, parade on other.

Greed follows them, clenching his fists bony creaking.

The same does the Wrath, grinding his teeth and looking, about him, over which one he could be launched.

Laziness is what comes out last, throwned by the Lust, overwhelmed.

-And moreover, how many people I have brought to him! Says, groaning.

Glottony pronounces the final word:

-Even in the same hell, virtue is not rewarded!...

When the seven major parade, the mass of demons and subdemons were thrown out of thedoors, and whipping by the Archangels of the day.

And thees whole dark horde, sticky, vomiting blasphemies against Lucifer ratehr that to God, be scattered to the fiour winds of the space.

The famous journey was over.

Only in the great hall where always float the heavy stink smell provided all the damned, Lucifer contemplates the void, with tired eyes.

Slowly spreads its rough wings, and from there, without direction, toward to those immensities of the boredom where everywhere are the Desperation and Death...

TABLE OF CONTENTS

DREAM 5

INTRODUCTION 7

PART ONE

I. THE CALL OF SATAN. MAJOR EVENTS AHEAD 13

Chapter I THE HOPE OF SATAN 15
Chapter II HOW TO HURT THE INNACESIBLE? 18
Chapter III LOVE AND HATE FACE TO FACE 22
Chapter IV THE PLAN OF LUCIFER 26

II. THE STAFF OF SATAN ARRIVES TO HIS CALL 29

Chapter V SUPERB 31
Chapter VI GREED 34
Chapter VII LUST 37
Chapter VIII ENVY 39
Chapter IX GLOTTONY 41
Chapter X WRATH 44
Chapter XI SLOTH 46

III. THE LOWER GRADES OF THE INFERNAL ARMY MOVILIZES. THEIR MISSION WILL BE IMPORTANT IN THE BATTLE 49

Chapter XII MY LITTLE ANGELS: My little angels 51
Chapter XIII ASSIGNAMENT: TO CAMOUFLAGE! 53
Chapter XIV CHRIST... ONE OF THE TWO! 56

PART TWO

NEWS OF THE BATTLE. All IS WELL, OH LUCIFER! ENTHUSIAST REPORT OF THE STAFF 59

Chapter XV SUBERP 61
Chapter XVI GREED 65
Chapter XVII LUST 71
Chapter XVIII ENVY 77
Chapter XIX GLOTTONY 84
Chapter XX WRATH 90
Chapter XXI SLOTH 96

PART THREE

THE SUBDEMONS ARE DISTINGUISHED 103

CHAPTER XXII A YOUNG DEMON THAT WILL GO FAR 103
CHAPTER XXIII THE DEMON OF RELIGIOUS VOCATION 105

CHAPTER XXIV THE DEMON OF DISPAIR 110
Chapter XXV THE CONYUGAL DEMON 119
Chapter XXVI THE BROKEN POTS DEMON 124
Chapter XXVII THE MUNDANE DEMON 129
Chapter XXVIII THE DEMON ¿AD QUID? 141
Chapter XXIX THE INFERNAL HURRICANE 141

PART FOUR

I. THE RESPONSE OF GOD 147

Chapter XXX I AM WHO IS... 147

II. THE CELESTIAL COUNTER-OFENSIVE 155

Chapter XXXI THE THOUGHT ÁNGEL OF THE GUARDIAN ÁNGEL 157
Chapter XXXII THE CALVARY RISEN AGAIN 161
Chapter XXXIII BLESSED ARE THE PURE OF HEARTH! 166
Chapter XXXIV THEÁNGEL OF FAITH 172
Chapter XXXV THEÁNGEL OF THE SMALL LAZY 177
Chapter XXXVI THE ÁNGEL OD CONSOLATION 181
Chapter XXXVII THE ÁNGEL OF DEATH 186

CONCLUSION

Chapter XXXVIII FINNAL ASSEMBLY OF HEAVENS 197
Chapter XXXIX FINNAL ASSEMBLY OF HELL 201

The Satan´s journey .
(La journée de Satán) © Pierre Lérmite.

1954
Editorial Aldecoa
Diego de Siloé, 18
Burgos

Translated spanish version of the french translated version by Fernando Calvo Gutiérrez. Cover by Luis Saez. 1954 January. 20 pesetas Translated to the digital .txt format with the help of Goggle online translation tool by EAD PA.

--- SPANISH TRANSLATION ----------

La jornada de Satán. (La journée de Satán) © Pierre Lérmite.

SUEÑO...

-Contempla, Satanás, cual se destrozan los insensatos, sin saber por qué. Les infundiste el odio, audaz y certero... ¿No estás contento, di?
-Sí... pero...

—Míralos, Satanás; con qué soberbia y altanería se creen justos, sabios... Tú les diste el orgullo. Eres certero... ¿No estás contento, dí?
—Sí... pero...

—Míralos cómo apilan sus riquezas y cómo se despojan y se explotan. Les diste la codicia del dinero... ¿No estás contento, dí?
—Sí... pero...

La envidia los devora; la lujuria y la gula los han embrutecido; les perturba la cólera el sentido; la pereza el pudor les arrebata... ¿Verdad que siguen bien por el sendero que tú quisiste que siguieran, di? ¿No estás contento, dí?
—Sí... pero...

—¡Satanás, tú eres el gran vencedor!
—Te equivocas. Soy siempre el gran vencido.
—¿Quién es el vencedor?
—¿No lo has sabido? ¡El Amor!

Manuel Barhey. (Cantos de vida).
Ediciones de la "Revue Internationale" (Bruselas).

INTRODUCCIÓN

Durante siglos y siglos creyeron los hombres que la inmensidad del cielo estaba vacía.

Hasta que un dia inventaron unos sabios el primer telescopio. Entonces advirtieron, estupefactos, que aquel cielo vacio estaba poblado de astros magníficos, junto a los cuales nuestra Tierra no significaba otra cosa que una mísera partícula de polvo perdida en el espacio.

Despierta así su curiosidad, pero no saciada, perfeccionaron su instrumento y lo enfocaron al Infinito.

Su estupefacción se convirtió en una especie de espanto y de vértigo. El nuevo telescopio revelaba, en efecto, que las estrellas eran tan numerosas como los granitos de arena de las orillas de la mar. Y que, tras aquellas innumerables mundos, había ciertamente otros, que el ojo humano, aun pertrechado con los más potentes cristales, no podía distinguir en las profundidades del Infinito.

Y todo aquello no era una ficción de la imaginación superexcitada. Los hombres poseían la prueba tangible de la verdad revelada por su telescopio. La placa fotográfica del cielo estaba completamente blanca; tal cantidad de mundos giraban ante ella, en la Vía Láctea, y en la parte perceptible del cielo.

De modo que en las restantes...

Pero este universo de estrellas, por desconcertante que sea, no es más que un universo material, que nada representa en comparación con la multitud de seres, buenos o malos, que pueblan el misterio de lo Invisible.

Entre la pobre criatura humana y Dios existe toda la multitud de los espíritus... multitud que el cerebro del hombre no puede enumerar.

Multitudes evidentemente opuestas.

En las Sagradas Escrituras encuéntranse, por todas partes, pruebas de la existencia de los ángeles buenos.

Pero también se encuentran pruebas de la existencia de ángeles caídos, de demonios. Y en este libro se va a tratar precisamente de ellos, de su presencia entre nosotros, de su obstinación en dañarnos y de su infernal habilidad.

Es preciso conocer, ante todo, la existencia de nuestro enemigo para guardarnos de él, para huirle o para combatirlo.

Como la Iglesia, por boca de sus sacerdotes, lo propala todos los dias, al final de todas las misas celebradas en el mundo, cada cristiano debe saber que su adversario, el demonio, merodea sin cesar en torno suyo, acechando ávidamente la ocasión de apoderarse de él, de condenarlo, y que es preciso resistirlo con toda la energía de la fe.

Este libro se ha escrito para recordar a todos esta grave verdad, de vida o de muerte.

Desde nuestra aparición sobre la tierra, tenemos un adversario fortísimo, muy astuto, que nos sigue paso a paso, que se disfraza de mil modos, suscitando ocasiones para matar nuestra alma, aprovechándose de todo para hacernos pecar.

Esto, hasta el instante mismo de ese último combate que es nuestra agonía.

Y, obstinado hasta el fin, cuando ya no puede hacernos pecar, cumple la consigna de atormentarnos, de hacer que muramos entre la desesperación y el terror por lo que nos aguarda.

El Ángel caído es más fuerte que nosotros.

Conoce nuestra frontera oriental. Vigila nuestra vida. Sabe qué pecados no cometeremos jamás. Pero también sabe, y aún con más certeza, los que todos los días estamos dispuestos a cometer.

Si Dios no limitase sus maldad agresiva, nos aplastaría, como la piedra del molino aplasta el grano, como él había soñado en aplastar al apóstol Pedro, si Cristo no se hubiera interpuesto entre él y el primer Papa de su Iglesia.

Porque —verdad consoladora— ante el poderío del demonio, álzase Jesucristo Salvador con todas las gracias infinitas de su redección, para protegernos en el duro e infernal combate.

***

La prodigiosa táctica de Satanás consiste en disfrazarse.

El no existe.

Es una leyenda para gente ingenua.

Un cuento para infundir miedo a los niños chiquitos.

Los hombres de mundo, los científicos sobre todo, se encogen de hombros desdeñosamente cuando, por casualidad, se les habla del diablo.

Lo más grave es que hay cierto número de cristianos que piensan, como la gente de mundo, que Satanás es sólo una ficción, una invención de temerosas devotas.

He asistido a la elaboración de una película cinematográfica referente a la Hermanita Teresa del Niño Jesús. En esa cinta, habría una intervención visible de Satanás. Y para encarnarlo, se había elegido a un actor de primera categoría.

Luego, tras viva discusión, se acordó al fin suprimir aquellas escenas, por temor a las reacciones del gran público, el cual —¡oh, contradicción!— acepta tan de buen grado la intervención de Mefistófeles en Fausto, la más popular de las óperas.

***

¿No existe el diablo?

¿Es que no han leído ustedes la Biblia, donde se le nombra en todas partes? ¿Ni el Evangelio? Olvidan ustedes que Jesucristo, constantemente, ha expulsado a los demonios, aposentados en el cuerpo o en el alma de los enfermos...

...Que aun siendo Jesucristo, ha sido tentado, en su propia persona, por Satanás, tentado tres veces; y que tales tentaciones se escalonaron según un órden lógico, en planos ascendentes... gula, vanidad, orgullo supremo.

Todos los años, ustedes mismos leen esas tentaciones de Satanás en el Evangelio que les está especialmente consagrado.

Deduzcan ahora la conclusión: el discípulo no está por encima del Maestro.

Usted también tiene su demonio, sus demonios, sobre todo, si es usted "alguien", si representa usted, para él un adversario especial.

***

...¿Que no existe Satanás? Lean ustedes la Vida de los Santos reconocidos por la Iglesia.

Escuchen, en la intimidad, el relato de ciertos misioneros, en países que aun no tiene contacto alguno con la fe cristiana y donde Satanás reina como amo y señor.

...¿Que no existe satanás?

Vayan a preguntárselo al santo cura de Ars, que ha luchado toda su vida con el embaucador, como él lo llamaba.

...¿Que no existe Satanás?

Búsquelo en usted mismo. Si es usted sincero, advertirá con cuánta frecuencia le ha empujado, por ambos hombros, hacia culpables actos. José de Maistre ha escrito: "Yo no conocía otra conciencia que la de un hombre honrado, la mía. ¡En ciertos momentos, era espantosa!"

***

Bajo una forma y en un ambiente que he reconstituído, tras abundantes lecturas hagiográficas, y que se aproxima a la objetividad cristiana bastante más que la forma, tan pagana, del dante, he presentado hechos que tiene, todos, su punto de partida en la realidad de la vida palpitante.

Hubiera podido citar muchos otros, aun más caracterizados, comprobados por mí en mi larga vida sacerdotal de París, y sobre todo, en el ejercicio de mi ministerio como cura de Montmartre.

Más aunque prueben a fondo la existencia de los ángeles malditos y su constante ofensiva en nuestra vida, he considerado que esos hechos comprenden capítulos prohibidos, porque Satanás volvería a sacar probecho de ellos.

De ahí resultaría, sobre todo, que lo "mejor" sería lo adverso del bien.

***

Pero tal como es, aun proporcionará este libro al alma cristiana un verdadero consuelo, porque si la batalla es ruda e incesante, si las puertas del Infierno son temibles para nosotros, pobres seres humanos, Cristo es más fuerte que Satanás y todos sus demonios.

Y además, si hay ángeles perversos, hay también, y en mayor número, ángeles fieles y piadosos, al servicio de nuestras almas, ángeles que, respaldados en Dios, son más fuertes que los malditos. Si cada uno de nosotros tiene, para perdición suya, un demonio personal, también tiene su amado ángel de la guarda.

Por eso es por lo que la voz que se alza sobre el fragor de la inmensa batalla es más que una palabra de esperanza. Es una palabra de certidumbre: Confidete... Tened confianza, yo he vencido al mundo.

Pertrechados con la gracia de este Vencedor, también nosotros atravesaremos el campo de batalla, heridos quizás numerosas veces y gravemente, pero, aún así, victoriosos, y reconocidísimos hacia El que jamás abandona al cristiano que ha conservado la fe en su poder y en su amor.

PRIMERA PARTE

I

LA LLAMADA DE SATANÁS
SE AVECINAN GRANDES ACONTECIMIENTOS

LA ESPERANZA DE SATANÁS
¿CÓMO HERIR LO INNACESIBLE?
EL AMOR Y EL ODIO FRENTE A FRENTE
EL PLAN DE LUCIFER

Capítulo I

LA ESPERANZA DE SATANÁS

Por encima de las aldeas y de las ciudades...
Por encima de los valles y de las montañas...
Sobre los abismos y los mares...
A través de los mundos gigantescos que giran en la soledad de los espacios celestes...
En el océano de lo Invisible...
Satanás sufre de inexorable hastío...
Magnífico por su naturaleza angélica, él, el más próximo a Dios... él, Lucifer, el Portaluz, se ha transformado en el Príncipe de las Tinieblas.
Su reino es la noche...
Su alma está llena de amargura al pensar en aquel Ser que es todo el Ser; y cuyos inexistentes límites creía él haber rozado certeramente...
Él, la más hermosa de las criaturas, había soñado con sobrepasar, con destronar al Creador.
Y, sin embargo, viéndose tan perfecto, tan luminoso, que el fulgor de los soles, comparado con su resplandor, no era más que una grosera sombra, esta magnificencia le había exaltado hasta el vértigo.
No era orgulloso; se había transformado en el Orgullo mismo, lo personificaba.
Y este orgullo, encarnado en él y nunca saciado por completo, había desencadenado su rebelión insensata contra El que es todo Vida, todo belleza, todo Amor.
Y había llegado a ser el sempiterno vencido. Porque nadie puede igualarse a Dios.
Lo que exacerba más aún el sufrimiento de Lucifer es que, aparte del contraste espantoso entre lo que ha sido y lo que es, aparte de la humillación de su inmensa soberbia, todo su ser está como inmerso en un odio impotente e inextingible, en primer término contra ese Dios que sigue siendo su Dios, y a quien antaño, ha servido como tal.
El odio es triste.
Lucifer odia con todo su ser.
Odia a los ángeles que permanecieron fieles.

Odia al arcángel San Miguel, su adversario personal, que, en un duelo terrible, le ha derribado.
Odia, en fin y sobre todo, a esta miserable criatura, a este gusano terrestre llamado hombre, que fué una de las causas de su rebelión.
Un guijarro puede derribar así a un gigante.
Y así como una gota de agua es preciosa para quien muere de sed, la desdicha del hombre es el único consuelo de la fiebre que lo devora.
Y he ahí por qué Lucifer está triste, se siente vacio de todo amor.
Es el errante, el que ya no tiene patria, el que todo lo ha perdido al perder a Dios.
No existe ante él sino una sola salida, la de una nueva rebelión que, mejor preparada que la primera, pueda permitirle romper sus cadenas, forzar la puerta del paraíso perdido... y asentarse allí en lugar de Dios.
¡Oh, ese día!
DÍa de la victoria del Odio sobre el Amor...
El Mal aplastando al Bien.
Satanás expulsando a Dios.
Ante este pensamiento, Lucifer se estremece.
Y con voz terrible, evoca de antemano lo que prepara para mañana, es decir, la movilización de todo el Infierno, para un ataque gigantesco:
—¡A mí, todos los arcángeles malditos!...
...¡A mí, ¡demonios de toda clase y de todas las jerarquías!...
...Unámonos todos en una misma ansia de apoderarnos del cielo, lancémonos, con ardor frenético, a una postrera batalla, en la que ya no tenemos nada que perder, puesto que lo hemos perdido todo.
...¡Abrámos de par en par las puertas del Infierno, y que todos los condenados se agrupen junto a mí!...
¡El enemigo es Dios!
¡La pieza que hemos de cazar, el hombre!...
¿El medio de alcanzarla? Todos los medios... ¡Con tal que lo consigamos!
—¡A mí!... ¡A mí!...
Y, en profundas resonancias, su voz solitaria se pierde en el vacio:
—¡A mí!... ¡A mí!...

Capítulo II

¿CÓMO HERIR LO INNACESIBLE?

Y Satanás emprende de nuevo su marcha, en la negrura.
¿Hacia donde camina? No lo sabe.
Igual que el devorado por la fiebre, cuyos brazos hienden el vacío...
Así como también el culpable, que para justificar su crimen, invoca y vuelve a invocar sin tregua, ante su espíritu inquieto, los motivos que le impulsaron a obrar...
Y Satanás, torturado por su obsesión, cuenta, recuenta y recapitula sus agravios.
Siente necesidad, incesantemente renovada, de justificar ante sí mismo la rebelión que causó la desventura.
Esa rebelión había comenzado, en el fondo de los milenios, cuando

Dios, que podía permanecer infinitamente dichoso en el esplendor de un cielo poblado de Ángeles, Arcángeles, Querubines, Potencias y Espíritus celestiales, les anunció que su amor infinito, en su expansión difusora, iba a desbordar las fronteras del Paraíso para crear, bajo todos nosotros, un nuevo ser, que sería, a la vez, espíritu y materia... cuerpo y alma... una criatura libre, que le amaría con todo el merecimiento de una libertad desconocida en el cielo.

Dios quería que esa criatura fuese dichosa... La colocaría en un nuevo paraíso; y ese paraíso, en medio de los gigantes astros, sería este granito de polvo denominado Tierra.

Sí, Dios había dicho esto; y si lo había dicho, es que estaba decidido a hacerlo.

Y Satanás habla consigo mismo:

...Idea semejante nos pareció tan inesperada, tan inútil, tan inferior, que promovió la rebelión inmediata de multitud de ángeles contra un Dios que dejaba de ser Dios, puesto que, solemnemente, anunciaba cosas insensatas.

Yo me puse a la cabeza de aquel movimiento...

Y mi rebelión arrastró consigo a legiones de ángeles que pensaban lo mismo que yo.

El puesto divino quedaba, pues, por ocupar.

Y había de ocuparlo yo, puesto que yo era Lucifer, el Portaluz, el primero después de Dios.

Entablóse entonces una batalla formidable en los espacios celestiales... San Miguel, a un lado... yo, al otro.

Fuí vencido, precipitado al fondo de los infiernos.

Y he aquí la primera fase de la rebelión, fase de la que guardo, y guardaré, una obsesión eterna.

Pero al caer en el abismo, ¡yo había jurado que me vengaría!

¿Vengarme de quién? ¡Ay!... No de Dios, pues he comprobado, para deseperación mía, que no puedo herirlo directamente.

...En esta lucha gigantesca, se me reveló cómo aún no le había conocido.

Es el Inefable, el Inaccesible.

Y, sin embargo, quiero llegar a herirlo y lo alcanzaré, a pesar de todo... ¡Yo lo quiero!

Le heriré en este hombre maldito, en este benjamín, amalgama de materia y espíritu, a quien ama con el amor senil de un padre por su último hijo.

¡Yo le mataré a su Adán! ¡Si, se lo mataré!

E hice, ante los mios, juramento solemne.

...Me he introducido entonces en el Paraíso terrenal ¡y con qué solapada habilidad! He visto allí a un hombre y a una mujer que tenian, en efecto, aspecto de ser muy dichosos, rodeados de una naturaleza prodigiosa.

Los he observado, estudiado. He investigado cuál era su punto débil.

Y me he dicho: Si consigo adueñarme de la mujer, me adueñaré del hombre, del pobre hombre, ¡esa caña camuflada de hierro!

Me he apoderado de la mujer... y casi fácilmente, por el orgullo. Me ha escuchado, la he halagado, le he descubierto perspestivas falsas que la han deslumbrado.

Yo sé bien por que Dios te ha prohibido que comieses de ese fruto...

—¿Por qué?— Me ha preguntado, intrigada.

Porque si comieses de él, llegarías a ser "divina", es decir, igual a Dios... Ya eres bella, Eva... Pero ¿qué hermosura sería la tuya, si sobre tu forma humana tuvieses la aureola de la divinidad?

Y a esta mujer, que no sabía nada, la he fascinado.
Me ha creido.
Y, finalmente, ha dado el irreparable paso de coger el fruto y comerlo.
Y aquéllo fué la caída... Y no la caída de ella sola. Porque después de haber comido de aquel fruto, infundió a Adan el deseo de hacer lo que ella.
Y sucumbieron ambos.
La decepción de Dios fué inmensa.
Tanto amor había puesto en la creación de aquellos dos seres... Y les exigia tan poca cosa para afirmar su soberanía.
Fueron expulsados afrentosamente del Paraíso, de este paraíso que Dios mismo había dispuesto con tanto esmero para sus bien amados.
Yo había destruido la obra del Creador.
Yo había perdido la primera batalla.
Pero el vencedor de la segunda, era yo. ¡Yo!...

Capítulo III

EL AMOR Y EL ODIO FRENTE A FRENTE

Al llegar a este punto, Lucifer se reconcentra, plegando amargamente los labios:
Yo era el vencedor.
Sí, pero no había contado con esa fuerza íntima y misteriosa, que tan extraña me es y que llaman Amor.
La locura de Dios ha tenido piedad de esos dos seres, tan lastimosamente caídos, condenados, ellos y sus descendientes, a una vida miserable, obligados a ganarse el pan con el sudor de su frente, expuestos a las enfermedades, al dolor, a la muerte...
Y decidió rescatarlos del cieno de su pecado y de entre la sangre ya vertida.
¡Ha querido salvarlos, a pesar de todo!
¿Por qué, ellos? ¿Y yo, no?
Satanás rechina los dientes y repite la pregunta: Sí... ¿Por qué ellos, y no yo?
¿Habría sido necesario que yo, Lucifer, me humillase, que implorase perdón...
Y lo que eso, ¡jamás!, ¡jamás!
...Como todo se paga con el sufrimiento, y Dios no puede sufrir, su hijo se hizo hombre. ¡Es indecible todo el amor que se oculta tras este misterio! Dios, convirtiéndose en esta cosa material, baja, corruptible, que llaman carne.
Cada vez lo comprendo menos.
Y para agradecerle este rebajamiento prodigioso hasta su naturaleza, los hombres le han perseguido, escarnecido...
Lucifer mostró un rictus sardónico.
Eso no me asombra por parte de los hombres. Los conozco, y los aprecio en su miserable valía. Cuando ellos mismos dicen que el hombre es un lobo para el hombre, insultan al lobo, que si mata es porque tiene hambre, para comer.
...Y a pesar de esta ferocidad del hombre, el Verbo no se desanimó. Le ha amado más todavía... Ha dicho palabras desconcertantes... Late en ellas, verdaderamente, una locura de amor: Os he amado más que una madre amaría a su hijo... Aun cuando una madre pueda llegar a olvidarse de su hijo, yo no os olvidaré jamás... Yo no acabo de aplastar la caña ya quebrada...

Finalmente, después de haberse prodigado sin reservas para el bien de su pueblo, de haberle colmado de milagros y curaciones, ese pueblo le ha crucificado salvajemente, gritando: "¡Que su sangre caiga sobre nosotros y sobre nuestros hijos!"

Y aun esto no ha sido suficiente para entibiar el amor de Cristo. Ha querido permanecer entre esos monstruos, y convertirse en su alimento.

¡Es insensato! Y si hubiera una palabra más fuerte que insensato, la diría.

¡Es algo frenético, incomprensible!...

Pero así ha sucedido.

Y su consecuencia es que yo he perdido la tercera batalla.

Pero Dios es tenaz, Lucifer quiere serlo tanto como Él.

...Yo no me acorbado. He llegado a tener en mi poder al hombre, por tanto, puedo volver a conseguirlo. Y mediante él heriré a su Creador.

Mi odio se ha convertido en la razón de toda mi existencia.

¡Qué haría yo, si no odiase!

De modo que odio tanto como Dios ama.

Preparo la ofensiva de mañana, por consiguiente.

¡Será espantosa!

Recorro la humanidad para dividirla, para impedir que piense en su destino. Sueño con materializarla a fondo, mecanizarla, pudrirla... Y aun con impulsarla —y ese es mi final objetivo— a que se elimine ella misma, a que se aniquile en un suicidio monstruoso, del que nadie ha tenido idea jamás y que constituirá la historia de mañana.

En otro tiempo, hice que Caín matase a Abel...

En el transcurso de los siglos, he levantado a unas naciones contra otras. ¡Todo eso no son más que juegos de niños!

Hoy, aleccionado por la experiencia, he llegado a dividir la tierra en dos bloques enemigos. He armado a cada uno de esos bloques de un modo infernal. La guerra que preparo la preveo tan total, que será la última de la tierra.

Es preciso, pues que yo la gane.

Entre los hombres no habrá ni vencedores ni vencidos. Tan sólo supervivientes, es decir, algunos nucleos enloquecidos sobre una tierra en llamas, merced a toda una ciencia exarcebada por mi odio.

Esa batalla será mi batalla. Yo seré quien decida el día y la hora. Por otra parte el Apocalipsis la predijo.

Dios a amado al hombre...

Pero yo, elimino al hombre...

Y elimino al hombre por medio del hombre, pero con el fin aniquilar la carne. ¿Me llaman el mono imitador de Dios?

Y para preparar este combate, voy a hacer un cómputo de mis fuerzas, una especie de revista parcial, en espera de la gran Noche.

Tendré, pues, ante todo, una jornada mía, una verdadera jornada de Satanás.

Recapitulando los informes de mis súbditos, multiplicando el resultado de los hechos aislados, podré, de antemano, formarme ya idea de lo que será la batalla definitiva, en que Dios, vencido al fin, abandonará la tierra a su lamentable destino.

¿Oh, ese día!...

¡El príncipe de la Tinieblas transformado en el Prícipe del mundo, lanzándose al asalto del cielo!

En aquel momento, las mandíbulas de Lucifer rechinan a impulsos del deseo.

Entonces, altanero, desdeñoso, autoritario, Satanás silba, a través del espacio, para llamar a los suyos...
Esta vez no hablará consigo mismo.
Va a dar sus órdenes.
¡Y a fe de Lucifer, esas órdenes serán cumplidas!...

Capítulo IV

EL PLAN DE LUCIFER

Aquello fué aterrador.
De todos los confines de lo Invisible llegó, siniestro, todo el ejército del mal.
Ángeles, Arcángeles, Serafines, Querubines, Potestades, Tronos, Espíritus infernales, todo lo que en otro tiempo había pertenecido a la corte gloriosa de Dios y que, hoy maldita, se había transformado en la corte de Satanás.
Allí se erguían, despojados de su ideal belleza, pero intactos en su inteligencia...
Se habían rebelado contra Dios... Hoy, habían pasado a ser esclavos de Satanás.
Silenciosos, atentos a la voz de mando, esperaban órdenes, como los criados esperan las instrucciones de su amo.
Y el amo habla...
Habla, con voz tembloro1lilith31313sa por la cólera.
Exterioriza los projectos que acaba de hacer; y sus palabras son como esculpidas en hierro:
...Estamos en el umbral de acontecimientos colosales, en los que ha de perecer esta tierra odiosa y los hombres que la habitan, causa de nuestra catástrofe.
Tambien ella va a vivir terribles horas.
...Hasta aquí, de un modo fragmentario, hemos tratado de destruir el Amor provocando guerras civiles y nacionales. He comenzado haciendo que Caín matase a Abel.
Y, después de aquello, la obra ha proseguido.
...Ciertos días, muy frecuentes, de la historia, hasta se ha realizado un hermoso trabajo. Hemos visto campos de batalla convertidos en cementerios humanos, donde innúmeros cadáverers alzaban deseperadamente los brazos hacia un cielo indiferente y hermético.
Hoy, la guerra va a ser universal. Lo que está en juego es la destrucción del mundo.
De una parte, todos los civilizados cristianos con su Dios.
De otra parte, yo, vosotros, capitaneando hordas ávidas de sangre, de destrucción y de lujuria.
Y en este cataclismo sin precedente, vosotros habréis de reservarme la parte del león.
¡Qué espectáculo!
El semblante de LUcifer se ilumina con alegría infernal. Sus ojos brillan con resplandor salvaje.
Sus dedos ganchudos se abren como si ya fuese a estrangular a la humanidad.
Lucifer evoca a los centenares de millones de hombres de tez amarilla, chinos, mogoles, rusos, precipitándose, con la ira en el corazón, contra el edificio vacilante de la civilización moderna, contra todo lo que recuerda o representa el esfuerzo de la generaciones hacia la Verdad y la Belleza, los palacios, los castillos, los museos, las iglesias, las instituciones benéficas, las catedrales, todas esas magnificencias aplastadas bajo las bombas, cuyo infernal secreto reveló él.

...Todos los condenados de la tierra, envenenados, corroídos por las bacterias, convirtiéndose en esclavos a las órdenes del Príncipe de este mundo, y ese Príncipe seré yo.

Todo lo que de esta humanidad sobreviva tendrá entonces su paraíso, es decir, su infierno, como yo he encontrado el mío.

...¡Y libres ya del hombre, nos lanzamos, al fin, al asalto del cielo!...

Todo esto se prepara actualmente en el secreto de los arsenales y en el misterio de los laboratorios.

Los sabios amontonan montañas y montañas de bombas.

Pero los ingenuos piensan que no se utilizarán jamás.

Que continuen creyéndolo.

¡Yo, en la hora fatídica, me encargaré de hallar al hombre que, con ademán resuelto, encienda la mecha y la aplique al polvorín del mundo!

Entonces, sobrevendrá, verdaderamente, la lucha final, ¡el fúnebre toque de agonía de toda la humanidad!

¿Dónde estará el Amor, el estúpido amor, en este indecible aniquilamiento?

¿Dónde estará entonces tu famosa victoria, Dios detestado?

El Odio será el dueño y señor del campo de batalla, el amo de todo.

Y el Odio... ¡soy yo!

Y sobre los restos de tu mundo, destruído por los mismos a quienes querías salvar a toda costa, proclamaré el triunfo de mi venganza.

¡Lucifer, el condenado, habrá vencido a Cristo, el Salvador!

Lucifer... ¡Yo!...

II

EL ESTADO MAYOR SE SATANÁS ACUDE A SU LLAMAMIENTO

LA SOBERBIA
LA AVARICIA
LA LUJURIA
LA ENVIDIA
LA GULA
LA IRA
LA PEREZA

Capítulo V

LA SOBERBIA

Esta fogosa alocución, a grito herido, fué oida en medio de un silencio pavoroso.

Temblorosos, estremeciéndose, los demonios han escuchado al Arcángel. Evidentemente, ya escucharon bastantes veces semejantes profecías de catástrofes.

Pero hoy la amenaza se concreta. Parece fundada. Se apoya en hechos nuevos, y en un cambio total del comportamiento de la humanidad.

Como contraste, bajo ellos, la tierra duerme... la tierra, con sus ciudades, sus aldeas, sus palacios, sus conventos, sus iglesias. Duerme en los brazos tranquilizadores de la noche.

Pero, de trecho en trecho, esa noche aparece agujereada por violentos focos de luz, denunciadores de las fiestas nocturnas, los bailes, los cabarets, los centros de diversión.

Y Satanás sonríe, contemplándolos.

Porque allí está su vanguardia, sus cómplices, los encargados más particularmente de transtornar, corromper, disolver el dinamismo de los jóvenes.

Llama entonces a sus capitanes, a los que constituyen el Estado Mayor del mal. Los llama por sus nombres, con voz dura que no admite réplica alguna: la Soberbia, la Avaricia, la Lujuria, la Envidia, la Gula, la Ira y la Pereza.

También ellos son jefes famosos, teniendo por títulos de gloria ruinas inmensas en la desorganización del mundo.

La Soberbia, llamada en primer término, se presenta.

Alta, fuerte, erguida, con los talones juntos, la insolencia en los ojos.

Lucifer la contempla, con impresión complacida:

—Te saludo, y en tí reconozco mi imagen. Tú eres el primogénito de mis soldados. En los albores del mundo, contigo fué con quién tenté a la mujer. Y con su caída, he ganado mi primera batalla...

Luego, has proseguido tú. Tu obra son las grandes rivalidades de los pueblos. Lo que no te impide trabajar también en la esfera individual...

...¡Cuántas desavenencias has suscitado entre las familias! ¡Cuántas amistades has roto!... T. Hubieran podido ser los bienhechores de sus pueblos; y se han convertido en sus verdugos... ¡Ah!... Soberbia... ¡Qué futuro de destrucción tienes ahora en ti! Después de haber desencadenado tantas guerras en el decurso de los siglos, de haber hecho que corrieran ríos de lágrimas y de sangre, eres tú, ¡Oh Soberbia!, quien presidirás junto a mí la hecatombe colosal que se avecina.

...Las ruinas de Babilonia, de Cartago, de Bizanzio, de Corea, nada significarán en comparación con la monstruosa realidad de mañana.

Profundamente estremecido Lucifer estrecha a la Soberbia entre sus brazos:

—Eres mi hija bien amada, en quien deposito mi más cara esperanza...

La Soberbia, entonces, se yergue aún más:

—¡Lucifer, cuenta conmigo!

Y, solemnemente, con las alas abiertas, se alinea en el fondo de la sala, a la espera del momento de descender sobre la Tierra, donde los agitadores de los pueblos reciben inspiraciones de ella en sus misteriosos conciliábulos.

Capítulo VI

LA AVARICIA

Lucifer, entre dientes, como hablando consigo mismo: "Nosotros los condenados, gozamos así de voluptuosidades malditas, que de antemano saboreamos. ¡Qué serie de ruinas va a prepararme la Soberbia!"

Acto seguido, llama a la Avaricia.

Enjuta, , delgados los labios, los ojos semiocultos tras unos abultados párpados, la Avaricia se presenta.

A ella también la contempla, complacido, Satanás:

—¡Oh, Avaricia!, mi querida hija; como la Soberbia, posees un inmenso poder para la perdición de las almas. Tu hermana puede inscribir en su lista de triunfos el pecado original, causa primaria de todos los males de la tierra. Tú tienes algo mejor en tu activo, y más derecho a mi reconocimiento. Porque tú eres quien hiciste que aquel miserable Judas vendiera a Cristo por treinta dineros. ¡Verdaderamente, no era muy caro! Y en la Tierra no he conocido proeza mayor...

...No me siento envidioso de ti. Sin embargo, tú has hecho que te adoren. Y has tenido la cínica coquetería de hacerte adorar bajo la forma de un Becerro de oro. Preciso es que los hombres sean estúpidos y repugnantes. Hubieran podido elegir un animal noble, el león, el caballo, el águila... No; ¡es el Becerro lo que han preferido!

...Y así continúan...

...¡Qué magnífico reino tienes, oh, Avaricia!... Porque el interés gobierna el mundo mucho más que el Amor.

El dinero continúa careciendo de olor. Para poseer más cada día, los hombres están dispuestos a todo.

...¡Cuántas veces los he visto discutir vestidos de luto, la primera noche de ciertas herencias, cuando el cuerpo del pseudo bien-amado no se había enfriado todavía, dispuestos a venir a las manos porque uno debe resultar, al parecer, más favorecido que otro!

El perro que defiende su hueso es un corderillo en comparación con el avaro que defiende su dinero y que negaría las migajas a su prójimo, aunque estuviera muriéndose, ante sus propios ojos, de miseria y de hambre.

...Así, pues, sigue, Avaricia, aprovisionando las cajas de caudales, rellenando los bolsillos y secando los corazones...

Dí, repite a esos seres que viven un día y se mueven una hora, que jamás tendrán bastante para sus necesidades y sus placeres, que deben adoptar todas las precauciones imaginables para conseguir lo suficiente, que desconfíen sobre todo de la Providencia, que les habla, ¡oh, ironía!, del pan cotidiano.

De lo que ellos quieren estar seguros, sobre todo, es del pan y de las golosinas de toda la vida.

...Que atesoren, pues, tanto como puedan. Y que un día, que será el mío, mueran sobre montones de oro y billetes de banco, con gran alegría de sus parientes y amigos, que ni siquiera encargarán una misa para el descanso de sus almas.

Pero yo me ocuparé de esas almas, en lugar suyo, por secas que me lleguen, yo me encargo de secarlas más todavía.

...Sí, Avaricia, cuento contigo. ¡Eres una espléndida proveedora de mi infierno!

Entonces, esbozando en sus delgados labios una seca sonrisa, la Avaricia viene a colocarse al lado de la Soberbia.

Capítulo VII

LA LUJURIA

Maquillada, cubierta de afeites, sombreados los ojos, pintados de rojo los labios y las uñas... hermosa, pero con una hermosura artificial, infernal y turbadora, la Lujuría se presenta.

Satanás la recibe entonces con los brazos abiertos y la estrecha largo contra lo que fué su corazón.

—¡Oh, Lujuria, cuánto te amo! ¡Eres tierna y poderosa, insinuante, irresistible! Eres mi desquite directo contra Dios. Porque tú eres la prueba evidente, tangible, de que se engañó torpemente. Encarnas el triunfo de la carne sobre el espíritu. Del Ángel que Dios creía haber creado, haces todos los días una bestia, y a menudo un ser más perverso que las bestias.

...Eres la humillación de los más fuertes. Posees el talento que resquebraja las voluntades más firmes, como el fuego funde la cera. Atormentas a los espíritus que quisieran expulsarte y consigues imponerte a ellos con irresistible dulzura. Has sido más fuerte que Sansón, más fuerte que el santo rey David, a quien has arrojado en brazos de Bethsabé, induciéndole, además, a asesinar al marido de ésta, ¡oh, ironía de los dones de Dios!, has pisoteado a salomón, que había recibido de Dios el don de la Sabiduría, y lo transformaste en una increíble prueba de tu absoluto poderío... ¡Me río a veces pensando en sus centenares de esposas! Tú también te habrás divertido con eso, verdaderamente....

...Lujuria, si hojeo la historia de los hombres, sorprendo por doquiera los efectos de tu terrible poder. ¡Cuántos hogares has destrozado! Cuantas falacias y homicidios hiciste cometer! ¡Cuántas hermosas almas juveniles, enamoradas del ideal, has marchitado! Has desencadenado terribles guerras y herejías fabulosas.

...Estás en todas partes, en el fondo de las camas mas nobles. Has atormentado al apóstol Pablo, el coloso del cristianismo.

...Para rehuirte, has obligado a Jeromo a revolcarse entre las espinas. Has hecho llorar a Mónica. Y, ayer aún, fuiste tú la primera que poseyó el alma de Carlos de Foucauld.

...Gracias a tí, el hombre creado a imagen de Dios, se ha convertido en su caricatura. ¡Sí, gloria a ti!...

...¡Oh, Lujuria!, podría continuar... continuar. Porque es universal tu poderío. Adquiere todas las formas. Te deslizas a veces como una sirena, a veces como una víbora. Estás en los anuncios de los periódicos, en el teatro, en el "cine", en el baile, en las esquinas de las calles. Acechas las primeras emociones del amor más puro para hacer que se desvíe el alma y descienda al exclusivo servicio de la pasión carnal.

...¿Tienes una memoria prodigiosa! Impulsas de nuevo a los ancianos, que se juzgaban evadidos de tu imperio; y en el mismo umbral de la eternidad, tratas de hacer que pequen todavía.

...Lujuria, eres mi gran esperanza, mi hija querida.

Y la Lujuria, feliz y altanera, vuelve a ocupar tu puesto entre la Soberbia y la Avaricia, envidiosas ambas de aquel homenaje de Satanás a su hermana, a quien desprecian, por muy endemoniadas que sean...

Capítulo VIII

LA ENVIDIA

Y ahora es la Envidia la que se presenta.

Satanás le tiende la mano, pero con más frialdad:

—¡Oh, Envidia, si es posible, no te sientas celosa! Tú también, como tus hermanas, eres buena obrera, y puedes estar orgullosa de tu obra.

...Tú eres quien, con la Soberbia, hiciste que se cometiera en la tierra el primer fraticidio..., que Caín matase a Abel porque éste era más agradable a Dios.

...Después de aquel golpe maestro, has hecho del hombre y de la mujer, espías del bien de los demás. Los has transformado en redomas de ácido y de vinagre. No ven ya lo que ellos poseen, sino únicamente lo que poseen los otros.

Suscítase entonces la insinuación, el ataque solapado, el golpe de la maledicencia, por la espalda, más cruel a veces que la puñalada frente a frente.

...¡Cuántas vidas has emponzoñado! ¡Cuántas dichas has destruído! ¡Cuántos enlaces por amor convertiste en infiernos!...

...Tú también estás en todas partes, en casa de los ricos y de los desventurados, en las fabricas y en las oficinas.

Eres la herrumbre de los mejores aceros.

Como las antíguas Harpías, todo lo manchas con tu baba.

...Hasta tal extremo eres temible, que Cristo ha consagrado a desenmascararte una página entera de su Evangelio.

...Más a pesar de todo, sigues aún con poder bastante para enfrentar al hermano contra el hermano, al pobre contra el que posee riquezas.

...La lucha de clase constituye tus dominios.

¡Oh, Envidia!, cuento contigo para cerrar, sobre la tierra, todos los caminos a la reconciliación, al amor.

Persuade a cada cual de que es más desventurado que su vecino.

...No olvides jamás mi consigna: ¡Dividir es reinar!

La Envidia hizo, entonces, un gesto de satisfacción.

Y, lentamente, se fué de allí, dirigiéndose hacia la Soberbia, la Avaricia y la Lujuria.

Pero les lanzó una mirada tan cetrina y falsa, que los tres espíritus demoníacos, instintivamente, se apartaron, como se aparta uno de una fría víbora, hora de toda simpatía y peligrosa para todo el mundo.

Capítulo IX

LA GULA

La Gula acude a continuación...

Pesada, adiposa, veleidosa la mirada, algo cohibida por tener que alinear su rosada gordura junto a tales capitanes.

Pero Satanás la tranquiliza:

—¡Oh, Gula!, abandona esa expresión tan aturdida y humillada. Yo no menosprecio tu poder y tu imperio. Tú también estabas junto a la Soberbia para incitar a Eva a que probase el fruto prohibido. Eres una veterana de los grandes días. Has tenido en tierra, perdídamente ebrio, al viejo Noé y le has entregado a la burla de sus hijos. Bajo tu inspiración, el fogoso Esaú ha vendido a Jacob, por un plato de lentejas, su derecho de primogenitura, es decir, todo el porvenir de la posteridad.

...Día tras día, has conquistado el mundo, arrastrando a tu servicio todo cuanto exige el hambre diaria y voraz de los humanos, todo cuanto se come, todo cuanto se bebe. ¡Qué formidable ejército es el tuyo! Todos los restaurantes, tabernas, cabarets, bares... Todo eso constituye tu reino. No cesas de provocar enfermedades y exacerbar pasiones. La Lujuria y tú sois en verdad hermanas gemelas y trabajáis juntas. De modo que os amo con el mismo amor.

...Es preciso, ¡oh, Gula!, que cada día te introduzcas más en el seno de las familias, que mixtifiques la ciencia culinaria para sazonarlo y falsificarlo todo, que preconices los manjares fuertes, las carnes bravías, la caza, el venado, los platos que incitan a beber.

...Porque a la terminación de esos grandes festines es cuando el hombre, con la cabeza pesada y brumosa, embrutecido por la embriaguez, se inclina a cometer los actos más insensatos, a las apuestas más estúpidas. ¿Recuerdas que al final de un festín de esa clase, Herodes, como postre, hizo decapitar a Juan Bautista, y ofreció la ensangrentada cabeza de éste, en una bandeja de plata, a la pequeña Salomé?

¡He ahí una magnífica victoria que se apunta en su haber!

...Alentada, pues, por estos éxitos de todos los días, trabaja con ardiente ardor, favoreciendo la decadencia de la humanidad. Gracias a ti, el hombre no muere, se mata. Cava su tumba con su tenedor. Ayúdalo en esa hermosa obra. Tiéntale de día... sobre todo, de noche. Engórdale como a un cerdo. Embaraza sus músculos. Congestiona su cerebro. Es tu misión. Después, cuando el terreno esté ya preparado, la Lujuria, tu hermana, hará lo demás y consumará la victoria completa del cuerpo sobre un alma ahogada, aniquilada...

Emboscados tras los grasientos y abultados párpados, los ojos de la GUla brillan y pestañean con dulce alegría.

Y sus carnosos labios murmuran:

—¡Gracias, Lucifer! Por amor tuyo, y más que nunca, voy a tentar, enponzoñar, congestionar y matar a los hombres.

¡Y a las mujeres también!

...Eso es lo más difícil. Tienen miedo de engruesar. Mas, de todos modos, aun así las tendré, indirectamente...

Y la Gula, satisfechísima, mira hacia la tierra, por la parte de París, la cinta giratoria de las ciudades donde la gente se divierte...

—¡Ven a mi lado!— le grita la Lujuria.

Y la Gula, sonriendo, abraza estrechamente a su hermana gemela.

Capítulo X

LA IRA

Satanás llama entonces a la Ira.
Llega como una ráfaga de viento, erizados los cabellos, terrible la mirada, los puños cerrados, la boca llena de rebeldía y blasfemias.
Lucifer la acoge con bastante dureza. Se conoce que tiene prisa por desembarazarse de ella.
Y con voz entrecortada:
—Te reconozco, ¡oh, Ira!, eres el ángel de la tempestad, de las decisiones rápidas, fulminantes. Tu misión consiste en lanzar tu soplo sobre todos los incidentes, aun los más insignificantes, y convertirlos en un drama. Una chispa puede producir una explosión gigantesca.
Tú eres la chispa.
Encona todos los conflictos.
Exaspera los desacuerdos.
Crea un ambiente de inquietud.
Haz que tu víctima no sea ya dueña de sus nervios ni de sí misma...
...Tú puedes conseguirlo. Porque en esos momentos, lanza el hombre palabras que luego no puede ya recoger...
...Impúlsale a revoluciones desesperadas...
Haz que surga lo irreparable. Esa es la hora bendita en que el hombre mata al hombre, mata a su mujer, mata sus hijos, se suicida.
Apresuradamente, Lucifer declara:
—¿Sí, qué hermoso trabajo en perspectiva, si sabes provocar catástrofes, y obtener de ellas el máximo provecho!
...Tu obra no es de larga duración.
...Eres el huracán para los fuertes, pero también, sobre todo, para los nerviosos, los agotados, los desesperados.
Trabájalos.
...Yo me encargo de lo demás.
—¿Qué puedes hacer? Ya te lo he dicho: tú lo puedes todo. No te detengas aquí. Abajo te esperan ¡Vete!
La Ira, entonces, rechina los dientes.
Y grita:
—¿Por qué me hiciste venir, ya que no me dejas ni tiempo para hablar? No he podido pronunciar ni una sola frase. Y, sin embargo, tenía no pocas cosas que contarte.
—¡Se quedará para otra vez!
¡Naturalmente! Siempre resulto atropellada, siempre me quedo para "otra vez". ¡Ah, si yo fuese la Lujuria o la babosa Gula, no me dirías. "¡Vete!" Pero no soy más que la Ira... ¡Truenos del infierno!
Y la Ira se fué, cerrando las puertas furiosamente tras sí, con gran espanto de un grupo de pequeños demonios inferiores que escuchaban detrás de ellas.

Capítulo XI

LA PEREZA

Le llega, al fin, el turno a la Pereza.
Arrellanada en su asiento, no tiene prisa.
Maciza, coloradota, se levanta penosamente.
Avanza, arrastrando los pies.

Y como una gelatina que gotea, tartamudea con voz pastosa:
—Satanás, ¿qué puedo hacer en servicio tuyo?
Lucifer, tranquilo, responde lentamente:
—Te miro con respeto, porque tú eres la abuela, la madre de todos los vicios, y aun de algunos más.
—Gracias, Lucifer, por alentar así mi debilidad.
—¡Tu debilidad! Si el fogoso David no se hubiera vuelto perezoso, entregado al ocio. Se hubiera puesto al frente de sus ejércitos, si hubiera continuado combatiendo, no habría cometido sus abominables crímenes. Es la pereza, en primer término, lo que le ha convertido en un adúltero y un asesino.
...¡Oh, Pereza, no menosprecies tu papel! El infierno se puebla todos los días con todos esos perezosos que no se sabe para qué han nacido, puesto que jamás han hecho nada. Continúa engordando a esos inútiles, anquilosándolos mediante el dinero, el lujo y los placeres.
...Cántales dulcemente, durante el sueño de su vida, los aires modernos:

¡Ah!, que dulce es el no hacer nada cuando todo se agita en torno nuestro...
O mejor aún:
El vivir a expensas de la Patria es lo más delicioso y envidiado...

...No te canses de recomendarles que trabajen lo menos posible y que pidan que se les pague más. Cuando un pueblo alcanza esa mentalidad, es ya mío.
...Para conseguirlo no descuides nada.
...Pasa por las escuelas y siembra el tedio entre los maestros y entre los muchachuelos. Infúndeles la pasión por la novela policíaca, la afición de ir a recorrer las calles, de pararse en ellas. ¡Todo, excepto los libros!
...Penetra en los talleres y en las oficinas...
...Que el trabajo pase a ser el "tostón", y que la consigna, para todo el mundo, sea la de roncar.
...Pero, sobre todo, no para tí.
...¡Pereza, no seas jamás perezosa!
La Pereza sonría pesadamente al escuchar este juego de palabras del amo.
E inclina la cabeza en señal de aquiescencia.
Luego, arrastrando los pies, vuelve a su sitio, y se deja caer en el sillón —el mejor—, que cede y gime bajo su tremendo peso...

III

SE MOVILIZAN LOS GRADOS INFERIORES DEL EJÉRCITO INFERNAL
sU MISIÓN EN LA BATALLA SERÁ IMPORTANTISIMA

MIS PEQUEÑOS ANGELOTES
CONSIGNA: ¡a CAMUFLARSE!
CRISTO... ¡UNO DE LOS DOS!

Capítulo XII

MIS PEQUEÑOS ANGELOTES

Lucifer contempla a los siete pecados capitales, alineados respetuosamente ante él. Hasta la Ira, pasada la crisis, ha vuelto a la fila.

Sois mi estado mayor, y cuento con vosotras para la gran batalla de que os he hablado, que será, al mismo tiempo, nuestro desquite contra Dios y la conquista del paraíso perdido.

...Pero dispongo de otras fuerzas que también me interesan y de las que espero mucho.

Entonces, como si divisaran bajo las hojas u ocultos en los huecos de los árboles, millones de insectos, encarnizados devastadores de las cosechas, Satanás señala con el dedo a legiones de ángeles de última categoría, angelitos caídos que siguieron a los grandes jefes en su deflección. Han recibido la orden de acudir a esta concentración infernal.

Y han venido todos. Los gnomos, los duendes, los espíritus flageladores, los trasgos, los bullangueros, los amuletos... todos los mosquitos de lo Invisible, encargados de hostigar, cansar, exasperar a los hombres.

Lucifer los contempla con mirada dura, desde luego, pero interesada, a pesar de todo.

Mis pequeños angelotes, dice, con voz que quisiera hacer paternal, no creáis que desconozco vuestro valer. En muchos casos, el moscardón es más fuerte que el tigre, más fuerte que el león encolerizado, rugiente.

Los hombres más robustos están a merced de los microbios más insignificantes, que en pocas horas se encargan de enviarlos a la eternidad.

...Los altos jefes tienen que cumplir su misión respecto a un plan general.

...Vosotros, angelitos, tenéis la vuestra. Es universal, continua, formidable. Pero debéis ejercitarla, sobre todo en el individuo.

...Sois la infanteria del campo de batalla. Habéis de convertiros en la atmósfera de los hombres... Levantaos; sois los demonios de los detalles y de las pequeñas cosas. Pero las pequeñas cosas son las que preparan las grandes.

A través de los siglos, todos los hombres han advertido vuestra presencia, y os han bautizado con toda clase de nombres.

¡Qué os importa!... Encogeos de hombros... El resultado es lo que interesa.

...Tenéis que tergiversar todos los naipes. Ocultar las cosas a las manos que con impaciencia las buscan... El escritor no encontrará la carta a la que quiere responder, la dirección, el libro que necesita. El ama de casa perderá sus llaves, el abuelo, sus lentes, el orador olvidará sus documentos, la criada romperá la vajilla. Podría continuar... continuar... Pero vosotros sois seres inteligentes, malignos y enredadores. Me comprendeis... ¡Estoy seguro de ello!

Los angelotes inclinaron la cabeza y aletearon en señal de entusiástico asentimiento. Satanás puede contar con ellos. Son su tropa de linea, absolutamente fieles a su causa.

Lucifer termina, sonriendo:
EStoy seguro de vosotros. Sois mis chiquitines, mis favoritos, mi consuelo. ¡Sabré recompensaros!

Capítulo XIII

CONSIGNA: ¡a CAMUFLARSE!

Lucifer se dirige entonces a todo el ejército de arcángeles, serafines, querubines, tronos, potestades, espíritus infernales, angelotes, y con voz tonante resume sus consignas:
Que cada uno de vosotros adquiera consciencia de sus responsabilidades. Preparamos la suprema batalla anunciada en el Apocalipsis. Mi deslumbrante victoria está profetizada allí por el mismo Cristo. ¡Oh, bien sé que a continuación añade que esa victoria será efimera! Pero esa afirmación es precisamente el punto que hemos de dilucidar entre nosotros dos.
...Esa batalla será total. Preparadla en sus detalles.
...Os invito, por tanto, a un ensayo general, a una demostración de fuerza.
...Esa jornada será mi jornada, la jornada de Satanás, anunciadora del gran crepúsculo, nuestra última esperanza, nuestra evasión de la negrura a la luz.
He aquí ahora mi última recomendación, la más importante de todas.
¡Atención, aguzad bien el oído!
...Un ejército que no se camufla es un ejército vencido de antemano. Aquí, desde los más altos hasta los más pequeños, todos vosotros tenéis que camuflaros. Y la estupidez humana, os ayudará en eso de un modo inverosímil.
Para los hombres, nosotros no existimos. ¿Lo oís bien? No existimos.
Este error colosal, aposentado ya en los cerebros humanos, es preciso arraigarlo en ellos más y más.
, se encoge de hombros cuando se pronuncia nuestro nombre.
...Es inaudito, pero es así.
...Sin embargo, esos imbéciles, cuando miran por debajo de ellos, comprueban que existe toda una jerarquía de seres, en todas las ramas y reinos. Hay animales nobles, árboles nobles, piedras preciosas.
...ESto es verdad en el bajo mundo.
...Y sin embargo, muchos, entre los hombres más inteligentes, afectan la creencia de que esa jerarquía no existe en las alturas. Se comportan como si su miserable cuerpo, compuesto de una partícula de espíritu inyectada en grosera materia, fuese el fin supremo de los seres y de las cosas.
Para ellos, lo Invisible está vacío.
No os amendrentéis, por consiguiente. Adoptad todas las formas, revestíos de todos los engaños. Ayudad a los hombres a encastillarse en su estupidez.
...Impulsadlos a ridiculizaros, a parangonaros con los cuentos de miedo para los niños.
...Para ellos, vosotros sois el diablo con cuernos y rabo, el diablo peludo, el diablo que arrastra cadenas, el fantasma de la sábana blanca, que mete miedo por la noche a los chiquillos, pero que hace reventar de risa a la gente sesuda, a los que no creen sino en lo que ven por sus ojos, en lo que tocan con sus manos y en lo que pueden fotografiar.

Lo demás no existe.

...Y lo demás, es nuestro inmenso ejército, nuestra inteligencia superior, angélica, y nuestro odio al hombre, nuestro odio a ese Dios que cometió el error de crear a todos esos fantoches y de morir inútilmente por ellos.

Mi jornada, por tanto, va a dar comienzo. No la mísera jornada terrestre de veinticuatro horas, sino la jornada astral, la de los ángeles, cuya duración sólo yo determino.

...Tendréis que entregarme un informe de vuestras actividades. Tendréis que hacerlo todos, los que han recibido los diez talentos, lo mismo que los que sólo recibieron un modesto denario. Todos debéis rendirme cuentas, y cuentas exactas.

...Yo totalizaré inmediatamente vuestras victorias y vuestras derrotas; y sacaré la consecuencia.

...Procurad que ese resultado sea triunfal. Yo sabré recompensar o castigar.

...Ahora, partid todos, llenos de fe en mí, a vuestro puesto de combate en la odiosa tierra, esa tierra próxima ya a su terrible destino.

...Me río cuando veo a esos idiotas afanándose en reconstruir sus casas y sus iglesia...

...¡Esperad un poco!

¿No es cierto, mis grandes y pequeños demonios, que un día terrible vais a arrasar de nuevo todo eso, y definitivamente?

...Desplegad un odio activo, conquistador, victorioso.

...Coged en vuestras redes, a esas almas abominables. Traédmelas para entristecer, para humillar a ese Dios que las ama. Y ayudadme a llenar, con víctimas palpitantes, todo mi Infierno.

Nunca me traeréis bastantes para aplacar el hambre que me atenaza y la sed que me devora...

Tengo prisa por tenerlos en mi poder, por pisotearlos, torturarlos, beber sus lágrimas, oir como rechinan los dientes... ¡Y arrojar todo ese horror a la cara de Dios!...

—¡Tómalos!- ¡Ahí los tienes, a tus bien amados!...

...He dicho.

...¡Partid!

...¡Satanás os contempla!

Capítulo XIV

CRISTO... ¡UNO DE LOS DOS!

Gran agitación se produjo en lo Invisible.

Emocionados y temblorosos, los pequeños ángeles desfilaron los primeros; y dando tumbos a más y mejor, bajaron al mundo.

Fueron luego los arcángeles, los serafines, las potestades, los espíritus infernales los que, con las alas abiertas, se precipitaron hacia la tierra, mísera particula de polvo que flota en el infinito de la Inmensidad.

Cada uno tenía su plan y su idea.

¡Qué peso iban a tener, en sus manos expertas, aquellos hombres miserables y orgullosos, que tiene ojos y no ven... inteligencias, y no comprenden... y que, embrutecidos por su materialismo, están emponzoñados con el veneno de todas sus pasiones exarcebadas!

Tras la marcha de la milicia infernal, se restableció el silencio.

Y aquel silencio era absoluto, sin eco, sin límite.

Lucifer, oprimido, sumergido en su inconmensurable tedio, rompió bruscamente aquel silencio.

Y con voz de trueno, que rueda a través de los espacios, grita, aúlla:

—¡Sufro como un condenado!

Luego de repente, tiende el puño hacia el Empíreo, donde brillan las inconmensurables y tranquilas estrellas, y ruge:

—¡Mi imposible victoria... ya está en camino! Cristo, ¡uno de los dos!

SEGUNDA PARTE

LAS NOTICIAS DE LA BATALLA
¡TODO VA BIEN; OH, LUCIFER!
INFORME ENTUSIÁSTICO DEL ESTADO MAYOR

LA SOBERBIA
LA AVARICIA
LA LUJURIA
LA ENVIDIA
LA GULA
LA IRA
LA PEREZA

Capítulo X

LA SOBERBIA

Ávido de conocer las peripecias de la batalla, Lucifer no espera a que termine la jornada astral.

Y antes de que ésta llegue a su mitad, la Soberbia recibe la orden de dar noticias de la lucha entablada para la destrucción de las almas.

Obediente como un criado, acude a informar:

—No esperaba, ¡oh, Lucifer!, que me llamases tan pronto. No das a tus soldados tiempo para vencer.

—Sobran palabras; ¿qué ha sido de tu actividad?

—Creo haber realizado ya un buen trabajo. Es incontable la multitud de pavos reales y plebeyos que todos los días llevo a pavonearse ante sus coetáneos. Para nosotros los Ángeles, es aún cosa interesante el ver cómo se atrapa a los hombres con tan poca cosa, una lisonja, un artículo en la prensa, un trocito de cinta en el ojal. Y así son pescados esos mortales, lo mismo que ellos pescan sus peces en el río.

...Es un placer cotidiano que saboreo en la sombra, esa necesidad de no ser como "todo el mundo", uno del montón, el deseo de "aparentar". Y es curioso el ver a un hombre, a una mujer, dándose tono, haciendo que los demás los escuchen, diciendo elocuentes vulgaridades. Algún político, cuando vuelve a casa, se ríe a veces de todas las tonterias que ha contado solemnemente a sus electores, atentos y entusiasmados.

Lucifer la interrumpe brutalmente:

—Ahórrame tales detalles. Todo eso es moralla indigna de ti y de mi. Tengo hambre de cosa más substancial.

—Y te la voy a servir en seguida. He buscado a un hombre capaz de convertirse en un jefe, en toda la extensión de esta palabra. Un hombre bastante fuerte para polarizar en torno suyo a pensadores que encauzarán hacia él a las multitudes, en una atmósfera de evolución mística. Un hombre que realizase tus designios, y lo bastante valeroso para desencadenar la catástrofe mundial a que aspiras con todas tus fuerzas.

—¿Ah!, he ahí algo que comienza a interesarme, exclama Lucifer.

—Sí, repite la Soberbia; he buscado entre los humanos al que representaría al superhombre, sin escrúpulos, sin piedad, siempre dispuesto a dejar correr ríos de lágrimas para llevar a la dominación universal, un jefe para quien nada existiría, aparte de su voluntad, ni el cerebro de los inteligentes, ni el corazón de las madres, ni el amor a la patria, ni el porvenir de las generaciones jóvenes, ni la belleza de los seres y de las cosas, nada más que él mismo y su idea fija, que es la tuya, es decir, la mia, la que yo he sugerido, la que he inculcado y la que alimento ferozmente en una atmósfera de recelos y delaciones.

—¿Has encontrado a ese hombre?

—Así lo creo. He examinado a muchos y los he rechazado por ineptos, vacuos, con engañoso aspecto de fortaleza. No poseían la voluntad férrea que atropella por todo para alcanzar el fin.

—¿Entonces, ése...?

—Es capaz de ponerse al frente de un movimiento mundial, con ardientes secuaces, apóstoles, hasta mártires, en todos los países... Sí; creo que puede lanzar a medio mundo contra el otro medio, hasta la exterminación de todos los pueblos. Será como tu lo has explicado, el universo destruyéndose a sí mismo y evadiéndose del amor de Cristo, puesto que Cristo no existirá.

—¡Mi sueño!... ¿Y dices, ¡oh, Soberbia!, que no has hecho nada? ¡Pero si eres magnífica!

—¡Oh, Lucifer!, la cosa no está más que iniciada, y me ocupo en acumular precauciones. Así, como ese hombre ha de envejecer fatalmente, pienso en el que podría ocupar su puesto, si llegase a morir el mío antes del gran crepúsculo.

—Para terminar: vigila atentamente este negocio.

—¡Lo vigilo!, le doy escolta a este hombre, le controlo, le sostengo, exalto su altanería afirmando que es casi un semidios, que es único en la historia de la humanidad, que ningún conquistador ha dispuesto nunca de tantos millones de hombres, dispuestos a levantarse en ambos hemisferios y a morir por su causa.

—¿Y si tal vez le asesinara algún miserable?

—¡Oh, ya pienso en ello! Le protejo, por tanto, contra todos los atentados. Vive en su país, tras un telón de hierro. nadie puede entrar ni salir sin ser controlado minuciosamente. No dejo que se exhiba ante el público. Hago que viva en una inmensa soledad, en medio de un pueblo de esclavos.

—¿Y consiente en ese aislamiento?

—Sí, porque le embriago cada día, con una fría embriaguez que hace al hombre impermeable a toda influencia que no sea la mía.

Ya estuvo varias veces a punto de prender fuego al mundo. Y después ha retrocedido, o más bien, somos nosotros los que retrocedimos después de advertir que todavía no era el momento. Pero no siempre se retrocederá.
...Por otra parte, aunque quisiera retroceder, ya no podría. Porque ha desencadenado tal potencial en el mundo, que si su pueblo notase que vacilaba o tan sólo que se estabilizaba, la reacción sería tan brutal, que lo devoraría, como absorve el océno una brizna de paja. Esa fué, ayer, toda la historia de Hitler y de Mussolini. Ya no estaban a la altura de los formidables acontecimientos que habían suscitado.
Lucifer escucha... escucha...
Y cuando la Soberbia ha terminado, —¡y con qué tono de satisfacción! — el resumen de su labor, le dice, lentamente, sopesando bien sus palabras:
-Te felicito por haber manipulado con tanta inteligencia las palancas del mundo...
...Sí; tienes razón.
...Deja a los angelitos la batalla de las vanidades y las chismografías femeninas.
...Tú has nacido para más altas empresas.
...Gracias a nosotros, el mundo actual está en efervescencia por todas partes.
...Continua actuando sobre los jefes, sobre los que tienen, o creen tener en sus manos los destinos de los pueblos.
...Lánzalos, con toda tus fuerza, por las pendientes peligrosas, las que conducen a las catástrofes.
...Las multitudes los seguiran, como los corderos siguen a los que los conducen al matadero. Y no te detenga ningún escrúpulo.
...Soberbia, te felicito. Bien mereces que yo y el Infierno te estemos agradecidos.
Lucifer le tiende entonces su tosca mano.
Y con fría resolución, estrecha la de la Soberbia, exclamando:
—¡Esta vez, el porvenir es nuestro!

Capítulo X

LA AVARICIA

Tras la Soberbia, la Avaricia se adelanta. También ella, disgustada, murmura:
—Como mi hermana la Soberbia, yo tampoco esperaba que se me llamase tan pronto...
—Yo hago lo que juzgo que debo de hacer. Y te repito lo que le he dicho a la Soberbia: tengo hambre y sed de saber cómo se desarrolla la batalla desde el comienzo de la ofensiva. Debes comprenderlo.
—Sin duda. Pero ¡oh, Lucifer!, eso es como si preguntases al labrador que arroja su grano en el campo, a manos llenas, cuantas espigas cosechará después. Eso depende de tantas cosas... Yo siembro a manos llenas la pasión por el dinero, como me lo has ordenado. Esa pasión arraiga en todas partes. Tengo buenas esperanzas en la mies que pronto brotará. He comprobado, por ejemplo, que cierto número de personas han realizado, en este último tiempo, beneficios fantásticos. Antaño, una familia necesitaba toda una vida para constuir una fortuna honrada y modesta. Hoy, al cabo de unos tres años o cuatro años, la gente se retira ya sea para comprar un fondo más importante, o para disfrutar tranquilamente de una cómoda y dorada existencia.

...Puedo citar nombres en apoyo de lo que digo.

...la aristocracia ha terminado, la burgesía, ya no es más que un recuerdo; y trabaja. Lo que sube, lo que está en lo alto, lo que disfruta de toda preponderancia, es el mundo de los negocios, el mundo del dinero.

...¡Dinero!... ¡La mayor cantidad posible!... Tal es la consigna universal. Y no se tiene el pudor de ocultarla. Por todas partes se lee en los anuncios de la prensa. "¿Que se necesita para ser dichosos? Un poco de oro..."

...Cuando llegais a un hotel, el gerente os valora a vosotros, a vuestra familia, vuestro equipaje, vuestro coche. Se calcula de antemano el dinero que representáis y lo que podrá sacarse de vosotros.

Lucifer levanta la cabeza:

—Todo eso carece de novedad. El Dinero ha sido siempre el Sésamo, ábrete...

—Sí, Lucifer. Pero hoy esa avidez de dinero está exasperada por la campaña que realizo y mi constante presión sobre el ánimo de los hombres. Yo los sugestiono...

—¿Puedes enseñarme algunos hechos característicos, muy recientes?

—¿Hechos, oh, Lucifer?... ¡A montones! Te puedo citar tantos como quieras.

—Dime uno que conforte mi esperanza en la degradación de la humanidad.

—He aquí uno que data de ayer mismo. Salía de un gran hotel un viejo oficial, cubierto de cicatrices y de condecoraciones. Había llegado a una ciudad de provincias, a causa del fallecimiento de un compañero, y ocupaba una pequeñísima habitación abuhardillada, bajo los tejados. Ha salido de aquel hotel entre las manos extendidas de los criados, ávidos de propinas.

...El desdichado ha dado lo que ha podido, ¡no mucho! Y se ha marchado en medio de un silencio glacial, a pie, arrastrando su maleta; y ha tomado un asiento de tercera en el tren, sin haber comido.

—¡Bah! Yo no veo en eso nada de extraordinario.

— Mucha prisa tienes, ¡oh, Lucifer! Espera un poco; he aquí el contraste.

Aquella misma noche, una actriz, de la más escandalosa reputación, abandona el mismo hotel, después de algunas representaciones de subido color en el teatro de la ciudad. Los criados están a la puerta, formando fila; pero, esta vez, con semblante risueño. Porque tienen las manos llenas de billetes. Y cuando la actriz sube a su coche —pues tiene un coche magnífico—, conducido por un acaudalado amigo, el gerente del hotel, en nombre de toda la servidumbre, le ofrece un soberbio ramo, muchas de cuyas flores eran blancas.

...Ocioso es decir que era yo quien desde lo Invisible había inspirado esta poética idea al gerente del hotel.

—Eso no es precisamente lo que deseo. Quisiera que me citases algo que no sea expresión del poder del dinero respecto al placer. Eso no es cosa nueva, y no es avaricia. lo que me interesa es la avaricia pura, el dinero por el dinero... el oro por el oro...

—¡Pues bien, Lucifer! Vas a ser servido, porque puedo contarte la historia auténtica de un viejo que hoy debe de estar ya en tus dominios. Porque anteayer murió, dejando una fortuna enorme, acumulada día tras día.

...Hasta falleció casi de privaciones y de hambre. No vivía hoy para tener con qué vivir más adelante... Me permito subrayar ante ti, ¡oh, Lucifer!, que la avaricia de este hombre es obra mía, y hay que anotarla en mi haber. Todas las noches contaba y recontaba su fortuna. Yo le impulsaba a comprar oro, porque el papel no es nunca más que papel; y varias veces en la historia ha producido lamentables bancarrotas. En tanto que el oro ha parado siempre el golpe, sin infidelidad ninguna frente a los que han tenido el acierto de creer en su poder indefectible.

...Le he aconsejado que acumulase las precauciones, que pusiera sus tesoros en muchos rincones, que ocultase ciudadosamente a todo el mundo lo que poseía. De modo que vestía mal, con trajes remendados, con piezas. Se alimentaba miserablemente. Tenía escondrijos en todas partes, detrás de los cuadros, bajo el pavimento, en el calzado viejo, dentro de botellas escondidas bajo montones de carbón.

...Todo lo anotaba con signos jeroglíficos para no traicionarse, y sobre todo, para no olvidarlo.

...Más, a pesar de todo, lo olvidaba.

Perdía el tiempo quien viniera a hablarle de obras piadosas, de fondos para el Culto, de construcción de iglesias, de colonias de vacaciones.

Eso era, para él, absolutamente chino. Tenía un modo muy particular y enérgico de poner en la puerta a toda buena Hermana que se presentase a pedir. Por lo demás, unas a otras se lo decían. Y ninguna monja se arriesgaba dos veces.

Yo le había sugerido una divisa pintoresca, oída de labios de un viejo labrador. Le repetía sin cesar porque, para él, era la misma evidencia: Si yo no pienso en mí, ¿quién pensará...? Esa verdad de la experiencia ha presidido toda su vida.

—En fin, ¿ha muerto ya? —pregunta Lucifer-, impaciente.

—Muerto, y más que muerto. Anteayer por la mañana le encontraron helado en su lecho, había muerto varios dias antes. Pero vivía ferozmente solo, nadie se ha inquietado por él.

—Entonces, ¿debe de estar en mis dominios?

—Ya te lo he dicho. Es seguro. Porque nadie habrá pensado ni por un momento en llamar a un sacerdote.

—¿Lo enterraron cristianamente? Estoy acostumbrado a esos sarcasmos.

—Sí.

—Gratuitamente.

—No del todo. Figúrate, ¡oh, Lucifer!, que su anciana portera, devota a machamartillo, no ha querido, como decía ella, dejar que se el enterrara como a un perro.

—¿Por qué se entromete en eso la buena mujer?

—¡Oh!, no tengas recelo: su alma no podrá dejar de perderse. ¿Qué podía hacer el agua bendita sobre el cadáver de un viejo empedernido?

—Nadie sabe nunca lo que puede pasar. Desconfío de todo. ¿Y ha dejado mucho dinero?

—Millones que acaso no se hallarán sino después de varios siglos, tan escondidos están... No obstante, tenía bajo su almohadón un bolsillito de cuero repleto de luises de oro... Dormía con ellos acariciándolos amorosamente, como si fueran sus únicos amigos, los únicos en que verdaderamente podía confiar.

...Detalle pintoresco: un enterrador fué quien encontró el bolsillito al tirar de la vieja sábana con que habían de amortajarle.

Naturalmente, no ha dicho nada. Y todo se lo ha guardado para él.
—¡Muy bien!
—Pero a la vuelta del cementerio, ha ido a la taberna para celebrar el hallazgo. Y se ha emborrachado de tal modo que ha sido preciso meterle en un taxi para llevarle a su casa.
...Y cuando se ha despertado, ya no ha encontrado nada.
Uno de sus camaradas, hábil y sagaz, le había arrebatado el "gato".
—¡Magnífico! —exclamó Lucifer—. Avaricia, has logrado hacerme reir.
—Podría seguir contándote hasta mañana historias como esa.
—Esa basta. Prosigue inculcando en los cerebros la divisa de tu avaro. Es breve, nerviosa, expresa bien lo que hay que decir a esos hombres para sacarles el corazón...
...Más lo que espero de ti, sobre todo, es la creación de una mentalidad social en la que, cada vez más, el dinero lo sea todo. Con tal objeto, actúa en las altas esferas y en la prensa.
...Tus hechos menudos son entretenidos, regocijantes, pero no son más que eso: menudencias, incidentes para periódicos populares.
Procura alimentar una ambición más general...
Pudre las cabezas... Lo demás vendrá por sí solo.
¿Comprendes?
Las cabezas... Las clases acaudaladas... Ciérrales el corazón...
—Sí, Lucifer. Lo procuraré. Ya te he comprendido... Pudrir las cabezas...
—LLama ahora al ángel de servicio, y dile que introduzca a la Lujuria. Creo que también ella tiene cosas interesantes que contarme.

Capítulo XVII

LA LUJURIA

Pero la Lujuria llega ya.
Es ocioso llamarla.
Se presenta espontáneamente, autoritaria, provocativa, segura de su insinuante, violenta y vertiginosa osadía.
Hermosa mujer, por lo demás. Vestida, o más exactamente, desnuda, a la griega, como Briséis. Maquillada con exceso. Con brazaletes en las muñecas y en los pies. perfumada, con un perfume peculiar, persistente y penetrante.
Avanza hacia Lucifer, y parece, aún él, como hipnotizado.
En torno a ella, los diablillos retozan y bufan de placer y admiración. "¡Qué perfumada viene!..."
—¿Conseguiste ya buena caza?, interroga Satanás.
—Yo siempre cazo bien, y piezas de toda especie y condición. tengo al mozalbete, a la modistilla, a los príncipes y emperadores. Pero este año la caza humana es de excepcional abundancia. De modo que habiendo sabido que estabas inquieto, he abandonado la tierra por unos instantes para venir a infundirte plena tranquilidad.
—¿Dónde trabajas ahora en la tierra?
—¡Qué preguntas me haces, oh, Lucifer! Trabajo en todas partes, porque en todas partes se me ofrecen las presas a mi alcance. Sin embargo, debo reconocer que en este momento son las playas las que me ayudan en mi trabajo. Estoy allí como en mi casa propia. Maniobro a mis anchas; la gente acude a mí, y me hace toda la propaganda posible.

—Explícame un poco el mecanismo del asunto.
—Vas a comprenderlo inmediatamente. Está tan claro como dos y dos son cuatro. Antes, yo trabajaba a la orilla de la mar, pero sin resultado apreciable. Existía un decoroso indumento que me cerraba el paso... Hoy, aun las más recatadas, no se atreverían a ponerse los antiguos trajes.
—¡Perfectamente!...
—He conseguido eliminar por completo el traje antiguo... algo el de los hombres, pero sobre todo el de las mujeres y el de las jóvenes. Hoy, reina casi el desnudismo. Verdaderamente, no veo lo que ya podrían ellas suprimir de la mermada tela de su pseudo-vestido.
—¡Muy bien! ¡Muy bien!... —murmura Lucifer-.
—¡Ya te imaginarás lo restante!... Se bañan juntos, se secan juntos, se tienden juntos sobre la arena, o mejor, bajo la tienda.
—¡Perfectamente! —repite Lucifer.
—Pero mi cacería continua después del baño. La ciudad hace muy bien las cosas. Hay casino, orquesta, juego, "cine"... fiestas nocturnas. He sugerido la idea de traer de París a algunas artistas muy vaporosas, para avivar el fuego ya encendido. Todo marcha, pues, satisfactoriamente. Y bien puede decirse sobre ese particular que hay falta de brazos para recolectar la mies. Habrá que enviarme a varios ángeles bien experimentados.
—¿Y el cura del país deja las cosas así?
—Es tímido, viejo, sin ánimos para enfrentarse con la marea ascendente. Instigado por algunas venerables damas, cuyo pasado no está quizá exento de historia, ese cura se ha lanzado al contrataque, pero con agua bendita, o con agua de rosas. Ha podido registrar algún éxito, sin embargo, pues mis tropas habían ido, verdaderamente, un poco lejos...
—¿Qué me quieres decir? Estoy ávido de conocer detalles...
—Figúrate, Lucifer, que a fin de no volver a subir al hotel para vestirse, algunas jóvenes y sus respetables madres habían ideado el acudir a misa en trajes de baño.
—¡De más en mejor! —exclama Lucifer-.
—No; porque el clero ha protestado entonces; y los feligreses les han cerrado el paso. En esto, lo mejor hubiera sido lo contrario de lo que está bien, si me atrevo a expresarme así. Pero tal exceso me había irritado y he querido conseguir el desquite.
—Siento curiosidad por saber cómo.
—Espera un poco. Para dar más realce a las regatas, había yo sugerido al presidente de la comisión de festejos que pidiese al Ministerio que viniera un torpedero. Ha venido, en efecto, Y toda la playa le ha dispensado un recibimiento excepcional. Los marineros obtuvieron permiso para saltar a tierra, por equipos.
—Me figuro que esos buenos mozos no se aburrirían...
—¿Oh, ciertamente no!... Esas señoritas trabajan, trabajan... Una de ellas, de gran temperamento, había puesto mano de tal modo en un pequeño contramaestre, guapo muchacho, que el infeliz tomó la determinación de desertar.
...¡Y lo hubiera hecho!...
...Desgraciadamente, sus camaradas han organizado la contraofensiva. Lo han agarrado, atándolo como un embutido, y lo han arrojado sobre un you-you, que lo devolvió al torpedero.
—¡Qué equivocación! —rugió Lucifer-.
—Si hubiese visto la cara de la mujer de cuyas garras acababan de arrancar la presa... Yo estaba dentro de ella para excitar aún más su furor. Pegada a la estacada, rabiosa y despreciativa, parecía como si fuera a escupir a los marinos. He creido, por un momento, que se arrojaría al agua. Pero se ha serenado, y ha vuelto a la isla para emprender otras hazañas.

—Es interesante lo que me dices. Porque la juventud es el porvenir.

Al oir esto la Lujuria se exalta:

—¡Cuánta razón tienes! La juventud es el porvenir, es el terreno fácil sobre el cual tanto me agrada laborar. Todas las noches conduzco a un pequeño grupo a Montmartre.

Lucifer alza la cabeza:

—¿A Montmartre? Ten cuidado. Allí hay un vecino peligroso.

—¡Oh, tranquilízate! Los conduzco a los cabarets... y a los de Montparnasse, y a otros más escondidos aún. Primero, van allí juntos; luego, a escondidas... Algunos hay que vuelven solos. De modo que estoy tranquila. A esos tengo la seguridad de dominarlos.

...Hasta puedo añadir que los más jóvenes entran también en mi círculo de trabajo.

—Explícate...

—Ayer, por ejemplo, en una familia "bien", por decirlo así, he sugerido a los padres, mediante un periódico, la idea de ir a ver una película, inspirada por mí, de la que se ha hablado mucho en el mundo y de una dureza tal que a ti mismo te escandalizaría...

Lucifer sonrió entonces, dejando al descubierto sus dientes amarillos.

—¿Fueron allí? —preguntó-.

—Pues sí; allí fueron. ¡Pero eso no es todo! Sus cuatro hijos confiados a la guarda de la cocinera, han explorado el cuarto y encontrado, abierta por descuido, una biblioteca en la que el padre había ocultado recuerdos de una juventud tempestuosa... Y durante más de una hora han saboreado textos e ilustraciones; todo lo que puedes suponer. Había allí dos muchachos y dos chiquillas. Se han manchado la memoria para toda su vida. Jamás olvidarán lo que sus ojos han leido y visto durante aquella hora de infierno.

...Acto seguido, han vuelto a colocar todo muy bien en sus sitio. Y cuando los padres han vuelto hacia las seis de la tarde, encontraron a todos, muy aplicados, haciendo sus deberes de vacaciones.

—¿Han sido buenos los niños? —pregunta la madre a la cocinera-.

—Tan buenos que ni siquiera los he oído —responde aquella mujer-, que también se había aprovechado de la ausencia de su señor, muy perverso, a quien, tiempo atrás, había yo puesto en su camino.

Y la madre encantada, obsequió con pasteles a toda la banda; y tampoco fué olvidada la cocinera.

...Ya ves, Lucifer, que no pierdo el tiempo. Podría continuar... continuar...

—Te felicito por ocuparte de la juventud. Pero no te olvides de las clases altas. Los intelectuales, sobre todo, me interesan. No ceso de decírselo a tus hermanas. ¿Comprendes la razón?

—¡Ya lo creo que la comprendo!

—No comprendes tanto como yo el mal inmenso que puede hacer una mujer, astuta y perversa, cuando se incrusta en un círculo de gente seleccionada. Es como el gusano en el hermoso fruto. ¡Cuántos hombres de valía han destruido su porvenir, y causado al prójimo un mal irreparable a causa de una mujer! Acuérdate, ¡oh, Lujuria!, de la guerra de Troya, de Enrique VIII, de Lutero, y hasta de Roberto el Piadoso...

...La primera mujer ha perdido al género humano. Cristo ha tratado de salvarlo. Procura encontrar a otra mujer que lo pierda con otra manzana...

—Se procurará.
—Esa mujer, ¡oh, Lujuria!, existe. Pero está en la sombra, y en ella debe permanecer. El gusano no deja que otros le vean. Se contenta con roer el fruto, y pudrirlo. Te repito que es la clase elevada la que principalmente me interesa.
...Cuando se posee al pastor, se posee el rebaño.
...Cuando se apodera uno de la mujer, se apodera también del hombre. Bien lo saben todos los que piensan. Por eso es por lo que, en el dia que sigue a las grandes catástrofes, el historiador dice: Buscad a la mujer.
Satanás se abisma entonces en sus recuerdos...
Piensa en el lejano pasado con evidente complacencia.
—¡Cómo he dispuesto de la mujer desde el comienzo del mundo! Aquel fué mi más hermoso golpe maestro. Según el Apocalipsis, parece ser que en la batalla suprema, tendré aún ante mí a una mujer, ¡una mujer excepcional!... ¡La espero!
Me adueñé de la primera. espero adueñarme también de la última.
Y ante esa evocación del triunfal porvenir, Lucifer lanzó una carcajada estridente que hizo temblar al Infierno.

Capítulo XVIII

LA ENVIDIA

Con la misma espontaneidad que la Lujuria, aunque inferior en cuanto a la belleza, la Envidia llega, lanzando miradas recelosas a derecha e izquierda, con un hosco pliegue en la comisura de sus labios secos.
Inmediatamente, y con locuacidad, toma la palabra. Se advierte que tiene algo urgente y malo que decir, un relato que va a colocarla muy alto en el ánimo de su amo, y promoverá una lisonjera ola de celos por parte de sus amados colegas del Infierno.
—¿Qué tienes que contarme? —dice Satanás—. Ya me regocijo de antemano...
—Una cosa fuerte y magnífica, ¡oh, Lucifer! Animada, fortalecida con las palabras que tuviste que dirigirme el otro día, he tratado de mostrame digna de las esperanzas que en mí pusiste. Y me resolví a traerte una pieza digna de ti, una pieza de caza digna de un rey.
—¿De qué se trata? —Interroga Lucifer-, escuchando con gran atención.
—Como la Soberbia, tampoco yo te hablo de los platos corrientes, de las menudencias que a diario acumulo. Los grandes jefes no se ocupan de las cosas pequeñas. Las ciudades, las aldeas, sobre todo, las fábricas, las administraciones, las familias y todo lo demás hierven de envidias y celo. Todo eso crece en el espíritu de los mortales como la grama en los caminos.
...Cada cual... sí, cada cual... con su hueso entre los dientes, pasa el tiempo acechando el hueso que roe su vecino. De todas esas incidencias del montón, ni siquiera pretendo hacer un resumen ante tu majestad.
—Espero el bocado selecto y exquisito.
—Entre las raras familias, verdaderamente dichosas, que he encontrado sobre la tierra, he tropezado con una que era más que feliz; era la felicidad misma, el paraíso de antaño.

—El padre, honrado y respetable, director de una importante administración... la esposa, encantadora, espiritual, madre de unas adorables jovencitas, tenía a veces tiempo, a pesar de los pesados quehaceres domésticos, para ayudar al marido, que la adoraba. Todos, cristianos, piadosos. Iban a misa en familia. Oraban reunidos. Pertenecían a todas las obras parroquiales. En suma: el matrimonio ideal, al que tú mismo hubieras dirigido la punteria particularmente.

—¿Es esa la pieza digan de un rey?

—Precisamente. He pensado que si yo te trajera a toda esa familia, como el perro de caza trae a su amo la presa que ha encontrado, quedarías satisfecho de mí. Esa presa te la traigo hoy. He conseguido, ¡oh, no sin trabajo, hacer de esa familia ideal una sucursal del infierno!

—¿Por qué medios?

—Cada cual trabaja con sus propios útiles. Y reflexioné acerca del medio de que me valdría yo, encarnación de la envidia y los celos, para dividir a esa familia, donde no reinaba otra cosa que el amor, y destruirla.

—En verdad, había ahí con qué tentar a una gran dama como tú.

—Me las he arreglado muy hábilmente. He sugerido al marido, que es la misma bondad, que sería muy buena cosa el determinarse a introducir a su hermana en la casa, para ayudar a su mujer, fatigada por los quehaceres del hogar y el cuidado de los hijos. Y, además, la presencia de su hermana permitiría a la esposa colaborar más intensamente en el trabajo que todas las tardes traía él de la oficina a su casa.

—Sí; creo que la táctica era hábil.

—Y tanto más cuanto que yo conocía muy bien a la hermana, por haberme servido ya de ella. Hasta la tenía como de reserva para casos especiales. Ella lo poseía todo para alcanzar mi objetivo: inteligencia, celos, espíritu autoritario, lengua de vívora. Bajo una máscara de aparente dulzura, ocultaba un poder de división formidable.

...Al principio, estuve a punto de fracasar. Las mujeres tienen antenas, y es preciso no olvidarlo. La esposa presentía la malignidad de su cuñada. Amontonó objeciones sobre objeciones. Pero yo estaba allí para apoyar la pretensión del marido, a quien ella amaba. Y por no contrariarle, por no causarle disgusto, acabó por ceder, para desgracia suya.

—¡Bravo! —exclamó Lucifer—; adivino lo demás.

—La cuñada se instala, pues, en una habitación del piso, una habitación estratégica.

...Al principio, todo va bien, muy bien...

—Desde luego, eso es lo que ocurre siempre —observa Lucifer-.

—Sí; pero poco a poco surgen motivos de discusión a propósito de cualquier cosa, venga o no a cuento. La cuñada critica el régimen alimenticio del marido, cuyo estómago hay que vigilar. Critica el método que la esposa sigue para educar a sus hijas. La esposa es retrógada, demasiado blanda. No conoce los métodos nuevos.

...Esto lo dice en la mesa. Pero sobre todo a espaldas de la esposa, cuando está sola con su hermano. Arrecia entonces en sus críticas, en beneficio —dice ella— de su hermano, a quien ama de un modo inteligente. El marido defiende a su mujer. Pero carece de fortaleza para zafarse de la influencia de su hermana, que está bajo mi propia influencia.

...A tropezones, le sugiero frases mordaces: "Tú amas a tu esposa, de acuerdo, es tu derecho y tu deber, y no seré yo quien pretenda romper esa unión. Pero precisamente porque la amas, estás ciego respecto de ella. Eso es fatal. Porque el amor crea belleza en lo que se ama y verdad en lo que se cree.

...Pero yo no estoy enamorada, yo veo claro, y considero que mi deber es decirte que en tu matrimonio hay muchas cosas que deben modificarse. Ganas mucho dinero, pero ella gasta más aun. ¡Y si tú supieras en qué!... Y, luego, las niñas. Las estas educando en contra del "sentido común".

La esposa presiente, adivina esas críticas secretas. Su marido sigue siempre muy cariñoso, sin duda alguna. Pero a veces tiene reticencias que ella nunca ha oído de sus labios desde el principio de su matrimonio.

...Y todo aquello va agravandose. El marido, buena persona, desea la paz, y quiere reconciliar a las inconciliables, es decir, resolver la cuadratura del círculo, hacer que se entiendan dos mujeres que se detestan. ¡Pobre hombre! Pone todos los medios. Cerca de una, trata de defender la causa de la otra.

...¡Trabajo perdido!

...Renuncia a ello, aunque sin admitir que un hombre, inteligente como él, con graves responsabilidades sobre sus espaldas, pueda estar a merced de esas querellas entre mujeres.

Después de haber reflexionado bien, cree haber hallado la solución. Y toma el partido de refugiarse en el silencio.

Pero entonces otro sufrimiento le atenaza.

¡Oh!, aquellas comidas, que deberían representar un descanso para él le resultan odiosas, aquellas cenas, en que nadie habla, porque cada palabra sería un explosivo que prendería fuego a todas las pólvoras.

...El desdichado necesita, sin embargo, de su tranquilidad, de su cerebro, para hacer frente a sus negocios y ganar el pan para su familia. Pero nadie piensa en tal necesidad, ni su hermana egoísta, rencorosa, irrefrenable, ni siquiera su mujer, demasiado dolorida ya para callarse, y cuyo carácter se agría ahora cada día.

—¿A quien contaría yo todo esto que me ahoga, que me crucifica, si no te lo contase a tí?

La hermana dice otro tanto a su hermano:

—Tú eres quien me hiciste venir aquí. Yo estaba tranquila donde estaba. De modo que eres tú el responsable de la guerra a cuchillo que me hace tu mujer... ¡Defiéndeme!

...Fatigado, resignado, a pesar de su resolución de silencio e indiferencia, sigue escuchando las miserables quejas de la una y de la otra. Tan pronto le designan impetuósamente como árbitro. Cada una le censura su debilidad, su falta de voluntad, pretende que ya no es más que una caña, una endeble brizna. Y cada cual le reprocha que su rival le lleva por donde quiere como un zarandillo, trincado por la nariz.

Y, enfurecidas, hacen ante él el ademán adecuado a la insolente frase.

Terminado el día, ni siquiera tiene el marido el reparador reposo que el sueño proporciona. Por la noche, su esposa, saturada de resentimientos, llora, solloza en su lecho, donde a veces le atacan crisis nerviosas.

Y por la mañana, apenas se levanta, el marido oye cómo vuelven a dar comienzo las mismas letanías de quejas y rabietas.

Examina todas las posibles soluciones. Y, por todas partes, se encuentra acorralado.

¿Hacer que se marche su hermana, a quien hizo venir de provincias? ¡Qué tempestad en su casa y entre sus parientes!

¿Enviar a su mujer a sosegarse entre los suyos? En primer lugar, se opondrá. Y luego, ¿qué hacer con las hijas, que presencian todas las escenas, y ya toman posiciones, a veces aun en favor de su tía, que secretamente las colma de mimos?

Por consiguiente, no hay nada que hacer.

La guerra ha arraigado allí, fatal, implacable, total, la guerra de todos los días, de todas las noches, y con motivo de cualquier futesa.

...Y yo, desde la sombra, ¡oh, Lucifer!, no cesaba de arrojar aceite, petróleo sobre todos los incendios. Hacía que las hijas, los vecinos, las vecinas, los comerciantes, repitiesen, agravándolas, las quejas de la una y de la otra.

...Como te decía, ¡oh, Lucifer!, el paraíso de amor se ha convertido en un infierno de odio, donde dos mujeres, enfrentadas encarnizadamente, no tienen más que un solo deseo: el de insultarse, herirse, exterminarse.

...Entonces sucedió lo que yo ya había previsto y deseado tanto. Un día en que el pobre marido, exasperado, agotados sus nervios, no pudiendo ya resistir más, en un momento de locura, impulsado por mí, se arrojó por la ventana, a la mitad de la comida, desde el tercer piso.

—¿Se mató? —Exclama alegremente Lucifer-.

—No del todo. La ventana no estaba lo bastante alta.

—¡Qué lastima!

—Sólo se ha roto las dos piernas y algunas costillas.

—Y entonces sobrevino la escena salvaje, pública, ante los vecinos, que acudían, aterrados, la escena entre las dos mujeres. Una acusaba a la otra de haber impulsado al marido a cometer aquel acto de desesperación.

...Y yo agrandé el desastre.

...La catástrofe resultó completa.

...Después de dos operaciones dolorosas, el marido, neurasténico, convertido en un pingajo humano, se ha visto forzado a presentar su dimisión al director. Los formidables gastos de la clínica han devorado todo lo que él había conseguido ahorrar.

...La madre ha tenido que acogerse a una miserable ocupación: sacar a pasear a los hijos de uno de los jefes de su marido, dejando abandonados a los suyos.

—¿Y la hermana? —Interroga Lucifer-.

—La hermana. ¡Oh,!, ha salido triunfante. Previendo la catástrofe, había hecho economías. Y la tengo en reserva para futuras hazañas.

...¿Tenía yo razón, ¡oh, Lucifer! al decirte que te traía un bocado exquisito?

Satanás le tiende los brazos.

—¡Ven, oh, Envidia! Quiero darte el abrazo que se da a los buenos servidores. Ahora, vuelve a la tierra, y trata de hacer algo mejor aún.

Y lanzando una mirada de reto a su congéneres, la Envidia sale de allí, orgullosa y trémula, a la busqueda de nuevas víctimas.

Capítulo XIX

LA GULA

Con su grandes ojos en el rostro gelatinoso, surcado de lineas rojas, relamiéndose, con labios que parecían soborear restos de alguna golosina que se le hubiera quedado entre los dientes, la Gula entra.

Ella también, como la Lujuria, viene acompañada de angelitos bulliciosos, al acecho de las golosinas que la gran dama les arroja al pasar.
Lucifer la recibe sonriente:
—Y tú, ¿estás satisfecha de los comienzos de de la jornada?
—En primer lugar, yo, Lucifer, poseo un buen estómago y, por consiguiente, un buen carácter. Y no trato sino con gente que tenga el mismo ideal que yo, cuyos rezos matinales y vespertinos sean como éste: "Vientrecito mío, regocíjate, todo lo que yo gane será para ti".
Lucifer protesta.
—Eso es un plagio. El apóstol Pablo lo ha dicho, y de un modo bastante más enérgico, antes que tú.
—Ese Pablo lo dijo en otro tiempo. Pero yo lo estoy viendo todos los días. Trabajo en todas las clases sociales, pueblo, burguesía, aristocracia. En todas partes descubro la pasión por la mesa, el vino, el alcohol. ¡Oh!, en diferente grado, sin duda, y bajo diversas facetas.
...Pero el aperitivo, que es universal, derriba bastantes impedimentos y prejuicios sociales.
Ahórrate tus consideraciones filosóficas. Para mí, sólo existen los hechos interesantes y recientes.
—Entonces, Lucifer, prepara una hoja bien grande, porque tengo muchísimos hechos que presentar ante ti.
—No olvides que hay quien está esperando a la puerta. Dos o tres hechos me bastan. Pero que sean característicos.
—Pues bien, has de saber, en primer término, que he decuplicado el número de tabernas, bares y cabarets. Los hay actualmente en todas partes, con clientela fiel y entusiástica.
—Eso empieza a agradarme.
—No hablo tán sólo de los suburbios de las grandes cuidades, y de los barrios famosos como Montmartre y Montparnasse. Extiendo mis tentáculos hasta las aldeas más pequeñas. Te podría citar una determinada comarca, considerada con odio por personas que, como suele decirse, piensan bien. El cura era un cura celoso, promotor de obras benéficas. Todo el mundo iba a misa, seguía las procesions entonando cánticos.
...He instalado allí, encubiertamente, una venta con un individuo a la altura de las circustancias, y las botellas precisas. Poco a poco, los hombres, los labradores, han adquirido la constumbre de acudir allí. Después, los hijos han seguido el ejemplo de los padres, dos o tres veces al día. Y te aseguro, ¡oh, Lucifer!, que allí no se vende agua bendita, ni aguachirle, sino ajenjo auténtico y aperitivos famosos. Ahora, tengo calificados e inveterados borrachos. En ese cabaret, no sólo se bebe, sino que se habla de política y de religión. El cura, antes amparado y venerado, está allí en la picota. Es la cabeza de turco de todo el mundo. Figúrate: ¡ha estado a punto de llegar a las manos! El carcunda no quería dejarse guiar, y nos ha plantado un proyecto formidable.
—¿Cual?
—¡No lo adivinarias nunca! Ese desgraciado cura ha concebido la idea de poner al frente de aquel cabaret a un feligrés de la Orden Tercera. Porque, astuto, como es, sabe que disponiendo del cabaret, dispone del país.
—¡Ah, diablo! ¡No era tan tonto como parecía!
—Sí, Por ejemplo, en cierta comarca es un capuchino quien tiene a su cargo el cabaret. Y por la tarde, cuando tocan el Angelus, el capuchino da un gran golpe con su jarro de cerveza. Entonces, todos se levantan y cantan el Angelus. Es formidable, inverosímil en pleno siglo XX. Pero es así.

—Supongo que habrás hecho una seria oposición.

¡Muy seria! Te aseguro que he sudado lo mío. ¡El mozo mandaba allí a su placer! Pero, indirectamente, he conseguido dominar el cabaret, gracias al diputado.

—¿Y hoy?

—Reina tranquilidad. Pero yo vigilo el asunto. Y todo va muy bien. Te regocijaría el ver a mis borrachos, el domingo por la tarde, en el camino, arrimándose los unos a los otros, para no caer, y vociferando canciones idiotas. ¡El contraste es verdaderamente curioso! El sol se pone, entre oro y púrpuro; los pájaros cantan en el borde de sus nidos, las flores exhalan sus postreros perfumes, la naturaleza se duerme, en hermoso y magnífico sosiego. ¿Donde está el hombre?

...¿Donde está? Pues allí donde yo le he arrojado, en la cuneta, durmiendo la mona con la nariz en el cieno.

¡Y esa es mi obra!

—¡Bien, muy bien! Exclama Lucifer—. Continúa, pero prescinde de la poesía. Me doy cuenta de que todavía viven en ti recuerdos de antaño. No te has convertido aún en un puro demonio, un demonio completo. Y, además, estoy esperando alguna cosa alegre. En la mesa, se dicen entre los hombres cosas bastante fuertes.

—Pues bien, voy a contarte una que te divertirá. Yo habia cazado a un interesante tabernero que iba a morir. Yo me decía, de antemano, que aquel hombre te pertenecía. Había robado durante toda su vida, vendiendo vino mixtificado y dejando sin llenar los vasitos servidos a la multitud de sus imbéciles clientes...

...Con eso y con todo lo demás, la cuenta que iba a rendir estaba pintiparada. Y he aquí que su cocinera, una vieja campesina, viendo que se moría, se le metió en la cabeza llamar a un sacerdote.

—¿Por qué se mezcla en esto la buena mujer?

—El pobre hombre no podía defenderse ya, y su cocinera le inspiraba verdadero pavor. Llega entonces un pequeño vicario de a cuatro cuartos, joven, tímido, muy piadoso y se pone a decirle toda clase de admoniciones devotas a aquel viejo descreído, que no comprendía absolutamente nada.

...Emocionado, a pesar de todo, no quería caer en falta con aquel cura. Llama a la criada, y le dice que vaya a buscar una vieja botella a la bodega, una de las cubiertas de polvo y telarañas por los años.

...Ella lo hizo así, entusiasmada. Y llenó un vaso para el pequeño abate. Por un residuo de su costumbre, el moribundo quiso beber, aunque con su taza de camomila, pues el medico había prohibido todo alcohol a aquel veterado amigo de las botellas, que moría de una congestión.

—Pero, en fin, no veo a dónde quieres ir a parar —exclama Lucifer-, que se impacienta.

—A ello voy. Al marcharse, ese bribón de abate concibió la idea de hacer que el moribundo besase el crucifijo.

...Al reclinarse hacia él, el viejo tabernero, presa de una emoción repentina, le coge por el cuello y grita, con voz desesperada: "¡Pensar que tengo en la bodega más de mil botellas como esa, y que voy a fallecer sin habérmelas bebido!..."

Murió, en efecto, pocas horas después de aquel acto de constricción perfecta.

—¿Me pertenece, pues? —pregunta Lucifer-.

—Probablemente.
—¿Por qué probablemente?
—Porque ese diablo de abate ha pasado por allí. Y con esos curas nunca se sabe...
Lucifer frunce el entrecejo:
—Eso no es, en absoluto, un buen trabajo. Debías de haber impedido que el sacerdote acudiese.
—Pero la cocinera estaba allí.
—¿Pero es que una cocinera puede significar algo frente a un verdadero demonio?
—Pues sí, significa. Recuerda que fué una cocinera quien dominó a Pedro, el primer Papa. Y, además, no te he referido este hecho aislado sino con objeto de distraerte. No debes olvidar con ello que mi acción sobre los hombres es eterna. Las tres cuartas partes sólo viven para comer, beber y dormir. Es asombroso el número de vasos de alcohol absorvidos, noche y dia, en una ciudad como París, y a precios exhorbitantes. El hombre de pueblo bebe en la taberna. Las personas de la buena sociedad beben en los cafes de lujo; pero también, y muy a menudo, en su propia casa. Podría citarte a una persona dignísima, muerta de congestión. Todo el mundo le creía tan sobrio como un camello. Pues bien, después de su fallecimiento, encontraron en un armario, del cual él sólo poseía la llave, un batallón de botellas de alcohol. Bebía todas las noches secretamente, antes de acostarse.
...Todo eso es obra mía... No reino sólo sobre los borrachos de los suburbios, sino también sobre las cenas; soy animadora de provechosas noches. Al ver a cierto invitado en traje de etiqueta, a cierta hembra con vestido de noche, recuerdo su tensión, la congestión inminente, y me digo: "¡He aquí a uno... a una, para mi adorado amo Lucifer!"
—Lo reconozco. Tú también, tú, sobre todo, eres el demonio de la muerte repentina. Si hubiese de condecorarte, pondría un tenedor entre tus armas.
—Me parece más indicado una botella, o un vasito. He destrozado tantos hogares, destruído el porvenir de tantas personas, embrutecido tantos cerebros con mi alcohol...
—¡Continua, pues!... Fomenta los anuncios de los periódicos. Varía los títulos. Multiplica las formulas que ocultan el veneno tras enormes letras. Y derrama, hasta que desborde, la embriaguez que satura los cráneos, roe los cuerpos y condena las almas. Ven a abrazarme y vuelve a la tierra. ¡Y que la humanidad tenga sed, siempre sed, que beba y venga a refrescarse a mi casa, el Infierno!
La Gula coge entre sus dedos hinchados la vuelta de su falda, hace una reverencia. Y se marcha muy digna, rodeada de los angelitos bulliciosos, que gritan sus deseos y su admiración.
Pero ella murmura entre dientes:
—No tengo la impresión de que el Amo me aprecie en mi justo valor. Y, sin embargo, ¿qué haría la Lujuria, si no me tuviera a mí para prepararle el terreno?

Capítulo XX

LA IRA

¡La siguiente! grita Lucifer al arcángel de servicio.

Orden inútil. Porque ya, brutalmente, con los cabellos erizados, brillantes los ojos, la boca espumeante, la Ira ha violentado el acceso.

Ya estás furiosa -observa Lucifer-.

—Sí; estoy furiosa, ¡siempre furiosa!...

—¿Y por qué?

—Por la persistente injusticia que conmigo se comete. Se me llama despues de la Lujuria, despues de la Envidia, despues de esa Gula que no terminaba de ponderar sus hazañas. Verdaderamente, diríase que eso son los únicos demonios que hacen algo.

—Deja tranquilas a tus hermanas. Los celos entre demonios son un feísimo defecto. Es de ti de quien se trata en este instante. ¿Qué has hecho desde el comienzo de nuestra jornada de ensayo?

—¿Qué he hecho? Pues he hecho lo del negro... He seguido haciendo lo que hacía antes.

—Concreta.

—Yo soy el ángel de la blasfemia, del puño tendido, el ángel de las injurias, el ángel de las palabras irreparables, el ángel del desafío y del suicidio, hago que rompan los cristales y que los pedazos se arrojen sobre la cabeza de las personas.

Lucifer esboza una mueca:

—¡Poca cosa!...

—¡Naturalmente, poca cosa! Tratándose de mí, sea lo que fuere, siempre será poca cosa... Pero esa poca cosa, hay que hacerla, a pesar de todo.

—Preferiría que destrozases los hogares, en vez de los vidrios.

—¿Los hogares? No prescindo de eso. Pero conmigo, siempre tienes prisa. Con verme, te basta. No me concedes ni tiempo para hablarte. Sin embargo, yo recorro las salas de los hospitales, haciendo que los enfermos trinen contra los enfermeros y contra los médicos... ¡Contra la alimentación y contra todo! Hago que blasfemen, que prorrumpan en expresiones tan sabidas como éstas: "¿Qué le he hecho yo a Dios para que me haga sufrir así?" Y les suguiero: "¿Dios? ¡Qué tontería! ¡No vale la pena de enseñarle el puño! Dios no existe..." Entonces sobreviene la deseperación total, los enfermos imploran la aplicación de un inyectable, que se los envíe a la nada...

—Es decir, a mis dominios.

—Sí; a tu Infierno, despues del infierno de la tierra. Hay que ver cómo dan vueltas y más vueltas en sus lechos, como gusanos partidos. Y yo derramo ácido sobre todo eso. Subrayo toda la imbecilidad de la vida; y deduzco, para ellos, las consecuencias. Les explico que es un crimen el traer hijos al mundo para que vivan tan cruel existencia.

—¡Muy bien! Insiste en eso.

—Entre los pobres, principalmente, exagero todo eso. Ayer, un marido, un magnífico borracho, por lo demás —puedes contarle esto a la Gula; se sentirá muy orgullosa de ello—, había sostenido una trágica discusión con su mujer, tan trágica que decidió poner fin a su situación de una vez para siempre.

—¿Se suicidió?

—¡Oh!, mucho mejor que eso. Ha decidido la separación inmediata. Desde lo Invisible, he sacado de aquello el máximo provecho. Le he inspirado toda suerte de locuras; y las ha asimilado fácilmente. Por lo pronto, decreta que su suegra no tiene derecho a vivir a menos de 200 kilómetros de él; "Consciente, implora su mujer, en que sean 150..." "Yo he dicho 200 y serán 200. ¡Si se coloca a menos distancia, no respondo de nada!"

...A continuación, cada cual va tomar la mitad de cada cosa, porque yo estoy, eso sí, por la justicia y la igualdad.

...Dicho y hecho...

...El marido se pone a serrar la mesa en dos mitades, el armario, por la mitad; las sillas, por la mitad cada una; la cama, en dos mitades...

...Y yo sigo instigando, instigando, para impulsar a ese borracho hasta el grado supremo de la estupidez. Yo habría querido que tambien partiese a sus tres hijos por la mitad.

¡Ay!, una vecina idiota, atraída por los gritos de la mujer despavorida, solivianta a los demás vecinos. Llaman a los agentes, que conducen, no sin trabajo, al loco furioso hasta una celda del hospital, donde continúa aún. Reconoce Lucifer, que he estado a punto de dar un buen golpe...

—Sí, está bien. No se puede negar que haces algo. Pero te repito lo que ya he dicho a tus hermanas: tú trabajas, principalmente entre el pueblo. Quisiera verte entrar en las casas de los hombres de negocios, de los políticos, en las redacciones, sobre todo, para inspirar artículos incendiarios. No frecuentas bastante el mundillo de los escritores, de los pensadores de vanguardia. El pueblo no nos interesa a nosotros. Es un rebaño que seguirá siempre a quien le mande.

—Sin duda. Pero considero difícil y complicada mi actuación sobre la clase culta. Es un trabajo de largo desarrollo, que exige discusiones interminables. Y a mí no me gusta discutir. Prefiero golpear inmediatamente.

...Soy el ángel del minuto, del segundo en que uno mata, o se mata. Si dejo a mi victima tiempo para reflexionar, se me escapa. El pueblo obedece a la impresión. El intelectual, a la idea. Es mucho más dificil volver del revés a un pensador, con la cabeza abajo y los pies en alto...

—¡Sin duda! —responde Lucifer—. Pero quisiera, por lo menos, ver cómo lo intentas. Y, además, es posible. Al parecer, tú crees que la Ira es tan sólo una explosión de gritos y gesticulaciones precursoras del puñetazo. He de recordarte que existen otras clases de ira: la ira fria, la ira retardada, más terribles aún que las otras. Existe el rencor, la venganza implacable, el duelo.

—El duelo se acabó. Han echado a perder el oficio. Se ha convertido en una cosa ridícula.

—Te quedan muchos recursos si eres inteligente.

—Si, lo sé. Hago cuanto puedo. Así, para demostrarte que tambien trabajo con las altas esferas, he dirigido la puntería hacia un gran médico enfermo, con un cancer en la garganta.

—Eso es más interesante para mí que tu embrutecido borracho.

—Aquel médico, precisamente, era presa de la cólera fría, de la rabia silenciosa, oculta. Estaba furioso al ver que tenía que detenerse, que abandonar sus experimentos y a sus clientes... y que su mal no tenía remedio... Tampoco estaba satisfecho de sus colegas, que iban a aprovecharse de su inactividad para acaparar a sus enfermos. El callaba. Pero todo hervía en su interior. Yo seguía aquel proceso, segura como estaba de que algún día estallaría la tormenta...

—¿Y qué mas?

—Se le aplicaba morfina. Yo le inspiré la idea de aplicarse la inyección con su propia mano. Y como por casualidad le dejé un tubo de cianuro a su alcance. Cuando se recrudecían sus ataques, la tentación era terrible. Ha resistido largo tiempo, a causa de su mujer y de sus hijos, a los que amaba... Y, al fin, una noche, el enfermero, que dormía, no ha contestado al pulsar el timbre. Y como sufría atrozmente, le ha acometido la rabia, la desesperación. Me he aprovechado de ello para impulsarle a utlizar el cianuro.

—¿Y lo ha hecho?
—Sí, despues de haber vacilado durante media hora; pero, al cabo de ese tiempo, he conseguido al fin llevarme el bocado.
—En esas circustancias —sentencia Lucifer—, te concedo, a pesar de todo, una buena nota por ese cliente. Te la doy porque pertenece a una clase selecta.
La Ira rechina los dientes, y repite ásperamente la frase:
—¡Ah, "a pesar de todo"! Me arrojas una buena nota, como se arroja un hueso de cordero a un perro... Evidentemente, si yo tuviera la cara pintada como la Lujuria o el vientre prominente de la Gula, tendría derecho a otros cumplimientos.
...¡Esas damas tienen suerte! Pueden trabajar a sus anchas y con masa bien blandita...
...Y se las felicita calurosamente, y se las estrecha la mano, ¡Y se las abraza!...
...En tanto que yo, la pariente pobre, tengo que esperar, que contentarme con migajas. ¡Y sin embargo, mi trabajo es cien veces más difícil!
...Si en lugar de un gran medico, te hubiera traído un sabroso bocado, por muy Lucifer que seas te habrías mostrado más amable.
...¡Ah, rayos y centellas!...
... Si se anhela justicia, no es en el Infierno donde hay que buscarla!...
Satanás sonríe:
—Es en verdad una desgracia que no tenga un espejo a mi alcance. Te espantarías de ver lo fea que te pones cuando montas en cólera.
—¿Y tú...? ¿Tal vez te crees hermoso, con tus dientes amarillentos, tu nariz corva, tus ojos redondos, como balas de lotería, y tu piel de macho cabrío...?
Y la Ira se marcha de allí, furiosa, cerrando a golpazos las puertas, atropellando al arcángel de servicio, y atravesando, como un proyectil, el grupo de los pequeños demonios, que encogen las nalgas, aterrados...

Capítulo XXI

LA PEREZA

El arcángel de servicio llama al séptimo miembro del estado mayor: la Pereza.
Le llama una vez... dos veces. Nadie responde. A la tercera vez, grita, con voz silbante:
—Pereza-, Lucifer te espera...
Como nadie responde, el arcángel entra en la inmensa sala de espera, donde pululan, apretándose unos contra otros, . El arcángel encuentra al fin a a Pereza, dormida y roncando, con la boca abierta, arrellanada en un sillón... ¡El mejor de todos, naturalmente!
El arcángel la sacude con energia para despertarla.
—¡Perdón! ¡Dispénsame!... Es que el Amo te llama.
—¿Al fin y al cabo...? ¿Se decide?... ¡Pues se ha tomado tiempo! Y me llama la última, cuando yo debía ser la primera, porque la Pereza es la madre de todos los vicios. Pero me estoy convenciendo, como la

Ira, que aun en el Infierno no se recompensa la virtud.
El arcángel, prudente, responde:
—Yo no puedo hacer nada en es asunto. Todas tus quejas a Lucifer.
—Para el caso que me hace... Oye: tú, que eres joven, ayúdame a levantarte de este sillón, donde estoy incrustada desde hace horas.
El arcángel, entonces, se apuntala, y con un movimiento enérgético, ayudado por pequeños subdemonios de buena voluntad, pone en pie a la pesada Pereza.
Los pies de esta dama tiene bastante carga que soportar. Porque la Pereza está siempre cansada, abrumada, fatigosa, como derrumbada sobre ella misma...
No anda, se arrastra. Y se precisa toda la energía de Satanás y el fuego del Infierno, para lanzarla a la batalla.
Hétela, al fin, frente a su gran Amo, muy descontento, porque no le gusta esperar...
—¿Cómo es —le grita ásperamente— que en pleno combate con la potencia del Otro, no te manifiestas más viva, más fogosa, más enérgica? ¡Duermes y roncas cuando tus hermanas luchan!...
—¡Oh, no tan aprisa, Lucifer!— responde la Pereza, con voz lánguida —. Te olvidas de que soy la Pereza. Las otras, tus favoritas, se mueven mucho, hablan por los codos, gritan, se dan importancia, gesticulan, manotean. Hace unos momentos, he oído vociferar a la Ira. ¿Para qué? Yo no monto nunca en cólera... Soy la misma dulzura. Obro por mi propio peso. Me inspira aversión la inquietud de los "¿me has visto?" y todas las demás extravagancias. El bien no hace ruido, el ruido no hace bien, yo no hago ruido, duermo...
...De modo que empiezo protestando contra la Lujuria. Esa intrigante ha pretendido haber inscrito al santo rey David en su lista de piezas de caza. Considero que eso es intolerable por una razón sencillísima: la Lujuria no se hubiera apoderado jamás de David si yo no me hubiese adueñado de él previamente. Yo hize de él, primeramente, un perezoso, un vago; y gracias a eso, la Lujuria consiguió hacerle caer. Sin mí, Bethsabée hubiera perdido el tiempo, ni siquiera habría sacado con qué pagar su jabón y sus perfumes.
—¡Bah! —Interrumpe Lucifer—, eso pertenece a la historia antigua. Lo que deseo saber es lo que tú has hecho desde el comienzo de las operaciones actuales.
—He hecho tantas cosas, ¡oh, Lucifer!, que te pido licencia para sentarme porque de antemano me siento fatigada por todo lo que he de contar.
—Sólo te pido, como a las demás, algunos hechos recientes y característicos.
—Por lo pronto, he adormecido a multitud de jóvenes, para los cuales he sido algo así como el opio de la voluntad. Los padres, para proporcionarles instrucción, no omiten sacrificio. Pero ellos apenas se preocupan, y no piensan sino en divertirse.
...Puesto que me pides un hecho característico, puedo citarte el caso de cierto estudiante de medicina que no asiste a sus clases, bosteza sobre los libros, y no disfruta más que yendo a escuchar a los cabarets de Montparnasse sucísimas estupidezes, y tratando de componer otras. Ya supondrás de antemano, los desdichados diagnósticos, las recetas nocivas que imaginará, y los enfermos a quien matará amablemente, asegurándoles que va a salvarles la vida. ¡Y cuando vengan a buscarle por la noche, ya puedes figurarte que recepción dispensará a quien le despierte!
—¡Eso está muy bien!
—Reconoce, Lucifer, que yo no soy vociferadora. No promuevo alborotos ni estallidos. Yo no alzo los dos puños amenazadores, como la Ira.. Yo duermo dulcemente al individuo. Cuando va de jarana, no se despierta sino para volver a comenzarla. Y te aseguro que este método es de resultados sorprendentes... y que dispongo de muchos ejemplares de tipos así.

...Pero también tengo muchos otros en todas las clases sociales.

—No ceso de decir que las altas clases son las que principalmente me interesan.

—Pues bien, puedo decirte que frecuento mucho la compañía de los que se dicen católicos... y que sé desanimarlos. Les pongo de manifiesto la indiferencia, el materialismo de las multitudes, la deserción de las iglesias, la inutilidad del esfuerzo, y les inculco la famosa frase: ¡No hay nada que hacer!

—¡Perfectamente! Me encanta una idea que encarne como un aguafuerte en un slogan, en un lema.

—Y cuando está todo por hacer, afirman que no hay nada que hacer, en efecto. Y es un placer para mí el mecerlos... el verles cómo se duermen dulcemente, con la conciencia absolutamente tranquila... Van a pescar con caña... Se las dan de ocurrentes y chistosos. Podría citarte parroquias magníficas desde ese punto de vista, parroquias en las que ya no falta más que dar un paso para despertar a los fieles a toque de corneta... ¡Pues bien, ni siquiera eso! Los feligreses se duermen. Y como en un regimiento, la consigna se obedece; y esa consigna es, ¡roncar!

—Muy bien —interrumpe Lucifer-, que ha empezado a prestar atención. Pero ¿y el cura de esa gente? ¿Le has convencido de que no hay nada que hacer?

—Traté de hacerlo, pero sin resultado. He visto llegar a uno, lleno de ardiente fe y con iniciativas peligrosas...

—¿Y qué?

—No pudiendo adueñarme de él directamente, porque resiste al sueño, lo consigo por medio de los demás. Le rodeo, poco a poco, de personas que debían ayudarle, pero no hacen más que desanimarlo. Se siente sólo en el desempeño de su labor, y no puede hacer nada útil porque nadie acude en socorro suyo. No es bueno que el hombre esté sólo. A mi parecer, también esta verdad es aplicable al cura...

Lucifer parece cada vez más satisfecho:

—Verdaderamente-, no eres tan tonta como pareces.

—¡Gracias! Hago lo que puedo. Yo no tengo más que una cuerda en mi arco, pero es buena para todos los menesteres y para todas las clases sociales. Adormezco a los hombres, hago que detesten su trabajo, su "tajo", como ellos dicen, elegantemente. Su consigna es hacer lo menos posible, y exigir que se les pague más. Cuando aparece el almanaque, hago que busquen en seguida los "puentes", es decir, los días que no se trabajará. En multitud de oficinas, hay exceso de personal. Y cuando uno de los empleados quiere, a pesar de todo, trabajar, se le reprocha su prurito de celo, que estropea el oficio. El sueño de los sueños consiste en ir bien sentado en un coche y devorar kilómetros.

...Al socaire del progreso, procuro suprimir cada vez más el esfuerzo. Se exagera el uso del teléfono, del ascensor, del coche, de la maquina. Ya no se encuentran hombres para labrar la tierra. Ya no se piensa. El periódico, el "cine", piensan por los hombres. Podría continuar, pero me siento fatigada, muy fatigada...

—¡Un poco de animo!...

—Termino diciéndote que adormezco a los ricos que no piensan más que en ellos mismos, en su fortuna, en sus placeres, y ni siquiera sospechan que su inmensa responsabilidad está en proporción con sus inmensas posibilidades...

...Los hombres tienen inteligencia y, sin embargo, no comprenden que esa inteligencia no existe sólo para ser aplicada al progreso material. La muerte los acecha a todos, y se comportan como si hubieran de permanecer siempre sobre la tierra. Los he adormecido de tal modo que ya no tienen fuerza ni para alzar la cabeza por encima de sus placeres.
...De modo que sólo miran hacia abajo...
...¡Tú eres, oh Lucifer, su gran Jefe, su dios! ¡Y haré cuanto pueda para que continúes siéndolo siempre y cada día más!
—Asi sea —declara casi alegremente Lucifer—. Me doy cuenta de que tu pereza no es inactiva. Haz que duerman cada vez más. No dormiran nunca lo bastante. Es preciso que llegues a conseguir que la religión no sea para ellos otra cosa que un recuerdo histórico, una vieja certeza que anuncia la caída del árbol, la caída de la Cruz...
...Sí, Pereza, adormece sobre todos a los cristianos, Lucifer, se detiene como si aquella evocación fuese ya, ante él, una triunfal realidad.
—Ven, Pereza... ¡Ea, un poco de ánimo! Voy a ayudarte a que te levantes de tu sillón. Duerme a los demás, pero no te duermas tú...
Y los labios candentes de Satanás se hundieron reposadamente en las mejillas gelatinosas de la Pereza.
—Lucifer... ¡me vas a quemar!...
—Eso prueba que a mi no me has adormecido...

TERCERA PARTE

LOS SUBDEMONIOS SE DISTINGUEN

UN DEMONIO JOVEN QUE LLEGARÁ LEJOS
EL DEMONIO DE LA VOCACIÓN RELIGIOSA
EL DEMONIO DE LA DESEPERACIÓN
EL DEMONIO CONYUGAL
EL DEMONIO ROMPECACHARROS
EL DEMONIO MUNDANO
EL DEMONIO "¿AD QUID...?"
EL HURACAN INFERNAL

Capítulo XXII

UN DEMONIO JOVEN QUE LLEGARÁ LEJOS

Se promovió en la puerta un gran alboroto, cuando, arrastrando los pies, lentamente, pesadamente, se marchó de allí la Pereza.
Toda la inmensa cohorte de subdemonios, ángeles, angelitos, lanzaron en primer término gritos y alaridos de indignación porque la Pereza no terminaba de proclamar sus propias alabanzas.
Tratándose de la Pereza, hubiera podido ser menos locuaz.

Después se alborotaron frenéticamente, no queriendo aguardar más... Cada cual trataba de pasar por encima del otro, porque cada cual tenía algo especial que contar al Amo.

Ellos también, ellos sobre todo, habían entrado en liza, con todo el ardor característico de los muchachos perversos.

¡No es necesario llamarlos!

Haciendo esfuerzos con los brazos y con las alas abiertas, el arcángel de servicio no logra contener a toda aquella chiquillería del Infierno. Cada cual grita: "¡Yo!, ¡Yo!"

Tuvo que llamar en su ayuda a otros arcángeles y organizar un servicio de orden. En ese interregno, un pequeño subdemonio, más astuto que los otros, consiguió deslizarse y salir el primero bajo las piernas de su guardian. Al verle aparecer, a pesar de la barrera de los arcángeles y de sus camaradas, Lucifer se echó a reir, con su repugnante risa.

—Tú, llegarás, jovencito, porque no es osadía lo que te falta. ¿Tienes muchas cosas que contarme?

El angelito se engalla resueltamente, y mirando a Satanás cara a cara:

—No, no tengo muchas cosas que contarte. No tengo más que una sola, pero de rechupete, quiero decir ¡magnífica!

—Te escucho pequeño, ¡pero sé breve!

—Creo que vas a quedar satisfecho de este muchacho tuyo. En mi sector, hay una aldea piadosa. Todos los años va la gente en procesión hasta un viejo Calvario, un crucero de hierro forjado, que data de lo profundo de los siglos de ignorancia y superstición.

Ese calvario, lleno de musgo y de herrumbre, me irritaba. Y un dia, pensando en ti, y en ti pienso siempre, me propuse derribarlo, como objetivo de tu jornada...

—Muy bien, querido. Ya se ve que no comes con el revés de la cuchara...

—Sí; pero eso no era tan sencillo y cómodo como yo había creído. ¡Ah, los clericales de tiempo atrás elegían bien los sitios estratégicos! Habían alzado aquella cruz en la intersección de tres caminos, los más frecuentados. Era como una predicación perpetua; y a despecho mío, veía yo un puñado de bigardos que se quitaban la gorra al pasar delante de esa cruz. No, aquello no podía durar.

...He buscado, en este país retrógado, a alguien en quien pudiera apoyarme. He estudiado, sopesado las malas cabezas de la aldea, cuyo templo era el bar. Finalmente, he encontrado tres, bien preparados, en los cuales, por decirlo así, he conseguido encarnarme.

...Yo les he dicho: sois hombres de puños. Y os dejáis mandar por un anciano cura, una especie de fósil que ignora toda la gran evolución moderna. No sabe que la ciencia, el auto, la moto, el avión, han reemplazado la crasa ignorancia de los tiempos antiguos, Es, por consiguiente, una vergÜenza para el pueblo el soportar a ese viejo Cristo lúgubre, símbolo periclitado de la Inquisición y de la opresión de las conciencias. ¿Creéis que es divertido para los jóvenes el no poder dar un paso por la carretera sin divisar a ese Cristo colgado de una cruz? ¡Ah!, si hubiese allí una hermosa estátua antigua de Baco o de Venus, o un picaruelo fauno, ¡eso sí que sería alegre, y sugestivo, e interesante!

—Seguramente, si..., dijeron los tres mozos, mientras vaciaban su jarro de vino tinto.

—Entonces, si sois los hombres que yo me figuro, hay que suprimir esa cruz, derribarla. Y añado que daréis gusto a mucha gente que yo conozco y a la que irrita ese desafío lanzado en esta comarca, día y noche, a la alegría de vivir, al Progreso y a la Ciencia moderna.

...Y una tarde, tomando el aperitivo de ritual en el bar, hubo un consejo de guerra contra el Crucificado. Uno quería simplemente serrarlo por la base. Pero yo, ¡oh, Lucifer!, he pensado que sería más espectacular, más elocuente para las nuevas generaciones el derribarlo pura y simplemente.

...Y, además, eso sería más rápido, más fácil, más silencioso. El serrar hace ruido, en tanto que arrancar una cruz ruinosa, empotrada desde siglos atrás entre viejas piedras roídas, es mucho más cómodo. En pocos minutos, con dos buenos cordeles, se echaría a tierra la cruz y se sepultaría bajo el lodo de la cuneta próxima.

Nos estrechamos las manos... Y así quedó decidido.

Una noche muy obscura, mis tres jayanes llegaron con dos cuerdas de pozo.

Se cercioraron de que no había nadie en la carretera.

...Pero, repito, aquello fué mucho más duro de lo que yo mismo podía suponer. Sí; se trabajaba reciamente en los tiempos antiguos.

Sobre todo, yo no quería que se desalentaran. He despertado su amor propio y les he sugerido que volviesen otra noche, pero provistos de una piqueta para arrancar las piedras obstinadas del pedestal.

Y volvieron, con un litro de vino cada uno en el estómago. Vi como trabajaban. Trabajaban aprisa y bien. A golpe de piqueta separaron las piedras... Luego, con las cuerdas, tiraron con todas sus fuerzas. Yo permanecía allá, en lo Invisible,. Los alentaba tanto como podía. Sudaban a chorros. Les pagué un trago de tinto de propina y un vaso de ajenjo.

...Reanimados, hicieron un último esfuerzo y sintieron que el Cristo vacilaba, al fin, sobre su base.

¡Ea, un poco más!... ¡Ya es vuestro!

En efecto, se hicieron con él.

Con un crujido formidable, el Crucifijo fué arrancado de todas las piedras que aun le retenían y se desplomó sobre la hierba del talud.

—¡Bravo! —esclamó Lucifer-, batiendo sus garras.

—Y lo han arrastrado hasta el cieno, hasta el lodo de la cuneta, donde va enmohecerse, a desaparecer... Se acabó, se acabó decididamente.

Lucifer se tira de los pelos de la barba, y pregunta:

—Y en la aldea, ¿que reacción se ha producido?

—No tan grande como yo temía. El cura, naturalmente, se ha alborotado, como nosotros, si cayéramos en el agua bendita. Y ha lanzado un sermón incendiario, que no ha sido más que fuego de paja. Algunas buenas mujeres han lloriqueado, y murmurado de la generación moderna. Los hombres, como pretexto para no hacer nada, han pretendido que se trataba de vagabundos, maleantes, mendigos, los que habían perpetrado el hecho. Luego, vino la feria de la localidad, la verbena, el mercado de ganado. Finalmente, ya casi no se habla de ello.

Habría que hacer otro tanto en todas las aldeas —grita Lucifer—. Eres un bravo diablillo. Acércate para que te abrace.

Y muy regocijado, el sudemonio recibe el abrazo y el beso del Amo. Hace en seguida una pirueta en las mismas narices de sus camaradas, Y sale de allí dando brincos, a la busqueda de una nueva diablura que llevar a cabo.

Capítulo XXIII

EL DEMONIO DE LA VOCACIÓN RELIGIOSA

Otro demonio se desliza, pérfidamente, entre sus camaradas, y aparece ante Lucifer.

No tiene ni la más ligera semejanza con el fogoso demonio joven que le ha precedido.

Este parece hasta piadoso. Su aspecto es dulce, humilde, suave. Habla reposadamente, como en tono reflexivo:

—Ignoro, ¡oh, Lucifer!, lo que tan ruidosamente te ha contado mi camarada. Mis modales son otros muy distintos; y creo que calladamente, he hecho más y mejor que lo que él ha realizado con tanto estrépito.

—Deja en paz a tu camarada. Y dime lo que has hecho en pro de mi gran jornada...

—Seré lo más breve posible. Pero después de haberme escuchado pensarás que debía decirte lo que te quiero decir.

.Helo aquí: he rebuscado largo tiempo lo que en este día astral te proporcionará particular placer. Anhelaba ofrecerte algo que ninguno de mis demás camaradas te ofrecería. Tras muchas vacilaciones, ha recaído mi elección en un joven encantador que creyéndose llamado por Cristo, había pensado y decidido entrar en el Gran Seminario y hacerse sacerdote.

—¡Oh!, he aquí una cosa que me interesa muchísimo —exclama Lucifer, prestando singular atención—. ¿Y qué es lo que hiciste?

—He tratado de apoderarme de él directamente.

—¿Que me quieres decir?

—Me las he arreglado para proporcinarle un amigo, bajo cuya piel me he establecido como en su propia casa.

...Bajo mi inspiración, ese amigo hizo el firme propósito de cerrar al joven el acceso al Seminario. Por lo pronto, le ha hecho las objeciones tradicionales, le ha prestado libros, ha criticado a los sacerdotes, que no son lo que el vano pueblo cree. Le ha arrastrado luego a centros laicos y científicos, donde la vocación religiosa es considerada como indicio de flaqueza de ánimo, una especie de neurastenia encomendada al cuidado de los psiquiatras...

—¡Muy bien!

—Sí, pero esa idea de vocación estaba de tal modo arraigada en su espíritu, que el joven ha resistido. Y comprendí que era necesario buscar un terreno de repliegue para emprender un asalto que habría de ser decisivo. He vuelto a agarrar a mi mandatario, que ya estaba casi desanimado, y le he sugerido un medio que tiene éxito casi siempre.

—Lo adivino... —murmura Satanás-.

—Ese medio consiste en poner a una joven en su camino.

—Sí; mi querido demonio, tienes toda la razón. Recuerda cómo he triunfado en el ex-paraíso terrenal, haciendo que una mujer interviniera en mi maquinación.

—Sí, Amo; le recuerdo muy bien. No soy tan fuerte como tú; pero yo tambien esperaba triunfar.

...Ambos, mi amigo y yo, hemos elegido a la joven. Y había muchas que pataleaban, impacientes por liberarse de su forzado celibato...

...La nuestra era joven, agradable, una rubia de ojos azules..., inteligente, muy deseosa de matrimonio.

—Aunque no eres más que un pequeño demonio, razonas con verdadero acierto.

—He de añadir, ¡oh Lucifer!, que aquella señorita poseía, instintivamente, lo que se llama el sentido del comportamiento práctico. No asustó a nuestro seminarista en ciernes. Se las compuso bien para encontrarse con él en un terreno como si dijéramos absolutamente pacífico, sosegado, obras sociales y otras por el estilo; en la iglesia, no se colocaba muy lejos de él, tenía atenciones para con sus padres, les prestaba servicios. Se introdujo poco a poco en la familia, sin segunda intención de ningún género, al parecer. Tan dulce y melancólica como se pudiera desear, se vestía con elegancia y sencillez, permaneciendo siempre dentro de los límites observados por las personas de buena educación.

—¡Mejor que mejor! —murmura Lucifer-, alzando la cabeza.

Así las cosas, un buen día, cuando el ambiente estuvo bien preparado y la victima dispuesta para el sacrificio, me las arreglé para que los dos se encontrasen completamente solos, como por casualidad. La joven, entonces, se echó a llorar repentinamente.

—Pero ¿qué ocurre? ¡Qué le pasa a usted? —Exclama el pobre inocentón, asustado.

—¡Oh, nada! Yo no debía de haber venido aquí. Me creía tan fuerte...

Cada vez más emocionado, el futuro seminarista le enjuaga las lágrimas con su propio pañuelo. Y como ella se tambalease, la sostiene en su brazo, la consuela, un poco aturdido. Porque ¿de qué consolarla?...

—Quiero saber qué es lo que puede causarle a usted tanto sufrimiento —murmura él junto a ella-, con voz angustiada.

—¡No me lo pregunte!

—Pero, ¿por qué no?

—¡No puedo decírselo! ¡No se lo puedo confesar!... Temo que luego no quiera ya volver a verme...

—¡Se lo suplico!...

—¿Usted lo quiere?

—¡Oh!, ¿que si lo quiero?, ¡con toda mi alma!...

—¿No me guardará rencor?

—No.

—¿Me lo promete?, ¿me lo jura?

—Prometido.

—¿Lo jura? —insiste ella-.

El neófito vacila ante esta última palabra. Y, finalmente, se decide:

—Sí, lo juro...

—Pues bien: ¡le amo a usted! Y me vuelve loca el sufrimiento de pensar que quiere abandonarnos, vestir sotana, entrar en el Seminario...

El joven contempla entonces a la hermosa muchacha que solloza sobre su hombro. Ve sus ojos azules empapados en lágrimas, y murmura:

—Eso no está consumado todavía...

La joven se recobra inmediatamente, sujeta sus cabellos, se enjuga las lágrimas y apoyando ambas manos en los dos hombros del joven y mirándole bien a la cara, puestos los ojos en sus ojos:

—¡Oh, gracias por la esperanza que usted me da!...

...Esperanza que se ha convertido en realidad, puesto que ayer se casaron.

El cura está consternado; las familias, divididas; las hijas de María, celosas...

...He ahí el bocado exquisito que te traigo...

...Reconoce que éste tu jovencito demonio no ha trabajado muy mal...

—¡Bravo! —exclama Lucifer—. Estoy encantado de ti. Eres lo que se dice un diplomático "ciento por ciento". Te utilizaré para misiones superiores...

...Piensa en esto: ¡un sacerdote menos para Cristo! ¡Todo el daño que ese seminarista hubiera podido hacerme!...
...¡Es admirable! Y, a partir de este momento, te nombro arcángel.
El piadoso semblante de aquel demonio escurridizo se ilumina con una dulce sonrisa.
Y a la vista de aquel camarada tan feliz, los otros demonios, envidiosos y coléricos, le muestran el puño, gritando:
—¡Intrigante! ¡Hipócrita! ¡Clerical! ¡Hu!... ¡Hu!...

Capítulo XXIV

EL DEMONIO DE LA DESEPERACIÓN

¡Hazle entrar! Ordena Lucifer al arcángel.
El demonio que viene es también diferente en absoluto a los demás. La mirada sombría, vestido completamente de negro, marcha lentamente. Produce una impresión siniestra.
—Sé breve— dice Lucifer-, con poco agrado, viéndole llegar.
—Soy breve, pero continuo.
—¿Qué quieres decirme con eso?
—Que soy el especialista de los débiles, de los escrupulosos, de los enfermos. De esa calaña hay superabundancia, y más cada día.
—¿Tú explotas la angustia?
—Y desespero a los moribundos.
—¡Mis felicitaciones!
—Precisamente, Lucifer, mi sector no tiene límites. Trabajo en los hospitales, en las buhardillas, en los conventos y tambien con harta frecuencia en el mundo. Socavo el subsuelo de las conciencias y escudriño el archivo de las familias.
...Yo digo al escrupuloso: ¿Ese pecado...? ¡No lo confesaste!... Has olvidado una circustancia capital, que altera la especie y aumenta considerablemente la malicia. Es preciso que vuelvas a ver a tu confesor, que le supliques que te escuche una vez más. Aunque no sea más que por caridad y para sosegar tu conciencia, tan justamente inquieta.
...Y como aquel nuevo paso no le conducirá a ningún resultado, impulso al escrupuloso a que confiese de nuevo con otro confesor. Porque el escrupuloso, después de multiples consultas, revierte siempre a su propio juicio: "Si mi confesor me conociese como yo me conozco, no me hubiera dado tan fácilmente la absolución". Y esto continúa en aumento, como bola de nieve, hasta el infinito.
...En cuanto a los bien acomodados, a los que tienen sangre muy roja en las venas, trato de hacerles dudar de la legitimidad de su fortuna, de la honestidad de ciertos beneficios considerables, realizados, secretamente, en detrimento de los pobres.
...Pero todas mis preferencias se concentran en los moribundos. Esos apenas se me resisten. Debilitados ya físicamente, sus almas lo están también. Hago con ellos, poco más o menos, lo que quiero.
—Procura que yo saque provecho de ello —dice Lucifer—, porque en esos momentos del tránsito de una vida a otra es cuando se puede acaparar en masa a las almas.
—He aquí precísamente la aspiración ideal de mi vida de demonio. A veces me las ingenio bien para que no se le llame al sacerdote o para que llegue demasiado tarde... y el moribundo muera entonces como mueren las bestias.

...A veces, inculco en el agonizante un espantoso miedo a la muerte. "El morir, le insinúo, convierte en realidad todo lo que hay de abominable en ese aniquilamiento total. Tú tienes aquí todo cuanto es preciso para continuar tu vida dichosa. ¡Será necesario que todo lo abandones! ¿Comprendes bien? Todo..., tu habitación, tu casa llena de recuerdos, que con tanto amor has arreglado y dispuesto. Tendrás que abandonar tu fortuna, tu vida. Tus ojos van a cerrarse, se te secará la boca, tu corazón cesará de latir; y te convertirás en esa cosa inerte, horrible, descompuesta, que ya no tiene nombre en ninguna lengua y que es preciso enterrar, ocultar en seguida, lejos de las miradas de los que aun viven."

...Y no tengas la debilidad de asirte a una esperanza cualquiera. No te hagas ninguna ilusión. Lo que padeces no tiene remedio. Tus parientes, tu médico, tu enfermero te engañan, están representando una comedia cuando te hablaban de tu posible curación. El cáncer no se cura. Y lo que tienes es un cáncer. Vas a presenciar tu propia descomposición, ¡y a costa de cuanto sufrimiento!...

...¿Y para llegar a qué? A que se te coloque, como a tantos otros, entre cuatro tablones.

...y ése será tu fin.

...He ahí la verdad exacta.

...He ahí lo que te espera.

...He ahí lo que no se te dice, y lo que debes saber.

...Acuérdate de que no hay criatura más engañada que un enfermo.

...Y, después, el mundo continuará viviendo.

...Escudriñarán en los cajones de tus muebles, leerán tus cartas íntimas, rasgarán las fotografías.

...Pero sobre todo, se repartirán tus bienes.

...Y hasta es posible que tú mismo, que estás tendido sobre tus espaldas y que no puedes hacer otra cosa que mirar, hayas sorprendido la impaciencia en las miradas de tus herederos, y una codicia precursora de las disensiones del día de mañana.

...Y si perteneces a los que han sido amados con amor desinteresado, tan sólo por tu persona, tu sufrimiento será mayor aún ante los ojos bañados en lágrimas sinceras, ante los brazos que se te tenderán, para estrechar un inmimente cadaver... Y sobre una frente que comienza a helarse, se depositaran besos desesperados que no podrán devolverle el calor.

...Si; pobre agonizante, recoge bien tus trapos, arrebújate en tus sábanas: es preciso partir.

...¿Y para ir a dónde?

...¡Qué misterio!

...¡A la nada... tal vez!

...Y esa es la máxima esperanza, la alegría final de no existir ya en este mundo precario, donde todo es ansiedad y dolor.

O bien, si tienes la flaqueza, la desgracia de creer en el Más Allá, pobre desdichado, vas a comparecer ante un Dios terrible...

...El Dios de la justicia y la ira...

...el Dios del Dies irae....

...El Dios que va a exigirte cuenta cabal de todo, aun de las palabras inútiles...

...El Dios que encuentra falta hasta en sus ángeles...

...Por tanto, miserable pecador, ¿qué va a ser de tí?

...¿En qué abismo vas a sepultarte?

Despues de haber dicho y repetido esto, por que la repetición es la más enérgica de las figuras, consigo muertes espantosas, desesperadas despedidas de la vida, con blasfemias...

Muertos que te pertenecen, Lucifer...

Y yo, que no soy, sin embargo, otra cosa que un miserable subdemonio, te traigo todo eso, todas esas agonías, esos ojos llenos de incomprensión y de horror, para gloria y servicio tuyos.

Gracias —responde Satanás—; continúa embutiendo sin cesar, todos los días, rebaños de desesperados en mi infierno. Y en ese tránsito definitivo y trágico, arranca a Cristo todo cuanto puedas arrancarle.

...Jamás le arrancarás demasiado.

...¡Lucifer está satisfecho de ti!

Capítulo XXV

EL DEMONIO CONYUGAL

Entró después un pequeño demonio muy picaruelo, de ojos maliciosos, nariz fisgona, de las entrometidas en todas las ollas. Sus camaradas le llamaban "el enamorado" porque su especialidad eran los noviazgos, las bodas y, sobre todo, los divorcios.

Lucifer, al mirarlo, sonríe; porque de antemano sabía que su ministerio de perdición era bastante pintoresco.

—¡Miserable! ¿Qué maleficio has cometido hoy?

—¡Oh, Lucifer! Puesto que ésta es tu jornada, he querido, como muchos de mis camaradas, ofrecerte decididamente algo fresco y nuevo; en lugar de traerte cosas del montón, viejos matrimonios y otras futesas. Por eso, te traigo hoy, en un solo plato, una linda parejita casada ayer mismo.

—¡Adulador! ¿Quieres halagarme?

—Pues sí... Me alegra mucho el proporcionarte un placer. El caso de hoy lo he buscado, lo he estudiado. Se trata de un joven estudiante, culto, sentimental, soñador... En suma: todo lo que se necesita para cortarse el cuello. Es inteligente; pero muy bobo. Estoy seguro de que comprendes lo que te quiero decir, y que esas dos palabras pueden ir muy bien unidas...

Lucifer aprueba con un movimiento de cabeza:

—Sí, en amor casi siempre...

—Ese gran ingenuo llevaba a la edad en que tradicionalmente se siente inquietud en el alma, necesidad de afectos, de ternura, de caricias y de amor.

—Esa es precisamente tu jurisdicción.

—He examinado entonces el problema, y me he dicho: "BUen mozo, ya estás maduro para cometer la pifia inevitable. ¿Necesitas amor? Pues bien, espera un poco. Te voy a dar amor, ¡y a toneladas!..."

Me puse, pues, en acecho, y te aseguro que me encontraba muy bien en ese mi elemento. Por que esta caza me agrada muchísimo. He pasado revista a numerosas jóvenes. Y me he decidido por una que, físicamente, es en verdad preciosa, una morena, de tez tostada, ojos hechizeros, y que responde al nombre de Nefralbina.

—¿Y de dónde han desenterrado ese nombre?

—Su padre es farmacéutico, y algo vanidoso. Ha querido elegir un nombre de su profesión. Nefralbina no tiene, por lo demás, otra cosa en su persona que la belleza del diablo. Y perdóname la expresión...

—¡Gracias!
—Pero la posee a fondo. Aparte de eso, no sabe hacer absolutamente nada, ni siquiera un cocido, ni un ojal. Con mayor motivo, no sabe lo que es llevar una casa. En resumen: un cero a la izquierda.
...Yo me las he arreglado para enlazar esos dos destinos en el camino de la vida. Y he lanzado la corriente a gran voltaje. He asistido a los preliminares de costumbre. Se han mirado en el fondo de los ojos, se han cogido las manos, se han escrito cartas incendiarias. Y la novia ha recibido preciosos regalos. ¡El ritual completo del perfecto amor! Y ya te figurarás que conozco bien todas sus páginas.
...Boda de primera clase, anuncios en los periódicos, tarjetas de invitación en cartulina de lujo.
...Menospreciando al clero parroquial, pan de todos los días, fueron a buscar a un sacerdote de fuera, más o menos amigo de la familia. Y han pronunciado una espléndida plática matrimonial. Bien advertía yo que él no sabía ni una palabra acerca de aquella boda ni de la nulidad de la amada Nefralbina. Naturalmente, yo tomaba parte en la ceremonía. Me he encarnado en un paje de honor y, con los ojos cerrados, he saboreado todas las frases, silenciosamente, en el fondo de lo que llaman mi corazón. Esos son los modestos gafes de mi oficio, la alegría, el regocijo de tu pequeño subdemonio...
El maestro de capilla bien remunerado se ha excedido.
He oído, por centésima vez, la Marcha de los Sacerdotes de Alceste, el aria de Bach, el Ave María de Gounod, el Padre Nuestro de Busser.
La salida de la iglesia, bajo un hermoso sol, en medio de los curiosos y de las modistillas, ávidas de ver las modas femeninas, constituyó una apoteósis.
Naturalmente, los fotógrafos estaban allí, y disparaban, disparaban aquí y acullá...
Y en los grupos particulares, por entre los cuales circulaba yo para formarme opinión sobre el caso, todos los invitados, amigos y conocidos, exclamaban a coro: "¡Qué hermosa pareja tan completa! ¡Qué hogar, firme y entrañable, van a fundar! ¡Causa alegría el ver un matrimonio tan encantador! ¡Es una primavera en flor!..."
Sí, ¡pero yo estaba allí!...
—¡Pícaro redomado! —exclama Lucifer, riendo—; ¡tú no respetes nada!
—Pero si es por ti Satanas, bien lo sabes, por lo que me propuse cazarlos...
...Por lo demás, aun cuando yo hubiera abandonado mi bienhechora influencia, ese matrimonio era tan completamente idiota, que se hubiese deshecho por sí solo..., la boda de la carpa y el conejo.
—Que es lo que habrá sucedido.
—Pues si, Lucifer, y muy rápidamente.
—¿Al cabo de un año?
—Mucho antes. Al cabo de los tres meses las discusiones dieron comienzo...
...Desde los bastidores, he echado aceite sobre el fuego.
...Sobrevinieron luego discusiones más graves.
...Se dijeron recíprocamente frases descorteses, vejatorias.
...Con espanto, él, alumno de una gran Escuela, cargado ya de pesadas responsabilidades, se dió cuenta de que se había casado con un maniquí, y que prescindiendo de los temas que afectan a los vestidos, lunches y "cines", no puede existir, entre él y su mujer, conversación inteligente.
...Es un pesado lastre, una bola de hierro, lo que lleva sujeto a su pie; y para expiar su garrafal error, tendrá que arrastrar toda su vida, día y noche.

...Y, al fin, una mañana, por una verdad evidente que, cansado ya, no había sabido callar, su pequeña y adorada Nefralbina descuelga, de un salto, la percha de un vestido, con lo que le deja hinchado un ojo y le rasga el vientre al bien amado.
Cuando aquel día llega jadeante a su despacho y sus colegas se inquietan al verle tan lastimoso estado, les dice que ha sufrido una terrible caída de la bicicleta.
...¡Nada de eso!
Era su dulce mitad la que había descargado sobre él sus nervios irritados.
...Y ahora, Lucifer, ya te imaginarás el resto; separación, familia contra familia, querella, divorcio, y todo lo demás.
—¿No hay nigún hijo?
—Sí, y no ¿Comprendes?
—¡Perfectamente!
—Si esto te divierte, puedo citarte otros casos, muy pintorescos también...
No; tu querida Nefralbina basta para mi felicidad. Eres un encanto —gruñe Lucifer—. Cuando quiera casarme, cuento contigo para que me elijas mujer...
—Siempre a tus órdenes, querido señor, responde aquel demonio, muy satisfecho con la sonrisa de su amo y con haber causado cierto efecto en el empedernido corazón de su jefe...

Capítulo XXVI

EL DEMONIO ROMPECACHARROS

El demonio "enamorado" queda obscurecido por el que llega inmediatamente despues de él. A Lucifer le parece, en efecto, más gracioso.
Es un querubín al que otros ángeles caídos, más perversos que él, arrastraron en su rebelión.
Es lindo, de pelo rizado, con el aspecto malicioso de un monito, siempre en acecho de la ocasíon para cualquier fechoría.
Lucifer lo mira con complacencia. Porque estos subdemonios le distraen al ego de su inmenso tedio.
—Acércate, hombrecito, ¿a cuántos has hecho víctimas de tus diabluras?
—No a todos los que yo quisiera... Pero con ánimo de variar y a causa de tu jornada, me he propuesto ofrecerte un entremés que espero que te guste.
—Veamos ese entremés.
—¡Oh!, no estarás acostumbrado a comer eso todos los días. Figúrate que ahora trabajo en casa del señor arcipreste.
—¡Qué idea! ¡Y qué mala compañía!
—Pero si es por ti, para variar tu menú. Acuérdate de que los hombres en la tierra, dicen: "El cambio de pienso, alegra el jumento". Yo he querido regocijarte.
—Te agradezco la comparación. Observas una absoluta falta de respeto para con tu superior.
—En todo caso, te aseguro que es muy interesante el trabajar en la casa de esos "señores sacerdotes".

—Muy de acuerdo.

—¡Ah! ¿Ves? ¿Se te mueve la nariz! Te va a encantar el escucharme.

...Estoy, como te digo, en casa de un venerable arcipreste. Me paseo por el presbiterio. Estoy, naturalmente, muy a buenas con la cocinera, una criada vieja, devota perdida, de carácter atrabilario.

...Gracias a una monda de plátano, colocada en un buen sitio, hice que cayera de espaldas, con las cuatro extremidades en alto, cuando llevaba cuidadosamente, piadosamente, una pila de viejos platos, que acababa de secar como preparativo para el día siguiente en que monseñor comería en el presbiterio.

...¡Como buen trabajo, puedes creer que lo fué de verdad! ¡La multiplicación de los platos!

...Ante semejante desastre, el señor arcipreste no montó en cólera porque es un bendito. Pero no le faltaron ganas de hacerlo. Sin embargo, aquello no era más que un pequeño comienzo, como si dijéramos un aperitivo.

...Me he pasado días enteros en el despacho del arcipreste, donde hay comodísimos sillones. Me gustaba mucho revolverle los papeles. Habia estado preparando un sermón y no podía volver a encontrar las cuartillas. Insidiosamente, yo había hecho que se deslizasen bajo su sillón. He ocultado su estilográfica, su brevario. Le he escondido los lentes, el pañuelo, su libro de cuentas.

...Había que oírle decir, con voz indignada contra sí mismo: "Pero ¿dónde está mi estilográfica? Si la tenía a mi alcance hace un momento. No me he movido de aquí. ¡Y no la encuentro ya!

...¡Lo comprendo bien! Yo la había escondido en el triángulo que formaba el lomo de una Biblia abierta.

...Para acabar de empeorar el asunto, ha buscado otra que no tenía tinta. Tuvo que llenarla. Pero sus dedos, temblorosos por la edad, han dejado que la tinta se desparrame por todas partes.

...Entonces, presa de la impaciencia y enojado siempre contra sí mismo: "¡Esta es la vejez! Ya no sirvo para nada. Y cuando monseñor venga, le presentaré mi dimisión".

...Volvió a ponerse a trabajar, sin embargo. Pero yo no le dejé mucho tiempo tranquilo. Tan pronto venía un pedigüeño, o dos, bien entrenados, impulsados por mí. Tan pronto era una corriente de aire, Y cuando, para recuperar el tiempo perdido, trabajaba por las noche, despues de cenar, su anciana hermana acudía a quejarse a voces a causa del precio de la luz eléctrica, y porque él, trabajando así, dormiría mal por la noche.

...Cuando recitaba su Brevario, yo convertía su cerebro en una plaza pública, por donde pasaban y volvían a pasar las mas insospechadas ideas. Hasta el punto de que a veces creía aquel santo hombre que se había saltado las "Horas", y discutía consigo mismo para decidir si debía volver a empezarlas, o no.

Y durante la Misa —interrumpe Lucifer—, espero que tú no te olvidaras de él.

—En cuanto a eso, hago lo que puedo. Pero tengo que salvar un obstáculo, una severa guardia de los ángeles del otro lado. Sin embargo, hace pocos dias he conseguido que rompiese las vinajeras. Verdaderamente, ésa es mi especialidad, las dos a la vez, y con ellas el platillo de cristal, sobre las losas de la sacristía.

—En resumen: tú eres, ante todo, un "rompecacharros".

—Sí, mi querido Amo, responde aquel demonio, con modestia. Romper la vajilla, los cacharros, ¡eso ya es algo!

Paternalmente, Lucifer replica:

—Sí; las pequeñas cosas promueven otras más grandes. Un guijarro en el zapato estropea la más hermosa excursión.
—De modo, Lucifer, que prosigo mi piadosa maniobra. Esta mañana he vuelto a agarrar a mi arcipreste y he hecho que perdiera sus llaves.
—Muy bien,; persevera en ese camino. Con poco de habilidad que tengas, le harás perder la cabeza algún día.
...¡Ya he comenzado a hacerlo! Mi triunfo lo alcanzé el dia en que, solamente, llegó monseñor. Todo el mundo estaba en su puesto. La cocinera, junto al fogón. Y el señor arcipreste no había dormido.
...Aquel día, estaba yo desatado.
...He empezado por la cocina. He procurado que la buena mujer incurriera en distracciones, y la leche se ha desbordado de la cacerola. Y ella la necesita imprescindiblemente para las salsas, los pasteles y lo demás.
...El fuego no acababa de encenderse bien. El carnicero ha llegado tarde. Un vicario, miope y bastante torpe, ha pisado, con sus zapatones claveteados, la cola del gato, el mimo de la señorita, hermana del arcipreste. El gato ha lanzado gritos espantosos, y ha escapado, rompiendo, al huir, una botella de aceite. Y ha habido que buscarlo, y consolarlo en el jardín.
...Despues, he ido a la iglesia. He introducido la confusión en la sacristía. Los niños del coro no llegaban. Aparecía el incensario, pero no el incienso, y hubo disputa para decidir quien llevaría la cruz, los candelabros, los bordes de la sotana de monseñor.
...He terminado por trastornar por completo al señor arcipreste. Se habría aprendido de memoria su alocución a monseñor. La alocución era muy hermosa y conmovedora. Pero, a mitad de ella, me las he ingeniado para que la memoria le fallase. Ha querido consultar sus cuartillas precipitadamente; pero yo las habia traspapelado en la sacristía.
...Entonces, el pobre hombre se quedó seco, es decir, rompió a sudar copiosamente. Los feligreses se preguntaban qué le ocurriría. Verdaderamente, si yo no hubiese sido demonio tuyo, me habría dado lástima. Pero yo me había aventurado hasta tal punto que no podía detenerme ya. Quise llevar mi audacia hasta jugarle una mala pasada a monseñor, quitándole su anillo. Pero no lo conseguí. Por la tarde, acabé de apurar la paciencia del personal: el guardia suizo, especialmente, estaba tan transtornado como si él fuese, en lugar de uno solo, treinta y seis mil hombres.
Lucifer reía frotándose las manos:
—Algún día lo conseguiré-, quizás.
—Pues bien, ese día te concederé el ascenso.
El diablillo hace la cabriola ritual, y se marcha, entusiasmado a reunirse con sus camaradas, que cada vez más impacientes y por no variar, le tienden, coléricos sus garras.

Capítulo XXVII

EL DEMONIO MUNDANO

Alto y erguido, fino, elegante, perfumado como una mujer, vistiendo orgulloso la librea de su Amo, el demonio del Mundo se adelanta.
Al divisarlo, Lucifer se echa a reir.
El demonio se siente, al parecer, muy herido por ello.

-Pero si es para servirte, Satanás, por lo que me he visto así... Gracias a este indumento puedo introducirme en todas las fiestas de la tierra, en todas las veladas, en todos los bailes, en todas las exhibiciones de la gente de mundo. recuerda que soy, con la Soberbia, el ángel que aborrece tu enemigo, Cristo.

Y con un dedo que luce una uña pintada de rojo, el ángel muestra su divisa, intercalada, como un reto, entre sus cabellos rizados: Vae mundo... ¡Hay del mundo!...

:

—No menosprecio tu poder. Pero todos esos oropeles mundanos me han divertido siempre. No te enfades... Ya te escucho.

El ángel advierte que tal vez sea algo extenso; pero será ciertamente interesante. Con evidente placer, no omitirá ningún detalle, como un artista que hubiera tallado un precioso marfil y gustase de hacer notar toda su delicada belleza.

—Lucifer, en este día de preparación, he querido traerte, como todos mis grandes camaradas, un bocado en verdad digno de un rey.

—¿Y cómo se llama ese real bocado?

El ángel se reconcentra y, finalmente, le cita el nombre de una dama bien conocida en la sociedad internacional, una dama que frecuenta, a lo largo de todo el año, los más renombrados puntos de recreo.

—¿Ha muerto ya esa dama?

—Muerto está su cuerpo, y muerta está también su alma; así lo espero. Me lo propuse, a toda costa. Desde hace mucho tiempo, me dedicaba con toda asuidad a la tarea de aturdirla, de impedir que pensara...

Lucifer le interrumpe:

—Sí, en efecto, has conseguido realizar tus propósitos, creo indispensable el decirte desde este mismo momento que te has hecho muy merecedor de mi gratitud.

El demonio mundano hace una espectacular reverencia, y prosigue:

—Tenía yo en observación a la tal dama desde mucho tiempo atrás, durante unas fiestas espléndidas, donde una corte de admiradores formaba círculos en torno suyo. Muy linda, aun más coqueta que bonita, y muy rica... Gastaba sumas fabulosas en las casas de los más afamados modistos, en las peluquerías de gran lujo y en los institutos de belleza.

...Se la invitaba a todas las más brillantes reuniones, comía en los mejores restaurantes, y este último detalle era mi esperanza. Pronto, muy pronto, tuve el presentimiento de que tal esperanza comenzaba a realizarse.

...Una tarde, al descender del coche, después de una comida campestre, mi querida amiga sufrió un vertigo.

...No dijo nada a nadie. Pero, secretamente, fué a ver a su médico, un alto pontífice de la profesión, que le tomó la tensión inmediatamente.

...Tenía 27.

—Eso es demasiado, señora; bordea usted un abismo en el que súbitamente podría caer.

El doctor le prescribió un régimen severo, prohibiéndole las salidas de noche, la carne, el vino, los licores, todo lo que constituía la alegría de su vida.

...Un poco asustada, prometió al médico obedecerle en todo, hasta contentarse con un caldo de legumbres, cada noche, por cada cena...

Durante unos quince días, estuvo cumpliendo su promesa.

Pero yo estaba allí... y con algunas de sus amigas más o menos atolondradas e ignorantes del peligro.

Aquella semana había un baile internacional y de trajes; todas sus amigas querían asistir.

La tentación es violenta. Vacila. Sus amigas se sorprenden de ello; la incitan a que no deje de asistir a esa fiesta, de la que ya hablan todos los periódicos... Y, además, se trata de una sola vez. Bastante penitencia hizo ahora para tener derecho a permitirse una expansión tan insignificante.

Ella cede, al fin, y por completo.

...Se reunen para decidir qué vestido ha de llevar cada una. Porque hay que evitar coincidencias y duplicidades.

...Mi querida amiga vestirá de ingenua pastora, toda de tul blanco y cinturón rosa. Viene luego la elección del tul, la prueba, el parecer del director de la casa de modas, elección de los escarpines de satén, consulta en casa del peluquero. Se suprimirán los antiguos buqles para convertirlos en trenzas campesinas, muy lisas... !Cosa nada fácil!... Se precisarán, por lo menos, tres sesiones... ¿Y qué rojo para los labios... y para las uñas...? Y el problema del gran sombrero pastoril, y el del cayado, adornado con una cinta rosa, ¡y todo lo demás!

...Yo estaba allí, en lo Invisible, para sugerir ideas, para vestir a aquella muñeca del modo más sugestivo. Pensaba yo en el baile, ¡sobre todo, en el lunch! Porque yo sabía que era glotona, y no ignoraba yo que las pocas privaciones que se había impuesto, le habrían hecho más glotona todavía. Esto, considerando su tensión, era una esperanza. Y yo suponía fundadamente que esa tensión subiría de un modo implacable y peligroso.

...Mi clienta, por lo demás, completamente obsesionada con tanto vertiginoso detalle, no pensaba ya en su régimen, sino exclusivamente en su tocado y en su fiesta.

Abrevia, —dice Lucifer—, impaciente; un sinnúmero de demonios patalean tras la puerta.

El demonio mundano continúa; imperturbable sin querer omitir ni un detalle de lo que tiene que contar:

—Pues bien: asistió a ese baile. Entrada sensacional... Mi clienta era ciertamente la más bella. Lindo vestido blanco; cabellos bien trenzados, que descendían sobre sus hombros, descotados tanto como pudiera desearse. Todos los pastores miran, admirados, solícitos, rodeando a la linda pastora. La orquesta preludia... El baile comienza hacia media noche... Vals arrebatador... Ambigú bien surtido... La fiesta está en su apogeo. Los periodistas, los fotógrafos están allí, para ilustrar el artículo a punto de ser escrito.

De repente, se produce un revuelo y la gente se agolpa en un rincón de la sala.

—¿Qué es eso? pregunta un caballero, ajustándose el monóculo.

—¡Oh, nada! Es la condesa N..., probablemente demasiado oprimida, que ha tenido un síncope.

Y el baile continúa. Las parejas pasan y giran alegremente.

En realidad, la condesa acaba de ser transladada a un salón independiente. Está tendida, como muerta, sobre un diván.

...Sobre todo, se ha recomendado mucho a algunos que lo saben, que no digan nada, para no turbar la alegría de todos los bailan al ritmo, a veces lánguido y a ratos endiablado, de la orquesta.

...Pero, a pesar de todo, se ha telefoneado al doctor. El cual llega por fin, restregándose los ojos somnolientos.

...Son las dos de la madrugada.

...A pesar de que la puerta está cerrada, los ecos del baile llegan hasta allí.

...Con los puños de la camisa remangados, el médico acaba de hacer a la enferma una sangría formidable.

...¡Qué espectáculo!... La sangre corre sobre aquel vestido de tul blanco que no se puede desabrochar porque, para más elegancia, fué cosido sobre la misma condesa en persona.

...Están en aquel saloncito el propietario de la sala y dos ancianas damas que, atisbando tras las cortinas, lo han visto todo... y contemplan el cuadro con ojos espantados.

...Porque la graciosa pastora, la brillante bailarina, se ha convertido en pocos momentos en una moribunda jadeante.

...Y he aquí que una anciana dama —¡oh, ganas me entraron de retorcerle el cuello!— murmura, juntando las manos: ¿Habrá quizás que llamar al sacerdote?

...El médico entonces, se vuelve y, bajo mi inspiración, dice:

—¿Un sacerdote? Si ustedes quieren... Pero no servirá de mucho; la enferma está ya sin conocimiento.

—Sería para poder añadir: "auxiliada con los sacramentos de la Iglesia".

¡Bah! —murmura el doctor—; aún así, eso no añadirá, de todos modos. No perjudica a nadie.

...No; a nadie... ni siquiera a mí, que allí estaba, mi querido Lucifer, en un rincón de la pieza, riendo a espaldas de todos.

...Mi presa, mi magnífica presa... ya estaba en mis manos; la habia conseguido.

Hacia las tres de la madrugada, todo había terminado. Te ofrezco, pues, ¡oh, Amo mío!, un alma interesante, que producirá más sensación en tu Infierno que las traídas por varios de mis queridos colegas, que sueñan con suplantarme.

—No, no hay quien suplante al Ángel mundano. Alcanza sus éxitos con demasiada facilidad.

—Precisamente, ése es mi dominio. Yo sé lo que sé.

...Vuelvo a marcharme; tengo allí otras almas bajo mi vigilancia... Las fiestas proporcionan muchas en estos momentos. La mies es mucha; habrá que enviarme demonios de refuerzo, pero demonios bien entrenados, que conozcan la vida y no bostecen soñando.

—Es verdad lo que dices— -responde LUcifer—, súbitamente pensativo. Reflexionaré sobre lo que me pides. Entre tanto, continúa trabajando bien. Tu informe ha sido largo; pero me ha interesado.

El ángel mundano saluda cortesmente. Y con las alas bien abiertas, en medio de un alboroto infernal, vuelve a desceder sobre la tierra, donde alegres humanos se aturden inconscientemente, como los moscardones en el polvo dorado por el sol y, continúan su ronda entre dos hecatombes.

Capítulo XXVIII

EL DEMONIO "¿AD QUID...?"

Y he aqui que llega otro subdemonio.

Desde el primer momento se obtiene la impresión de que se trata de un ser especial, caracterizado por la osamenta de su persona, cuello largo, con una especie de ascensor, que es su prominente nuez, cabeza oscilante... Los grandes ojos vienen a agravar mas aún aquel inquietante rostro, ojos que emerjen, como los de una rana.

Al verle, creería uno que estaba viendo un punto de interrogación.
Y, efectivamente, es una interrogación. Semblante frío, hermético, ofensivo.
Lucifer, fatigado con los informes precedentes, le examina con mirada dura, bajo sus cejas de fuego. Se presiente que le van a dar "una lata" de las pesadas.
¿De modo que eres tú? —dice-, en tono altanero.
—¿Me reconoces?
—Sí. Tú eres el Ad quid... ¡Curiosos nombre! ¿Quien te lo puso?
—Pues mis queridos cofrades, naturalmente.
—¿Qué has hecho hoy?
—Lo que los demás. Con una diferencia: que lo que yo hago, nadie lo ve. No te traigo bocados escogidos, como esas damas y caballeros, los altos demonios. Mi carrera no es de las brillantes. Pero creo que a pesar de todo significará algo ante tus augustos ojos...
—Asi lo quiero. Pero tú lo empiezas todo sin que jamás termines cosa alguna. Me gustan los demonios de acción eficaz.
—Y sin enbargo, yo puedo presentarte hechos que demostrarían hasta qué punto eres injusto con tu pobre Ad quid. Evidentemente, yo no trabajo para cazar piezas. Yo preparo el anzuelo, insinúo, quebranto las iniciativas, debilito las buenas voluntades, intervengo en las donaciones concedidas a las obras piadosas, expurgo los testamentos. Dicto a los mejores ciertas frases que con el tiempo producen su efecto. Les digo, por ejemplo: ¿Ad quid?, es decir: ¿Para qué? Ese es un lema muy mio. Y yo sé que los lemas te gustan. De él proviene mi nombre. Y con ayuda de él, hago muchas cosas que tus autoritarios señores demonios no podrían alcanzar jamás.
—Me aturdes con todas esas frases. Cítame un hecho concreto; y despues , puedes marcharte de aquí.
—Gracias por tu benevolencia para con un pobre demonio.
...Pues bien, he aquí el hecho concreto que tu majestad desea: un rico banquero estaba obsesionado con la idea de construir una gran casa de vecindad, para un centenar de familias, en uno de los suburbios. Y estaba a punto de comprometer una suma considerable en este disparate, que hubiera puesto a todo un pueblo en manos de los curas.
—¿Has creado entonces el obstáculo?
—Sí; y con mi Ad quid.
...Le he dicho y repetido, en la intimidad: "¡Qué error! ¡Cuánto dinero perdido!..." Y como protestase, le he citado el ejemplo de una casa de vecindad, saqueada en pocos años por los mismos obreros. Un hermoso edificio, con todo el comfort moderno... Pero a esos señores obreros se le habían impuesto ciertas restricciones, por el bien general. Se han sentido ofendidos. Presumían que se atentaba a su dignidad de trabajadores. Y luego, habia un punto importantísimo, respecto del cual no llegaban ellos mismos a ponerse de acuerdo. Unos querían una habitación grande y varias pequeñas... Otros exigían lo contrario, es decir: ninguna pieza grande, sino mayor número de pequeñas piezas...
...Varios exigían que se les concediera el derecho de tener, en el patio, gallinas y cajones para conejos... Cierto número rechazó el aumento por la calefacción central. Y rápidamente se formó un sindicato: divisiones, intrigas, negativas a pagar la couta de alquiler...
...Pero aún van más allá... Roban los grifos de cobre, desenroscan las bombillas eléctricas, se abusa de los ascensores utilizándolos tambien para bajar. Las familias que tienen muchos niños reclaman un régimen especial, queriendo resultar más favorecidas que las otras. Las mujeres toman cartas en el asunto. Aquello fué el infierno, escándalos en los hogares, celos, cartas anónimas, riñas, procesos.

La vejez de aquel benefactor resultó completamente envenenada.

...Resumen: al escuchar todos los hechos que yo le citaba y que le había considerablemente exagerado, el banquero se guarda su dinero con destino a una inversión mucho más laica.

—¡Perfectamente! Reconozco que eso es algo tangible.

—Espera Lucifer; me has pedido un hecho... Voy a citarte otro.

—¡No muy largo!...

—Conmigo no tienes paciencia, y deberías agradecerme lo que te voy a contar ahora.

...He puesto mi puntería en un magnífico escritor, grande en potencia, porque aún es un escritor desconocido. ¡Pero lo posee todo para llegar a ser formidable...! Dese hace dos años trabaja en un libro que causará sensación, sobre la autenticidad de los Evangelios.

Lucifer se sobresalta.

—¡Oh, tranquilízate! Me he impuesto la misión, en holocausto a tu día astral, de desanimar a ese escritor. Le veía trabajar día y noche, con ardor, con entusiasmo. Hacia acopio de documentos nuevos. En resumen: no de muy buena salud, se fatigaba mucho. Pero estaba sostenido y alentado por el pensamiento del inmenso bien que su libro iba a proporcionar a todos los que piensan y buscan la verdad, sobre todo a los protestantes que sueñan con reintegrarse al cristianismo.

—Razón de mas para cerrarle totalmente el paso.

—Eso es precisamente lo que estoy en camino de hacer. La otra noche —eran las dos de la madrugada—, trabajaba todavía, a pesar de las protestas de su mujer. Yo le notaba nervioso, deprimido. He estimado entonces que el ambiente me era favorable. Me he acercado a él, y le he susurrado al oído: "Ad Quid?..., ¿para qué todo ese trabajo? En primer término no te van a comprender. No te secundarán... Eso es demasiado fuerte para la mayoría de las inteligencias y, sobre todo, no es "comercial". Vas a hacer inútiles y anticuados un montón de libros escritos sobre ese mismo tema. Los autores y editores se convertiran en enemigos tuyos.

...En conclusión: no encontrarás editor que arriesgue su dinero en la edición de un libro de cuatrocientas páginas, que forzosamente ha de costar muy caro.

...No te olvides de que el papel alcanza precios elevadísimos, los salarios están muy altos. En fin, tu libro, por hermoso que sea, no se venderá... Ojos tienes para ver y oídos para oir... Aunque seas intelectual, tienes ambos pies sobre la tierra. Convéncete de que la gente, en su inmensa mayoría, reserva su dinero, en la actualidad, para gastarlo en viajes, motos, autos, gasolina, receptores de radio, "cines"...

...En cuanto a esos problemas lejanos y especulativos, cien veces trillados, de la autenticidad de los Evangelios, !esos no les interesan en absoluto! De modo que en lugar de fatigarte el cerebro traduciendo el hebreo y quemarte los ojos, vete a acostar... ¡Eso será mucho más prudente!

—Reconozco que ese procedimiento es bastante hábil.

—Le he citado ejemplos famosos: el de Waqner, que en cierta época de su vida, no tenía dinero ni para comprar pan para su familia. Mozart sufrió absolutamente la misma angustia,

...Pero yo he insistido con toda particularidad sobre el caso extraordinario de Gounod, el cual, a pesar de su genio, ho ha encontrado ni un solo editor francés que quisiera imprimir su famoso Fausto. Y tuvo que ir a Londres, donde, al fin, uno, cargando con todo el riesgo, se decidió a publicar su obra.

...Y hoy dia, cuando uno quiere conseguir un lleno total en la opera, no hay más que poner Fausto en los carteles. Pero al oir esto, Lucifer se inquieta y hace violentos signos denegatorios:

—¡Desdichado! No ves que destruyes todo el beneficio de tu insinuación... ¿Cómo?... ¿Vas a citar los desdichados comienzos de Gounod y su espléndido triunfo final!... ¿Citar tamben a Wagner y Mozart, que se vieron en el mismo caso?... Pero si ahí hay materia para alentar todas las iniciativas clericales... El camino es áspero, pero la llegada a la meta es maravillosa. Por un momento, te he creído inteligente. Pero has terminado convirtiéndote en cola de pececito. A pesar de tus grandes ojos, eres de vista corta...

Vivamente enojado, Ad Quid replica:

—Olvidas, Lucifer, que en Fausto, el gran papel lo representas tú. No es posible ver Fausto sin Mefistófeles...

—Pero, pobre demonio de a cuatro cuartos, si no hay comparación posible. Te olvidas de que estoy —¡y de qué modo!— en todos los Evangelios. Soy yo quien, solemnemente, he tentado tres veces a Cristo. Soy yo a quien Cristo interpela. Yo, a quien Él expulsa del cuerpo de los enfermos, en el que yo había encarnado. ¡Pretender impedir la aparición de ese libro con argumentos que claramente se vuelven contra tí! ¡eso es una locura! Hoy me ofreces, como regalo, una pífia magnífica...

Súbitamente, Ad Quid se rebela:

—¡Si hablamos de planchas, yo no he cometido jamás una tan monumental como la tuya!... ¿Y para llegar a qué? Hubiéramos podido ser tan perfectamente dichosos permaneciendo en el cielo... ¡En tanto que hoy padecemos la esclavitud y el infierno!...

—¡Cállate! Me estas insultando. ¡Eres un mal demonio, un transfuga, con el aditamento de la imbecilidad!

Fuera de sí, el subdemonio salta sobre el Amo, con las garras abiertas.

Pero el arcángel de servicio interviene, le sujeta por el cuello y le arroja brutalmente al exterior, gritándole: ¿Ad Quid...?

¿Para qué...? ¡Bien sabes que estas amarrado para siempre!...

Y mientras el desdichado subdemonio va dando tumbos cabeza abajo y rueda por la dura escalera de hierro, el eco sonoro repite irónicamente: Ad Quid!... Ad Quid!... ¡Para qué!... ¡Para qué!...

Capítulo XXIX

EL HURACAN INFERNAL

Y sobrevino la tempestad, ¡el huracan!...

Lucifer, ya nervioso y fatigado, se enfureció completamente.

Inflamado de soberbia y acostumbrado a todas las adulaciones de sus esclavos, no ha podido soportar la insolencia de aquel subdemonio, que ha tenido la audacia de ver las cosas de modo distinto a como él las ve.

Llama al arcángel de servicio:

—¿Han de pasar aún muchos demonios?

—¿Muchos...? ¡Hay una caterva! Están impacientes... Patalean. Y no vas a dar fin, Lucifer, si quieres escucharlos a todos. Se han agolpado contra las puertas. Y si no fueran de hierro, de hierro del Infierno... y si no hubieran llegado refuerzos a todo batir de alas, me habrían desbordado, para asediarte con el cuento de sus hazañas y sus reinvidicaciones.

Lucifer, entonces, empuña un terrible látigo, hecho de haces de fuego, y sin detenerse, entra en la inmensa sala de espera.

El espectáculo es terrorífico.

Todos los demonios estan allí, apelotonados unos contra otros, gritaban, luchando, arrastrándose, aullando. Rabiosas discusiones se entrecruzan por encima de sus cabezas.

No pudiendo hacerlo ante Lucifer, vociferan en pugilato sus fechorías, esperando que así, a pesar del estruendo, Satanás se fijara en ellos.

Yo —grita el Respeto humano—, debiera de haber pasado primero, porque tengo a todos los hombres cogidos por la garganta. Y no sólo a la chusma, sino también a los hombres más ilustres, que no se han atrevido a poner los pies en la iglesia a causa mía... ¿Me oís bien?... ¡A todos! ¡Y durante más de un siglo!...

—¡Eso no es cierto! Ahora, retrocedes. Hay, en la actualidad, más hombres que mujeres en las iglesias.

—¿Que te diría yo, entonces? —exclama el demonio de la Ingratitud—. Condeno, yo sólo, más almas que cualquiera de los que estan aquí. Cristo ha curado a diez leprosos... Ni uno sólo se ha acercado a darle las gracias. Es una buena proporción. Yo, actualmente, lo hago mucho mejor.

—¡Exageras!...

—Pues bien: juzgad vosotros mismos. Todos los días, todos los hombres se sientan a la mesa. Y lo hacen dos o tres veces. Fijaos en los que piensan en dar las gracias por el pan que comen, por el vino que beben. Fijaos en los que rezan el Benedicte, en los que hacen cuando menos la señal de la cruz. En otro tiempo, nuestros abuelos trazaban con su cuchillo el signo de la Cruz sobre la hogaza que empezaban a cortar. ¡Los modernos, jamás!... Y eso, por causa mía, por causa del demonio de la Ingratitud. De modo que esos ingratos me pertenecen.

Pero su colega, el del Respeto Humano, no transinge con esa afirmación. Y replica, colérico:

—Recuenta ahora a los cristianos que tres veces al día, en la ciudad y en los campos, oyen tocar el Angelus y no lo rezan nunca. ¿Por qué? Pues por miedo, por respeto social. La ingratitud no tiene que ver nada en eso... ¡Esos son míos, y aún más numerosos que los tuyos!

Frente a frente, con el puño tendido, convulsa la boca, horrorosos de ver, los dos demonios se ensarzan.

No son los únicos. Porque he ahí al demonio de la Velocidad, que, irguiéndose, grita con voz silbante:

—¿Y yo? ¿Es que no me teneis en cuenta a mí? También hubiera querido yo, ¡oh Lucifer!, que me hubiese correspondido el turno ante ti, para enumerarte a la multitud de los que he matado sobre todos los caminos de la Muerte.

... ¡Cuántas veces he embrujado al padre que guiaba! Lo enloquezco, acelera la marcha sin mirar ni una aldea, ni un paisaje, nada más que la estúpida carretera, que se prolonga hasta el infinito ante él...

...80..., 90..., 10o..., 120 al ahora. Le infundo la locura de la velocidad.

...Lleva en el coche a toda su familia. Y no piensa en ello.

...La madre tiembla, fijados los ojos en el indicador de marcha.
...Los niños duermen, tranquilos.
¡No tan aprisa, amigo mío! —suplica la mujer-.
El muy vanidoso, se ríe... ¡Él es el hombre! El que no tiene miedo de nada.
Y, de repente, un neumático estalla... Una sacudida formidable... choque contra un árbol..., el coche vuelca, se incendia la gasolina..., la familia abrasada..., aniquilada.
...Todos los días te ofrezco esto, ¡oh, Lucifer!, en los caminos del mundo, ¡los caminos de los difuntos!
...¡Oh, pero eso no es todo! Cuando se organiza un concurso de autos o de aviones, yo trabajo en gran escala. Promuevo explosiones en el aire..., o penetro en la multitud como un bólido, causando una hecatombe entre todos los espectadores, hombres, mujeres, niños.
...Reconoce, Lucifer, que para un subdemonio, ésta es, a pesar de todo, una buena tarea cotidiana, y que vale la pena de escucharme y aun de darme las gracias.
Resuenan bravos frenéticos... Y de reinvindicación en reinvindicación, el incendio se propaga por la sala, cuyo pavimento tiembla.
Todos los pequeños demonios toman parte en el alboroto, gritando, protestando, aullando, blasfemando más que nunca.
No dejan de unirse al griterio ni el demonio de la Costura, de colores satánicos, negro y ocre, ni siquiera el demonio de la Espuma.
El de la Espuma, sobre todo, se hace oir por encima de todos los demás, a causa de la estridencia de sus gritos. Recuerda que su sector lo constituyen todos los ¿me has visto?, los exhibicionistas de la tierra que abundan en los cabarets, en los salones, y ante las multitudes. Y cuando se exprimen, como una esponja, las frases confusas de sus manifestaciones, no queda nada que signifique algo..., ¡espuma! Quiere hacer una exposición de sus actividades y comienza a redondar una gran frase. Pero la multitud grita: ¡Hu!..., ¡Hu!...
Y he aquí que, mucho más pujante que él, álzase un formidable subdemonio. Es singularmente repugnante su aspecto. Barbilla de vieja, puntiaguda; enorme vientre y dedos ganchudos.
Y yo —clama con voz de trueno—, soy el rey del Mundo, ¡por encima de todos vosotros! Y ese mundo, lo tengo absolutamente en mi poder.
...Soy el demonio del Egoísmo. Ya de un modo o ya de otro, todos los hombres son egoístas. El mismo Amor no es más que un egoísmo disfrazado. Por eso te digo, ¡oh LUcifer!, que más bien que a los otros, debías de haber accedido a concederme algunos minutos de tu tiempo para que te expusiera mis innumerables hazañas, y te recordase la extensión de mi potencial universal.
Y aquel demonio quiere continuar su arenga... Pero no puede ya hacerse entender. Es un estruendo ensordecedor, una batalla terrible entre aquellos vociferadores que, ferozmente, quieren emerger sobre los lomos arqueados y hacerse visibles ante las miradas desdeñosas del terrible Amo.
¡Yo!... ¡Yo!...
En pie, con los brazos cruzados y en la mano el látigo, Lucifer, el Portaluz de antaño, contempla, con desprecio, a toda aquella turba chillona y rabiosa, que es la suya.
¡Y sin embargo!...
Sí; ¡y sin embargo!... A pesar de su inmensa caída, casi todos conservan aún ciertos destellos de su antigua hermosura angélica.
Así como algunos hijos de familia, sumidos en el vicio y el deshonor, conservan, a pesar de todo, en su cuerpo y alma, las trazas indelebles de la dignidad ancestral, aquellos malditos, aquellos demonios, guardan todavía vestigios lejanos de la belleza de que estaban revestidos cuando salieron de las manos de Dios.

Pero entregados ahora al servicio de Satanás, persiguiendo sin tregua la desdicha de los hombres, hay que mirarlos muy de cerca para descubrir en sus ademanes y en sus rasgos algo de la nobleza de su origen.

Durante algunos instantes, Lucifer los mira, con ojos que lanzan rayos.

Luego, decidiéndose de repente:

—¡Marchaos de aquí, todos!...

...Habeis trabajado bien...

...Y espero que podré contar con vosotros cuando, muy pronto, suene la hora de la gran Noche, que anunciará el fin de los tiempos y nuestra vuelta, como vencedores, al Paraíso reconquistado, del que habremos expulsado a Dios.

¡Mi jornada se anuncia gloriosa!

Mi consigna sigue siendo, categóricamente:

...Proseguid, cada cual en su sector, enviándome almas. Y por todos los medios posibles.

¡Almas! ¡Almas! He ahí lo que quiero... ¡y con terrible ansia!

¡El Infierno es inmenso!...

Nunca le enviaréis bastantes.

...He dicho.

...¡Marchaos!

Algunas voces se alzaron para clamar: "¡Viva nuestro bienamado Lucifer! ¡Viva Satanás!..."

Pero otros se pusieron a gruñir en son de protesta. Entonces acudieron los Arcángeles.

Y sin contemplaciones, duramente, brutalmente, ante los ojos del Amo, expulsaron a la muchedumbre de demonios y los lanzaron sobre la tierra, donde los hombres continúan armándose para la gigantesca matanza, que señalará el fin de los seres y de las cosas de este mundo...

CUARTA PARTE

I

LA RESPUESTA DE DIOS.

Yo soy el que es...

Satanás es la encarnación de la soberbia y la falsía.

Mi divino hijO le ha vencido.

¡Vosotros le venceréis también!

Capítulo XXX

YO SOY EL QUE ES...

En la tranquila e inefable belleza del cielo, Dios, el Señor, ha reunido a sus Ángeles, Arcángeles, Querubines, Serafines, Tronos, Potestades, Espíritus celestiales y todos los Santos y Santas que han luchado, brillado y vencido sobre la tierra.

Conmovedor espectáculo, por encima de toda descripción. Los ojos del hombre no han visto, sus oídos no han escuchado, su corazón no ha comprendido lo que Dios reserva a los elegidos.

Porque son tan hermosas esas almas privilegiadas que con la inteligencia, la voluntad, y aun con la sangre, combatieron para salvaguardar el reino de Dios, en ellas mismas y entre las demás...

Ambiente de amor y de serenidad.

Asamblea única bajo el signo de lo Definitivo.

Dios asiéntase entre la Inmaculada Virgen, a su derecha, y San Miguel, glorioso y resplandeciente, a su izquierda.

Habla entonces, en medio del atento silencio de toda la corte celestial:

—Os he reunido para teneros al corriente de un nuevo hecho que muchos de entre vosotros, atentos a las cosas de la tierra, conocen ya probablemente.

...Hace algún tiempo, el Maldito ha celebrado un siniestro consejo de guerra, para el que convocó a todos los ángeles, que por desdicha suya, le siguieron en su rebelión.

...Y esa convocatoria, ¿para qué?

...Porque tiene la esperanza del próximo aniquilamiento de la Tierra, actualmente dividida en dos bloques colosales, que disponen de espantosos medios para su destrucción recíproca.

...Espera que si esa última catástrofe se desencadena, toda la obra de redención de mi divino Hijo resultará sin objeto, puesto que la Tierra no existirá ya.

El Maldito ha resuelto preparar ese cataclismo universal. Y, al efecto, quiere "adiestrar" a sus legiones, a fin de arrebatar, para su Infierno, la mayor parte posible.

Y para conocer sus posibilidades de victoria, ha querido desplegar una Jornada propia, de Satanás, una jornada de envergadura, en la cual se aquilataría el valor destructivo de sus ejércitos.

...Esa jornada de ensayo ha comenzado. Todos los demonios de todas las categorías rivalizan en celo para obedecer a su siniestro amo y arrojar a sus pies el mayor número de almas posibles y especialmente las que constituyen lo más selecto de la humanidad.

...Pero yo, que velo por la mata de yerba y por el pájaro que vuela sobre los campos, velo aún más en pro del destino de las almas redimidas tan dolorosamente con la sangre de mi Hijo.

...Intento, pues, responder al gesto de odio de Satanás y quebrantar su insensata ofensiva. Ese es el motivo de la extraordinaria reunión de hoy.

...He querido dar el alerta a vuestro amor, que apoyándose en mí, enseñará, una vez más, al Maldito que el Amor es más fuerte que el Odio.

...Porque yo soy El que es.

...Yo soy Todopoderoso.

...Soy el que pone freno al furor de las olas y el que sabe paralizar también las maquinaciones de los demonios.

...El mundo, evidentemente, acabará un día, como acaban todas las cosas humanas.

...En cuanto a las decisiones sobre el fin de los tiempos, cosas son que me competen a Mí, y sólamente a Mí.

...Una insignificancia me basta para destruir.
...Satanás se envanece con la pretensión de señalar una hora determinada para el fin del mundo.
...Satanás es el príncipe de la falsía. No sabe nada de esas cosas futuras, por que Yo, el Todopoderoso, soy y sigo siendo el Juez supremo del día y de la hora.
...Ante sus ejércitos de esclavos, afecta que sabe.
...Mas cuando vino a la tierra mi divino Hijo, Satanás lo ha ignorado todo. Y cuando ha comenzado a presentirlo, cuando ha intentado darse cuenta, recordad que ha osado tentar tres veces a Cristo para saber si, verdaderamente, era el Hijo de Dios, el Salvador prometido a los hombres.
...Lucifer y sus malditos van, pues, a arreciar en su ofensiva contra las pobres criaturas humanas, y a procurar que caigan en el pecado para ploblar su Infierno. Pero acordaos siempre de que Yo estoy aquí para poner límites a su poder de tentación.
...Yo le digo, como al océano: "No irás más lejos".
...En cuanto a las segundas causas, si las confío a la voluntad de los hombres, es para estimular su celo y respetar su libertad, que es la razón misma de su mérito.
...Lo que os pido, por tanto, es que defendáis a las almas particularmente en este periodo de ofensiva, que impidáis que caigan, o si cayeren, que procuréis que reparen ampliamente el daño que los demonios consiguieran perpetrar.
...Tened como yo, y conmigo una inagotable piedad para con los hombres.
...Sí, pobres seres humanos. Me compadezco de ellos, y los amo. Muchos, aquí en el cielo, han vivido en otro tiempo su vida terrestre y guardan el recuerdo de esa tierra tan bien llamada Valle de Lágrimas, y de los innumerables peligros que asedian a los de la Iglesia Militante.
...Que recuerden que mi piedad los acompaña hasta su último suspiro.
...Yo no pongo el pie sobre la mecha que humea todavía.
...Yo no termino de aplastar la caña ya quebrada.
...Yo habría perdonado a Judas, que vendió a Cristo, si no hubiera perdido la esperanza en mi infinito amor.
...Yo, habría perdonado, acaso, hasta al mismo Lucifer, si su inconmensurable soberbia no le hubiera impedido humillarse ante mí, y someterse.
...Mis bienamados, seguro estoy de que me comprendeis, que compartís mi pensamiento, que defenderéis, con todo vuestro celo y todas vuestras fuerzas, a aquellos por los que Cristo ha querido encarnar corporalmente, sufrir y morir.
...¡Marchad, pues, en su ayuda! Que yo advierta como vuestra voluntad se alza y fortalece ante el enemigo sacrílego, que se atreve a esperar una imposible victoria sobre Dios Todopoderoso.
Y rechazadlo hasta su eterno Infierno...
...A Mí también me agradará saber lo que hayáis hecho en estos días de batalla, para aplacar mi sed de perdón y de salud.
...De antemano, mi corazón late junto a vuestro corazón.
...¡Yo os bendigo a todos!
Entonces, movidos de un mismo impulso, todos los ángeles, todos los santos se levantaron para aclamar a Dios.
Las manos se tienden...
Una llama ardiente de apostolado refulge en todos los ojos.
Y con voz unánime, cuyo poderoso eco repercute bajo toda la bóveda celeste, cantan así:

Christus vincit... Christus regnat... Christus imperat... ¡Cristo ha vencido!... ¡Cristo reina!... ¡Cristo manda!...
El ha vencido a Satanás...
Nosotros con Él, lo hemos vencido...
¡Ayudaremos a los que luchan aún sobre la tierra para vencerlo también!...
¡Gloria in excelsis Deo!...

LA CONTRAOFENSIVA CELESTE

LA RUDA BATALLA DEL ANGEL DE LA GUARDA
EL CALVARIO LEVANTADO DE NUEVO
!BIENAVENTURADOS LOS LÍMPIOS DE CORAZÓN!
EL ANGEL DE LA FE
EL ANGEL DE LOS PEQUEÑOS PEREZOSOS
EL ANGEL DE LA CONSOLACION
EL ANGEL DE LA MUERTE

Capítulo XXXI

LA RUDA BATALLA DEL ANGEL DE LA GUARDA

Con las alas abiertas y todo su ser estremecido por una intensa emoción, el Ángel Guardián de los niños sube hasta postrarse ante el trono de Cristo.
—¿Qué te pasa, mi querido ángel, para que llegues tan tembloroso ante mí?
—Señor, puesto que me habéis invitado a hacerlo, acudo para comunicaros que acabo de librar uno de los más duros combates de mi existencia de ángel guardian.
...Y acabo de librarla de un modo absolutamente insospechado. Porque el niño que me confiasteis, fué atacado, repentinamente, por un demonio especial, que rugía, y con un ardor extraordinario.
...Si yo hubiera sido vencido en esta batalla, jamás me habría atrevido a presentarme otra vez ante Vos.
—Cuéntame entonces tu batalla y tu victoria...
—Sé, desde los tiempos más remotos, hasta qué punto amáis a los niños. Hay que contar también con que sean atacados de muy distintos modos en su inocencia y en su ignorancia.
—Siempre he afirmado mi amor hacia los niños. El cielo es para los que a ellos se parecen.
—Yo también, ¡oh, Cristo!, amo a los pequeños. Me habéis confiado uno. Se llama Juan Lobo, en recuerdo del nombre de vuestro apóstol predilecto y del de un gran apóstol de los galos. Soy, por tanto, su ángel guardian.
...Fino, delicado, piadoso, sensible, muy sensible, no me proporciona ninguna inquietud. Durante sus vacaciones, fué invitado al campo, por la familia de uno de sus compañeros. Como residente en la ciudad, marchó para allá con la alegría de un parisién que al fin puede respirar libremente... Le agradaban las tareas agrícolas, ayudó a hacinar el heno, a la recolección. Le gustaban mucho los animales, las flores, los árboles, el inmenso cielo, adonde esperaba ir mas adelante.

Y luego, una noche, después de la cena en familia, en torno a la lámpara, se pusieron a jugar a las damas, un juego bien inocente, en el que Juan Lobo derrotó fácilmente a la dueña de la casa, no muy entrenada en aquel juego.

Como de costumbre. ella pidió el desquite. La derrotó por segunda vez... y otra más después.

En aquel momento, la señora cansada, extendiendo las manos sobre la mesa, dijo, medio sonriente y medio disgustada:

—¡Oh, este endiablado muchachito, que me gana siempre!...

Excitado también por sus tres victorias, Juan Lobo tomó aquella mano que se abría ante él, y con un impulso bastante brusco, pero en fin de cuentas, impulso de chiqillo, le golpeó los dedos.

Estais viendo la escena: la señora grita, casi se encuentra mal. El marido acude, regaña a Juan Lobo. Se le invita amablemente, y él se comporta como una bestia.

—Pues bien —dice Cristo—; no veo ahí nada verdaderamente grave...

—Ahí es, sin embargo, donde comienza el drama. El niño se siente abrumado por lo que acaba de oir. Es cierto lo que se ha dicho. Cuando debía de haber sido un contrincante delicado, cortés, se ha comportado como una bestia, como un individuo tosco, ineducado. ¿Y para con quién? Para con una madre de familia que le había acogido tan amablemente, tratándole como si fuera hijo suyo.

...En aquel espíritu tierno, impresionable, todas esas pequeñeces adquieren proporciones extraordinarias.

—¿Por qué?

—Porque su demonio estaba allí, excitándolo todo, aumentando las cosas, tratando de sacar el máximo partido posible de la desesperación de aquel pobre niño desamparado. ¡El Maldito hallaba ocasión de provocar un drama, y qué drama!

...En el jardin había un pozo profundo. El demonio sugiere al niño que para reparar su falta y castigarse a sí mismo, vaya a arrojarse dentro de él.

...Si; aquel miserable tuvo la infame crueldad de impulsar al niño a tomar aquella espantosa resolución... Y a punto estuvo de conseguirlo.

...Apretados los dientes, aterrado, pero resuelto, Juan Lobo se dirigió hacia el pozo. Pero, advertido por el Espíritu Santo, yo había acudido en su auxilio.

Y allí, frente a frente, entre el demonio de Satanás y tu ángel, ¡0h, Cristo!, se libró un combate terrible entre las sombras, combate durante el cual yo me sentía desfallecer, pues aquel demonio era uno de los primeros serafines de antaño.

De modo que lancé un grito desesperado invocando a San Miguel, grito que llegó a sus oídos. Pues como un relámpago, el gran arcángel acudió, con las alas abiertas, desde lo profundo de los cielos.

El Maldito estaba de tal modo aferrado a su presa, que aún resistió, no queriendo huir de ninguna manera. Era el tigre rugiente, negándose a abandonar la victima que estrechaba entre sus poderosas garras. Mas a pesar de todo, un serafín maldito no podía tener esperanzas de ganar la batalla contra el Vencedor de su amo Lucifer. Y con espuma en los labios, blasfemando, ebrio de

Capítulo XXXII

EL CALVARIO LEVANTADO DE NUEVO

No bien ha partido el Ángel de la Guarda, cuando un querubín se presenta ante el trono de Dios.

Su dulce semblante aparece como iluminado por el reflejo de una gran alegría interior.

—Acaba de emocionarme profundamente el relato de un Ángel Guardian. Pero ya veo de antemano que tú también, ¡oh, Querubín mío!, me traes una buena nueva...

—Muy buena, ¡oh, Cristo! Hace mucho tiempo que suspiraba por conseguirla, pues representa la reparación de un sacrilegio abominable.

—Te escucho.

—Todo aquello, Señor, ya lo sabeis. El hecho me causaba verdadera vergüenza. Ese sacrilegio, perpretado por unos jóvenes en una región cuya responsabilidad me compete, habíame desolado por completo; y quería a todo trance aportaros la reparación de la iniquidad. Esto era, para mí, una idea fija.

...Tal reparación, ¡ay!, no la veía yo por parte alguna. Parecía que la comarca, indignada en los primeros momentos, se dormía en una indiferencia que me desesperaba.

—La nube pasa, el cielo permanece, mi querido Ángel.

—Hoy la nube ha pasado. Y es un poco de cielo lo que os traigo.

—Relátame, pues, todos esos detalles.

—Yo buscaba, ¡oh, Cristo!, sin hallarlo, el medio de volver a alzar el Calvario derribado.

...Algunas damas habían hablado de una suscripción. El señor cura también. Pero como no existe boletín parroquial, aquello era como el cazador que sale de caza sin escopeta. Y no se llegaba a ninguna solución.

...Yo escuchaba de la gente palabras desalentadoras. "El pueblo no es rico". ¡Ya no hay Calvario! Después de todo, sin calvario "se puede vivir".

...Pero ya no vivía.

...Cada vez que pasaba por el sitio donde antaño se os honraba, aquel vacío me traspasaba el corazón. Y todo me recordaba el sacrilegio.

...Y al fin, en el instante mismo en que iba a perder la esperanza, observé que un viejo campesino, seguido de su robusto hijo, caminaba por la noche, cargado cada uno con su pesado saco.

...Siempre nos fijamos en las personas que transitan de noche. Y tanto más yo, puesto que fué precisamente de noche cuando derribaron vuestro Calvario.

...¿A dónde iban aquellos hombres, a las tres de la madrugada? He notado que varias noches seguidas volvían a pasar con la misma carga y volvían a su casa cuando empezaba a alborear. Quise enterarme bien y averiguar qué trabajo emprendían aquellos misteriosos campesinos.

...Los he seguido. He marchado tras el viejo, a quien abrumaba y hacía jadear el pesado fardo. Su hijo le seguía, más cargado aún.

...Vi con estupefacción que se detenían junto al hoyo, donde yacía, entre el lodo, la vieja Cruz. Allí depositaban sus fardos y volvían su marcha hacia el pueblo próximo.

...Un día, todo lo comprendí.

...Lo que llevaban todas las noches, escondido, era cemento y arena para empotrar la Cruz entre las toscas piedras que habian quedado sobre la yerba, todas desunidas.

...Y una noche, aquellos dos hombres llegaron a la una de la madrugada, con una linterna. Evidentemente, no se habían acostado.

...El tiempo estaba húmedo y frío.

...Yo hubiera querido hacerme visible ante ellos, y ayudarlos.

...Pero como me está prohibida tal manifestación, me he introducido en sus almas. Primeramente, he admirado aquellas almas, por la sencillez de su fe silenciosa y profunda. Luego les he infundido nuevas energías y avivado su entusiasmo. Estuve junto a ellos cuando preparaban el cemento. Cuando, inclinado sobre el zócalo del Calvario, juntaban las pesadas piedras y preparaban el agujero.

Bajaron luego al hoyo, y arañándose las manos con las espinas y las zarzas, buscaron y encontraron la Cruz, hundida entre el lodo. La limpiaron cuidadosamente. Y con toda veneración, se arrodillaron sobre la yerba, y la besaron.

Al llegar a esto el Ángel se detiene unos instantes emocionado.

—Perdonadme, Señor; pero he vivido entonces una de las más hermosas horas de mi vida angélica.

...Después de satisfacer la ternura de su piedad, transportaron la vieja Cruz hasta el agujero preparado y la fijaron con cuidado y precisión. Advertí cómo sus voluntades se esforzaban para que resultase más sólidamente arraigada que antes.

...Daban las seis de la mañana en el reloj de la iglesia cuando terminaron su trabajo.

El sol se elevaba en el horizonte, iluminando el cielo y la copa de los árboles. Luego, poco a poco, sus rayos vinieron también a besar la Cruz.

A su cálido beso, el antiguo bronce diríase que se estremecia y que revivía las pocas partículas de oro que en él quedaban. Esas pocas partículas de antiguo oro que habían resistido a todo, iban refulgiendo más, poco a poco. Y sobre el fondo, aun sombrío, de las plantas bajas, la Cruz se destacó como investida de nueva juventud.

Con su gorra en la mano, el campesino y su hijo permanecieron unos instantes en pie, como en acción de gracias ante Cristo. Y el viejo murmuraba: "O Crux ave, spes unica... ¡Oh, cruz, yo te saludo; tú eres nuestra única esperanza!"

—Aquello, ¡oh, Cristo!, era conmovedor. El Sacrilegio había sido grande. Pero la reparación con el bien, era mucho más bella que espantosa había sido la impiedad, con el mal.

La emoción entra la gente del pueblo, cuando se enteró de que el viejo Calvario habia vuelto a alzarse, fué extraordinaria.

¿Quién lo levantó?

¿Y cuando?

¿Y cómo?

Y, sobre todo, ¡quién lo había pagado?

En poco estuvo que se hubiera hablado de un milagro.

El señor cura, el domingo siguiente, dejó que su corazón se expansionase desde el púlpito. Expresó todo su reconocimiento a los misteriosos cristianos que habían borrado la mancha vergonzosa que oprimía la conciencia de todos aquellos que habian guardado en su corazón el amor a Cristo y el respeto a la piedad de sus antepasados.

Al terminar, dispuso que se celebrase una solemne procesión de desagravio.

Todo el pueblo asistió a esa procesión, acaso hasta los tres miserables, autores del sacrilegio.

...Tambien estaba allí el Maldito.
Yo sentía cómo su rabioso aliento pasaba por encima de las cabezas inclinadas de las muchedumbre.
...Le he mirado cara a cara; y le he gritado yo tambien: "O Crux ave..."
Hízose una pausa en el diálogo entre Cristo y el Ángel.
¡Gracias! —dijo al fin el Salvador—. Al escucharte, he vivido contigo unos momentos muy conmovedores. Persuádete. No hay que desanimarse nunca.
...El Amor será siempre el vencedor del Odio.
...Y Dios, que es el Amor, dice siempre la última palabra.

Capítulo XXXIII

!BIENAVENTURADOS LOS LÍMPIOS DE CORAZÓN!

Este ángel era tan blanco que parecía diáfano. Muy sencillamente, se acercó a Cristo, y le dijo:
—Vengo directamente de un bosque de la tierra. Vengo como vanguardia de mis hermanos, y creo que os traigo, Señor, algo excelente, y de esos jóvenes a quienes tanto amáis.
—Los amo, en efecto, porque ellos son la mies del porvenir.
—Deseo hablaros de ellos y citaros, con todo mi corazón, un hecho característico, del cual he sido testigo. Permitidme, primeramente, que os describa el lugar de la acción.
...Estamos en pleno bosque, en una hermosa tarde de estío. Tres excursionistas, de unos veinte años, estudiantes de una Escuela Superior, han decidido ir al campo, durante unos días, para sacudir, al viento del otoño, el polvo y los humos de la ciudad.
Han levantado su tienda al pie de un viejo roble; y alegremente, han cocinado una comida sana, aunque austera.
...Su comida ha terminado.
...Y ahora fuman un cigarrillo antes de ir a echarse en sus colchonetas.
...Por encima de ellos, los pájaros cantan su oración de la tarde.
...Y algunos habitantes del bosque vienen, por curiosidad, a ver a estos seres humanos, a quienes no conocen y que no hacen sobre ellos ningún disparo de escopeta.
...Obligados, en Paris y en la Escuela, a ser rigurosamente puntuales, les place charlar sosegadamente, en el silencio de la naturaleza y bajo los grandes árboles que los rodean.
...Y cada cual habla del próximo porvenir que espera le esté reservado.
...El primero se lo explica así: mi padre tiene un gran negocio de exportación. Tiene un vivo deseo de que me reuna con él, para ayudarle y sucederlo. Ese es igualmente el deseo de mi madre y de toda la familia. Deduzco de eso que ése es verdaderamente el camino que la Providencia me designa.
...Me propongo seguirlo por consiguiente. Y cuando mi posición esté bien asegurada, buscaré, sin apresuramientos, a la joven de mis sueños, es decir: que tenga la misma fe religiosa, que viva en el mismo ambiente social y a la que yo crea que podré amar...

...Fundaré, a mi vez, un hermoso hogar, como el de mis padres. Y tendré hijos, a quienes educaré en los mismos principios. Mi camino está, pues, bien definido, recto, clásico. No siento el menor deseo de buscar otra cosa.

—En efecto- responde el segundo; vas probablemente a parecerte a esos pueblos dichosos que no tienen historia.

—¡Que Dios te oiga!

—Para mí— prosigue el segundo, esa vida sería demasiado sencilla. Siento ansia de aventuras. Africa me tienta. He leido, con envidia y entusiasmo, la vida de Laperrine, de Lyautey y de Carlos de Faucauld. Amo los paises bañados por el sol. Tengo buenos amigos en Dakar. El año pasado estuve en Kairouan, Biskra, El-Kantara, Touggourt. Sé, por compañeros de la Politécnica, que Sudán no está muy poblado todavía... y que allá pueden encontrarse plazas vacantes. Iré a probar fortuna, a informarme. Sueño con una vida útil, interesante, activa. Puede uno, evidentemente , arruinarse; pero también emprender grandes cosas... ¡Sea lo que Dios quiera!

...¿Y tú? —termina diciendo-, dirigiéndose al tercer compañero.

—Primero-, apaga bien tu cigarrillo, antes de arrojarlo sobre la yerba seca. En el bosque, tengo siempre la preocupación del fuego.

Y cuando el cigarrillo estuvo bien apagado, el tercer compañero tomó a su vez la palabra:

—Tengo el proyecto de ingresar en el Gran Seminario y hacerme sacerdote. Como mi compañero, no tengo la pretensión ni el deseo de que sea mediodía cuando son las dos de la tarde. Creo haber comprobado en varias ocasiones la falta, bastante acertada, de sacerdotes. ¡Y es tan lamentable la situación de un país que carece de sacerdotes! Pensando en esto me ha asaltado la idea de ofrecerme sencillamente a Dios para trabajar por la salud de las almas.

Menudearon entonces las preguntas:

—¡Eso está bien!... Te admiramos...

—No; no me admiréis. Sigo mi camino como vosotros el vuestro. De modo que todo está bien.

—¡Y sin embargo!... ¿Te marchas sin añorar nada?, ¿sin sentir el abandono, la separación, el sacrificio?

—¿El abandono...? No. He comenzado ya a ver el mundo. Y verdaderamente, vivir esa vida, en medio de las hipocresías y de las falsedades, es cosa que no me seduce. En cuanto a mi familia, no tendrá de qué quejarse. Porque el hijo que se convierte en sacerdote, es el que más pertenece al hogar tradicional, al hogar de sus mayores; y a menudo de un modo más profundo y sosegado que el hijo que se casa. No existe madre más dichosa como la madre de un sacerdote.

—Pero, en fin, tú sacrificas el amor humano, la mujer.

—Sí, tienes razón. No niego el sacrificio. Y la separación, el renunciamiento, acaso esté ahí. Tengo, como vosotros un corazón humano. A mí también me agradaría tener un hogar. Pero acepto ese sacrificio, porque es la base de toda noble determinación. Nada grande se hace en este mundo sin que haya algun dolor inicial, y a veces hasta durante el camino. La flor necesita del rocío. Cristo ha dado su sangre por las almas. Yo daré lo que El me pida...

Se produjo un silencio durante el cual no se escuchaba más que el ruido de las hojas, rozándose a impulsos del viento de la noche.

—¿Y si nos fuésemos a acostar? —dijo uno—. No nos olvidemos de que mañana hemos de levantarnos con el sol.

Los tres se dirigieron hacia su tienda. Su pequeña tienda de campo, linda y fuerte, está bien anclada. Era una ocasión. La habían comprado a una familia americana que regresaba a su país.

La tela era verde, bien tupida; no dejaba pasar ni una gota de lluvia. Finos ganchos de acero la sujetaban a la tierra. Tenía dos ventanitas; y armonizaba muy bien con el bosque, que la rodeaba con su vegetación y sus altos árboles.

—¿Y si rezásemos juntos una oración? —pregunta el futuro seminarista-.

—Conformes. Empiézala tú.

—¡Oh! —sencillamente un Pater y un Ave-.

—O más si quieres...

—Está bien. Pueden ocurrir tantas cosas sin más que una simple mirada o un apretón de manos...

Y he aquí que en el momento en que van a hacer la señal de la cruz, el lienzo que sirve de puerta se levanta bruscamente, y tres jovencitas elegantes, vestidas de claro, con faldas cortas, irrumpen en la tienda, riendo...

Los jóvenes se miran unos a otros, asombrados.

—Somos vuestras vecinas que vienen cortésmente a deciros "buenas noches"... ¡y a sorprenderos por asalto!

—¿Nuestras vecinas?

—Sí, sí; vuestras vecinas... ¿con que no sabéis...?

—No.

—¡Qué pena! Entonces, razón de más para explicaros. Os anunciamos, pues, que hay unas treinta jóvenes que han venido a acampar ahí, muy cerquita de vosotros, a unos cien metros. Hasta esperábamos recibir vuestra visita. Y nos hubiera demostrado vuestra amabilidad. Pero hacia las nueve, cuando se ha visto que nadie venía, hemos pensado que no sabríais que estabais tan cerca de unas jóvenes encantadoras... Y, muy sencillamente, venimos a decíroslo.

Y como los jovenes no respondieran, ellas prosiguieron haciendo sus reflexiones, unas tras otras:

—¡Que bien instalados estáis!, ¡es muy alegre vuestra casita!

—Yo me quedaría aquí. ¿Y tú, Valentina?

—Yo tambien.

—Se aburre una tanto allá, en nuestro campamento...

—Deberíais ofrecernos hospitalidad por una noche —exclama una morena alta-, con los brazos al aire, uñas pintadas de rojo y flores en el pelo.

—¡Ah, eso sí que sería estupendo! Nos acompañaríais a la vuelta, a media noche, a través del bosque, iluminado por la luna. ¡Qué poético! ¿Qué piensas de eso, Claudina?

—¡Sí, estaría muy bien! La directora estará acostada. Precisamente, esta tarde se quejaba de su famosas jaqueca. Y yo he visto cómo se tragaba un sello.

¿Entonces...? —interroga la morena-, mirando a los jóvenes que se consultan entre sí en el fondo del recinto.

Y he aquí que Valentina precisa los detalles:

—¡Sí que sois "suertudos"!... El bosque... Una hermosa tienda..., tres lindas jóvenes, que vienen espontáneamente a distraeros un rato... ¿Qué más queréis?

—¿Se rinden los sitiados? —pregunta Claudina-, riendo.

—Sí, señorita; los sitiados se rinden. Y hasta os ceden la plaza —responde secamente el de las colonias-.

Sin añadir nada, los tres jóvenes salen y van al bosque a buscar una cabaña de leñadores, donde pasarán la noche, lejos de las posibles tentaciones y de las Evas demasiado modernas, que seguramente habrían soñado con una noche menos virtuosa.

¡Qué imbéciles! —exclama la morena despechada-.

Sí, —responde Valentina—. ¡Las avellanas tocan siempre a los que no tiene dientes para partirlas!

—Y yo —termina el Ángel— he pensado que aquellos jóvenes eran bien dignos de una felicitación especial, puesto que mediante la única táctica eficaz en semejante caso, es decir, mediante la fuga, habían burlado la red tendida aquella noche por el Maldito.

...Por lo demás, ese Maldito ha merodeado furioso, a través del bosque, hasta el amanecer, esperando que si había perdido la primera batalla, podría acaso ganar la segunda...

...Pero no ha ganado absolutamente nada. Mis magníficos jóvenes, con su tranquilo ánimo, han permanecido dignos de Vos.

Gracias os doy —dice Cristo—, a ellos y a tí también. Porque yo sé que tú no los has abandonado, y que rogaste a la Virgen, particular protectora de la pureza. Diles que estoy orgulloso de ellos y que mi bendición los acompañará durante toda su vida.

...Bienaventurados los límpios de corazón, porque ellos verán a Dios...

Capítulo XXXIV

EL ANGEL DE LA FE

Respondiendo, ¡oh, Cristo!, a vuestro llamamiento extraordinario, os traigo un alma excepcional. La de un gran sabio de la tierra.

...Esta alma viene hasta Vos desde muy lejos, y después de jornadas muy penosas. Es, para mí, una nueva prueba de vuestro poder de atracción sobre todos los seres que os buscan, y que no os buscarían si de antemano no os hubieran encontrado ya.

—Con eso evocas ante mí la historia de numerosas almas.

—También es así la alma de mi gran sabio.

...Nacido de una familia plenamente atea, materialista, en la época de la persecución religiosa. Educado sin catecismo, sin contacto alguno con un sacerdote, para este estudiante la religión era cero. Como las prácticas exteriores sobreviven siempre al derrumbamiento de los dogmas, el catolicismo de entonces no era otra cosa que los sedimentos finales de una superstición caduca. Y no había que sentirlo. Porque la Humanidad no podía permanecer siempre en la lactancia.

...La Ciencia, por lo demás, iba a reemplazarlo todo.

—Sí; conozco la frase...

Transcurrieron luego algunos años. Apareció un artículo resonante sobre el fracaso de la Ciencia. Y aquel artículo alcanzó, gran repercusión en el mundo culto y científico.

...Nuestro joven se hizo médico. Muy joven y fogoso, creyó, al principio, que todo lo iba a comprender.

Esa creencia se debilitó en seguida. Y, poco a poco, se sintió sumergido en el misterio universal de los seres y las cosas.

...Soñaba ante la belleza de una flor de los campos, ante la fuerza secreta de un grano de trigo, ante la potencia de esos elementos infinitamente pequeños que constituyen el cimiento de los mundos.

...Soñaba, sobre todo cuando alzaba los ojos hacia aquellos miles de millones de maravillosos astros lanzados por los espacios a velocidades regulares y vertiginosas, comparada con los cuales la tierra no es más que una infima partícula de polvo.

...La idea del Infinito no tardó en imponerse a su espíritu de hombre maduro.

...Y el Infinito es Dios.

...¡Cuántas veces se quedaba absorto ante la maravilla del cuerpo humano, ante la inocencia de los ojos de su hijo, que parecían aún completamente bañados en el azul del más allá!

...¿El más allá? No tenía ninguna noción de aquello.

...Por todas partes, el misterio... Y misterio aplastante para todo noble espíritu que se viene a mirar y reflexionar lealmente.

...Así fué como llegó, lo mismo que Pasteur, a través de la indiscutible idea del Infinito, a la certidumbre de la existencia de Dios.

Pero ¡de qué Dios? -interrumpe Cristo-.

—¡Precisamente! La respuesta a esa segunda pregunta era tan angustiosa como la primera. Porque un Dios, vago, impreciso, impersonal, equivale a la negación de Dios, sobre todo en el momento de los vértigos y de las grandes tentaciones de la vida. Es como una brizna de paja ante el torrente...

...Tal era, pues, la segunda etapa del camino de nuestro médico. No viendo entonces otro sendero ante sus ojos, hizo suya la antigua plegaria, también muy vaga:

Faedatus, in hune mundum mei!
Anxius vixi...
Turbatus egrediar
Causa causarum, miserere mei!

Manchado, he entrado en la vida...
He vivido aquí en la ansiedad...
Saldré, angustiado, de aquí...
¡Causa de las penas, tened piedad de mí!...

—¿De modo que ya presentía el pecado original?

—Sí, Señor; se iba acercando a Vos. Sin embargo, permaneció mucho tiempo en aquel estado. Porque, como decía cierto escritor: "La duda es una blanda almohada para una cabeza bien constituida".

—Frase de aficionado, y frase desdichada.

—Y tentado estuvo de dormirse sobre aquella frase. Alguna vez, sin embargo, añadía: "Si supiera yo donde está el Camino de Damasco, iría a pasearme por él..."

No es paseándose —responde Cristo— como se encuentra el inestimable don de la fe.

—Por eso es por lo que habéis permitido una terrible prueba para salvar aquella alma... Este sabio ha perdido a su hijo único, de veinte años, que a la vez era su discípulo, y que murió en pocos días. El padre había puesto en él todas sus esperanzas. Le había confiado el secreto de muchos descubrimientos. Aquel hijo era su razón de ser, de vivir y de trabajar...

"¡Quiero —decía a su hijo—, que más adelante te sientas orgulloso de tu padre!"

...Y hoy aquel padre estaba allí, vivo, ante el cadaver de su hijo, ¡y sin comprender aún!

...La inevitable pregunta alzábase ante su espíritu desamparado. Pregunta que ya no era especulativa, sino trágica y personal:

...¿Dónde está ahora el alma misteriosa que miraba por esos ojos, que hablaba por esa boca, que pensaba con ese cerebro?

...Y allí, ante aquel lecho, donde, rígido y frío, yacía el cadáver de su hijo, el sabio meditó, y aquella meditación le condujo al cristianismo.

...Toda pregunta —se dijo—, debe de tener una respuesta.

...Tambien la muerte, ¡la muerte, sobre todo!...

...¿La nada? Respuesta absurda en medio del orden universal de las cosas, comprobado por doquiera en la naturaleza.

...¿La otra respuesta? No puede encontrarse sino en las diferentes religiones reinantes en el mundo.

...Pero si se comparan esas religiones unas con otras, la supremacía del cristianismo es tal que, sin discusión posible, es la religión más hermosa, la que, para un pensador, se aproxima más al ideal que uno se forma de la vida divina y de la ulterior a la muerte.

...Y si es la más hermosa, es la verdadera. Porque Dios no va a elegir una religión inferior para manifestarse a sus criaturas.

...Y si la religión católica es la verdadera, ella me llama; ella no consiente que yo la ignore, que yo no obedezca a la autoridad de su verdad. Porque esa verdad es de Dios. ¿Tiene sus misterios? Pero el misterio se encuentra por todas partes en la naturaleza; con mucho mayor motivo, en la religión.

Con lealtad absoluta, aquel sabio pidió el bautismo, comulgó. Y ha encontrado en su fe ánimos para continuar viviendo, y trabajando todo el tiempo que Dios ha querido.

...Hoy os traigo un alma.

...Y me atrevo a pediros que la unáis a la de su hijo, que no es responsable del vacío religioso en que fué educado en su juventud.

Adentráos, Señor, en vuestra luz y en vuestro amor. Cristo entonces, repite las palabras de su Evangelio: "Habrá más júbilo en el cielo por un pecador que hace penitencia, que por noventa y nueve justos que no necesitan hacerla".

...Ángel de la Fe, ¡cuánto te agradezco que conduzcas de ese modo hacia mí a un alma selecta!... Prosigue tu apostolado cerca de todos los que piensan y buscan. ¡La luz ha de llegar a sus almas!

...¡Con toda mi alma, te bendigo!...

Capítulo XXXV

EL ANGEL DE LOS PEQUEÑOS PEREZOSOS.

Pensando rápidamente, para no quitar tiempo a los altos querubines, se acerca un tímido ángel guardian, tambien muy satisfecho, al parecer. Quería contar en pocas palabras la historia de un niño que le había sido confiado. Y a su modesto juicio, estaba seguro de agradar a Cristo, que tanto ama a la juventud.

En efecto, el Salvador sonríe viendo a este ángel guardian, tan compenetrado con su misión.

—Hablame de tu pequeño protegido.

—No es mal chico, y yo le quiero mucho. Pero el demonio de la Pereza, le había adormecido, embrujado, ya desde sus primeros años. No quería hacer absolutamente nada y retrocedía ante cualquier esfuerzo. Todo trabajo le repugnaba. ¡Ah, bien sujeta tenía a su víctima la gordinflona Pereza!

...¿Su ideal? Por lo pronto, permanecer en el lecho el mayor tiempo posible. Despues, ya levantado, no hacer nada con sus diez dedos. Sobre todo, nada de lecciones, nada de deberes, e imaginar los pretextos para no ir a clase.

...Sólo estaba dispuesto a una cosa, a holgazanear, a fantasear, sin desplegar actividad alguna. En resumen: la desesperación de sus padres y la mía.

—¡No hay que desesperar nunca!...

—Sin duda, Señor; pero, aun así, yo pensaba, y con gran vergúenza mía, que era yo el ángel de la guarda de aquel pequeño. Y que estaba mal el asistir con los brazos cruzados al aniquilamiento de su voluntad y de su porvenir. Entonces impulsado, sostenido por vuestra gracia, ¡oh, Cristo!, me resolví a arrancar a aquel niño, a toda costa, de las garras opresoras de la Pereza, y a lanzarlo a la vida de acción, que todos los días reclama nuestra actividad.

—¿Y lo has conseguido?

—Así lo creo. He aprovechado un día en que la Pereza estaba entretenida haciendo en otra parte una mala pasada de las suyas; y he hecho que el pobre niño razonase, se conmoviera a fondo y cambiase de rumbo.

—¿Y como lo hiciste?

—¡Oh, muy sencillamente, pero con todo ardor!...

—Le he sugerido, en su fuero interno, una serie de preguntas imperiosas a las que era forzoso que respondiera y que habían de inducirle a comprender la vergonzosa situación en que le había sumido su pereza.

...Aquel día, lo mismo que los anteriores, por lo demás, se hallaba todavía en el lecho a las nueve de la mañana.

Yo le he preguntado:

—¿Eres tú quien ha hecho esta cama?

Me mira, asombrado, y me responde: "No".

—¿Y estas sábanas? ¿Y esta alfombrita? ¿Y esta habitación? ¿Y esta casa?

..., aquel día llovía a torrentes.

...Luego, le trajeron el desayuno a aquel señorito...

—¿Y este café? ¿Esta leche? ¿Este tazón? ¿Eres tú quien los ha hecho? ¿Este bollo tan calentito? ¿Esta manteca tan fresca? ¿Este azucar...?

...Despues de haber desayunado lentamente, muy lentamente, porque eso fatiga, el niño se viste.

—Esta tela, ¿eres tú quien la ha tejido?

—No.

...En aquel momento, la criada abre la ventana.

...Aparecen los árboles.

—¿Eres tú quien los plantado? ¿Y la calzada? ¿Las aceras? ¿Los coches?

Y he continuado siguiéndole, paso a paso, durante el día entero, haciéndole la misma pregunta sobre todas las cosas de que se servía.

...Tomó el tren, con sus padres, para ir de excursión. Yo le susurré:

—¿Eres tú quien ha construído las estaciones, fabricado las locomotoras, los vagones, las vías? ¿Eres tú el que ha extraído el carbón?

...Al fin, exasperado, el niño me gritó:

—¿A dónde quieres ir a para con todas esas preguntas que me fatigan?

—Unicamente a una cosa: a que comprendas que desde la mañana hasta la noche no estas viendo otra cosa que el trabajo de los demas. Y que es vergonzoso, abominable, indigno de un ser humano el decir: "Todo el universo trabaja para mí, para mi existencia, para mi comfort. Los soldados se hacen matar en la frontera para que yo siga siendo frances. Y yo no hago nada, absolutamente nada, ni para mis padres, ni para la sociedad. Soy una nulidad completa, un parásito. Me pregunto por qué habré nacido, puesto que no contribuyo con nada a la vida de nadie. Causo disgusto con razón sobrada a todos los que tienen algo de corazón y unas gotas de sangre roja en las venas..."

Y añadía yo:

—Soy tu Ángel de la Guarda. Pero si no reaccionas, te abandonaré a tu triste suerte; e iré a ocuparme de un niño menos indolente y más interesante que tú...

¿Y entonces? —pregunta Cristo-.

—Pues bien, de repente, con ayuda de la gracia, el niño ha comprendido. Se ha echado a llorar, y me ha suplicado que me compadeciese de él, y que haría todos los esfuerzos posibles para llegar a ser alguien y para hacer algo útil.

...Naturalmente, la Pereza, furiosa, ha contratacado. Pero el niño y yo hemos rezado, le hemos hecho frente y empujándola por los dos hombros, la hemos lanzado, como indeseable, fuera de la casa.

—¿Y ahora?

—Ahora Señor, todo va bien. El niño ha tomado cariño al trabajo y trata de recuperar el tiempo perdido.

...He terminado, ¡oh, Cristo! ¿He sido, quizás, demasiado extenso? Pero yo tenía inmenso interés en aportaros esta buena nueva. Vuelvo inmediatamente a mi puesto. ¡Tengo tanto miedo de que la Pereza, arrojada fuera de la puerta, pueda volver a entrar por la ventana!

Cristo hace a su ángel un signo de benevolencia.

—Te agradezco que hayas salvado a uno de esos pequeños. Son el corazón de mi Corazón. Pero continúa vigilando a tu protegido. Porque no se conserva sino lo que se defiende.

Y el Ángel, completamente dichoso con las palabras del Salvador, parte de allí cantando la balada celestial de los Ángeles de la Guarda:

Nuestro Señor me ha enviado
un niñito muy avispado...
Lindo, cual guinda madura, con un alma de ángel, pura.
Nuestro Señor me ha enviado
un niñito muy avispado.

Y, a su paso, batían palmas los angelitos del cielo, los que Cristo ha recogido de la tierra, en sus tiernos años, los que han partidos bañados en el llanto de sus madres; y que son como capullos de rosa en el gran Paraíso de Dios nuestro Señor...

Capítulo XXXVI

EL ANGEL DE LA CONSOLACIÓN

El ángel de la Consolación llega tras el angelito de la guarda. Es un hermoso ángel, hermosos entre los más hermosos. Todo en él es bondad y piedad. Ha visto tantas miserias físicas y espirituales en este valle de lágrimas, que no tiene más que un gesto: el de la misericordia.

Cristo sonríe al divisarlo, porque se reconoce en él.

—Ángel hermoso, ¿qué vienes a decirme hoy?

—Vengo a deciros lo que mejor que yo sabéis: que los pobres hombres nacen con una tara original tan considerable que son asediados en cuerpo y alma por enemigos tan inteligentes y numerosos que verdaderamente no hay quien se atreva a juzgarlos. O es forzoso hacerlos penetrados de misericordia y piedad.

—Fué en la cruz donde expresé mis últimos pensamientos. ¿Te acuerdas del Calvario? Todos gritaban, con airada voz: "¡Que sea crucificado!" Y recordarás mi respuesta: "Perdonadlos, ¡oh, Padre mío!, porque no saben lo que hacen". Pero me agrada particularmente tu ministerio acerca de los hombres; quisiera, pues, que me contases los principales detalles:

—Penetro en las familias, en todas las familias, en los palacios, lo mismo que en las cabañas, en los hospitales de los pobres y en las clínicas de los ricos. Porque el sufrimiento está en todas partes. Les digo entonces que no estan solos, que Vos estáis allí, al lado de ellos, que forman parte de la inmensa familia de los que padecen. Y que esa familia es sobre todo la vuestra, porque Vos habéis dicho: "Bienaventurados los que lloran, porque ellos seran consolados..."

—Y tú, ángel mío, me representas junto a ellos.

—Hago, Señor, cuanto puedo. Cuando los que sufren tienen fe, todo es fácil. Comprenden que el sufrimiento es la ley universal de este mundo, que si el grano de trigo ha de ser molido para hacer pan, que si la vid ha de ser aplastada para hacer vino, el alma humana ha de aceptar el sufrimiento para expiar sus faltas, y ennoblecer, con oro puro, el tosco metal de su vida... Sí; ¡Cuántas veces lo he comprobado! Es en el lecho del dolor donde suele tocarse con el dedo el magnífico poder de transfiguración de la Fe.

—Sin duda; pero cuando tu enfermo no tiene fe...

—En tal caso, Señor, mi ministerio resulta bastante difícil y delicado. Porque entonces no puedo apoyarme ya en el poder de la consolación que represente la esperanza cristiana.

Al oir esto, el ángel se anima de un modo particular:

—Os cito un ejemplo. Acabo de asistir a un pobre artista que va a morir muy pronto, y que lo sabe. Sufre por varias causas: por el cáncer, que le roe, por su familia indiferente, interesada, a cuyo cargo está.

...Muy inteligente, sabe lo que estorba, que molesta. Lee la impaciencia en los ojos de los que le rodean, en los coloquios en voz baja con el enfermero: "¿Para cuánto tiempo tendremos, todavía?"

—No pude matarme, sin embargo —me dice él—. En primer lugar, ni me quedarían ya fuerzas para ello, ni valor.

...Sufre, además, con el abandono de sus amigos. En la época de sus éxitos, había en torno suyo muchas personas, se le lisonjeaba mucho. Era el pintor de moda. Los periódicos citaban su nombre, solicitaban fotografías de sus obras. Hoy, en el horizonte mundano se han levantado otras estrellas. Es pobre y le han olvidado:

—Estoy solo, completamente solo. ¡Horrible!, me ha susurrado muchas veces.

—¿Qué le has respondido?

—Le he respondido que era equivocado y ofensivo el pensar eso. Porque Dios está allí muy cerca de él, y Ël no abandona nunca a ninguna criatura que sufre e implora.

—¿Dios?... Yo no lo veo...
Y ha pronunciado ese nombre como cualquiera que escuchase el eco lejano de un nombre oído en otro tiempo.
Entonces, yo he insistido:
—Sí, Dios está junto a ti. Es Él quien me envía. Él quien te habla por mis labios. ¡Oh, sin duda es cruel la indiferencia de aquellos a quienes amaste! ¡Ay!, esa es la vida, la triste vida humana. Pero si tienes a Dios, lo tienes todo. Y Dios permite acaso tu aislamiento para que deposites totalmente tu esperanza en Ël, y en Él tan sólo, que no defrauda jamás.
...Y seguía hablándole, porque notaba que mis palabras iban entrando poco a poco en su espíritu.
Una noche he ido aun más lejos. Le he hecho esta pregunta:
—Si sabiendo todo lo que ahora sabes de la vida, de sus vanidades y de su ingratitud, Dios te propusiera que recomenzases tu existencia desde el princípio, ¿aceptarías?
El viejo artista junta entonces sus enflaquecidas manos, con ademan de espanto y me grita: "¡Oh, no jamás!"
—Puesto que rechazas el pasado, acepta valerosamente el porvenir. Prepárate a franquear el corto túnel que separa la sombra de la luz, la miserable vivienda, de la mansión definitiva...
Y añado: Siempre se es más dichoso que cualquier otro. Cree que hay otros más desdichados, mas abandonados que tú.
Y, además, eres artista, es decir, sacerdote de la Belleza. Has tenido horas de supremo gozo, que los profanos no conocen nunca.
...Ese don, que Dios te ha concedido, de comprender la Belleza, va a sostenerte en la hora suprema con el pensamiento de que te diriges hacia Él que es todo Belleza, hacia el Dios que ha creado la luz, que ha revestido de dulzura las mañanas y de esplendor las noches, que ha extendido, sobre la triste tierra, la noche costelada del cielo, que ha cincelado, pintado y perfumado las flores. La muerte te transporta a un paisaje de indescriptible magnificencia. Y son rostros angélicos los que vas a poder contemplar.
...La muerte es la mariposa que abandona en el borde de la zanja la larva que envolvía, para lanzarse al azul, ¡al empíreo!...
Junto al lecho de aquel moribundo, yo me he entusiasmado.
...Y, verdaderamente, he tenido la impresión de que mi enfermo me comprendía; y que desde lo profundo de su espíritu, su oración se levantaba hasta Vos, la plegaria del humilde artista dirigida a quien es el Artista supremo.
—Cree, mi hermoso Ángel, que no defraudaré la esperanza que hiciste nacer en el alma de ese pobre moribundo.
—¡Gracias Señor! Y ya que habéis deseado que descubriese ante vos un trozo de horizonte, permitidme deciros que mi misterio, como el sufrimiento, carece de límites.
...Despues de haber visitado a los moribundos, me acerco a todos los que perdieron a algun ser querido, y comento vuestras bienaventuranzas.
...Yo les recuerdo que la esperanza cristiana está henchida de inmortalidad, que la muerte no es más que un "hasta luego", que el cristiano no debe llorar a los suyos, como esos desdichados que no tiene fe...
...Dios reunirá en el seno de una felicidad definitiva a los que se aman y fueron separados.
...Y mientras esperan ese momento de volver a verlos, los cristianos pueden ya volver a encontrar a sus difuntos en la oración, en las misas celebradas por el descanso de sus almas. El contacto entre los vivos y los muertos no se ha roto jamás.

...Y en el último día de los que viven, los difuntos que no fueron olvidados, no olvidaran tampoco, a su vez. Acudiran al encuentro del alma que avanza, toda temblorosa, por entre el inmenso misterio de la Eternidad.
...He aquí, Señor lo que les digo bajo diversas formas. Es siempre la esperanza, ¡la esperanza, a pesar de todo!, lo que trato de hacer que florezca sobre la senda humana.
—¡Sobre tu hermosa senda!— dice Cristo, como final, contemplando a su Ángel con especial amor. Nunca te reprocharé el que hayas sido demasiado bueno, porque yo lo seré siempre más que tú. Ahora, parte de nuevo. El sufrimiento te llama.

Capítulo XXXVII

EL ANGEL DE LA MUERTE.

Alto, solemne, llena la mirada de melancolía, el Ángel de la Muerte, aparece ante Dios. Y, timidamente, sus labios murmuran como una lamentación que se repitiera a sí mismo:
—Vengo, Señor, porque es preciso venir. Pero son angustias, dolores, lo que principalmente os traigo. No me acostumbraré jamás a la terrible misión de que me habéis encargado, es decir, ¡a la Muerte!
—Te comprendo, Ángel. Tú no has conocido jamás la terrible prueba de la Muerte. Yo he pasado por ella. Y he apurado su abominable amargura.
—Todos los días veo esa muerte en torno mío y en circustancias diversas, pero todas espantosas y llenas de misterio. Veo morir a niños en brazos de sus madres.
—Esos, se transforman en el acto en hermanos tuyos en el paraíso azul.
—Veo morir a jóvenes en el umbral de la vida, cuando más halagüeño les sonreía el porvenir.
—El jardinero tambien corta flores que aun no son más que capullos; y son las más preciadas. Los mismos paganos decían ya: "Aquel a quien aman los dioses , muere joven".
—He visto morir a padres de familia, vigorosos, en plena juventud.
—Los hombres derriban tambien árboles escogidos, y es para hermosos fines. Yo mismo he muerto a los treinta y tres años... ¡y de qué muerte!
—He visto morir a ancianos...
—Eso es muy normal. Es como si se adormecieran entonces, al término de la ruda jornada. Extienden sus miembros fatigados en brazos del sueño del Muerte, que les trae calma y los prepara para la hermosa resurrección de las claras mañanas.
—Señor, considerándolo desde el cielo tenéis respuesta para todo. Mas permitidme volver a deciros lo penosa y bañada en lágrimas que es mi misión sobre la tierra. Yo, Ángel inmortal, no veo otra cosa que la Muerte, y la veo bajo todos sus aspectos.
—Y algunos hay que deben ser hermosos. Reconoce que algunas veces tienes, a pesar de todo, conmovedores consuelos.
—¡Oh!, eso no lo niego. Ayer noche, por ejemplo, he aquí la carta encontrada bajo la almohada de uno de vuestros elegidos. Está bastante arrugada, porque este esfermo, que sufría mucho, la leía todos los días.

—Me agradaría oírtela leer:
El ángel, entonces, leyó:

Dios mio, yo sé que en este mundo todo ha de tener su fin: el roble y la caña, el insecto y el hombre.
Yo, creado por Vos con mejor arcilla, acepto, pues, la muerte.
Acepto el sufrimiento que la precede, la limitación de mi actividad, la esclavitud humillante que me imponga.
Acepto la decadencia de este cuerpo, del cual estuve antaño tan orgulloso.
La acepto como expiación de mi orgullo y de mis faltas, como purificación necesaria para ser admitido en la mansión de la Luz y de la Paz.
Una profunda esperanza continuará floreciendo en mí ante la negrura de la tumba. Creo que mi Redentor vive.
El ha vencido a la muerte. Yo la venceré también.
Mas para hacer frente a este supremo combate, imploro vuestra gracia omnipotente.
Porque yo no soy más que miseria y pecado.
Y Vos sois Todo.
¡Dios y Señor mío, tened piedad de mí!

—He ahí, ¡oh, Ángel mío!, la expresión consoladora de un alma bellísima.
—Sin duda, Señor; pero almas como esa no abundan, pueden contarse.
—El apóstol Pablo escribía: "Me canso de vivir. Avido estoy de ver el fin, la descomposición de mi cuerpo, y de llegar a Cristo" —Sí, pero ¡cuántos otros son indiferentes, frívolos...!
..."No tengo más que un placer, decía un viejo pecador a su médico; ¡mis remordimientos!"
—Un placer de verdad inquietante.
—Muchos enfermos mueren sin ninguna reacción espiritual. Otros, exasperados por el sufrimiento, llaman a la muerte, no como el apóstol Pablo sino como el término de sus males, como un salto hasta la nada. Hay quien se la procura, aunque la tema.
..."No es la muerte lo que me da miedo, decía un célebre escritor, sino morir".
—Comprendo ese temor. ¡Y, sin embargo...!
Para la mayoría la muerte es la catástrofe sin explicación humana. Ella es la que provoca las más terribles interrogaciones; surgen de lo profundo de las almas angustiadas y llegan hasta mí, implorando una respuesta. ¿Por qué el dolor? ¿Por qué la muerte?
...Ese pintor, enamorado de la Belleza, que se queda ciego.
...Ese músico, atacado de sordera.
...Ese enfermo sin esperanza, roído hasta los tuétanos por el cáncer.
...Esa nueva madre, que muere, dando la vida a un ser. ¡que abominable contradicción!
...El minero, asfixiado en fondo del pozo.
...El marino en el fondo del mar.
...El soldado caído, mutilado, sobre el campo de batalla.
...Vuelvo a deciros, Señor, que no puedo acostumbrarme a ver todas esas tristezas, esas desolaciones, esos horrores.
—Mi amado Ángel. Tu dolor es mi dolor. Yo tambien, en la tierra, he pasado por él. Y mi Santa Madre, y mis apóstoles. Y con ellos, todos los que han vivido en este valle de lagrimas.

—Pero ¿por qué Señor, por qué?
—Ángel, estas evocando el inmenso misterio.
—Levantad para mí, Señor, un poco del velo. Si yo comprendiese mejor, sería más fuerte.
—He aquí lo que puedo decirte, el sufrimiento es el precio de toda redención de uno mismo y de los demás, el precio de todo enriquecimiento del alma, el precio de toda una eternidad de descanso y de dicha.
...El sufrimiento es ese "no se qué" de refinamiento que la desgracia añade a la virtud.
...Esta verdad es terrible y cruel. Pero es tambien la realidad palpable que todo hombre valeroso debe mirar frente a frente.
...El mundo mismo, tan frívolo y vanidoso, forzado está a descubrirse ante ella. Y uno de sus escritores ha podido decir, con precisión, a la que rindo homenaje:

¿El hombre? Un aprendiz; el dolor, su maestro, y nadie conoce mientras no ha padecido.

...Bajo el arco de triunfo de la tierra, es el mísero, pero glorioso despojo del soldado desconocido lo que honran los hombres; y no es del más rico banquero, rebosante de oro.
...La tierra es la prueba.
...La muerte, el tránsito.
...La Eternidad, la llegada a lo definitivo.
...Y esa es la razón por la que la Iglesia, audazmente llama día del natalicio al día de la muerte: Dios natalis.
...No hay discusión posible sobre esa verdad. Se impone desde el pecado original. Por eso es por lo que he lanzado a la humanidad esta afirmación desconcertante:
¡Bienaventurados los que sufren!
...Si, ellos, contra todas las apariencia humanas, son los bienaventurados. Ellos, y no los demas.
El ángel entonces, se inclina ante Cristo, que se ha levantado para dar mayor solemnidad a su respuesta.
—¡Qué misterio, Señor, hasta para un ángel!
—Para el hombre, el misterio está en todas partes. El del Dolor y el de la Muerte tendran cabal respuesta más adelante, cuando la pobre inteligencia de la criatura humana esté en condiciones de enfrentarse con esta inefable cosa que es el amor de Dios.
...Y he ahí lo que el Maldito no ha querido admitir. Se ha negado a inclinarse ante las forzosas consecuencias de ese amor. No ha querido aceptar que yo, Hijo de Dios, me hiciese hombre para rescatar al hombre, porque yo lo amaba.
...Lo que debe consolarte a ti, Ángel de la Muerte, es que mucho más frecuentemente de lo que crees eres tú el tambien el Ángel de la Vida.
—No comprendo, Señor.
—Aunque seas un ángel, hay muchas cosas que ignoras. Que sepas ahora que Dios prodiga al moribundo gracias extraordinarias. Entre la muerte aparente y la muerte real, hay a veces un momento en que el moribundo ve. de repente, el sol esplendoroso. Entonces, el sentimiento de sus faltas arrojará, quizás, sobre él como una claridad liberadora, que instantáneamente puede provocar un acto de contricción perfecta.
...Así el otro día, un desdichado, exasperado por querellas de mujeres e impulsado por el Maldito, se arrojó desde un tercer piso a la calle para matarse. Mas durante los pocos segundos que duró su caída, ha gritado: "Dios mío, tened piedad de mí..."
Y Dios ha tenido piedad de él.
...Otro ejemplo: cierto industrial, que no practicaba, completamente absorvido por sus negocios, conduce su coche a gran velocidad. Sin embargo, al pasar ante una iglesia, consagrada a mi Santa Madre, observa la imagen de la Virgen sobre la puerta de la entrada. Entonces, por un residuo de la costumbre heredada de sus mayores, sube a sus labios un rezo de otro tiempo, una sencilla invocación, casi infantil...

...Pocos segundos despues, su coche sufre una brutal colisión con otro. Y muere en el acto.

...Pues bien; su rezo, el sencillo rezo de un niño, repito, dirigido a mi Madre, ha pasado ante el tribunal de Dios.

¿Ha salvado su alma? —pregunta el ángel-.

—No se ha perdido.

Otro ejemplo aún —dice Cristo-:

...Un tabernero que no vivía sino para sus viejas botellas y que jamás había pensado en que existía Dios y en que él tenía alma. Ese hombre, durante su agonía, ha recibido tal gracia, que ha muerto besando casi ávidamente el crucifijo.

...Y esa mujer mundana, herida por la muerte en pleno baile...

Al decir esto, Cristo se concentra:

—Me repugna el mundo, que es hipocresía y engaño. Sin embargo, esa mujer ha hecho algún bien. Ha sufrido con la muerte de sus padres, para los cuales fue buena hija. Entraba alguna vez en la iglesia a rezar a la Santísima Virgen. Ha prestado ayuda a su viejo cura rural. Ha entregado algun dinero para obras benéficas, cuando venían a pedírselo a su domicilio.

...Todo eso ha sido considerado. Dios no olvida ni un vaso de agua, aun en medio de multitud de faltas. Y por eso ha admitido a esa mujer a la expiación.

...Nadie sabe si uno es digno de amor o de odio. Porque nadie sabe la fuerza de las tentaciones sufridas ni la calidad de las gracias dispensadas.

...El papel tuyo, Ángel de la Muerte, consiste en dulcificar el dolor del tránsito, recordando incansablemente la bondad infinita de Dios para los que han vivido en su amor. Acuérdate de la mujer fuerte de la Sagrada Escritura, que despues de haber noblemente vivído entre su marido y sus hijos, ríe en la misma cara de la Muerte que se presenta ante ella: Ribedit in die novísimo.

...Presentía de antemano la indecible felicidad del cielo, la dicha de vivir para siempe entre las almas selectas, y ante panoramas cuya belleza no puede imaginar el hombre...

...Pero es preciso pregonar tambien la Esperanza..., el perdón de los pecados. Ciertamente, son tributarios de mi justicia, pero sobre todo, de mi amor. Acuérdate del buen ladrón. Por definición la Esperanza es, como la Fe, una virtud de la tierra. En el cielo no existe ya, puesto que se está en posesión de su objeto. Haced, pues que esa Esperanza resplandezca hasta en la noche más obscura, en la deseperación más espantosa, hasta el último instante del último minuto de la vida. Dum spiro, spero. Mientras yo respire, esperaré...

...Yo sabía todo eso, ¡oh, Cristo! Mas para mí, ¡cuánta fuerza tiene el oírlo de vuestros labios! No soy más que un ángel que ha sufrido, y no debo morir. Que esa sea mi disculpa ante vuestros ojos por las palabras de desaliento que acaso os hayan podido ofender.

—Mi amado ángel. La piedad, la interrogación angustiosa, no me ofenden. Me acuerdo demasiado del pobre despojo humano en que me convertí, bajo el peso del dolor, en el Huerto de los Olivos.

...Allí fué donde bañado en sudores de sangre, y ya sin fuerzas, he clamado al cielo: "Padre mío, si esto es posible, aparta de de mí este cáliz!"

...Y he añadido aún: "Padre, ¿por qué me habéis abandonado?"
...Así pues, yo tambien... yo, tu Dios, ¡he temblado ante la Muerte!
Mi Padre no ha dejado de amarme.
...Y yo tampoco dejaré de amar jamás a los atormentados que alzan manos desesperadas en la noche de su agonía.
...Ven junto a mí, Ángel de la Muerte. Luego, lleva a todos los que van a morir el beso que te doy, este beso de mi indefectible amor.
Muy emocionado, el Ángel recibe, en su frente, el beso de Cristo.
Después, recobrado ya, vuelve a descender, hacia los que agonizan en la tierra, hacia todos los que estan al borde la Muerte.
¡Dadles a todos, Señor, el descanso eterno!...

CONCLUSIÓN

ASAMBLEA FINAL DE LOS CIELOS
ASAMBLEA FINAL DEL INFIERNO

En el cielo: "¡Magnificat!,,,"
En los Infiernos: Decepción inmensa...

Capítulo XXXVIII

ASAMBLEA FINAL DE LOS CIELOS

Y se celebró, en el cielo, una inmensa, una indescriptible asamblea, algo así como una anticipación del juicio final de la tierra.
Los pocos ángeles que llegaron en primer lugar hasta el trono de Cristo no eran más que la vanguardia del inmenso ejército celestial.
Y cuando los innumerables ángeles del cielo hubieron dicho, repetido y difundido en lo Invisible la consigna de Cristo, pidiendo a todas las almas cristianas un esfuerzo extraordinario para combatir contra el ejército del Maldito, se produjo un movimiento magnífico, entusiástico hacia todo lo hermoso, lo bueno y lo puro, un esfuerzo universal para reparar las ruinas acumuladas por Satanás, y orientar al máximo toda vida, individual y social, hacia la totalidad del Ideal religioso.
Sin darse exacta cuenta de la profunda razón de aquel repentino ardor, las almas se dejan conducir. Se abandonan, se entregan a aquel impulso, como esas grandes aves marinas que con las alas abiertas se dejan transportar por las impetuosas corrientes cuyo origen providencial ignoran.
En las iglesias, los sacerdotes, animados de un intenso celo, hablan a las multitudes, con extraordinarios acentos de juventud y de fe. Una atmósfera misional se extiende por todas partes.
Y los feligreses escuchan y siguen las palabras orientadoras.
Las obras de las juventudes y las obras benéficas penetran más profundamente en la vida de las masas obreras.

Todos los países aparecen surcados por exploradores, excursionistas, colonias de vacaciones y peregrinajes, sobre todo en los santuarios de la Santísima Virgen.

En la época en que la Técnica y la Mecánica llegan a su apogeo para orgullo de los hombres, fué forzoso echar un puente sobre el Gave y ensanchar el territorio de Lourdes, donde se agolpaban masas de todas las clases sociales.

Y allá, en Fátima, un nuevo santuario se abría a la piedad del mundo, y sus resplandores

Hasta los enfermos que no podían acudir a esos santuarios a implorar su curación, se resignan a un sufrimiento que ahora comprenden mejor; y lo ofrecen por la remisión de sus pecados, por la salud de sus hermanos, y uniéndose al sufrimiento de Cristo.

La conciencia pública que cada día hundíase un poco más, frena su descenso y recobra, poco a poco, su imperativo categórico imponiendo a cada cual el sentido de su responsabilidad individual y social.

Cansada, harta de ciencias exactas y de números, la nueva generación siente la nostalgia del misticismo, la sed de la sencillez, el anhelo de soledad, de silencio y de contemplación.

Los "cines" han dejado de interesar; sus imágenes, ficticias y violentas, han extenuado hasta la imaginación popular.

Lo "nuevo" no existe ya.

Ha sonado la hora del retorno a las tradiciones eternas.

Las Congregaciones redoblan su celo y su fervor. A pesar de la reacción brutal de las salvajes persecuciones provocadas por el Infierno, las Misiones abren por todas partes nuevos surcos en el campo inexplorado del Padre de familia, surcos por los cuales corre aún, frecuentemente, la sangre de los mártires.

No sólo son evangelizados los países habitados por razas de color, sino que a su vez dan ellos tambien sacerdotes y religiosas a la Iglesia.

Millares de leprosos son cuidados en sus respectivos países por Hermanas, ángeles de la extrema caridad de Cristo, entre las cuales se encuentran los más hermosos nombres, segun el mundo.

Sin duda, la batalla dura aún, porque siempre se librará batalla sobre la tierra. Pero como el Amor es más fuerte que todo, más fuerte que la Muerte y que el Odio, se baten con la esperanza en el corazón, porque la victoria final se dibuja netamente, a pesar del furor desesperado de Satanás y de todos sus satélites.

Cristo había dicho a sus apóstoles: "Predicad el Evangelio hasta los confines de la tierra".

Más que nunca, a causa del esfuerzo extraordinario que se le ha pedido, la Iglesia se aplica a la obediencia. Y hay ahora misioneros en los hielos del polo y en el fondo de los más caldeados desiertos de los países ecuatoriales.

Y todos esos esfuerzos, esa voluntad absoluta de responder al llamamiento de Cristo, son los que hoy vienen a confirmar sus fieles.

Llegan de todos los puntos del horizonte. Y como el Apocalipsis de San Juan, son ya tan numerosos que nadie podría contarlos.

Sube de los labios de esas multitudes una inmensa plegaria de amor, una plegaria gigantesca, una plegaria irresistible, en honor de Dios, de Cristo, de su Santa Madre.

Sin duda había allí heridos en número incalculable. Llevaban las huellas de la ruda batalla que habían sostenido durante la tierra. En ciertos momentos que habían sido arrastrados entre sangre y lodo por el Maldito. ¡Batidos, pero no vencidos!... Porque, obstinadamente, se habían vuelto a levantar una y otra vez hasta el momento mismo en que la muerte les había acogido, luchando aún, luchando siempre, esperando hasta en su agonía:

De profundis clamavi ad te Domine!...

Y hoy, conscientes de la totalidad y de la gravedad de los peligros que habían corrido, habiendo sentido cómo pasaba por su rostro las feroces ráfagas del abismo donde el Maldito reina, no eran los últimos en proclamar entusiásticamente su reconocimiento, su gratitud hacia los que, en lo Invisible, los habían arrancado, y a menudo muy a punto, de las garras de Satanás.

Ciertamente su oración en acción de gracias era particularmente conmovedora. Más por encima de ella, y aun más cerca de Cristo, subía una oración de los que pasaron por la tierra como si su alma no tuviera cuerpo, flores de lis muy blancas, florecidas en medio de todas la podedumbres de las pasiones humanas.

Y aquellas alabanzas se elevaban en el Empíreo como un perfume infinitamente delicado, por encima de las demás.

Mas cuando en aquella reunión plenaria de las fuerzas cristianas del mundo, apareció Cristo vencedor, y su Santa Madre, bendita entre todas las mujeres, un Magnificat surgió impetuoso de todas las almas, un Magnificat indescriptible, que retumbó como un trueno de amor por encima de la Iglesia militante, sufriente y triunfante, y cuyo poderoso eco hizo que temblasen hasta las puertas fuertemente cerradas del Infierno:

Mi espíritu glorifica al Señor, que ha labrado en mí tantas cosas. El, el Todopoderoso, ha derribado a los soberbios... Ha enaltecido la mansedumbre de los que le han amado. ¡Magnificat!... ¡Magnificat!...

Capítulo XXXIX

ASAMBLEA FINAL DEL INFIERNO

A la misma hora, en el negro y profundo abismo, guarida del Maldito, se celebra la reunión general de Satanás.

Es el fin de su jornada, la que debe aportarle la prueba tangible de su fuerza, y la esperanza de la victoria, cuando suene la hora, ya próxima de la conflagación general. La gran hora siniestra en que los dos bloques en que se divide el mundo, se arrojen, armados hasta lo inverosímil, uno contra otro.

Todos los demonios llegan, lentamente, orgullosamente, muy satisfechos del mal que han perpetrado sobre la tierra, pretendiendo cada cual, en alta voz haber corrompido más almas que los demas...

La Soberbia, la Avaricia, la Lujuria, la Envidia, la Gula, la Ira y la Pereza, se situan solemnenmente en primera fila. Es el estado mayor de Satanás, y estima que le corresponde ocupar el primer puesto en esta manifestación oficial de la infernal omnipotencia.

Tras ellas, sin guardar orden, vienen los demonios, los subdemonios, tan orgullosos y satisfechos de sí mismos como los arcángeles, el Respeto humano, la Ingratitud, el Demonio mundanal y todos los demás vociferan sus fechorías, enumerando las almas que cayeron en sus trampas personales y a las cuales han arrastrado hasta los Infiernos.

Forman allí una densa masa que gruñe, grita, aúlla. Cada uno emplea los codos para adelantar a otro, para lanzarse sobre las espaldas de los vecinos y conseguir que se fije en él el gran Amo, cuya aparición sensacional e inmediata se espera.

De aquellas tropas infernales asciende una emanación pesada, insoportable, compuesta de todas las corrupciones de la tierra, de todas las podedumbres de las almas sobre las que acaba de actuar aquel ejército de demonios.
Cada cual, estimando que su victoria personal debe promover la victoria general, espera con impaciencia la aparición del Jefe, que va a proclamar el resultado oficial de la ofensiva extraordinaria de su famosa jornada.
Y tambien ha de otorgar las recompensas que todos creen haber merecido. Los subdemonios estan persuadidos de que recibiran el nombramiento de demonios, y los demonios esperan sus ascensos a Arcángeles, Querubines, Tronos y Potestades. Sin modestia alguna, cada cual propala ya sus títulos, lanzándolos a la circulación.
—¡Yo he conquistado más almas que todos vosotros! —grita el Demonio del Respeto humano-.
¡No tantas como yo! —responde el del Escepticismo-.
Y el Demonio mundanal, siempre tan peripuesto, rizado y perfumado, alza desdeñosamente los hombros por encima de aquellas hordas populacheras y sin educación.
Lucifer tarda mucho en presentarse. Si la puntualidad es la cortesía de los reyes, no es la del señor Satanás. De modo que la sala empieza a poblarse de rumores. Porque muchos de aquellos astutos demonios tienen citas en cabarets, "cines" y otros centros terrenales. Citas a las que no quieren faltar. Porque allá se divierten bastante más que en el Infierno, lleno de sollozos y de rechinamiento de dientes.
¡Al fin!...
Abriéronse las altas puertas, de par en par; un ruído de cadenas resuena sobre las losas.
—¡Rodilla en tierra— claman los dos Arcángeles de servicio.
Los obedecen... o no los obedecen... Hasta se burlan en algunos rincones, donde se juntan las cabezas fuertes, los recalcitrantes.
Lucifer, por lo demás, no les presta la menor atención.
No parece que esté contento el Amo —susurra la Soberbia al oído de la Envidia-.
En efecto, Lucifer, habitualmente ni amable ni asequible parece que está, aquella tarde, de execrable humor. Rostro seco, hosco, concentrado, ojos verdes, que lanzan relámpagos por toda la sala. Y en la boca, aquellos dientes amarillentos que rechinan entre sus torvos labios.
—¡Silencio!— grita con voz estentórea tajante.
Todos callan.
¡Habla!...
Entonces, dejando caer pesadamente cada palabra, como el martillo cae sobre el acero...
Luciffer dice:
—Voy a informaros del resultado final de la jornada.
Y Satanás añade, ironicamente:
—¡De mi jornada!...
...Esperaba que me la proporcionaríais magnífica. Porque cada uno de vosotros me aseguraba que había realizado maravillas y obtenido una victoria decisiva y resonante.
...Debería yo poder deciros, por tanto, acumulando soberbias hazañas, que esa victoria era total.
...Pues bien... ¡Nada de eso! Es la derrota, y la derrota absoluta.
Consternación en parte de la asamblea.
Lucifer continúa:

—Aquí, como en la tierra, hay inteligentes y hay imbéciles.
...Los inteligentes, los que saben ver y preveer, ésos, me han mentido, exagerando hasta el absurdo los efectos de un éxito particular.
...Los imbéciles se han engañado a sí mismos.
Por lo demás, Cristo ha recobrado casi todas aquellas almas que pretendíais haberme entregado.
...La aventura del buen ladrón, salvado en el último instante, se ha repetido en millares de casos. Sé que el Purgatorio rebosa de almas que hubieran debido cien veces pertenecerme y que habéis dejado que se me escapen. Sabéis bien, sin embargo, que un alma no es verdaderamente mía sino cuando está en mi reino.
...Mientras flote en las regiones intermedias que separan la muerte aparente de la muerte real, jamás estará uno completamente seguro de que la poseo. Cristo y su Madre tienen tantos medios de actuar, de inspirar a un moribundo el arrepentimiento, que hacen que se me escape, con todo acierto, de mis garras ya tendidas hacia él.
...Eso lo sabéis bien.
...No os envanezcáis, por tanto, de hazañas terminadas lamentablemente. Y no vendáis la piel de un cristiano antes de que esté verdaderamente extendida sobre las losas de mi Infierno.
...Lo repito: unos han mentido, y me han mentido a mí ¡el Prícipe de la Falsía! ¿Podrían creer por un solo instante que me engañarían su vanidad y sus exageraciones?
...Los otros se han dejado arrollar como bisoños.
...Y yo, que al principio de la jornada, entreveía ya la aurora de la Victoria, he tenido que cambiar de tono, rápida y vergonzosamente.
...Sois vosotros, por diversas causas, los responsables de la inmensa derrota.
...De modo, que os arrojo a todos...
...¡Marchaos de aquí!... Los unos a la tierra, a las almas de los miserables que a vosotros se parecen. Los otros, los inútiles, a vuestras guaridas, donde no hay ni luz, ni paz, ni esperanza...
...La ilusión se desvaneció... ¡Ya no sois más que condenados, y para siempre!
Lucifer termina en un tono en que la amargura se mezcla con la rabia:
—¡He, aquí, pues, una decepción más que viene a añadirse a tantas otras!... Si hubierais sido menos soberbios, si hubierais confiado menos en vosotros mismos, deberíais de haber llegado. Porque jamás nos fueron tan favorables las circustancias.
¡Menos soberbios! —dice-, muerto de risa en un rincón, un pequeño subdemonio, poco respetuso. ¿Y Él?
—Sí, marchaos de aquí. Devoraos los unos a los otros. Para lo que hacéis, siempre quedaréis bastantes.
Entonces, un rugido sordo, que va acrecentándose, un rugido de sorpresa, de decepción y de furor, álzase de las bocas de toda aquella masa infernal, hasta tal punto que se hubiera creído por un instante que todos aquellos demonios iban a lanzarse sobre su Amo, y a exterminarlo.
Pero Lucifer, el gran Arcángel caído, les pareció tan feroz, tan terriblemente fuerte, que una vez más inclinaron la cabeza y aceptaron el ultraje, como perros bajo el látigo del amo.
Por otra parte, el estado mayor, tras cierta vacilación, les da el ejemplo de la sumisión y de la huída.
La Soberbia, siempre altanera, con la cabeza erguida, se marcha por un lado...

La Envidia, más amarilla que nunca, desfila por otro.
La Avaricia las sigue, cerrando los puños huesudos, que crujen.
Otro tanto hace la Ira, rechinando los dientes y buscando, en torno suyo, sobre quién se podría lanzar.
Es la Pereza la que sale la última, arrastrada por la Lujuria, abrumada.
—¡Y sin embargo, cuánta gente le he traído! —dice, gimiendo-.
La Gula pronuncia la palabra final:
—¡Aun en el mismo Infierno, la virtud no es recompensada!...
Cuando las siete grandes desfilaron, la masa de demonios y subdemonios fué arrojada fuera de las puertas, a badillazos y latigazos, por los Arcángeles de turno.
Y toda aquella horda oscura, pegajosa, vomitando a su vez blasfemias contra Lucifer más bien que contra Dios, se dispersó a los cuatro vientos del espacio.
La famosa jornada había terminado.
Solo en la inmensa sala donde flota siempre el pesado hedor de todos los malditos, Lucifer contempla el vacío, con ojos cansados.
Lentamente, extiende sus alas rugosas, y parte de allí, sin rumbo, hacia esas inmensidades del tedio donde por doquiera estan la Deseperación y la Muerte...

INDICE DE MATERIAS.

Sueño 5

Introducción 7

PRIMERA PARTE

I. LA LLAMADA DE SATANÁS. SE AVECINAN GRANDES ACONTECIMIENTOS 13

Capítulo I LA ESPERANZA DE SATANÁS 15
Capítulo II ¿CÓMO HERIR LO INNACESIBLE? 18
Capítulo III EL AMOR Y EL ODIO FRENTE A FRENTE 22
Capítulo IV EL PLAN DE LUCIFER.

..... 26

II. EL ESTADO MAYOR DE SATANÁS ACUDE A SU LLAMAMIENTO 29

Capítulo V LA SOBERBIA 31
Capítulo VI LA AVARICIA 34
Capítulo VII LA LUJURIA 37
Capítulo VIII LA ENVIDIA 39
Capítulo iX LA GULA 41
Capítulo X LA IRA 44
Capítulo XI LA PEREZA 46

III. SE MOVILIZAN LOS GRADOS INFERIORES DEL EJÉRCITO INFERNAL. SU MISIÖN EN LA BATALLA SERÁ IMPORTANTÍSIMA 49

Capítulo XII MIS PEQUEÑOS ANGELOTES 51
Capítulo XIII CONSIGNA: ¡A CAMUFLARSE! 53
Capítulo XIV CRISTO, ¡UNO DE LOS DOS! 56
.

SEGUNDA PARTE

LAS NOTICIAS DE LAS BATALLAS. ¡TODO VA BIEN, OH LUCIFER! INFORME ENTUSIÁSTICO DEL ESTADO MAYOR. 59

Capítulo XV LA SOBERBIA 61
Capítulo XVI LA AVARICIA 65

Capítulo XVII LA LUJURIA 71
Capítulo XVIII LA ENVIDIA 77
Capítulo XIX LA GULA 84
Capítulo XX LA IRA 90
Capítulo XXI LA PEREZA 96

TERCERA PARTE

LOS SUBDEMONIOS SE DISTINGUEN

Capítulo XXII UN DEMONIO JOVEN QUE LLEGARÁ LEJOS 103
Capítulo XXIII EL DEMONIO DE LA VOCACIÓN RELIGIOSA 105
Capítulo XXIV EL DEMONIO DE LA DESEPERACIÓN 110
Capítulo XXV EL DEMONIO CONYUGAL 119
Capítulo XXVI EL DEMONIO ROMPECACHARROS 124
Capítulo XXVII EL DEMONIO MUNDANO 129
Capítulo XXVIII EL DEMONIO "AD QUID" 141
Capítulo XXIX EL HURACÁN INFERNAL 141

CUARTA PARTE

I. LA RESPUESTA DE DIOS

Capítulo XXX YO SOY EL QUE ES... 147

II. LA CONTRAOFENSIVA CELESTE

..... 155

Capítulo XXXI LA RUDA BATALLA DEL ÁNGEL DE LA GUARDA
..... 157
Capítulo XXXII EL CALVARIO LEVANTADO DE NUEVO
..... 161
Capítulo XXXIII ¡BIENAVENTURADOS LOS LÑIMPIOS DE CORAZÓN!
..... 166
Capítulo XXXIV EL ANGEL DE LA FE
..... 172
Capítulo XXXV EL ANGEL DE LOS PEQUEÑOS PEREZOSOS
..... 177
Capítulo XXXVI EL ANGEL DE LA CONSOLACIÓN
..... 181
Capítulo XXXVII EL ANGEL DE LA MUERTE
..... 186
.

CONCLUSIÓN

Capítulo XXXVIII ASAMBLEA FINAL DE LOS CIELOS
.... 197
Capítulo XXXIX ASAMBLEA FINAL DEL INFIERNO
..... 201

La jornada del Satanás. (La journée de Satán) © Pierre Lérmite.

1954
Editorial Aldecoa
Diego de Siloé, 18
Burgos

Versión en español del original francés "La journée de Satán" traducida por Fernando Calvo Gutiérrez. Cubierta de Luis Sáez. Enero 1954. 20 pesetas.
Traducida al formato digital .txt con la ayuda del traductor online Google por EAD PA.